To-day a large crowd assembled at the junction of Washington and Front streets in the vicinity of the jails. The exact origin of the trouble cannot, in consequence of the terrible excitement, be ascertained. It seems Neely had a fight with a white man and was knocked down by a bystander. He then went to Constable John Parham for protection. Marshal M. Fulton interfered and commanded the peace. Thomas Parham, son of John Parham, heard the disturbance and came running downstairs from the County Clerk's office, where he is employed as a deputy, with a pistol in his hand. He saw the Marshal and his father, then together ambushed, and raised the pistol and fired at the tall striking Fulton in the back of the head. In falling Fulton raised his pistol and fired two shots. Tom Parham fell mortally wounded and died in a short time. Sheriff D. M. Wilson came running to the scene when a stray ball struck him, passing his heart and killing him instantly. His only words were: "I am a dead man." It is supposed a ball from Neely's pistol killed the Sheriff. Capt. John Parham is thought to be wounded but he refuses to allow the wound to be examined.

Wilson and Parham are what is known as Democrats. Three of the best men in the county were seen lying murdered upon the street at the same time. The cries of the afflicted families were heartrending. Women from every part of the town rushed through the streets searching for husbands or brothers. G. W. Iverson, coroner of the county, was waited on by the citizens this afternoon and invited to leave town, which he did on the 6 o'clock train.

Neely Killed.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 19.—The particulars of the killing of the fourth man in the Forest City riot have arrived. The last victim is A. M. Neely, the negro who started the trouble and who was shot while avoiding arrest. This last killing removed the excitement and there were fears of a raid on the town by the negroes.

"I was Suffering," says S. S. Shewfelt, of Kingsley, Manitoba, "from weakness and loss of appetite, with a severe headache, and could scarcely walk. My first bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters enabled me to walk about the house, and when I had taken the second bottle I found myself entirely cured. dw104

An Unwelcome Guest.

Disease in any of its myriad forms is never welcome, and the end of its visit is always rejoiced at. Burdock Blood Bitters expel all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood, giving life and hope with every dose. 2w104

Strong Resistance.

A healthy human body has strong powers of resistance against disease, but where weakness or lack of tone exists disease quickly assails it. Keep the system clean, the blood pure and the vital powers vigorous and active by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, the true vitalizer and restorative. 2w104

Severely Burned.

I "burnt my hand severely and did not know what to do till a friend ran in with some Haggard's Yellow Oil and applied it, and it drew out the pain and healed it in a few days. I would not be without it." Mary Lepard, 59 Cecil St., Toronto. 2w18d

Quick Time.—48 Hours.

"I always use Haggard's Pectoral Balsam for colds and it cannot be beaten. It has always cured me within 48 hours, which no other medicine will do, and I always keep a bottle by me." These words from Chester Miller, Lizzay, Ont., prove the efficacy of a popular preparation. 2w18d

25 REASONS

FOR DRINKING

ROYAL DANDELION COFFEE

Some drink because they are hungry,
And some because they're dry,
Some drink to keep them in good health,
And some that they may thrive.

Some drink because they are too hot,
And some because they're too cold,
Some drink to strengthen them when young,
And some when they are old.

Some drink to keep them wide awake,
And some that they may sleep,
Some drink because they merry are,
And some because they weep.

Some drink when they do money gain,
And some because of loss;
Some drink when they are pleased,
And some when they are cross.

Some drink when they are hard at work,
And some when they do play;
Some think it right to drink at night,
While others drink by day.

Some drink for sake of company,
While others drink on the sly;
And many drink but never think,
About the reason why.

Some say they drink for pleasure,
And some they drink for pain,
Some say 'tis jolad, some very bad,
But never mean refrain.

Yet all mankind this precept use:
"When thirst's for to strike it"
And found out the reason why—
All drink because they like it!

IN THE MATTER OF QUALITY vs. QUANTITY.

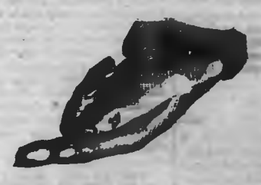
We wish to impress upon paint users generally the undeniable fact that the greatest possible economy is in using only the purest quality of paint such as that manufactured by the Wm. Johnston Co., of Montreal.

The cost of labor, tin cans, and all the incidentals of manufacture, of freight and other shipping expenses, is precisely the same to turn out a pound of the veriest trash, or a pound of Johnston's Pure Paint, hence, to sell at lower prices it is evident that the value must be taken straight out of the raw material, and the consumer is deceived by the idea that it costs less money to use cheap goods. Even for the roughest work there is a loss of 50 per cent. in using poor paints.



Then, again, the manufacturers of benzine and soap mixtures (which they call paint) knowing that a lasting reputation cannot be built up on such inferior articles push them for a short time at whatever price can be obtained, and when the demand ceases a new brand and label are adopted and the deception continues.

We are now reaping the reward of a fixed determination, which through many years of fierce competition against the cheap, trashy productions of unscrupulous manufacturers, we have steadfastly upheld, viz., to turn out nothing but pure Goods, and on this we stake our reputation.

Surely nothing can be more convincing than the fact that the Wm. Johnston Co. offer to repaint free of charge any building or decoration on which their pure paints have been exclusively used without satisfactory results. Every dealer in Johnston's Pure Paints throughout the country is authorised to carry out this guarantee.

OUR GOODS have become the Standard of Excellence throughout the whole Dominion, and paint users now recognise the fact that though they pay fifty per cent. more for Goods bearing the Wm. Johnston labels, yet they are actually saving money and getting better satisfaction.

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call.

SCOTT-SIDDONS

Touted "Uncle Tom."

To-morrow evening Burtch & Burnip's Uncle Tom's Cabin Company will visit Peterborough and perform under canvas on Riverside Park. The company was organized in Downsville two years ago, and the Tribune of that town gives the opening performance a flattering press notice. It says:—"The largest audience ever assembled to greet any company attended the performance of Burtch & Burnip's Uncle Tom's Cabin Company. The large pavilion was well lighted, and the company had spared no effort to make their equipment complete in every respect. The whole play was well carried out, each member taking his part and effectually succeeding in giving realism to the pictures of Southern life in ante-bellum days. The scenery was new and elaborate and much admired. The bloodhounds, really noble animals, as they routed across the stage in pursuit of the fugitives, awoke wild excitement among the audience. Several specialty performers added to the attractiveness of the performance by furnishing during intervales, songs, dancing, etc., the[illegible] gaining great applause and their[illegible] fairly convulsing the audience with laughter. The superior orchestra of the company was an additional attraction."

IN HER DRAMATIC

A Question of Jurisdiction.

The Empire's Ottawa correspondent writes: In July last John Wason, sr., of Peterborough, was convicted of an offence against the Ontario statute of 1883, providing against frauds in the supplying of milk to cheese and butter manufactories. The proceedings were removed by certiorari to the Queen's Bench Division, where the conviction was quashed by Armour, C.J., and Falconbridge, J. (Street, J., dissenting), on the ground that the local Act was ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature. The Attorney-General of Ontario is prosecuting an appeal to the Court of Error and Appeal for the purpose of further testing the constitutionality of the Act. Application has lately been made to the Dominion Government to intervene for the purpose of maintaining federal jurisdiction in the matter. The parties, however, have been informed that the Dominion, not being directly interested in the controversy, it is not a proper case for intervention. It may be noted that the Dominion Parliament last session passed an Act substantially carrying into effect the provisions of the local Act, so that, whether the latter Act be declared constitutional or not, this class of frauds now comes within the operation of the criminal law.

The Hindoo Mission.

A Reformed Missionary From India Speaks of the Work That is Being Done There—Great Changes Being Made in the Religion of the Country.

On Sunday Rev. Mr. Wilkin, who has for ten years been a missionary in the state of Indore, Central India, addressed the congregations of St Paul's and St. Andrew's church in behalf of the Foreign Mission Fund. His addresses were lengthy and comprehensive. Mr. Wilkin speaks with an earnestness and enthusiasm which shows that his heart is in the work.

Rev. Mr. Wilkin read a part of the first chapter of Romans, representing the idea of the Question as mentioned by Paul. In connection therewith the speaker told of the degradation and vice which characterized the Hindoo religion. The Hindoo looked upon heaven as a paradise of sensuality and as prepared himself. The women were degraded beings, crushed down and wretched. Hindooism was developed by the priests, founded on selfish and debasing principles, and added to by them whenever and wherever they thought they had the opportunity of increasing their power over the people or entering to the wicked desires of a degraded people. Women at the altar, in the name of religion, sang songs which would scarcely be heard in the lowest dens of infamy in our land, and during the two weeks of the holy feast men and women gave themselves up to debauchery of the most abominable character. But the Hindoo realized that there was a God, and had obscure religious longings to the people of Canada; but their religion and priest craft degraded them. Just to the extent that they shook off their religion did they become civilized and advanced in all other ways.

For his text Mr. Wilkin took the last verse of the ninth chapter of Matthew:

"Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers into his harvest."

The people of Hindostan numbered from one-fifth to one-sixth of the inhabitants of the world, and were possessed of the same features, powers and longings as the English-speaking people. The only thing that distinguishes the latter from the former is that they have the gospel and the Hindoo have not. The Hindoos have been sleeping in indifference for centuries past, but now there was a great awakening, they are struggling to free themselves from their degrading religion, and their efforts towards enlightenment are resulting in their advancement in every line of life and their closer union as a people. Their system of government is autocratic as their system of religion is debasing, but their representative congress was becoming more important and powerful every year and even now some of the best among them were seeking admission to the British House of Commons. All this showed that the people are in earnest, and when once realized that as a whole they are living on the verge of starvation, in religious degradation and ground down by the heel of tyranny, one could imagine what forward strides they would make if relieved from these deteriorating influences. The caste system was losing its power; it no longer had the respect or fear of the people. And societies were being formed with the avowed purpose of breaking down the system of caste and for the study of the gospel. They had lost confidence also in their religion, and just in proportion as the people became enlightened they shook off Hindooism and fly to Christianity or some other form of moral doctrine, for which there are many books formulated, theoretically different, but practically the same, all being founded on the Bible teachings. Amongst the lower classes, too, a great work is going on. The outcasts or lower castes recognize in Christianity not only a saving power, but a civilizing power, and through its benign influences are making rapid advances and forcing themselves into the highest positions in the land. Native Christians are now the leading people in every community. Much was said about the failure of the missionary cause in India, but the speaker answered this by stating that whilst Canada had a large number of ministers teaching a people who believed in their doctrines, in India there were less missionaries than there were ministers in the Presbyterian Church of Canada alone, teaching a people who were degraded by their religion and naturally hated the Bible doctrines, yet they had more Protestant Christians than there were in Canada to-day—over a million and the number rapidly increasing. Of course the missionaries encountered the hostility of the priests and religious bodies, who exerted themselves to counteract their influences, realizing that their religion is doomed and that their power is slipping away from them. But infidelity was making great advances in India. As the people became educated they left their own Hindooism and took refuge either in atheism or Christianity. If left to themselves it generally terminated in the former, but here was where the mission schools were useful. There were great advance made however, and Rev. Mr. Wilkin contrasted the position of affairs in 1879 with the situation to-day. The people are demanding education. They ask their princes for it, but the priests bitterly oppose it. Naturally they turn to the missionaries and invite them to teach them. The result is that the Christian church to day might have under its control very largely the whole educational interests of Central India, if they had the men and the means. In his district they had not large numbers of converts, but there were the same encouraging signs. They have at present schools for boys and girls, and in the latter the lady teachers and doctors were doing a grand work. But there was an almost illimitable field for the education of boys, which is now carried on as Christian principles. Each school teacher is a preacher also. In their high school they had some 150 Brahmin boys and young men who would in a few years become powers in the land. If the educational work of the church is to be complete there must be more high schools, and the cost to the church is small. These young men would inevitably become athleists if not shown the beauties of Christianity as they were educated in secular affairs. In conclusion Rev. Mr. Wilkin urged the importance of their opportunities on the people of this Christian land, and appealed to them to remember their obligations and help along this noble cause.

Two Games This Week.

Baseball Beginning to Boom in Peterborough—Matches on Wednesday and Friday.

Lovers of the entrancing game of baseball will this week be able to fairly revel in their favorite amusement. Besides the match on the morning of the 24th between Campbellford and Peterborough, a game will be played here Wednesday afternoon by the Toronto University team. For several days past the 'Varsity team has been negotiating for a game here, and on Saturday the agreement was closed. They play here on Wednesday, having arranged matches with Cobourg on Thursday and Kingston on Friday. The University baseball club is a first-class amateur organization though its members are students. They are making a tour of the Northern States, playing all the college teams they can meet and probably other clubs as well, and have arranged a few matches in Canada en route. The University nine will be able to put up a splendid game, and the local team will have to play its very best to win. A team of the best local players is being procured by Mr. E. Brown, manager, and as the visitors demand a large guarantee in order to cover their expenses it is hoped the townspeople, and lovers of the game particularly, will patronize the match and not discourage the promoters of this enterprise by remaining away and making it a financial failure.

SMASH-UP AT CORBYVILLE

A TIMBER TRAIN CRASHES INTO THE MADOC PASSENGER.

Three Trains a Score of Passengers Injured, But None Is So Thought, Probably—Full List of the Sufferers.

BELLEVILLE, May 19.—A collision occurred at Corbyville, a small village on the Grand Junction branch of the Grand Trunk Railway about five miles from this city, at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, by which a score of passengers were injured, several seriously.

The Madoc train, consisting of an engine, a baggage car and one coach, under the charge of Conductor Wm. Kerr, and which is due here at 9.30, had reached Corbyville and had taken on a number of passengers, and being the last station before the city is reached the coach was well filled with passengers.

Following closely was a train consisting of 12 cars loaded with square timber, destined for the Collins Bay Rafting Company, who are raising the timber at this place. It was stated that this train was under too great a speed. The first intimation which was heard of anything wrong was the shrill whistle for brakes by the engine of the timber train as it rounded the curve near the junction of the gravel road. The passenger train was then going slowly, only just getting under headway, and was unable to get out of the way. On came the timber train and it was seen that a pile-in was inevitable. The fireman of the latter train, named Miller, jumped just as the smash was struck. The engineer, however, remained at his post. The iron horse plunged into the coach among the gas reservoirs and splintered glass and iron work were scattered in all directions. The passenger train was in this manner carried some 200 yards by the other train before a stoppage was effected. The interior of the coach was stripped of everything, and the engine of the timber train was smashed in the frame work, the smoke stack being driven up through the centre of the roof. Willing hands were soon on the spot to render such assistance as was needed. By those who witnessed the disaster it was expected that a number were killed, but this happily was not the case.

A wrecking train was made up and sent out to the scene to bring in some of the wounded, some of whom were removed to the hospital, and others were taken to their homes. Whilst a number were badly injured, none were, it is thought, fatally hurt. The names of the injured and the nature of their injuries are as follows:

P. Ryan, Montreal, horse buyer, three ribs broken, legs bruised and a wound on the head.

Mrs. J. N. Gould, Foxboro, right hand badly sprained and a scalp wound.

Mrs. Samson Ashley, Huntingdon, painful contusion of the chest; her book was also hurt.

Mrs. Louise Reed, Corbyville, bruised about the legs.

Jeff Caverly, Madoc, an ugly cut on the side of his face, a painful scalp wound and a wound on the wrist of his right hand.

Mr. Robert Kingston, Rawdon, a painful wound on his left leg, a piece of iron penetrating the fleshy part of the calf of the leg.

Miss Sinclair, St. Catharines, a niece of Mr. D. Gunn, station agent, had a miraculous escape from death. She was caught by the dress in some manner, lifted to the top of the car and left suspended in the air. It was necessary to cut her dress in order to extricate her from the perilous position in which she was placed. She escaped with slight injuries.

Mr. Vincent, foot and leg badly bruised.

Mrs. Cole Marris, bruised about the body, head also hurt.

Mr. William Holland, an aged man from Huntingdon, face badly cut in three places.

Miss Holmes, Belleville, injured, but not seriously.

Robert Good, Rawdon, received a painful cut in the face.

Mrs. Kane, knee fractured.

Mrs. Fraser, Foxboro, ankle fractured and body bruised.

Mrs. Martin, ankle fractured. Her child is also suffering from concussion of the brain.

Mrs. French, Huntingdon, right arm broken, bruised about the chest and legs badly bruised.

James English, Madoc Township, a bad cut on the head.

Mrs. Farris, Madoc, leg fractured and injured in different parts of her body.

Mrs. D. Eggleton, 1st con. Rawdon, injured in the legs. Her little boy was with her and received injuries in the ribs, but none were broken.

The damage to rolling stock is estimated at $5000.

The injured are reported by the various medical men in attendance to be progressing favorably and no fatal results apprehended.

The official inquiry by the officers of the line will be held to-morrow. There was very little interruption to traffic. Both engines brought their trains through to Belleville. The first-class car was the only one damaged. The engines were slightly damaged.

Willow and Wicket.

The Lindsay Collegiate Institute Cricket Club Defeated by the Peterborough School Team.

The game of cricket on the P.A.A.A. grounds Saturday resulted in a victory for the home team. The visitors were a strictly Collegiate Institute eleven, but the Peterboroughs had to take on a couple of outsiders to make up the complement.

Lindsay won the toss and sent Peterborough to bat. The bowling of Milner and C. Matthews, the former in particular, proved unsolvable for all except Stirling, who played a steady, good bat and made the only double figures of the innings, 17. The innings closed for the small score of 49. Lindsay followed and was scarcely more fortunate, their last wicket falling for a total of 51. Of this score A. Matthews made 18 and McClennan 12. The bowling of Williams and Stirling was good indeed, the latter performing the hat trick and the former coming within one of it. Messrs. Long and Pearson also took a few overs.

Shortly after Peterborough's second innings opened affairs wore a decidedly blue aspect. Five wickets went down for a total of about eight runs, and defeat appeared imminent. Mr. Long's noble stand saved the game. His score of 35 was secured by careful, steady play, which "broke the bowlers' hearts," as the term is. After that the tide turned and the succeeding batsmen ran up the score to a grand total of 111. The biggest scores were: Strike 24, Boucher 21 not out, and Allison 16. In this innings C. Matthews made a phenomenal catch in slips off Williams' bat. Mr. Marsh appeared as a new bowler for Lindsay, and took about half a dozen overs.

Lindsay's second innings closed for 82 runs, of which Marsh, by heavy hitting and careful play, rolled up 31. Coon, McClennan and A. Matthews each scored 10 runs. The Peterboroughs gave all their bowlers a chance to distinguish themselves, no less than six different ones trying their hands at trundling the ball — Stirling, Pearson, Williams, Allison, Goldsmith and Long. Mr. Long also made a brilliant catch of a high ball off A. Matthews' bat, which he caught over his shoulder as he was running with the ball.

The result was a majority of 27 in favor of Peterborough. The visitors left for home on the 5.15 train. Lunch was served on the grounds between the innings. The utmost good feeling prevailed during the entire match, and the contestants parted with hearty expressions of goodwill and a hope to meet again in friendly strife at no distant date.

The heavy spring trade is on us. Every day from this out we shall be kept busy in supplying the needs of our old and new customers.

Scarcely a day passes but we receive packages of New Goods especially in Millinery and Millinery Trimmings. New Shades taking the place of those bought earlier and at lower prices. To keep posted in what is being shown, you need to visit our establishment weekly.

Like an opening rose, our Dress Goods and Trimmings show new beauty at every sight. The colors blend together so perfectly—moss sage and nile green still hold in favor. Terra Cotta, Blue Greys, Dove and Resida Shades are as much sought after as ever. In our Black Stock department we are showing a new voile of Cloth, fine light and durable—just the dress for an old lady. Much nicer than nuns' veilings.

It needs to be repeated and remembered that in all goods and most emphatically in Cotton Goods we keep a most complete stock. Where will you find the variety of cottonades, shirtings, tickings, &c., you find with us. Not less than 60 different patterns of Shirtings,—all prices, as low as the lowest.

At the Ribbon Counter you are almost always sure to find exactly what you want for dress and millinery use.

Our stock of Neck Frillings is very choice, being different to what is usually shown. We import them from a different market.

WHO PAYS THE DUTY?

The Montreal Herald thus discourses upon this oft-put and unanswered question, who pays the duty?:—

What is the object of a protective duty? Simply to increase the price of the foreign article, so that the home manufacturer can sell his goods at a profit. The home manufacturer then increases the output of his factory, and employs more hands. The latter spend their wages in the country and when the tariff is being made certain of the same duty by the statement of duty from the public, the manufacturer professes. This is the theory of protection. There is no doubt that it is partially carried out in this way. Many cases of importation of goods, ordered before the duty was increased, have been delayed, or kept over the date. This is no more than the foreign exporter does when he knows that the duty is to be increased. But the theory that the foreign exporter pays the duty by absolute refusal to pay dutiable goods and, when the purchaser says that "the duty must come off your invoice," to say that he will pay it himself, is not borne out by the facts. It is not borne out by the statistics of the Dominion. Take, for instance, the year 1887-8. In that year the duties collected were $19,000,000 odd. In the year 1888-9 they were $20,000,000 odd. Now, if the foreign exporter paid the duty, the increase of $1,000,000 in the duties collected would have been a loss to him. But the increase in the duties collected was due to the increase in the importations. Therefore the foreign exporter did not pay the duty. The duty was paid by the consumer, who had to pay from 50 to 75 per cent. increase on the price of goods, and as a consequence of there being less money expended by the consumers, less of the home products of Canada only could be sold. The duty is paid in the first place by the consumer, and then by the manufacturer, who is compelled to sell less goods. The foreign exporter is not affected in any way. He is not asked to pay the duty. He is not taxed because the duty is increased. He is not taxed because the duty is decreased. He is not taxed because the duty is abolished. He is not taxed because the duty is imposed. He is not taxed because the duty is removed. He is not taxed because the duty is changed. He is not taxed because the duty is altered. MUNCASTER'S

As Night Follows Day.

By HON. MRS. FETHERSTONHAUGH.

"But, my dear Janet," remonstrated Lady Maberley to her young cousin, "I suppose you know that Francis Eridon has come to utter grief at last? I hear he's absolutely ruined, my dear—must leave England, and all that sort of thing!"

"Yes, I know," replied Miss Harding, calmly. "That is just why I wish to see him, to bid him good-by."

Lady Maberley looks doubtful. Perhaps she knows by experience the fatal effects of "last adieux," and she cannot approve of a ruined "detrimental" hovering round her charming and wealthy young cousin, for whom she has already more than one brilliant match in view.

"Well, my dear, invite Lord Francis if you wish to do so," she says, at length. "Of course, I shall be delighted to see him; in fact, only this very afternoon Col. Pendennis was singing his praises loudly, and saying how honorably he had paid up every farthing he lost last week by that dreadful racing! 'Francis Eridon may have his faults,' I remember the colonel said, 'but I'm very sorry he's gone. We could better spare a better man.' So as he is going, Janet, by all means beg him to come to my ball, dear!"

And Miss Harding, with an unexplained feeling of remarkable kindliness towards the oracular Col. Pendennis, sits down at once and pens a note to Lord Francis Eridon, Turf Club, Piccadilly, in which she proffers him Lady Maberley's invitation, and then adds, on her own account, the single sentence: "Please let me speak to you before you leave England."

The answer to Miss Harding's epistle arrives on the very day of the ball itself, and is handed to her while assisting her cousin in distributing 5 o'clock tea to a large party of mutual friends and relations. Janet is a very self possessed young lady, so she takes her note and then continues her duties with the bread and butter, with a calm indifference worthy of Werter's famous Charlotte.

During an available moment she opens the letter, and perceives its somewhat laconic contents:

"DEAR MISS HARDING:

"Pray thank Lady Maberley for her kind invitation, which I am most happy to accept, especially as it offers the only possible chance of my being able to fulfil the further request mentioned in your note. I leave England to-morrow night. Always your sincerely,

"FRANCIS C. ERIDON."

This is why Janet Harding stands before the mirror, and anxiously consults that ever true and unflattering counsellor, whether or no she "is looking well to-night?" Whatever crisis in life may be staring a woman in the face, she is no true woman if she does not derive consolation and fortitude from the thought that at least she is looking her best at the critical moment!

The mirror tells an unvarnished tale, but all the same it gives back a radiant picture. Miss Harding's dress is nothing extraordinary—merely a fresh white ball dress, fitting admirably; but the diamonds that hang on her neck and arms, and cluster in her red brown hair, these are indeed extraordinary, each glittering dewdrop worth a king's ransom.

Purposely has Janet selected the most magnificent jewels in her possession to wear to-night, though usually she is in no way given to displaying her far famed diamonds over much, holding it to be bad taste for an unmarried girl to bedeck herself too freely with precious stones.

But, for a certain reason of her own, carefully considered and well thought out, Janet Harding wishes all the world to-night to realise that she is no ignorant child, of little value in the great game of life, but with a stake of considerable magnitude therein, which moreover she intends to play with a firm will and an uncontrolled hand.

And yet, now that she is ready dressed for the fray, now that the moment has come when she needs all her courage, the girl's heart sinks within her, and she murmurs inaudibly: "Dare I do it after all? Will he forgive the past, or will he not?"

Unconsciously she opens a book lying on the table before her, and glances down the pages in it at random. Almost as an answer to her thoughts she reads these words from the wisdom of the son of Sirach: "Though thou drawest a sword at a friend, yet despair not, for there may be a returning to favor. If thou hast opened thy mouth against a friend, fear not, for there may be a reconciliation; except, for upbraiding, or pride, or disclosing of secrets, or a treacherous wound, for, for these things every friend will depart."

"Pride! 'for pride, every friend will depart,'" repeats Janet to herself sadly. "Ay! but if that pride should humble itself, even to the dust, what then?" And Miss Harding closes the book and walks to the door with a firm step, the light of a clear resolution in her beautiful honest eyes.

The ball has already begun, for so long has Janet dawdled over her toilet that the first three dances are concluded by the time she makes her way through a crowd of silk and satin, lace and tulle, and arrives at the ball room door in safety.

The first person she encounters on its threshold is Mrs. Fairfax, not "looking her best," for several things have conspired to put that fair lady out of tune to-night, and the sight of another woman's diamonds is always as a red rag to a bull in her case.

"I am so surprised to see Francis Eridon here to-night," she observes spitefully, after the usual formalities of greeting have taken place.

"Yes!" replies Miss Harding, and her calmly courteous tone has an exasperating effect on the fair Laura.

"Perhaps you don't know that he's a ruined man! It would show that he felt his position more if he did not waste his last few hours in England dancing the trois-temps, I think!" observes Mrs. Fairfax with a viciousness only equalled by its vulgarity.

"Is that all the sympathy you have to spare for one whom you once called 'friend!'" asks Janet coldly and contemptuously.

Mrs. Fairfax's eyes fall before the indignant gleam in those clear gray ones confronting her, then she laughs nervously and says with meaning:

"Perhaps I am not the only friend that has failed Lord Francis Eridon ere now!"

The stab goes home, as it was meant to do. Of a truth, had the great heiress said him "yes" instead of "nay," how different all might now have been! As Mrs. Fairfax passes on her way, Janet still stands in the same place, musing deeply—and starts when a well known voice says quietly:

"May I have this value, Miss Harding, if you are not engaged? It's called the 'Fairwolt,' so it's peculiarly appropriate to the occasion," and Lord Francis Eridon laughs pleasantly at his own bitter jest.

Janet bows her head in acquiescence but makes no reply.

evenings is rapidly dwindling, Miss Harding says desperately:

"I don't want to dance, Lord Francis. Please may we go and sit down?"

"By all means. I don't feel much in a dancing humour, either! And you wanted to speak to me, did you not, Miss Harding?"

"Not here," says Janet, hurriedly. "Across the staircase is my cousin's boudoir; that room is fairly quiet at least."

"Very well, you must guide me, for I don't know the backwards of this mansion."

Ghee! Ghee!! Ghee!!!

Don't moan, moan, hawk, hawk, spit, blow, and disgust everybody with your offensive breath. If you have nasal, watery discharges from the nose and eyes, throat disease, coating clothing mucilage, cough, ringing noises in head, spitting headache and other symptoms of nasal catarrh, remember that the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer, in good faith, $500 reward for a case of catarrh which they cannot cure. The Remedy is sold by druggists at only 50 cents.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Good for All.

DEAR SIRS,—I can recommend Hagyard's Yellow Oil as a sure cure for rheumatism, from which disease I suffered for some time, but was cured with two bottles. It is the best thing I can get for man or horse. J. MUSSARD, Strathroy, Ont. 2tr21d

Of Great Service.

"I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil for cuts and scabs on horses' shoulders, and they got better at once. I have also used it for sprains, bruises, cuts and croup among my children, and can recommend it highly as of great value." W. Service, Mingo, Man. 2w21d

Faithfully Recommended.

In the spring of 1886, I had inflammation of the lungs, which left my lungs weak. I had a very bad cough, and resolved to try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It did me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken, and I can faithfully recommend it." Miss Mary Kay, Virginia, Ont. 2w21d

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Man.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Texas.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—E. D. Johnson, 203 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Obstructing the Streets.

The police are determined to put a stop to the practice of some merchants in piling up goods just received, on the sidewalks in front of their stores and leaving them there for hours. There is a bylaw against it and the magistrate has given the officers instructions to lay a complaint against every one found breaking the law. Merchants are allowed a reasonable length of time to have the goods carried into the store, but they must also have a passage way of, at least, three feet for public traffic. This morning Mr. J. C. Turnbull was fined $2 for a breach of the bylaw on Saturday.

It will accommodate fifteen paddlers and eight or ten passengers—or desk hands—may be stowed away under the thwarts. It is rowed-ing the finishing touches and is to be in Toronto ready for use on May 24th. What the People Say.

Stony Lake Navigation.

The steamer Mary Ellen, plying in the Stony Lake waters, has been thoroughly overhauled and repainted this spring, and is now better looking and more commodious than ever before. In addition a new hurricane deck has been built from the captain's cabin to the stern. It is covered with galvanized iron so that there will be no danger from sparks. The Mary Ellen makes trips on Friday to connect with the Grand Trunk excursion trains to Lakefield, which are advertised elsewhere.

Presentation to Mr. Colville.

On Saturday afternoon, the Empire says, Mr. R. J. Colville, assistant secretary of the Toronto Y.M.C.A., who is about to depart for Peterborough, was presented with a beautifully illuminated and framed address by the members of the Beverley street Baptist church, where he has officiated for three and a half years as deacon, superintendent of the Sabbath school and an active mission worker. The presentation was made in suitable terms by Rev. Ira. B. Smith, pastor of the church, whose name, along with those of the deacons and elders, was appended to the testimonial.

"The Cup that Cheers."

The poet Cowper, when singing, in the above strain, the praises of tea as a beverage, no doubt had a prophetic vision of the magnificent stock of teas to be found at the great specialty tea house of Hawley Bros., George street. The best and finest brands of every kind of tea grown are found at their store. And not only the best, but the cheapest; remember that. Buying in immense quantities, this firm gets better prices and is, therefore, able to give customers the best value in teas, coffees, spices, etc., to be got in the Midland district. dw

Brodie's Mills.

The Berlin News says:—"The village of Hespeler is having a new boom. The starting up of the extensive woollen mills by their new proprietor, Mr. Brodie, late of Peterborough, and the presence of many people, new and old, who have come to take positions there, has given new life to the place. The amount of money spent in putting the establishment in proper repair and building some new additions, is very large, and when these improvements are all got through with this enormous establishment will probably be the largest in the country. The factory has thirteen full sets of machinery, from which our readers may judge of its magnitude. Though a portion of the machinery is running, and quite a number of hands already employed, it will still take several weeks before everything is complete."

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call. W. J. MORROW,
249 George street.

A Strange Accident.

A horse was drowned in the river this morning under peculiar circumstances. Mr. Jas. Campbell bought a load of straw from Mr. Storey, of Emily, and the load was delivered at Mr. Campbell's sheds behind his residence on the market square by a young man in Mr. Storey's employment. While the straw was being unloaded the horses were startled by some woman going by with carpets, and ran towards the river, the young man in charge being thrown between the horses and the wagon and run over but fortunately not injured. The team ran right into the water and one of the horses was drowned. It fell and in some way got its head under the pole and could not rise again on account of a broken leg. It was a valuable animal and the loss to Mr. Storey will be heavy.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons.

This talented artiste appeared at the opera house last night before a not large but fashionable audience of people who embraced the opportunity of hearing Mrs. Scott-Siddons once more before her final leave-taking of this country. It is scarcely necessary to state that the entertainment was of a superior character and delighted everyone. Mrs. Scott-Siddons' talent and beauty are as striking as they ever were. The programme comprised and was limited to eight numbers, no encores being granted. The first half included "Nathalie, a Tale of Alsace," by Ella. D. Cress; the "Condemnation of Constance de Beverley," from Scott's Marmion; "Aunt Abigail's Adventure," an anonymous humorism, and the potion-drinking scene from Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet." The second part opened with "Shamus O'Brien," followed by an extract from Habberton's "Helen's Babies," then Sim's "Death of the Old Stagecoach," the entertainment concluding with a scene from the "School for Scandal." All these numbers were given with her old-time spirit and elegance. There should have been a larger audience present, but doubtless the warm weather and other attractions militated against the attendance.

To-Morrow's Game.

Tournament of the University Baseball Club—A Good Game for To-Morrow Afternoon.

To-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon the people of Peterborough will have the opportunity afforded them of seeing a fine game of baseball. A club formed from the students and graduates of University College, Toronto, is about to visit the leading American universities, and on their way there they will play a game in Peterborough. The team is undoubtedly the strongest amateur team in Canada, and its members are gentlemen and scholars. This will be a chance to see a capital game played without any of the accompaniments that often deter ladies and gentlemen from attending baseball matches.

The personnel of the "Varsity team is as follows:—

Harry Wardell is catcher, and a good one he is. He is in his freshman year, but has played many a game of baseball. He is a strong batter.

T. Wardell, the catcher's brother, plays shortstop. He is a new man.

R. W. Bennett is one of the pitchers for the Varsity. He is also a freshman. He has all the curves, and many league clubs have tried to capture him. C. F. Clarke will play first base. "Charley" is a veritable Anson and a heavy hitter. He is a graduate in Arts and is now studying medicine.

A. N. Garrett is an undergraduate of the University. He plays 2nd base brilliantly, and though not a heavy in, however, a safe hitter. "Garry" is the only professional on the team having played with Kingston last summer. He also played goal for the Canadian Foot Ball Team that visited the Old Country last summer. He is the best goal keeper in Canada.

J. H. Senkler plays 3rd base. "Harry" is the the heaviest hitter and probably the best man on the team. He is one of Canada's best cricketers, having played in the International match last season. He will be graduated this spring. He is a son of Judge Senkler of St. Catharines.

G. Wright plays centre field and is a good change pitcher. He and Garrett are the big men of the team. He is one of the Toronto Rowing Club's "Stroker"

Fred Wood who will play left field is a brother of "Pete" Wood formerly pitcher for Hamilton, now of Philadelphia.

J. Hickstone who will play right field is a new man and a good one.

The team will be under the management of S. D. Schultz, B.A., who has pitched the 'Varsity to victory in many a game. "Sam" is from British Columbia, but is at present studying law in Toronto with Bigelow & Morrison.

The University team on their present tour will take in Cobourg, Kingston, Oswego, Amherst College, Brown and Cornell Universities, Lockport, Guelph, Galt, and probably Stratford and Berlin.

The strongest team that Peterborough can get will be pitted against the 'Varsitys, and intend giving them a good game. The team will probably be Cameron and Billings in the points, Metheral, Pearson and Little (Lindsay) on bases, Turnbull shortstop, and Moore, Brennan and Galley in field.

The game will take place on the Riverside Park, beginning at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Charlotte Street Endeavor Society.

A meeting of the Charlotte Street Endeavor Society was held last night, at which a very enjoyable time was spent. After the usual business was over, Mr. Gillespie gave a reading, followed by Miss Sherlock with a recitation. Mr. Reeves then gave a reading, "Advice to Young Men," which, as could be easily seen, was written by one of the other sex. Next Monday night a devotional meeting will be held, when Mr. Richardson will give a Bible reading on "The Second Coming of Christ." This society is in a flourishing condition, and all young people are invited to join.

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

OUR NEW HOME HOTEL.

Lakefield had a gala day last Friday, the occasion being the trial of the new Waterous steam fire engine, a public holiday being proclaimed and observed, so as to give all a chance to see and judge for themselves as to the merits of the engine.

From early morning groups of our citizens were to be seen in every direction, discussing fire protection from their several standpoints, and when Mr. Waterous and his assistants arrived a large number were on hand to watch the pinning in order of the machines. Soon after dinner the engine was taken by the newly formed Fire Company, headed by the Foresters' Band, from the shed to the river bank at the foot of Reid street, where two lines of 500 feet each of hose were laid. All being ready, the match was applied, and from cold water steam was raised in 7 minutes and a stream was being thrown from the first line of hose, and in 13 minutes a second stream was in the air. The engine was next moved to the bridge, and 1,000 feet of hose laid to the Presbyterian church, the water being lifted from the mill race off the bridge, 16 feet, and, notwithstanding a heavy gale that was blowing, the stream reached the top of the spire, 135 feet. The engine was again moved to the high bank of the river at the foot of Catherine street, and a line of 700 feet of hose laid to the Presbyterian church, while the water had to be taken through twenty-eight feet of suction hose with over seventy feet of a lift, when a stream was thrown right to ten feet over the spire, a distance of 153 feet above where the engine was placed, and that in face of a gale, thus doing more than had been claimed for her by the makers.

A number of Peterborough firemen were present (as well as parties from Norwood, Millbrook, Omemee), and while they were all in favor of waterworks, they were not slow to acknowledge the splendid work done by the Waterous engine, which, from her size, is more suitable for villages than one of heavier build.

The village people turned out in force and took great interest in the different tests, while the selections played by the band filled in the intervals and served to keep the crowd in good humor during the shifts.

On Saturday evening the engine was again submitted to a further test. Steam was raised from cold water in seven minutes, the engine being placed at the dam, and three lines of hose, 1,000 feet in all, connected, and water being thrown some 150 feet. A large crowd of our citizens and many from the surrounding country witnessed her work, and, with few exceptions, were highly pleased at the manner in which she performed the duty imposed upon her.

A meeting of the Fire Committee was held in the clerk's office later on, when Messrs. Wade and Smith, who had been selected to watch her working, reported her a success, and it was decided to accept her from Mr. Waterous, who has earned high encomiums for his honourable and straightforward dealings with the council.

A TRIP TO BURLEIGH.

On Saturday morning, at the invitation of Councillor Henderson, the representatives of the Waterous Engine Company, the village council and a few friends, took a trip to Mount Julian and Burleigh on the steamer Cruiser, which has been repainted and decorated for the summer season, and is again under the charge of the popular Capt. Grylls. A pleasant sail up the lake, a short stop at Mount Julian, then on to Burleigh, where all were entertained to dinner by Councillor Hall. A tour of inspection of the works was made and everything of interest pointed out by Mr. Wade, who had charge of the construction. Our visitors were delighted with the trip and the scenery on the route, and often, as some new view was unfolded by the progress of the boat, was the wish expressed, "If we only had that up at Brantford"—while the substantial construction of the Burleigh locks called forth many expressions of admiration.

BURLEIGH FALLS HOTEL.

"Jolly Jack Holmes" has not been idle this spring, and his purse must be somewhat lighter, if we are to judge from the many improvements which have been made. A wide awning has been placed all round the hotel, which has been painted both inside and out, repaired and otherwise improved, so that his old patrons will hardly recognize the place, while new visitors will be surprised to find such comfortable quarters in what is looked upon as the backwoods; but better still, his tables bear out their old reputation of being first class in everything.

NEW TOWN HALL.

Mr. Baptie, the contractor for the new Town Hall, has the excavation nearly finished, and in a few days will have the masons at work on the foundation walls. No time will be lost in having it completed and handed over to the Corporation.

WATER WORKS.

Messrs. Strickland had the pump in their waterworks overhauled last week, and placed in thorough repair, so that when tried on Saturday evening, a splendid stream was thrown, proving that it would be very effective in case a fire occurs in their mill property.

FIRE ESCAPES.

Our hotel men have been complying with the "Act" during the past week by having their hotels decorated with iron fire escapes, they will prove grand institutions for belated lodgers, or for the silent escape of impecunious guests.

A BIG THROW.

At the trial of the fire engine on Friday one man from the rural districts was quite disgusted because the branchman did not stand on the bridge and send a stream to the church 1000 feet as he said he had been told she would do. Some of our villagers almost expected as much to judge from their remarks.

NEWS OF THE DOMINION.

A MAIDSTONE MAN CHARGED WITH A BRUTAL MURDER.

Three More of the Victims of the Junction Cut Disaster Identified—A Wife Bought From Her Husband for $25.

WINDSOR, May 21.—Thomas Johnson, colored, of the township of Maidstone, was brought to the Windsor Police Station last night charged with the murder of his 2-year-old child May. The child's body is said to be covered with bruises inflicted by Johnson. A boy is alleged to be ready to swear that he saw the prisoner beating the child unmercifully. Johnson's wife is said to be positive in accusing her husband of the crime.
Dr. Langlois of Windsor will hold a coroner's inquest on the child's body at the Johnson residence, Maidstone front, to-morrow.

LOOKING FOR THE MISSING.

Three More of the Junction Cut Victims Identified.

HAMILTON, May 21.—Five strangers arrived in the city to-day in search of relatives supposed to have perished in the Junction cut disaster of April 28.—John Smith, 59 Tehama-street south, San Francisco, Mrs. Martin, of Akron, Ohio, his sister, and John McNiff, of the latter place, arrived in search of Mrs. Smith and her daughter. Mrs. Smith was a wealthy widow of Akron, Ohio. Some time ago she went out to San Francisco to visit her son and decided to remove to that city. She was on her way back to sell her property and wind up her affairs in Akron when she met her death. Akron is near Buffalo and she bought her ticket via the Grand Trunk to that point, consequently her friends had no idea that she was in the wreck, as they did not know she took the northern route. She was accompanied by her 15-year-old daughter. The relatives looked over the relics and identified a metal button found on one of the bodies as having belonged to Miss Smith's chum.
Wm. Gleason, 87 Pierce street, Chicago, and Mrs. D. W. Morrison, 264 North Ashland-street, Chicago, came here in search of their sister, Miss Maggie Gleason, aged eighteen, who was on her way to Middleton, Conn. They went down to the hospital and interviewed the survivors. Mr. Kenyon, the mining engineer, distinctly remembered the young lady from the description they gave.

Viner Sold His Wife for $25.

HAMILTON, May 21.—The charge against W. H. N. Moore, the St. Kitts colored barber, for destroying property belonging to Mary E. Viner, the woman whom he lived with, was heard at the Police Court to-day. The trouble occurred Wednesday night when Moore assaulted the woman and smashed some of the things in the house. Moore made a startling statement. He said the magistrate that A. B. Viner sold his wife to him for $25 cash and a debt of $60. The wilful damage case was dismissed, but Moore will have to spend forty days in jail unless he pays a fine of $10.

CRAZED BY DRUGS.

Hanged Himself After Ayer's Sarsaparilla Story About a Gonorrhœa.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Never outside of the realms of romance was a more delicate story told than was set forth in the affidavits read before Judge Daly in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday. A woman whose name is known has made her name familiar in every home and city from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific charged a stock broker, a man whose wealth is estimated at many millions, with a crime that apparent almost impossible in this century. She implicated in the alleged conspiracy against her the broker's son, the young man's bride, who is her own daughter; a famous statesman and a noted German physician. In order to rob one of their enemy these people, according to her sworn statement, wished to have her declared insane and placed in an asylum. Their schemes was not to have two venal doctors pronounce her demented and then to bury her out of the sight of the world, but to actually deprive her of her sanes through the use of a terrible drug called gonorrhœa. The statesman desired to continue them for any length of time would mean death. While this horrid plan was being put into effect and the vice president on a bed of torture in Europe the cage her mind was being rifled, deeds and other documents were read to her to clear her conscience and the latter entered her home in this city and stole many of her private papers.

THE MILLERS' GRIEVANCE

HOW THEY PROPOSE TO MEET THE DOWN EAST OBJECTION.

A Big Meeting at Listowel and a Larger One to be Held in Toronto—Mr. Plews' Plan.

LISTOWEL, May 21.—The millers of Ontario, to use current slang, find themselves in the soup. Their grievances are:
1. That they have paid as high as $1.20 for a lot of wheat that they have now in stock, which if turned into flour would not realize 90 cents a bushel.
2. That there is little or no market for their flour because the Canadian market is overrun with United States flour, which is only taxed 20 cents a barrel, while the tax on American wheat on a barrel of flour is 71 cents, thereby discriminating against the Canadian miller as least 51 cents a barrel, equal to a cash bonus to the American millers from Canada of $162,000 a year.
3. That the price of wheat in Canada is away above an "export basis" that is, that Liverpool prices do not rule here, and if they did all the millers' grievances would vanish.
To discuss these grievances the millers of Bruce, Wellington, Huron and Middlesex met in convention here this afternoon. There was a big attendance and the interest manifested showed that the grievances are no small affair.
Among those present were: J. C. Hay, Listowel (chairman); W. B. Hutton, Wingham (secretary); James Phair, Clinton; J. A. Williams & Co., Zurich; Stewart & Lowick, Brussels; Robt. B. Clement, Walkerton; R. G. Chapman, Teeswater; Houston Bros., Teeswater; A. Moyer & Co., Linwood; A. Watt, Palmerston; Henry Cook, Kincardine; James Pringle, Stratford; MacKechnie Bros., Durham; Hunt Bros., London; D. Plews, Brantford; Stark Bros., Toronto; M. Winger & Bro., Ayr; Thos. Wilson, Harriston; Geo. Elphick, Pinkerton; A. H. Plews, Wingham; James Medd, Strawford; J. Steinmiller, Walkerton; A. Fisher, Paisley; James Stark, Paisley; John Lee & Son, Walkerton; Jno. McFarlane, Dumbiane; H. Cargill, M.P., Cargill; Wm. Austin, Cargill; W. G. Hay, Listowel; W. F. Hay, Listowel; Dodds & Co., Orchardville; R. Black, Gorrie; Thos. Gibson, Wroxeter.
Letters were read from a number of prominent millers all over the Province, sympathising with the meeting.
David Plews, the Brantford miller, narrated the efforts made by himself and a couple of other millers who had been sent to Ottawa last session to have the duty on flour increased. After a great deal of lobbying, and when they thought they had accomplished their purpose, the politicians had declined interfering. To leave things as they are meant the ruin of many millers, the discharge of their men and their capers.
Mr. Plews proposed his remedy, which would only be very partial for this year's trouble, but would in subsequent years be effective. It was, in substance, for 61 millers to combine to keep the price of wheat down to the export basis. They would bind themselves in an association not to compete against one another in the purchase of wheat in the local markets.
Mr. Hunt of Mount Bren. suggested as a remedy that the Government pass an order-in-council giving the millers the privilege of bringing in American wheat for the next three months, grinding it into flour for the Lower Provinces or other home markets, and allowing them to cancel their bonds by exporting Canadian wheat in its place after the new crop comes to market.
There was considerable opposition to this project from those who had large stocks of wheat on hand.
After a lot of discussion it was moved by James Stark, seconded by N. Winger, that in view of the fact that the people of the Maritime Provinces of Canada have declared against granting an adequate measure of protection to the manufacturers of breadstuffs in Ontario, and that whereas the duty on oat's coal has been retained as a set-off against the duty on breadstuffs; be it resolved, that we, the millers assembled in this meeting, humbly petition Her Majesty's Government at Ottawa to abrogate the duty on soft coal and that the Boards of Trade, Manufacturers' Associations, and Farmers' Institutes be asked to co-operate with this association with a view to forcing the Maritime Provinces to grant us justice.
Henry Cargill, M.P., who was present, defended the position of the Dominion Government in the course they had pursued with the millers, and claimed that the millers had really no grievance but that their present clamor and cry out was due to the fact that they had been suffering from the effects of an extended period of bad crops.
Mr. Plews at once took him to task for this and forced from him an admission that the millers really had grievances, but with the Dominion Government it was merely a question of votes, and the members from the Maritime Provinces being bitterly opposed to any change in the tariff the Government deemed it expedient in order to retain power to leave the question alone.
Mr. Plews' proposed plan for keeping down the price of wheat was recommended by the association to be adopted as a mass meeting of Ontario millers to be held in Toronto on a date on the millers' section of the Board of Trade could have such a meeting called.

DARING ROBBERY.

How a Depositor in the Bank of Montreal Lost $2300 Yesterday.

MONTREAL, May 21.—An impudent robbery of $2500 - $2000 in checks and $1300 in cash—occurred this afternoon at the Bank of Montreal. A clerk from the wholesale dry goods firm of Messrs. Thomas May & Co., named Donnalt, was sent as usual to the bank to make a deposit and placed the bank book with a roll of notes and checks upon the counter until the teller was disengaged. He stood for a moment with his back to the compartment until he could be attended to, when a respectably dressed man attracted his attention by asking his opinion about the genuineness of some bills which he held in his hand. The unsuspecting clerk courteously gave his opinion and then turned to his own business, when he suddenly missed that his deposit was gone although the book remained on the counter. For a moment he imagined that the teller had taken the money and was checking it with the "pay in" slip, but taking alarm he found that the teller had not touched the deposit, which had been abstracted by some unknown person.
The alarm was at once given and the assistance of the police and detectives instantly procured. The culprit, whoever he was, had obtained three or four minutes' start and no clue has yet been obtained of his whereabouts.
The officials behind the counter or the two porters always on duty at the door had not noticed any suspicious character about the building, nor did they observe anyone leave the bank in haste or under any kind of suspicious circumstances.

IN HAMILTON THIS TIME.

A Disastrous Pitch-in on the Northern and Northwestern. Nobody Hurt.

HAMILTON, May 21.—A disastrous pitch-in occurred about midnight last night on the Northern and Northwestern division of the Grand Trunk Railway. The yard engine, No. 563, in charge of Engineer Alfred Cundy and Fireman Michael Smith was shunting freight cars. It had left about twenty-five cars, most of which contained lumber, on the siding a short distance from Wallace's soap factory. After shunting them there the engineer went to the Wentworth-street crossing and returned with eleven cars. While they were saving some or ten of the cars on the siding (some of which were unmanned) started down the grade westward and kept on running until they got to the switch near the foot of Wellington-street. The switch was, of course, set for this train on the main line. Four of the truant cars left the track and stopped when they fell-lapped.
The yard engine, with its nine cars behind it and pushing two in front of it, came at a good rate of speed down the grade toward the switch. Neither the engineer nor fireman saw the wreck of the truant cars at the switch until they were too close to prevent the pitch-in. The cars which preceded the engine crashed into one of the cars that was off the track, and rose up into the switch. The engine was badly demolished and was turned around on the tender. It did not telescope the freight car, but smashed into it and they lay together in a shapeless mass. The fire from the engine spread to the car and the lumber commenced to blaze. The engineer was jammed into the wreck, but fortunately escaped without being hurt. His side of the engine was tangled up with the freight car, and he escaped out of the fireman's side of the cab. Fireman Smith also escaped unhurt. One of the freight cars that was in front of the engine was thrown across the track and Brakesman Mallory, who was on the front end of it, was fired on to the embankment. He was not hurt. The car after the engine was thrown off the track and badly smashed. Several of the cars following it remained.
The wreck of the car that was pitched into the gutter burned fiercely, and the firemen were telephoned for. When they arrived on the scene there was a big blaze. The flames were spreading to the car that lay across the track and the curious. All the cars contained lumber, and had the flames not been checked it would have made a fine blaze. The fire was confined to the car in the gutter. It was almost wholly destroyed. The remaining engine of the wreck was not damaged. The wrecking crew [illegible]

TWO LEAGUES EULOGISED

LORD SALISBURY THINKS HIGHLY OF THE PRIMROSE.

And Mr. O'Brien Believes that the Exchequer Has Some Great Things for Ireland—General Cable News.

LONDON, May 21.—Lord Salisbury delivered an address at a meeting of the members of the Primrose League to-day. He said the alliance between the Parnellites and Gladstonians was merely but unholy wedlock. The Irish would find more profit in peace than in disorder. The work of the Primrose League was surely destroying the professional politician and increasing the security of the institutions on which the country's prosperity depended.
Testifying before the Parnell Commission to-day, Mr. O'Brien described the wretched condition of the people in Ireland prior to the formation of the league. They were in debt up to their necks, he said, and had absolutely no redress against the exactions of the landlords. The troubles after 1870 arose from the universal movement of the landlords to take advantage of the two years allowed by the act of 1870 to get rid of small tenants and thus save the payment of compensation. The condition of affairs in Mayo when Mr. Davitt formed the league there was appalling; wholesale famine and bankruptcy seemed inevitable. Farmers said everything at a dead loss, the landlords did nothing to alleviate the distress, they denied that any distress existed. Mr. O'Brien stated that he approved boycotting. He believed it prevented crime.
Mr. Reid, of counsel for the Parnellites, read an article from United Ireland denouncing the Phœnix Park murders and asserting that the assassins, if discovered, would be more likely to be lynched in Dublin than in London.
Mr. O'Brien said the article expressed in the article was undoubtedly genuine. The view of the Nationalists was that the Government should pursue a policy of conciliation and thus obtain the people's sympathies with the law, but the members of the Government had their hands and passed a strong coercion measure under which the country had been terribly disturbed for three years. The Government in 1882 suppressed United Ireland because writers changed [illegible] in that paper with getting up crime, which charge he was perfectly prepared to prove. Mr. O'Brien attempted to enter into the details of the alleged outrages instigated by the Government, but Attorney-General Webster objected and his objection was sustained by the court. The commission then adjourned.

Two Views of the Irish Viceroyship.

LONDON, May 21.—A meeting of Unionist members of the House of Lords and House of Commons at the residence of the Marquis of Waterford to-day adopted a memorial to the Government praying for the abolition of the Viceroyship of Ireland and the transfer of its functions to a secretary of state. The memorial further asks for the establishment and maintenance of a royal residence in Dublin. A deputation was appointed to present the memorial to Lord Salisbury.
DUBLIN, May 21.—At a meeting of the Dublin branch of the National League to-day Professor Galbraith denounced the proposal to abolish the office of Viceroy of Ireland as an insidious attempt at a further absorption of that country. Any interference with the office would fail, he said, especially if the Parnellites chose to obstruct it, "as please God they would do when the proper time came." Professor Galbraith's remarks were greeted with cheers.

Humbert's Reception at Berlin.

BERLIN, May 21.—When Signor Crispi emerged from the train at the station to-day he was greeted by Prince Bismarck who shook him heartily by the hand. Ostrassiers escorted the carriages from the station to the castle. The first carriage was occupied by Emperor William and King Humbert, the second by the Crown Prince of Italy, Prince Henry of Prussia and Prince Frederick II., son of the Emperor, and the third by Prince Bismarck and Signor Crispi. Representatives of the Berlin Academy and other associations of artists occupied a pavilion fronting the opera house. Further on were stationed choirs under the direction of Herr Joachim who chanted an ode specially prepared for the occasion commencing with the words "Vive Umberto rex Italie." The court actress Hochenburger recited verses written by Herr Jordan, director of the National Gallery, welcoming King Humbert to the city. After being received by the Empress King Humbert and the Prince of Naples retired to the apartments set aside for their use in the Castle. Later they visited all the royal princes, Prince Bismarck and Count Von Moltke. After a family dejeuner the Emperor and his guests drove to Charlottenburg, where they placed wreaths upon the tomb of Emperor Frederick.

Detectives in a Hot Place.

FARMERSBURG, May 21.—For some time detectives have been working clues in the Jacob Morgan case of Tyler County. Morgan's murder was cold-blooded. Detectives Burnett and Gale and Constable Unsworther went on Friday to the Morgan neighborhood to make arrests. Sunday morning a number of men surrounded the house in which the officers were staying and demanded their surrender. The officers fired at the party. The men riddled the house with bullets, wounding Gale in the arm. One of the assailants was mortally wounded and two others were badly hurt before they retired.

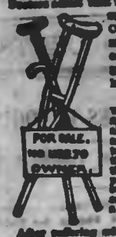
Rheumatism and Neuralgia



These twin diseases cause terrible suffering. Science admits that they are difficult to cure—ordinary remedies seldom. Paine's Celery Compound has permanently cured the worst cases of rheumatism and neuralgia—as my them who have used it.

"Having been troubled with rheumatism for five years, I was induced to get a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and was greatly pleased with the result. In fact, after using three bottles, I was entirely cured. I can only speak in the highest terms of Paine's Celery Compound, as I feel it has saved me a long illness."—Thomas Gardiner, Moncton, N.B.

After suffering with chronic rheumatism for several years, I was induced to try Paine's Celery Compound, and after using two bottles found myself completely restored. In fact, after using three bottles, I was not free from rheumatism. Can conscientiously recommend it. Yours very truly,

Mrs. D. COWAN, Cornwallis, P.Q.

Paine's Celery Compound

"I have been greatly afflicted with neuralgia in the head, and could get no relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound. After using one bottle of this medicine I am now cured of the neuralgia in the head."—Samuel Hunnewell, Sr., Contoocook, N. H.

Effects Lasting Cures.

Paine's Celery Compound has performed many other cures, as numerous as they are remarkable, and is now recommended by leading physicians, and ordinarily by druggists, as the best of all nerve tonics and curatives; a child can take it. What's the use of suffering longer with rheumatism or neuralgia?

MILK FOR CHEESE FACTORIES

This is the title of an eminently practical little bulletin issued by J. W. Robertson, professor of dairying at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, under the authority of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The professor says that the grass of early summer is too watery and weak in nutriment for its bulk to be fed alone with advantage. He recommends a judicious allowance of bran, peas, oats, oil-cake, or cotton-seed meal, which will at this season increase the production of milk, and fortify the cow's system for a large production during the summer. Prof. Robertson utterly condemns the idea of fodder corn sown broadcast, as a food for cattle. He says that "such fodder is mainly the device of a thoughtless farmer to feed his cows into believing they have been fed, when they have only been filled up." The professor further says when the same plant is grown in rows or hills three feet apart in the row, thus allowing it to grow under favorable conditions, it yields fodder by which cows are enabled to produce the largest amount of milk, butter or cheese per acre area of the land required for their support. But even under the last named favorable conditions fodder corn is not a complete ration, but should be supplemented by food rich in albuminoids, such as those above mentioned. An instance is given of a leading Canadian dairyman last summer feeding eighteen cows upon fodder corn to supplement scant pasture, and supplying his milk to the factory. Afterwards he supplied a course of bran, and by the end of the first week found by an examination of the factory books that he was credited with enough extra milk to pay for the bran consumed (2½ pounds per cow per day) and leave a balance of $2.44 extra for the milk. Surely such a result would repay any farmer, and it is a comparatively easy matter for each to make a test for himself.

The professor gives numerous other hints as regards, water, shelter, salt, aeration etc., and concludes by briefly summarizing in short paragraphs the essence of his advice, and the matters most needful of care. They are:—

1. Milk from cows in excellent health and apparent contentment only should be used.
2. Until the eighth milking, the milk should not be offered to a cheese factory.
3. An abundant supply of suitable, succulent, easily digestible, wholesome nutritious food should be provided.
4. Some mild water should be allowed in quantities limited only by the cow's capacity and desire to drink.
5. A trough containing salt to which the cows have access every day is a valuable indispensable in the profitable keeping of cows.
6. Stagnant, impure pastures should be prohibited. The responsibility for the efficacy of this sanitary prohibition rests wholly with the individual farmer.
7. Wild leeks and other weeds common in bush pastures give an offensive odor and flavor to the milk of animals consuming them.
8. All vessels used in the handling of milk should be thoroughly cleansed immediately after their use. Washing first in tepid or cold waters to which has been added a little soda and subsequent scalding with boiling water, will prepare them for airing, that they may remain perfectly sweet.
9. Cows should be milked with dry hands, and only after the udders have been washed or thoroughly brushed.
10. No spits should be used.
11. All milk should be properly strained immediately after it is drawn.
12. Milking should be done and milk should be kept only in a place where the surrounding air is pure. Otherwise the presence of the tainting odors will not be neglected by the milk.
13. All milk should be thoroughly aired immediately after it has been strained. The treatment is equally beneficial to the evening's and morning's milk.
14. In warm weather all milk should be cooled to the temperature of the atmosphere after it has been aired, but not before.
15. Milk is the better for being kept over night in small quantities, rather than in a large quantity in one vessel.
16. Milk stands should be constructed to shade the cans or vessels containing milk from the sun, as well as to shelter them from the rains.
17. Only pure, honest milk should be offered. Deviation from that will not always go unpunished.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Grand "Orator" Seeking an Entrance into the Queen City.

TORONTO, May 22.—The indications are that at least one of the big American roads which run to the international boundary at Niagara Falls are bound to get into Toronto. The latest complaint for a road from the Falls to the Queen City is the great "corridor" known as the Delaware and Lackawanna. The Erie, too, it is rumored, is flirting quite freely with the same scheme. Both the Lackawanna and the Erie are big opponents of the "Vanderbilts," so styled on the Stock Exchange, and one of them is figuring to cut the New York Central out of a direct Toronto branch.

Yesterday afternoon George Johnson and "Private Detective" James McLaughlin were arrested on warrants charging them with "aggravated assault" on William Cumming, a baker residing at 94 Beverley-street. It is alleged by Cumming that the prisoners, in order to extort from Cumming the whereabouts of a 17-year-old girl named Jennie Manning of Trenton, whom it is said he had despoiled and brought to Toronto, investigated the complainant to a beating in Centre-street and there starved and tortured him into giving up the desired information. He was kept bound and without food from Monday until Tuesday afternoon, when the pangs of hunger proved too much for him and he told his tormentors where to find the girl. He was released and the girl found. The result is that Jennie is with her friends in Trenton and McLaughlin and Johnson are in the cells.

At the Police Court yesterday James Beatty, accused of stealing a horse from Messrs. Provan & Martin, pleaded guilty, and also admitted having served terms in the common jail and Central Prison for theft. This being a very clear case of horse stealing the Magistrate inflicted a severe penalty, committing him to the penitentiary at Kingston for three years.

The seventh annual session of the Grand Legion of the Select Knights of the A.O.U.W. was held in Shaftesbury Hall yesterday. Grand Commander W. J. Forte of Picton presided. There was a large attendance from all parts of the Dominion. The reports presented were encouraging. The name of the order was changed to "The Select Knights of Canada." These officers were elected:

Grand Commander—[illegible], Chatham.
Grand Vice-Commander—[illegible], Collingwood.
Grand Lieut.-Commander—W. B. Fenton, Bowmanville.
Grand Secretary—J. J. Logan, Toronto.
Grand Record Keeper—Rev. W. Stewart Jones, Hamilton.
Grand Treasurer—[illegible], Toronto.
Grand Warder—[illegible], Picton.
Grand Guard—[illegible], Toronto.
Grand Sentinel—[illegible], Toronto.
Grand Trustees—J. A. Flinn, Chatham; C. S. Collard, Toronto; A. R. Tyrrell, Brantford.
Grand Auditors—John Burns, Toronto; George Watts, Torrence.

The newly-elected officers were then installed by Dr. King, P.G.C., and the session closed, to meet in Toronto on May 21, 1890.

CANADA AND AUSTRALIA.

Principal Grant's Impressions of the Australasian Colonies.

TORONTO, May 22.—Principal Grant lectured to Association Hall last night on the latest question under the Southern Cross, to an audience in which the intellectual elite of the city was well represented.

The lecturer was in the optimistic vein throughout. "Beware of the pessimist" was one of his opening sentences, and when with his well known satire he characterized those who would belittle Canada, who raised the dialogical cry of annexation in the United States, and who doubted of the future of this Dominion. But Canada, said he, and the sentiment was observed to the echo, is not going to be the prize to fall into the capacious mouth of our American neighbor.

Having delivered himself of these preliminary patriotic utterances, which were the forerunners of many others, Principal Grant waxed eloquent on his Australian trip, the pearness thanks to the C.P.R. to our Australian brethren, the illimitable commercial possibilities of the Australasian of the Pacific, the visions of the future Australian, the need for a link of Canada's blood in the formation of a united Australia. The lecturer descanted on the interest Australians take in Canada and its concerns, and then described their system of education, which is excellent, and on which an enormous amount of money is annually spent. There are no separate schools, though the Roman Catholics are zealous for their establishment and the Presbyterians would not object, as thereby the door would be opened for religious instruction.

Specially interesting was the lecturer's account of the unique physical and historical development of Australia, which is not as big a country as Canada, though nearly as big as the whole of Europe. Australia, like Canada, has not had time to produce great men, great books, but she has excelled in the export of her unrivalled agricultural and mineral products. The three millions of Australians are the richest people per capita of any in the world. Nowhere has material prosperity been secured so soon. In 50 years Melbourne and Sydney had progressed wonderfully and now have each a population of 400,000.

Still, as in all new countries, there was a monotony in the aspect of towns and cities. "I frankly confess," said the lecturer, "I enjoyed three weeks in Japan more than three months in Australia." The acquisition of wealth and the enjoyment of luxuries in the southern colonies was detrimental to culture and refinement. How numerous worship holds away was humorously exemplified.

The latter portion of the lecture was political: the advocacy of closer union and trade between Canada and Australia. To a great extent Canada and Australia are the complement of each other. There should be direct cable communication and steamship service, both of which would pay. Cheaper postage also was needed. By cogent and manifold arguments these desiderata were espoused; and then the Principal gave the reins to his eloquence in considering what should be the relation between the Mother Country and her self-governing colonies.

Boy one Year and a Half Old. Face and Body in a Terrible Condition, being Covered with Sores. Sulphur Springs fail. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I have used your CUTICURA REMEDIES in two cases where it proved to be successful. The first was in the case of a boy a year and a half old. His face and body were in a terrible condition, the greater part being covered with sores. I took him to the Minnesota Sulphur Springs, but he did not improve any. I was then advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which I did. He took one and one half bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, when his skin was as smooth as could be, and is to-day. I used the CUTICURA on his sores and the CUTICURA SOAP in washing him. He is now five years of age and all right. The other case was a disease of the scalp, which was cured by washing with the CUTICURA SOAP and rubbing in the CUTICURA, one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT being used. They have proved successful in every case where I have advised the use of them. It is surprising how quickly a child will improve under their treatment. I recommend them for any disease of the skin as being the best in the world. This is my opinion, and I am ready to stand by my statement. JOSEPH R. REED, American House, Hagerstown, N.Y.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Dissatisfied Italian Laborers—A Horse Thief Captured.

TORONTO, May 21.—President Michael Russo of the Italian Benevolent Society is investigating a serious case of hardship in which 50 Italian laborers were very badly treated. On May 11 Peter Danseo, an Italian boss in St. John's Ward, received the following letter from Mr. John Scully, employment agent: "P. DANSEO: I want you to get me fifty Italians, men, good laborers, for grading work; wages to be $1.25 per day, and the work is likely to last all summer. It's through a good country and the men can board themselves. They will be able to get provisions and live cheap there as it is a good farming country. I know Mr. Nicholson the contractor and he is all right and a good man. JOHN SCULLY." Danseo hunted around through Centre, Chestnut and Elizabeth streets and soon had the requisite number of men. These he conducted down to Mr. Scully's office, who told them that their destination was Waterford on the C. P. R. They paid him $1 each as his commission for getting them the work and $3.05 for their fare. When they arrived at Waterford, they found that there was work but for 10 men and that at $1.12. After one a little suffering and hardship the gang got back to Toronto, and now Mr. Danseo, with the aid of Inspector Archibald, is requesting an explanation from Mr. Scully.

About daylight yesterday the stable of Preston & Martin, 189 King-street east, was broken into and a valuable horse stolen. Later in the day it was found in the possession of a man named Cohen in Adelaide-street east. Cohen said he had bought it from a man named James Beatty. Detective John Cuddy soon traced Beatty to where he worked, in the street car stables, and placed him under arrest.

His Worship Mayor Clarke and City Treasurer Coady take to-day's noon train for New York en route for England, where they will look after the city's interests in the matter of the new issue of debentures.

There were about 120 delinquents, mostly drunks and disreputables, before the Police Magistrate yesterday. Col. Denison sent John Barry, a Chicago thief, to the Central for three months for breaking into the premises of Charles Gray. Arthur Chenevert was fined $20 or 20 days for assaulting P. C. Mills. Andy Wilson was fined $40 or 30 days for a brutal assault on Solomon Saunders and his daughter. A boy named John Hodgins was committed for five days for theft of raisins. Thomas Stones, for a disturbance at the Union Station, was fined $5. John Lyons, John Doyle and William Doyle, stealing copper from Booth & Son, were sent to jail for ten days.

A. J. Lennox, architect of the proposed new county and city buildings which the citizens on Saturday decided to build, says excavation will be commenced within a month, and that by the end of the season the foundations will have been laid to a level with the ground.

Part of the embankment of King-street subway, now in course of excavation, fell in yesterday morning and buried Messe Brown, one of the laborers. His companions dug him out and had him removed to the hospital. He suffered internal and spinal injuries and is likely to die.

Receipts of hay and straw were small, there was a good inquiry and prices were firm. Hay sold at $15.50 to $16.50, and straw at $10 and $11.

On the street grain market the only wheat offered was one load of very fine No. 1 Ontario spring wheat that sold at 93 cents. A small quantity of oats sold at 31 and 32 cents.

ACCIDENT NEAR LONDONVILLE.

LONDONVILLE, May 21.—What may result in a fatal accident occurred here Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. L. McIntosh were on their way home about five miles from here and had just got over the Grand Trunk Railway crossing on the Wolfstown road when the 6 o'clock freight came thundering along, frightening the horse overturning the buggy and throwing both out. Mr. McIntosh is injured in the head and Mrs. McIntosh cut in the head. They are now with friends here, being in too precarious a condition to be taken home.

ANOTHER QUEEN GRAFTONIAN.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The new twin screw steamer of the Hamburg-American line, the Augusta Victoria, entered under the Narrows at 6 o'clock this morning. She left Hamburg at 10 o'clock on the morning of May 7, and has been 6 days 2 hours and 15 minutes on the passage from Southampton to Sandy Hook to Sandy Hook to New York. Taking off the 6 hours during which the steamer was stayed on the 7th day of the voyage to land journals and the actual time between the Fastnet and Sandy Hook lightship would be 6 days 20 hours and 45 minutes, or better than the great record of the new City of Paris. Her best run, 464 miles was made on the 18th.

Weeps her life away.
Good-wife Geybert sings and smiles;
Time, the envy of the years,
Keeps no track of her.

The two women are of the same age but Good-wife Grundie looks fully fifteen years the older. She is the victim of ills which might be cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Pain "female weakness" and low spirits are her constant companions. Good-wife Geybert, thanks to the "Prescription" enjoys perfect health and seems to grow more young, vivacious and agreeable every day. There is nothing equal to this remedy for all female disorders.

Good for All.

DEAR SIRS,—I can recommend Hagyard's Yellow Oil as a sure cure for rheumatism, from which disease I suffered for some time, but was cured with two bottles. It is the best thing I can get for man or horse. J. MUSGARD, Strathroy, Ont. 2w21d

Of Great Service.

"I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil for cuts and scalds on horses' shoulders, and they got better at once. I have also used it for sprains, burns, cuts and croup among my children, and can recommend it highly as of great value." W. Service, Minto, Man. 2w21d

Faithfully Recommended.

In the spring of 1886, I had inflammation of the lungs, which left my lungs weak. I had a very bad cough, and resolved to try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It did me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken, and I can faithfully recommend it." Miss Mary Kay, Virginia, Ont. 2w21d

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 368 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Bad Water at the South Ward School.

The Examiner is requested to state that several children have been rendered ill and unable to attend the south ward school, through drinking the water at the school buildings, which is said to be very impure and entirely unfit for drinking purposes. Such being the case it is important that the health authorities should see to the matter and bring about a remedy. The health and life of our children are far too important to risk for the sake of the expenditure of a little trouble and money. Pure water and pure air should be cheap, but it seems difficult sometimes to secure them.

Merit Deeply Recognized.

The Lindsay Post says:—"Mr. R. M. Anderson, for some years past head salesman in Mr. S. S. Mr. Anderson was very popular in all circles, and took an active interest in church work and in the Y.M.C.A. He will be missed by a host of friends, who wish him every success." In addition, Mr. Anderson's employer, Mr. S. S. Ritchie, made him a present of a magnificent gold watch. Mr. Anderson, to have received such flattering testimonials, must have performed the duties of both citizen and employee in a most exemplary and commendable manner.

Street Improvements.

Yesterday the members of the Street and Bridge Committee made their annual trip through the town. There was one representative from each ward, Messrs. After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call. W. J. Morrow,

At the Opera House.

Harry Lindley and his company occupied the boards at the opera house last night. The audience was not large, but they appeared to be well pleased with the performance of "The Castaways." Harry was as usual the whole show in himself. He has with him a few actors of not more than medium ability, while there are several "sticks" who do their best to spoil the play. "The Castaways" is a thrilling drama of the sea and was fairly well put on. A feature of the company, which comprises 26 people, is the Haines family of musicians, who are a band on the street and an orchestra in the hall. There are several children in it, among them a couple of little boys, a boy and a girl, the former playing the big drum and the latter the snare. These precocious youngsters played in admirable time, and their performances were closely watched by an interested crowd.

The Tented "Uncle Tom."

Last night Messrs. Bartch & Barnip's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company presented that old, but ever-new, drama under canvas on Riverside Park. Owing to the coldness and rawness of the evening the tent was not as well filled as if the warm weather of the previous day had prevailed. Still there was a good sized audience, who were delighted with the excellent performance given. The general opinion was that the show was well worth the money. The company is a good one, some of the characters are better than the people are accustomed to see with road companies. "Uncle Tom" filled his part with great credit, and Little Eva, the daughter of Mr. Bartch, was remarkably good. The Topsy of the company was a tip-top bundle of vivacious energy and could hardly be surpassed. Altogether the company is a good one and the audience was decidedly pleased with the entire performance, and wherever the company goes it is sure to get, as it deserves, a large patronage. In its well presented specialty of the ever green "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Rev. Mr. Jeffrey's Lecture.

There was not a large audience at the George street church last night when Rev. T. W. Jeffrey delivered his lecture on "How to Rise in the World." Rev. M. L. Pearson presided. Mr. Jeffrey's lecture combined wit and wisdom, quaint humor and good advice, and every point was illustrated by striking anecdote or reference to the success in life attained by great men simply by their observance of the rules set down by the lecturer. It was easier to rise than fall, Mr. Jeffrey said, for God originally intended man to be upright, though Satan, by human help, had enabled many a man to fall and never rise again. But it was easier and more natural to do right than wrong; God never made a road to hell, while He had made innumerable roads to heaven. God intended man to be happy, to have no pains and never to pass sad nesty, and so much did He hate these things that the day was coming when they would be forever destroyed. In his search for happiness man made a great many mistakes. First, he tried to be somebody else. Every human being has his place in the world, for which he was peculiarly fitted, and it should be his object to find that place. After enlarging upon the "eternal fitness of things," the speaker pointed out a number of other steps in the rise of life. He urged men to think and act up to their own individuality; a man should ascertain what God made him to be, and become that individual. Then a man should aim at something definite and aim high. To gain the desired ends hard work was necessary—application must be accompanied by perspiration. A man must learn to discriminate in this world, learn what should be done and what not done, learn to do the right thing at the right time, know when to say yes and no and stick to it. He must keep his eyes open and be observant; have a faith based upon God; tell the truth at all times and "cleave the devil." Lastly, a young man if he wished to rise in life should marry early; there was untold independence in a good wife. The lecture was a practical one, and at the conclusion a vote of thanks was moved to Rev. Mr. Jeffrey by Mr. H. S. Griffin and seconded by Mr. Jos. Stevenson.

Farewell for a Season.

Mrs. Beck, Being About to Leave Town, is Tendered Farewell Addresses and Tokens.

Upon the advice of his physician, Rev. J. W. H. Beck, M. A., rector of St. John's Church, has gone to Toronto with the hope of benefitting his health by a change of air and scenes. This necessitates the removal to the Queen City, for a time at least, of Mrs. Beck and family. It is expected the removal will be only temporary, but the ladies of St. John's Church could not allow the opportunity to pass without tendering Mrs. Beck some practical token of their appreciation of her past efforts and their continued interest in her welfare. Last evening Mrs. Weller and Mrs. Possette called at the rectory and presented her with the following address, which was accompanied by a handsome satchel containing a sum of money:—

Dear Mrs. Beck,—The congregation of St. John's church desire to express to you through us, their warm and deep appreciation of the zeal and energy which you have expended in the work of the church during so many years. They recognize with gratitude your untiring efforts in the reduction of the old debt, the debt on the school house, and the debt incurred for the restoration; and your constant solicitude in all matters pertaining to the welfare of our people. In your place at the rectory you have naturally been looked to for guidance and assistance by all who might require such, and whether in distress or otherwise you have never been appealed to in vain. Indeed to the Rector you have, in the fullest sense, been a helpmeet. At the present time, when the opportunity comes to be presented for your taking a brief respite from your numerous duties, and, it is to be hoped, some fitting relaxation both of body and mind, it appeared right to the congregation not only to let you know the affectionate regard in which you are held by them, but also to place in your hands the means necessary for the object suggested, and it is earnestly hoped you will accept the accompanying gift as a slight token of the congregation's continued interest in your welfare. We look forward to welcoming you at no distant date on your return to your home among us.

We remain, dear Mrs. Beck, on behalf of the congregation, sincerely and affectionately yours,

C. E. Sherwood, E. J. Possette,
M. J. Weller, M. E. Archer,
J. Baller, J. Chamberlen.
Peterborough, May 20th, 1889.

THE REPLY.

Mrs. Beck replied as follows:
To Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Possette, Mrs. Weller, Mrs. Archer, Mrs. Baller and Miss Chamberlen:

My Very Dear Friends.—I am deeply touched by the kindness which has prompted you at this time to address to me such words of affection and encouragement and I am more grateful than I can express for the handsome gift, showing as it does how heartily and generously the congregation of St. John's have responded to the call you have made upon them. I thank you and them most sincerely for this manifestation of good will, and remain,

Very affectionately,
Margaret Beck.

"The Rectory," May 23rd, 1889.

P.S.—I desire to convey to the Children's Guild, my sincere thanks for their gifts of a handsome Prayer Book.

M. B.

The prayer book referred to was presented to Mrs. Beck on Monday evening at the school room by Rev. Mr. Kenrick, on behalf of the children, in whom she always took a deep interest.

The many friends of Mrs. Beck, both inside and outside the church, will regret that she is leaving town even for a time, and will hope that she may return at no very distant day.

The Denis Assault Case.

At the police court this morning the Denis assault case was tried before Mayor Stevenson, who presided in the absence of Police Magistrate Dumble. The charge was assault and committing grievous bodily harm upon Wm. Johnston. It will be remembered that on Tuesday night of last week Wm. Johnston, employed on Mr. Hugh C. Denis' yacht, which was lying at the wharf here, was badly beaten about the head by the proprietor of the boat. The full particulars of the case were made known this morning. Wm. Graham, Johnston's companion, did not know much about it. He left Johnston up street early in the evening and went home to bed. They had both been drinking. He did not hear Johnston come down to the boat, and the first thing he saw was Johnston lying on the deck of the scow with Denis standing over him. He heard Johnston say, "Don't, don't," but did not see any blows. Johnston himself was brought down from the hospital to give evidence. He had ugly looking cuts on his head and one on the bridge of his nose. He didn't remember anything about it at all, except that he was struck by someone whom he could not identify. Clare Calcutt, who met Mr. Denis and his party at the train and went with them to the boat and was an eye-witness, and Mr. Jackson, a friend of Denis', also gave evidence, which was mainly corroborated by the story of Denis, which followed Dr. Yelland's statement regarding the extent of Johnston's injuries. Mr. Barnham, at this point, asked the magistrate's ruling upon the question as to whether the assault were aggravated or only common. The magistrate held that as Denis had evidently acted on the defensive and in the heat of the moment had struck the blow, it could only be classed as common assault. The information was amended and Mr. Denis told his story. He telegraphed on Tuesday last to Graham to meet him at Peterborough with the yacht. Arriving here on the 11.30 train at night, he and his wife and child and friend proceeded to the boat and found the two men drunk in Mrs. Denis' private parlor. Denis' yacht was lashed alongside the scow of the Golden Eye. With assistance the two men were carried out, but Johnston struggled pretty hard. In the excitement Denis lost his hat, which rolled to near where Johnston lay, and in passing him Johnston got up and grasping a club from a pile of wood on the scow threatened to strike Denis. The latter picked up a stick of wood and struck Johnston, and the latter fell. It was evident that Johnston fell against the wood pile, and his head coming in contact with the sharp edge of the wood caused the cuts. Johnston was taken to the police station and has since been confined at the hospital. After that Mr. Denis and his party went to the Oriental hotel. The magistrate in delivering judgment said that while Denis had a certain amount of justification in striking Jonhston, he should not have struck him such a severe blow as he did. He fined the defendant $5 and costs.

Emerald Benefical Association.

The Grand Branch delegates did not take a trip down the river yesterday, as the weather was so uncomfortable. Instead the local brethren hired cabs and drove the visitors about town. A night session was held, at which committees were struck and the international relations of the Ontario Grand Branch with the United States Branches were discussed. It was decided to review the friendly relations which formerly existed between these bodies, and had been interrupted. This morning's session was taken up with the reading and discussion of the address of the Grand President, and the reports of the Secretary and Treasurer. Session will be held this afternoon, and for a short time this evening, after which the visiting delegates will be tendered a banquet at the Balmoral.

$5. Reward.

The 57th Batt. and P.A.A.A. offer a prize of $5.00 to the man who lengths most at the sports on the 24th. If there should be a tie it must be laughed off. The committee have arranged the programme with the expectation of seeing the record broken. There will also be a prize of $250 to the girl who giggles longest without taking breath. In this contest also a tie must be giggled off. Mr. Muncaster the official time keeper will hold the watch.

Another Accident.

Six cars of a freight train were wrecked on the main line of the Grand Trunk yesterday, near Pickering. A broken axle caused the train to be derailed. Traffic along the main line was considerably delayed after the accident, and the outgoing trains from Toronto bound for the east were compelled to take the circuitous route by the Midland to Peterborough, and from here to Port Hope, where they connected again with the main road.

Another Township Heard From.

Mr. Albert Carpenter to-day left with the Examiner a sample of spring wheat grown on the farm of the Mark Curtis & Sons, in Otonabee. The stalk is just eighteen inches in height, a remarkably good growth for this time of year.

Sons of England.

A New Lodge Established at Lakefield With a Large Membership.

Last night Exeter Lodge No. 60, Sons of England, was established at Lakefield by Grand President W. J. Kempling, of Barrie, assisted by Grand Secretary J. W. Carter, of Toronto, District Deputy Thos. Gunn, of Peterborough, and about 20 members of Lansdowne Lodge, who drove out from Peterborough. The new lodge has a membership of about 25, with the following officers installed:

After installation ceremonies the visitors entertained the visitors at supper at the Queen's hotel, where mine host Munro spread an excellent table. A most enjoyable evening was spent, and the new lodge was given a send-off that should keep it moving for a long time to come.

To-night a lodge of instruction of the brethren of Peterborough and Lansdowne lodges will be held, at which the Grand Lodge officers will preside.

Personal.

Mr. John Londerville, late with Hall Innes & Co., left this morning for Port Huron, Michigan.

Mr. A. McNeal has returned to town and will remain for the present. His many friends were pleased to see him back again. "Mac" was ever popular in Peterborough, and during his late residence in Guelph made a host of warm friends, who, before his departure from the Royal City, presented him with a handsome gold watch and chain.

The San Francisco Call, of the 10th May, has the following interesting reference to a former Peterborough citizen:—"A meeting of the Scottish Thistle Club was held last evening. The feature of the evening was the reading of a paper by John Elder upon the life and times of Robert Bruce. In every respect the essay was well prepared and well delivered. It began with the birth of the famous Scottish King and followed him through his marvellous career up to his death. Interesting anecdotes and poetical quotations were freely interspersed throughout the paper. Mr. Elder received the warm congratulations of his fellow-members of the club at the conclusion of his reading."

Benafort.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The crops are making extra appearances. Owing to the fine warm weather and frequent showers the growth continues to be exceedingly rapid, and as the seeding was finished early a luxurious return is looked for. The season is rather more favorable for spring than for fall grains.

Mr. W. Fisher lost one of his valuable horses a few days ago. The loss is said to have been caused by change of food. Also Mr. Geo. Wood lost one similarly on the 15th inst. Also on same date Mr. J. Deyell lost a valuable colt by lightning.

The time fixed for the excursion of the Benefort Sunday School, which now seems to be an annual event, is the 5th, prox. The steamer Beaver (Capt. T. Harris) will be up the river, probably about half way, in good time with commodious scow. The route will be fixed by the S. S. officials and will doubtless take in a few of the finest resorts of the lake. The lacrosse excursion will not be run this season, partly owing to the decease recently of one of the number, who was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Springville.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Spring seeding is now finished and potato planting is well advanced throughout the district, there being much a rapid growth the country looks prosperous. Every kind of cereal promises a full crop.

The Springville Sunday school was recommenced for the summer season under the able superintendence of Mr. Isreal Payne and a very efficient staff of teachers. There will be much religious instruction given to the youth.

Mr. R. D. Dundas, the most enterprising horse man of our eastern Ontario, has disposed of the most of his stock with the exception of a few favorites which his neighbors insisted on his keeping through the summer season.

Mr. Geo. Campbell has leased his farm for a term of years to Mr. Wm. Bothwell.

The semi-annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church was held Monday evening, May 20th. The general routine of business on such occasions was first transacted. Mr. Robert Alexander, chairman of the meeting, drew the attention of the audience to the untidy state of the church. The same gentleman moved a resolution that Mr. John Wright, the sexton, who lives a single life, be notified to employ a patient lady to assist in cleaning, and supervising the thorough cleaning of the church. After some discussion the motion was carried. Messrs. Payne, Sanderson, Robson and Thos. Hunter were appointed to transact some important congregational business, after which the meeting adjourned, to meet again at the call of the chairman.

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish all the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the bread material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country.

As You Pass Along George St.

Step at our Gents' Furnishing Goods' window, and see the new goods bought specially for this and the coming season. If there is nothing there that suits your fancy step inside, there are hundreds more—we may safely say thousands of other styles.

The "Beat Shirt," in the latest novelty in Gents' Shirts and the "Court Shirt" is the newest and best for dress purposes. Our small space would not suffice to show the several advantages of these two lines.

The Collars we have in stock are the newest and of the best quality. We have a novelty in Cuffs, a Combination in fact—which can be used with links, and by reversing use the ordinary cuff button.

Seven Lots of Fancy Bordered Handkerchiefs, in a variety of 36 different Styles and Designs, the large majority of which are 12c Robbs. Many of the identical have been sold by us at that price; our prices to-day are 15c. and 25c.

A beautiful Assortment in all our Hose. We have not sold much about our Kid Gloves lately, but we are now rattling them out at $1 a pair, and will continue to do so for thirty days. These Gloves were sold by us and others at $1.50 last year season, and before any one of the best Gloves made at a reasonable price. All the New Shades, Tans, etc.

When in our store, ask to see the Bargains in Gentlemen's Hose and Scotch Merinos. Say Sir, buys a pair of Cashmere Hose that have been sold at 35c. Splendid value in same. Ask for them, buy them and if you ever get a pair that stains, or the color washes out, bring them back and get your money.

"A Spring Message"

FROM THE NEW FIRM OF

H. LeBRUN & Co.

Sign of the Golden Horse-shoe

The people of Peterborough and vicinity are all aware of the business change which took place in the CITY CLOTHING STORE on the first day of February last. The new firm beg leave to make their first bow to the public through the columns of the Examiner, and to request a careful perusal of the following Spring and Summer circular:—

THE CITY CLOTHING STORE

in past years, by long experience in business, by buying always for spot cash, by importing direct from the principal houses of the old country and the leading manufacturers of this country, and by strict economy in conducting its business, has always been able to force prices down to an exceedingly fine point. The members of which the new firm is composed will form a still stronger "combine," by which the CITY CLOTHING STORE will be even better prepared to procure for its customers a continuation of those superior inducements in the future for which it has been noted in the past.

MEN'S CLOTHING.

The magnitude of our stock and lowness of prices gives us a great advantage over all other competitors in the trade. We carry in stock all the fast selling lines, styles and patterns, and can fit the tall, the short, the fat and the lean.

Mens Suits, Better Fabrics, Finer Styles than were ever handled before.

Special values in Fine Spring Overcoats, and Fine Spring and Summer Suits. Don't fail to see them. The superb styles, workmanship, and the beautiful fabrics and patterns that we offer will surprise you.

MERCHANT TAILORING.

"For the apparel oft proclaims the man."

Fine dressers in search of new, neat and nobby Overcoatings, Suitings or Trouserings will find this department crowded to over-flowing with cloth from all countries. To select from the largest assortment is an advantage we offer to our customers, backed up by the skill of experienced cutters and tailors. Besides perfect fit and first-class trimmings, we guarantee absolutely first-class workmanship.

BOYS AND YOUTHS CLOTHING.

Clothing for the little ones—boys and children—has always been a specialty with us. We have always sought to give great values in this department, and to provide a larger and finer variety of goods for parents to select from than they could find elsewhere. This means that we are showing a large assortment of Boys' and Children's Suits, Boys' and Children's Blouses, Shirt Waists, Pants, &c.

This spring there are an unusual number of new and nobby styles and an enlarged variety of fabrics and patterns. Be sure and see our stock.

GENTS' FURNISHINGS.

Gentlemen of Peterborough seeking the latest styles and best values for their money, as well as an opportunity of selecting from the largest stock of Furnishing Goods, should not fail to visit this department at once. We offer the finest, best selected and largest assortment of Neckwear, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Shirts, Handkerchiefs, etc., to be found in any First-class establishment in this country.

AT TURNBULL'S

The heavy spring trade is on us. Every day from this out we shall be kept busy in supplying the needs of our old and new customers.

Like an opening rose, our Dress Goods and Trimmings show new beauty at every sight. The colors blend together so perfectly—moss sage and nile green still hold in favor. Terra Cotta, Blue Greys, Dove and Resida Shades are as much sought after as ever. In our Black Stock department we are showing a new voile of Cloth, fine light and durable—just the dress for an old lady. Much nicer than nuns' veilings.

It needs to be repeated and remembered that in all goods and most emphatically in Cotton Goods we keep a most complete stock. Where will you find the variety of cottonades, shirtings, tickings, &c., you find with us. Not less than 60 different patterns of Shirtings,—all prices, as low as the lowest.

At the Ribbon Counter you are almost always sure to find exactly what you want for dress and millinery use.

Our stock of Neck Frillings is very choice, being different to what is usually shown. We import them from a different market.

MONTREAL, May 22.—Early this morning another horribly fatal disaster was added to the list which has already made 1889 a memorable year in the history of the Dominion. The day was just breaking over the St. Lawrence at Pointe aux Trembles when the Allan mail steamship Polynesian, Captain Hugh Wylie, and the Donaldson liner Cynthia, Captain John Tyler, steamed together in a disastrous collision, resulting in the sinking of the Cynthia and the drowning of eight of her crew, whose names are given above.

The Polynesian left port shortly after 4.30 and was proceeding down the Varennes Channel, opposite Pointe aux Trembles, when she perceived the Cynthia, inward bound. There is a dangerous curve at this point in the channel, and through some misunderstanding of the "rules of the road" the Polynesian was brought into collision with the Cynthia, striking her on the port bow, causing such a gap in the side of the unfortunate ship as to sink her in a very few minutes. The hull filled with great rapidity. Those on deck had barely time to get below and warn the crew off watch and in their berths asleep to get on deck and swim ashore to save their lives. Fortunately the Cynthia carried no passengers, otherwise no doubt many lives would have been sacrificed.

The Cynthia was inward bound from Glasgow with a general cargo, chiefly pig iron. Several of the crew of the Cynthia, seen after their swim ashore, were penniless and they were endeavoring to obtain a passage by the steerage rate to Sicily. They saved but little or nothing in their hasty flight from the sinking ship. The captain offered his watch as security and also promised payment on arriving at the company's office, but the car conductor refused to accept the watch and said he could not take the men up for less further reason than payment of the regular fare. They walked on it on that trip. The emery sailors seemed inclined to take possession of the car and force it to proceed, but in obedience to their captain they refrained from doing so.

About ten feet of mast, one boat half full of water and another totally submerged with the exception of part of one side, was all that was visible of the unfortunate ship. The Polynesian ran Tremblay ashore shortly after the collision. The vessel had totally disappeared and was lying at the bottom, not more than twelve feet from shore. According to the people in the vicinity, some of whom witnessed the catastrophe, the collision took place about 4.40 and in 20 minutes more the boat had disappeared. The bow which was struck went down first, lifting the screw partly out of water, and then she toppled over, throwing all but three men into the water. Most of those could swim and saved themselves, but the pilot, who was carried away by the tide, being in great danger of drowning, the three men who were on the bulk refused to leave when a boat came to their assistance, till the pilot had been saved. They evidently knew not of their peril, and when the vessel suddenly sank one of them, not able to swim, became the victim of his heroism and drowned, together with the seven others whose retreat from below had been cut off by the inrushing water. When the Cynthia struck shore there was a report like that of a cannon, and a shock that made the window panes shiver and the chimneys tumble down.

The sailors of the Cynthia claim that the Polynesian steamed right ahead, and that had she stopped she could have saved the men who were drowned. They also state that there were fifteen men on shore who, although there were boats near by, did not raise a finger even in an attempt to rescue the drowning men. The Polynesian had a big hole stove in her bow.

At the time of the collision Captain Taylor was on the bridge and he says the Cynthia was on her proper side of the river. The rule of sea likewise prevails in rivers that vessels pass each other on the port side. The position in which the Cynthia now lies, Captain Coates contends, is proof positive that she was in her proper course, and as the Polynesian struck her on the starboard side he contends this shows that some how or other she was going out of her proper course. He believes that something had gone wrong with the steering gear of the Polynesian, as otherwise she could hardly have gone so astray, or was probably being steered from the stern, which he considered very dangerous, instead of being steered from the bridge, as was the case with the Cynthia.

Captain Coates spoke in strong terms of the lack of hospitality exhibited. Notwithstanding the survivors were dripping wet, no one offered them shelter or refreshment, and they had to walk all the way to town.

The Cynthia was built by Henderson of Glasgow. Her sister ship, Titania, was wrecked about three years ago off Anticosti. The cargo was a general one, comprising about 500 tons pig iron and 500 tons coal.

Talking with shipping men as to whether the Polynesian ought not to have stood by the Cynthia and rendered what assistance she could they said it was utterly impossible. With the "way" on her caused by full speed down stream she could not have stopped, and even if she could have stopped in a short distance she would have been unable to turn in the narrow channel so as to get back to the scene of the accident.

THE POLYNESIAN AT QUEBEC.

She Has Received Serious Injury—The Bosnea Ayreas to Take the Mails.

QUEBEC, May 22.—The Polynesian, which was in collision this morning with the Cynthia, arrived here safely at 9 o'clock this evening. She has received serious injury, the extent of which cannot be known until the surveyors have made their report. It cannot be learned at present when she is likely to be ready for sea. Arrangements have been made by which the steamship Bosnea Ayreas will carry the week's mails intended for the Polynesian.

Aunie Was Not Dead.

FRANKLIN, Pa., May 23.—Miss Annie Griffiths arrived here unexpectedly yesterday. Two years ago the relatives of Miss Griffiths received a despatch giving an account of her death by foul means in Kansas. The body of a woman was found in Kansas City in whose dress pocket was found a letter addressed to Annie Griffiths, Franklin, Pa., and whose suits were marked with that lady's initials. As Miss Griffiths was in the west her friends telegraphed on to have the remains sent here, but they had already been buried and it was thought best not to disturb. For over two years Annie has been mourned as dead and the sensation she created among her relatives by suddenly appearing before them can be better imagined than described. She is at a loss to account for the finding of the letter in the pocket of the dead woman and does not give much account of herself, only saying she has been in the west.

THE BON MARCHE FIRE.
INSURERS THINK THERE WAS SOMETHING "CROOKED."

Toronto's Latest Sensation—The Proprietor of the Establishment Says the Trouble Arose From Discharged Employees.

TORONTO, May 23.—The World this morning says:

For the past three or four weeks there has been considerable quiet talk in town over certain circumstances attending the fire at the Bon Marche in King-street, of which Mr. F. X. Cousineau is the proprietor. The fire occurred at 4 o'clock on the morning of Thursday, July 18 last. Insurance men particularly have been closely concerned in the matter, and it was early whispered the fire was not "straight." The result is that the ten companies interested have taken decided action in the matter, and they will attempt to recover the $17,000 which was paid Mr. Cousineau on the ground that it was obtained by fraud. Mr. Cousineau was on hand to this office yesterday afternoon. At the time of the fire the following policies were in force on the stock in the Bon Marche:

North British and Mercantile	$3,000
Royal	7,000
Glasgow and London	7,000
Imperial	7,000
Scottish Union	5,000
Lancashire	5,000
City of London	5,000
British America	5,000
Connecticut	5,000
Guardian	5,000
Total	$60,000

At first it was thought, or at least the insurance adjusters thought, that the total loss would be between $30,000 and $40,000, but certainly not more than the latter sum. When therefore Mr. Cousineau tried a claim for $17,000 damages there was a big but very silent kick. The money was duly paid over, but the companies interested determined to inquire into the circumstances of the fire. With that end in view they secured the services of George H. Wilson, a detective said to be attached to one of the Pinkerton's bureaus of Chicago. Wilson, so we understand himself on the books at the Rossin Montreals (with "Boston" opposite his name), has been at work on the case for several days, and as a result of his labors a formal demand was made upon Mr. Cousineau for the return of the money. He is to be given two days to pay back the money, in default of which a writ is to be issued and perhaps charges of a serious nature, will follow a refusal to refund. Messrs. McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin & Creelman are acting for the companies and Mr. Cousineau received a notice from this firm at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon of the intentions of the insurance people. All the proceedings of the insurance companies were conducted through the head offices and not through their local agents. The companies, too, were so guarded in their movements that they would not trust the matter in the hands of Toronto private detectives, but sent to Chicago for their men.

Detective Wilson received his instructions from head quarters and was given certain information which he was directed to follow up. It is known that the detective has had five great conferences with certain ex-employees of Mr. Cousineau, and it is said the latter was deemed in possession of important information by these parties. One of them is a discharged porter, and he has been heard to say some pretty strong stories about the fire and the amount of damage done. One of these is that false claims were put in to swell the amount of the damages recovered from the companies. The cost in creating a great deal of interest among these persons who have had a liking of the affair and important developments are looked for.

The Week saw Mr. Cousineau at his comfortable quarters in the Palmer last night. He admitted that his lawyer, Mr. M. F. Hall, had received the letter in question. Being asked what he was going to do about it, he said that he would certainly fight it out, but the trial would not take place till September. Mr. Cousineau further said that the trouble arose out of his discharging three of his employees a short night ago. One of these was Harry Wilkinson, who came from New York and took the position of assistant bookkeeper at $6 a week and who had been a short while for a while. He had been doubtful of Wilkinson since hearing his record from New York, and was hardly surprised to learn that he had been doing the interesting act as had been done on the other side. Mr. Cousineau chiefly blamed Wilkinson for giving him information, and he was certainly strong in hope that he would fight the thing through. The Man of the Bon Marche further said that he thought the proceedings also originated with the help of a discharged employee named Grant, whom he discovered to have been giving too much leisure, and another named Hamilton, who had been drinking too much. In short he put it down as a matter of revenge on the part of discharged employees.

The aggregate production was 113,000 barrels against 94,670 the week before and 17,000 for the corresponding time in 1888. This week the daily output is about 2000 barrels lighter. [illegible] in the domestic trade has been quite appreciable since about Friday, on an advance of lower wheat, and trade at present is very slow, prices occupying a lower range and being unsettled. The direct exports of flour for the week were 94,170 barrels against 35,000 barrels the preceding week. There were 451,000 bushels of wheat received for the week ending May 21. The shipments were: Wheat 158,000 bushels, flour 112,943 barrels, mill stuff 3970 tons.

The Reservoir Burst.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., May 23.—The heavy rain of two nights caused the upper reservoir of the Lockport Water and Electric Light Company, situated 600 feet above the village, to burst Tuesday night. The reservoir covered about eight acres and the great body of water came tearing down Palmer Brook, gullying it into a large river bed, uprooting trees and piling up debris. The bridge at Mason's Hill road was destroyed, and was finally suspended in two spans. Out here the [illegible] and

DR. CRONIN'S BODY FOUND
STUFFED INTO A SEWER IN A CHICAGO SUBURB.

Head Found Last Night Wrapped in a Towel About the Head—Terrible Wounds in the Skull—Mystery Follows Mystery.

CHICAGO, May 22.—The dead body of Dr. P. H. Cronin, the Irish-American who mysteriously disappeared from his home in Chicago five weeks ago, was found this evening in a sewer manhole north of the city limits in Lincoln avenue. A bloody towel was wrapped about the head. The rest of the body was stark naked. A Coroner's emblem, which the doctor wore next his skin suspended about his neck was untouched. On the dead man's head were a dozen deep cuts which had severed the scalp and laydened the skull. It is the opinion of the police that Cronin was murdered by one man who could not bring himself to disturb a Catholic trinket. Laborers in the employ of the Lakeview suburban government have been cleaning the ditches along Evanston-avenue during the week. To-day as they neared a catch basin they noticed a strong smell of putrifying flesh and pried off the top of the basin and uncovered the body. It had apparently been hastily plunged into the basin for the head was underneath and the feet and legs were up in the opening. The place where the corpse was discovered is about 200 yards from the station of the Chicago (and Evanston branch of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad. It is but two or three blocks from the lake and nearly a mile north from where the blood stained trunk was found the day after Cronin's disappearance. It seems remarkable that it was not sooner discovered for the Lakeview police started to search all the catch basins in the suburbs the week after the trunk was found. Old Marwell of Lakeview, who was one of the searching committee, said the searchers worked days, but passed a few blocks from the basin in which the body was found.

The body was taken to the morgue and Cronin's friends were notified, and were late last night at least 40 had identified the body. Among these were Dr. Brandt, President of the Cook County Hospital staff, and Cronin's dentist. Dr. Brandt's examination showed over the left temple a cut 6 inches long through the scalp and into the skull, over the left parietal bone a cut 1 1-2 inches long by over the frontal bone, and at the junction of the left parietal a cut 2 inches long.

A great hubbub was caused in the suburb by the finding of the corpse. The police had hard work to keep back the crowd who tried to enter the morgue to see the remains. The tumult continued far into the night. Dr. Brandt, the prisoner who confessed to having helped carry off a trunk containing a corpse from a barn the night of Cronin's disappearance, manifested no discomfort when told that the body of Cronin was found. He talked freely but would not go outside the story he originally told.

Mr. Murray has deposited 5 per cent. on $400,000, which is to expended the work will amount to, but, as the contract has been taken at so much a yard for dredging and crib work, etc., it will not change the tender, no matter what amount it may reach. Spirited Bidding and Big Prices for Mr. Fuller's Jersey Cattle.

NEW YORK, May 23.—When the auction sale of the noted Oakland herd of Jersey cattle, late the property of Mr. Valancey E. Fuller of Hamilton, Canada, was opened at the American Institute Building yesterday, the ring presented an appearance that recalled the booming days of 1882 to 1886. Fears of many sellers of the cream giving little over that have been opened from the sales of late years reappeared and offered their bids with [illegible] spirit and enthusiasm that characterized the sales in past years. Good prices were reached and an average of $600 on the twenty-nine head constituting the Oakland herd was made. The better prices were as follows:

Marianne Paris, cow, 7 years, A. B. Darling, Ramsey's, N.J., $2300; Mary Anne of St. Lambert, cow, 10 years, T. A. Havemeyer, Mahwah, N.J., $2100; Marmaid of St. Lambert, cow, 10 years, T. A. Ordination of Mr. Orr Bennet, B. A.

An Interesting Ceremony at St. Peter's—The Pre-Ordination Sermon—The Ordaining Ceremony—The Address to the Ordained.

Wednesday night an interesting and solemn ceremony was performed at St. Paul's Church, the ordination of Mr. Orr. Bennett, B.A., to the Christian ministry of the Presbyterian church.

There was a very large attendance, in fact, too large for the schoolroom, where it was first intended to have held the ceremony, and adjournment was made to the body of the church, which was well filled.

Rev. Alex. Ball, who conducted the ordination services after the usual preliminary services, including hymns and Scriptures lessons suitable to the occasion, preached the taking for his text I Timothy, chap. i., v. 11:—

PRE-ORDINATION SERMON,

"According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust."

The preacher gave a very lucid exposition of the chief elements which constituted the Gospel referred to in the text. He pointed out that, according to that Gospel, God had provided a mediator between Himself and sinful man, and that Christ had been made sin for us that we might be made the righteousness of God. Christ stood in our place that we might be made righteous. How this was done, was one of the deep mysteries of God, that was beyond our ken, but this fact God had made known, that he that cometh to Him He will in no wise cast out. The natural process, instead, only to evil and are turned by the operations of the Gospel remedy in an opposite direction. The means which God provided to make the blessings of His redemption available must be God's grace and help. We could think no good thing of ourselves. Man's repentance was unavailing to atone for his sinful life; even repentance was the gift of God. The remedy for sin was Jesus Christ. Looking to Jesus brought salvation, and a continuous dependence upon His aid brought the grace of holy living, and thus fitted man for the fulfilment of God's plan for his redemption. The Gospel thus outlined was what God had committed to His church to teach through His ministers, till all the ends of the earth should hear the joyful sound of the Gospel message.

After the singing of hymn 139, Rev. Mr. Ball stated that Mr. Orr Bennet had been prepared to preach the gospel and that for a year he had been engaged in mission work. He had chosen the mission field and was now to be set apart for the work of the ministry. The candidate now came forward, and a series of questions was propounded: in relation to his belief in the Scriptures; the Westminster confession of faith, and his intention to adhere thereto in his teachings; his belief in the government of the Presbyterian church; his willingness to submit with meekness to the Presbytery; in reference to his motives—God's glory and the desire to save souls—for entering the ministry, and to his decision to lead a holy life, etc., to all of which the candidate gave satisfactory answers.

The candidate then knelt at the communion railing, Rev. Mr. Torrance and Rev. Mr. Bennet standing on either side of Rev. Mr. Ball, who made a prayer for the divine blessing upon the candidate. The three ministers then laid their hands upon him, and the officiating minister in the name of Jesus Christ, the only recognized head of the Church, thereby ordained Orr Bennett by prayer and the laying on of hands to the ministry of the Gospel, and concluded by a prayer that his ministry might be abundantly fruitful. The three clergymen then gave Rev. Geo Bennett, B.A., the right hand of fellowship, after which Rev. Mr. Torrance addressed the newly made minister, founding his remarks on II Tim., Chap. iv. 1 and 2 vs:—

I charge thee before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge thee at His appearing and His Kingdom:

Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine.

Rev. Mr. Torrance prefaced his address by saying that the occasion reminded him of his own ordination, which took place about thirteen years ago, when the father of the present ordained, was the minister to address him on that occasion. Attention was called to the exhortation to preach the word, something that the Apostle Paul especially insisted on — the preaching of Christ crucified. As all previous history converged towards Christ's incarnation, so all Christ's life converged towards His crucifixion—and this was the great theme of preaching, though this did not exclude the preaching of complete doctrine subordinate to the one great subject. The new minister was shown that the minister must be a student and the Bible the subject of his study. He should be a learned and cultivated man, with a wide range of reading. Though God had sometimes chosen illiterate men to preach His Gospel, yet he had given the greatest results to learned men. A minister must especially have his heart right before God, otherwise he could not expect to influence the hearts of sinful men. His preaching must be backed up by his character and life. The salutatory of the motives which influenced a minister was set forth, and the address concluded with a fervent admonition to faithfulness and a fervent prayer for the Spirit of the Rev. Mr. Bennett's work.

The ceremony concluded by the singing of hymn 329 and the benediction, pronounced by Rev. Wm. Bennett.

Rev. Orr Bennett, B.A., who is duly ordained as one minister, is a young man 26 years of age. He was born in Windsor, and received his early education in that town. His father, Wm. Bennett, now of Peterborough, was formerly a resident of Peterborough. He is a brother to Mr. J. W. Bennett barrister, town. He was educated at the collegiate institute here, and pursued his further studies at Queen's University where he graduated three years ago as a B.A. He founded the sunday-school cause of three years in April. On Wednesday night he was ordained a minister of the Presbyterian church, and entered at once upon the duties of his ministry, having been appointed by the Presbytery of Peterborough to the mission of Haliburton and Minden for eighteen months leaving for his new field on Saturday to resume the work he once time carried on by him as a student.

Rev. Mr. Bennet is a young man of good intellectual famous, of good natural abilities, a scholarly student and devotedly inclined to the work to which he has now formally, publicly and solemnly committed himself. During his occasional administrations in the mission field, he has acquitted himself creditably, and given satisfactory warrant for predicting for him a future career of usefulness in his sacred calling.

Another Pitch-in—The Artists' Exhibition—The Aggravated Assault Case.

Toronto, May 23.—At 11 a.m. yesterday a freight train coming from West Toronto Junction collided with a Guelph train backing up from the Union Station. The engineer of the freight reversed his engine. A collision, however, was unavoidable. The shunting engine was badly damaged, but all hands escaped uninjured.

The proposal of the Minister of Customs to impose a duty of 20 per cent. on cement has evoked a protest from tanners and other persons interested. A deputation waited on the council of the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon to induce the board to take some action in the matter. Messrs. D. W. Alexander, R. W. Elliott, W. B. Hamilton and Robert Jaffray were appointed a committee to petition the Government to refrain from imposing the tax.

The seventeenth annual exhibit of the Ontario Society of Artists was opened by the Lieutenant-Governor yesterday morning. Hon. G. W. Allen presided. Sir Alexander Campbell opened the exhibit. Such efforts towards excellence in art, he considered premature in Canada. He attributed the lack of encouragement given to Canadian art to the poverty of the country and spoke very much in favor of advancing mechanical drawing. The artists express considerable indignation at his honor's remarks.

"Private Detective" James McLaughlin and George Johnston were sent for trial by the Police Magistrate yesterday on the charge of committing an aggravated assault on William Cumming under circumstances detailed yesterday. The bail in each case was $300 in two sureties. This was forthcoming and the accused were liberated.

LAPIERRE IS HOMESICK.

The Montreal Defaulter Wishes to Arrange for His Return.

Montreal, May 23.—At a meeting of the Finance Committee yesterday Mayor Grenier stated the following facts with reference to Charles Lapierre, the accountant of the Water Department who disappeared from the city a few weeks since and who is at present at Burlington, Vt. The books have been gone through and the shortage amounts to about $2000. This sum has been admitted to be correct by Lapierre, who is in constant communication with a legal friend in the city. The defalcations date as far back as 1875, when the system was introduced which enabled Lapierre to receive money, and of which system the Mayor stated Lapierre was himself a conversant opponent. This amount of $2000 is made up of hundreds of small sums.

Lapierre suggested through his friend that the corporation should take over his house and property at St. Lambert, which he estimated would bring at least $6000, there being a mortgage of $2400 and about $100 interest due thereon. He suggested that the city should, with the balance of $3600, release his (Lapierre's) life for $2000 so that at his death the city could be reimbursed the whole of the shortage and interest. Lapierre further suggested that if this arrangement be accepted he be allowed to come back to the city without molestation.

JIM AND BEN ARE OUT.

Where U. S. Cabinet Officers Said to Have Tendered Their Resignations.

Buffalo, May 22.—The Expr's Washington special says: "It is learned on unquestionable authority that at yesterday's Cabinet meeting three Cabinet officers tendered to the President their resignations, to take effect at once if certain changes were not made. Secretary Blaine delivered an ultimatum to the effect if he could not be permitted to have some influence in the conduct of the State Department he must positively decline to remain in his present position any longer. Secretary Proctor endorsed all Mr. Blaine had said and declared that his resignation would follow Mr. Blaine's. Secretary Windom did not go quite so far but announced to other members of their efforts to convince the President that Cabinet officers must be heads of their departments in deed as well as in name. He said he could not afford to remain in a mere clerical position.

"The cause of the outbreak was the indisposition of the President to make certain appointments desired by Secretaries Blaine, Windom and Proctor. They have spent much time trying to have several recommendations approved and yesterday the President turned down several of the proposals and announced that he was going to do the exact opposite. Not the least doubt has existed for several days that Blaine, Jim in the Cabinet were numbered."

Some drink because they are hungry,

And some because they're too cold,
Some drink to strengthen them when young,
And some when they are old.

Some drink to keep them wide awake,
And some that they may sleep,
Some drink because they merry are,
And some because they weep.

Some drink when they do money gain,
And some because of loss;
Some drink when they are pleased,
And some when they are cross.

Some drink when they are hard at work,
And some when they do play;
Some think it right to drink at night,
While others drink by day.

Some drink for sake of company,
While others drink on the sly;
And many drink but never think,
About the reason why.

Some say they drink for pleasure,
And some they drink for pain,
Some say 'tis good, some very bad,
But never once refrain.

Yet all must own the proverb true:

I've just found out the reason why—
All drink because they like it!

NEW MILFORD'S MOB.

Another Attempt to Lynch Frank Nearing Thwarted—Tumult in the Court Room.

NEW MILFORD, Conn., May 21.—The unusually heavy guard which was placed over Frank Nearing was either effectual in damping the determination of the angry mob, who were almost successful in their previous attempt at lynching, or this is merely the calm before the storm. Be that as it may, no repetition of the outrage was made last night, but the excitement this morning is at white heat. Nearing's trial was set for 9 o'clock this morning, and for hours earlier than this the Town Hall, in which the Justice's court is located, was thronged with a motley crowd, all eager for a glance at the prisoner. To avoid this mob, through which it would have been impossible to get the prisoner, he was led from his cell, which is located on the ground floor of the Town Hall, through a secret passage to the court room.

The first witness called was Mrs. Nearing, the victim of the defendant. She appeared greatly agitated, but told her story just as it was published yesterday, further stating that after having jumped from the carriage, in doing which she slightly sprained her ankle, she made a fierce resistance to young Nearing's attack. But he grabbed her by the throat and choking her almost into insensibility, he threatened to kill her outright if she did not remain quiet.

The farmer who was the first one to reach Mrs. Nearing after her struggle, was next called to the witness stand. He was followed by his hired man, both testifying substantially the same as to the condition in which they found Mrs. Nearing.

No witnesses were called for the defence and here the case rested. Judge Levy held the prisoner over to the Superior Court under $5000 bonds. When the amount of the bonds was announced the audience to a man rose up, protesting against the small amount and for a few moments wild excitement prevailed.

This was in a measure quelled by Lawyer Addis, attorney for the State, rising and explaining that he would at once telegraph particulars of the case to State Attorney Huntington, with a request to raise the bonds to at least $15,000. The dream which Mrs. Nearing were at the time was exhibited. It was literally torn into shreds, and resembled more a bundle of rags than a dress.

The prisoner during the trial continually cast apprehensive glances toward the spectators, apparently fearing more harm from them than from the court, as well he might, after his rough experience at the hands of the lynchers early Sunday morning. At the end of his examination a numerous and armed guard led him back through the secret passage to his cell.

The authorities considered it unwise to keep Nearing in the jail here longer, so it was decided to remove him at once to the county jail, located at Litchfield. The rumor that Nearing was to be removed to Litchfield some time during the day got abroad and long before noon to-day a large crowd began to congregate. At 12.10 a covered carriage, to which a spirited horse was hitched was seen to move rapidly from the rear of the jail. Some one in the crowd yelled, "There he goes!" and a mad rush was made in the direction of the covered vehicle.

This was a ruse on the part of the officers, and as soon as the mob began to scatter a bay horse, attached to another covered vehicle, in which was Sheriff Raymond, Officer Addis and a driver, dashed to the jail door and Nearing, handcuffed to an officer, was hurriedly pushed in. The driver gave the horse a terrific lash with the whip, which started him off in a gallop. The mob by this time had been led several miles away from the scene, and when they discovered the strategy the sheriff and his prisoner was safe from pursuit.

Rumor here this afternoon has it that a large force from this town will go to the County Jail at Litchfield with the determination not to return until the attempt to lynch Nearing shall be successful. No attempts have as yet been made, nor probably will be made, to identify the men who came so near ending the young man's career. It is not supposed that any of the mob that was fired upon were seriously injured.

SUICIDE AT INGERSOLL.

A Young Man Cuts His Throat in a Fit of Despondency.

INGERSOLL, May 19.—Frank Wheeler, a man about 30 years old, committed suicide here to-day by cutting his throat. He was an employe of the Evans Bros.' Piano Manufacturing Company, but was discharged from their service about two weeks ago. At noon he was discovered lying dead on the floor in a pool of blood with his throat cut across, almost severing the head from the body. Coroner McKay was summoned, but he deemed an inquest unnecessary. His mother lives at Kingston and a brother at Ottawa.

Sergt. Wallach's History.

GUELPH, May 18.—Sergt. Wallach, killed at Quebec, belonged to this neighborhood. He was the grandson of John Wallach of Moorefield and son of Mrs. George Jackson of this neighborhood by her first marriage. He was born and raised here, when a boy he joined "B" battery, 1st Brigade Field Artillery, here in 1870, and a year or two later went to the Kingston School of Gunnery and afterwards joined "B" battery of regulars at Quebec as gunner, rising by his ability to the post of head riding instructor. He was a general favorite with the men.

Attempted Arson at Guelph.

GUELPH, May 21.—A vehicle of an empty and the unwelcome ringing of the fire bells at the eastern end of the city about 1 o'clock on Monday morning, but by the time any crowd got to the scene of the fire all danger was over. It was soon learned, however, that a most determined attempt had been made to fire the stable of Mr. John Allen, grocer and dealer in horses, next to his residence. On investigating it was found that the fire had started between the hay loft and the outside of the stable, and a bundle of excelsior rags soaked with coal oil plainly told of the dastardly attempt which had been made to destroy property.

Oil was spilled on the floor also, as if the work had been started right at the seat. The Chief of Police and Chief Robertson of the brigade have the matter under investigation, but nothing definite has turned up.

$200 Difference Handed at New York.

NEW YORK, May 20.—It was afternoon before the wheat deals had been all agreed over the prior day owing Friday, when the exchange closed early to enable the brokers time to attend another memorial service to come up to the 'Change. The changes ranged from 1 to 2c. The largest transaction was 500,000 bushels for many years.

Lake Freight Rates.

CHICAGO, May 21.—The rate on corn to Buffalo by lake went off 1 cent yesterday, from 2½ to 1½ cents a bushel. Wheat rates held out for three cents against the inevitable, but finally succumbed. Shippers, however, made no great rush for room at the reduced rate, and the market was dull. The real cause of the decline was the surplus of tonnage either here or going to arrive; but what has suddenly led to the deep pressure was the discovery of a load of wheat in Buffalo that Friday night. The transaction was kept secret until the shipper secured a cargo of corn and then let the fact leak out. Then the rate went down like a rocket among the squibs.

Grand Haven for the Hounds.

GRAND HAVEN, May 21.—The ninth and last annual meet of the Detroit Hounds will be held in this city on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Everybody from outside the enclosure are hoping to be favored more than kept at five cents a month as an average. Reliable statistics of a curious kind in connection therewith show that

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short [illegible], and my [illegible] perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 263 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

A Serious Accident.

A serious accident happened this afternoon on George street. P. Grady, hackman, had just left a harness shop, where he had had the traces of his harness adjusted. But they had been made too short, and while he was driving down George street near Hamilton's agricultural works the whiffletree struck the heels of one of the horses and the team made a violent dash. Miss White, daughter of Rev. Wm. White, 62 Albert street, was driving ahead of the hack. When the team made the bolt Grady, seeing the young lady's danger, shouted to her to turn aside; instead of doing so she became confused and turned directly in front of the coming team, which leaped upon the buggy, breaking it to fragments and severely injuring the young lady. The young lady was taken into Mr. A. McNeil's residence and Dr. King commenced, who could not just tell the extent of her hurts. It is believed no bones were broken, but Miss White lay in a semi-unconscious condition until removed to her home. It is feared serious internal injuries have been caused. Miss White is now at her home under the best care. The buggy in which she was driving was a complete wreck. Mr. Grady feels the mishap keenly. The team he was driving was taken on trial and of course he will not purchase them now. Fortunately neither they nor the hack were damaged.

A Good Ball Game.

Peterborough Defeated by Toronto University—A Fine Game to the Last.

There was a small crowd at the ball game between Toronto University and Peterborough yesterday afternoon. The weather was cold and raw, and just at four o'clock, as the game began, a drizzling rain commenced to fall and continued to fall for some time. It was quite an interesting game, nevertheless, the finish at least being as pretty as one could wish to see. As it was the match was played in a quiet, gentlemanly manner. The Varsity boys are a pleasant and honorable set of fellows when it was a pleasure to meet. A few such games as this and baseball will flourish in Peterborough.

The Varsity team play good, sharp ball. There is no discount on that fact. They play an almost errorless game on the field, run bases well, are fairly good hitters and play well together. Their battery of yesterday, Bennett and H. Wardell, is a good one. Bennett was wild at times and gave several men bases on balls, but on the whole he was quite effective enough, the score showing that only one base hit was made off him.

The Peterboroughs were as good a team as the town could produce. They were greatly strengthened by Little, of Lindsay, who played third base well and in the fifth innings went into the pitcher's box, holding the Varsity staggers down to a few scattered hits. Previous to this they had been knocking the ball about almost at their pleasure. Cameron was not in trim to pitch; it was his first game of the season, without any practice at that. The only regret is that Little was not placed in at the first. The game would then have been as close and exciting an one could wish for.

The secret of the Peterborough's defeat was their inability to hit Bennett's curves. Only one base hit was made off him. They went out in one, two, three order from the start, twelve or fourteen being struck out, and several making short hits, which rarely resulted in anything. They played a good fielding game, though. Billings was all that could be desired behind the bat, while Burnham in centre field and Pearson on second also distinguished themselves. Barring a couple of errors, Motheral held down first base creditably.

The Peterboroughs scored their only run in the eighth innings in this manner: Moore was given his base on balls, but was put out on a ground on fielder's choice of Motheral's hit. Galley struck out, but Little, being given first on balls, Motheral was advanced to second. Billings then made a base hit, on which Motheral scored, and Little, in trying to follow him, was put out at the home plate, the side being thus retired.

The score is incomplete, but here it is:—

Conclusion of the Convention—The Officers Elected for Next Term.

THURSDAY May 23rd.

The convention of the Ontario Emerald Beneficial Association concluded this afternoon. Nearly the whole time of the convention has been taken up with the revision of the constitution. The following officers were elected:—

GRAND PRESIDENT—P. Crotty, of Hamilton.
GRAND VICE PRESIDENT—W. McLean of Toronto.
GRAND SECRETARY—W. Lane, Toronto.
GRAND TREASURER—Geo. Girvin, of Peterborough.
GRAND CHAPLAIN—Very Rev. E. P. Rooney, administrator of Archdiocese of Toronto.
GRAND MARSHAL—G. M. Vincent, Toronto.
GRAND ORGANISTS—C. Burns, Toronto; W. Jamieson, Hamilton; and G. Girvin, Peterborough.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—J. McGrath, Peterborough; J. J. McCauley, Toronto; F. V. Sahlin, Morrison; J. Smith, Dundas; M. Walsh, Oakville.
DELEGATES TO INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION.—D. A. Carey, Toronto.

These officers were duly installed by Bros. Carey and Smith.

The next annual convention was appointed to be held in Dundas the first Tuesday in May, 1890.

The annual parade of the Association takes place at Merriton on the 6th of August.

The Delegates Banquetted.

The Emerald Beneficial Association at Supper—A Jolly Evening at the Balmoral—The Local Branch's Compliment to the Visiting Delegates.

Last night the delegates to the annual convention of the Ontario Grand Branch of the Emerald Beneficial Association were tendered a complimentary banquet at the Balmoral hotel by the brethren of the local branch. The supper was a splendid success in every way. About ninety persons sat down to the exceptionally spread tables, and the evening's proceedings were marked by a general spirit of conviviality and friendship, which seemed to pervade the very atmosphere. It was largely a gathering of Irishmen, and wherever the sons of old Ireland meet there is sure to be a hearty, happy, hilarious time.

Miss host Cavanagh prepared an excellent menu, though the supper was got up on pretty short notice, and as it was nearly ten o'clock before the guests had all assembled there were sharp appetites to satisfy. While the waiteresses of these about the festive board were being filled out, Durant's orchestra gladdened their hearts and aided their digestion by discoursing sweet music, mainly Irish airs, and by so doing won frequent and hearty applause.

After supper, Dr. McGrath, the chairman, called the guests to order, and introduced the different members on the programme of toasts. The responses which followed were in the majority of cases little gems of post-prandial efforts of the light, humorous but effective kind suited for such an occasion.

The health of the Queen was first drunk after which Bro. Crotty, of Hamilton, Grand President of the E.B.A., sang "God Save Ireland," the company joining in the chorus. His effort was loudly applauded.

To the next toast, "The Canadian Parliament," Mr. T. CARNEY replied on behalf of the local members, who, he said, were absent probably through an oversight. The people of this riding sent down one representative to support the government at Ottawa, and the other to support the Mowat government at Toronto, and he questioned if they had to do it again whether they could do better than re-elect the same gentlemen. As to the Canadian parliament, he could say it was a body of which any country might be proud. He considered the House had been honored by the recent debate on the Jesuit question, which has terminated to the satisfaction of at least nearly all those present. Mr. Cahill's little speech was full of humor and wit, and his pathetic references in conclusion to "our glorious Dominion" called forth storms of applause.

Messrs T. Dunn and M. Tierney sang "Larboard Watch Ahoy," and were vigorously encored, but they declined to respond.

The toast to "The Mayor and Corporation" brought to his feet Mr. Thos. Kelly, who referred to the substantial growth and prosperity of Peterborough, and its low taxation.

Mr. David Ahearn next sang a patriotic Irish song, "The Round Tower of Ireland."

The Emerald Beneficial Association was toasted and Mr. CAREY of Hamilton responded. He said he had been a member of the Society for the past twelve years and occupied many honorable positions and attended many conventions, but never before had he felt so proud of the association as he did to-day in Peterborough. He would say to the local Branch, that though it was the baby of the Association, the members might well be proud of the fact that it was the banner branch of the province. The speaker referred to the hospitality which the delegates had met with in Peterborough, whose people appeared to have a good deal of that characteristic warm Irish hospitality in their natures. The speaker also referred to the prestige which the presence of a couple of members of the council among them at such a time of the branch would have. The Emerald Beneficial Association had a grand future before it, in which all Catholic young men should take an interest. Why should they not take their places in public life and show those people who thought they had no rights that they did have rights? And for that purpose every Catholic man, young and old, should join with them. The present representative body met in Peterborough was the most intelligent and progressive that had ever convened. After referring to the charities in connection with the Association, the speaker drew attention to its literary features. He said it was intended that every branch should have its library. The Association had in its membership the highest among the hierarchy of the land, among them the late beloved Archbishop Lynch. It was a pleasure to him to state that the convention had that day received congratulations from Bishop Dowling, of Hamilton, and also a letter from the administrator of the archdiocese of Toronto, saying that his heart was in the Association. The Emerald Beneficial Association, while cultivating Catholicity, did not inculcate hard feelings against any of her sister societies; the speaker wondred why it was that the different societies did not mingle more together and thereby sweep away the religious bigotries that at present exist. In conclusion he thanked the people of Peterborough for their kind reception, and hoped all Catholic men would realize that this was the best society they could belong to.

Mr. J. J. Macauley, Toronto, sang "The Gems of Old Ireland."

Mr. SMITH, of Dundas, replied briefly to the toast of the "Guests," telling how well he had been used by the people of Peterborough.

Mr. John O'Brien, of Peterborough, sang "The Irishman's Toast," and received hearty applause therefor.

To "Our Sister Societies," Mr. JOHN O'MEARA responded on behalf of the C.M.B.A., of which he was a member of the Grand Council. This Association, which numbered 22,000 members, he regarded as the twin sister of the E.B.A. Speaking of the latter society, he said it had come into existence particularly to soothe and cheer the sick and needy and care for its members. The E.B.A. looks after the father, mother and children of the member while living; but after their death the C.M.B.A. steps in and cares for the widows and orphans. Another association which he regarded as the first cousin of the Emerald Beneficial Association was the National League, of which there was a large and flourishing branch in Peterborough. On behalf of these Associations Mr. O'Meara tendered the delegates a hearty welcome to Peterborough.

To the toast of the Learned Profession, Mr. L. M. Hayes replied in a happy manner.

Capt. BERRYMAN was called up to respond to the toast of the Army, Navy and Volunteers, and made a highly patriotic and military speech, in which he referred enthusiastically to the prowess of the Canadian Militia, which he said was the nucleus of an army, that one day would be among the most prominent of all the nations of the earth.

Mr. Dunn was next asked for a song, and as the audience seemed to pick upon Mr. J. P. Dunn, the popular agent of the fastest line on earth, as the proper man he was forced to respond. His song brought down the house.

The Mercantile and Manufacturing interests was next proposed, and replied to by Mr. Geo. BALL, who pointed out that Canada's industries were prosperous, particularly in the line of the manufacturing of musical instruments, in which our country held a foremost position. Canada was second to no country in the world, and there was no reason why she should not prosper.

Mr. Thos. Dunn next favored the guests with an admirable solo, after which Mr. Crotty replied to the toast to "The town of Peterborough." Mr. Crotty's address was made up of little pleasantries and flattering references to Peterborough as a model town.

Mr. J. J. Shanley proved himself an able champion of the ladies who were next toasted in a hearty manner.

At the conclusion of Mr. Carey, the chair was vacated by Dr. McGrath and taken by Mr. Crotty. Then Mr. Carey moved a vote of thanks to the chairman of the evening, to the members of the local Branch, to the host and hostess and to the ladies and gentlemen who had assisted in entertaining them. The resolution was seconded by Mr. Jamieson and carried with a cheer.

Dr. McGrath replied briefly, and Mr. T. Cavanagh was called in to reply to his portion of the resolution, but his modesty did not allow him to make any speech, Mr. O'Meara replying for the host and hostess.

The assembly broke up about 12:30 o'clock all delighted with the success of the supper.

To-morrow's Celebrations.

What is Going on in the town To-morrow —Plenty of Amusement of Every Kind.

To-morrow being the Queen's birthday, is a public holiday, and everyone can turn out to see the games and sports which are to be held in celebration of the occasion.

There will be a baseball match at 2.30 on the P. A. A. A. grounds, Campbellford vs. Peterborough. At 11.30 the 57th Battalion will parade to the exhibition grounds, where they will perform military evolutions, and fire a feu-de-joie. At 1.30 a long programme of athletic sports will be begun on the same grounds, and in the evening there will be a magnificent display of fireworks under the auspices of the fire brigade.

At the Driving Park Mr. John Newbell will conduct horse races, and give away a gold sovereign to some lucky person.

At two o'clock in the afternoon the Riversides and West Toronto's will play lacrosse on Riverside Park.

There will be a number of pic-nics and excursions out of town, to Stony Lake and down the river. A good number are going to Father Conway's pic-nic at Norwood. Some will attend the demonstrations at Millbrook, Lindsay, Cobourg, Port Hope and other places. Altogether the day will be celebrated in Peterborough and throughout the district in a right royal manner.

The EXAMINER staff will take a holiday with the rest of mankind, and no paper will be issued to-morrow.

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call.

Buying in immense quantities, this firm gets better prices and is, therefore, able to give customers the best value in teas, coffees, spices, etc., to be got in the Midland district. dw

THE ACTOR'S LITTLE GUN.

HE SHOOTS AT HIS BOSS IN A TORONTO THEATRE.

Manager Cleveland of the Bijou Theatre Severely Escapes a Sudden Death—A Sensational Scene.

TORONTO, May 24.—One of the most sensational shooting affairs for a long time took place in the Grand Opera House last night, when Edward Stowe, one of the Haverly-Cleveland minstrels, attempted to shoot Mr. W. S. Cleveland, who is the owner and manager of the business. It was at 8.30, when the house was so filled that a couple of hundred people were glad to get standing room, and the show had just commenced. Stowe should have been on the stage as one of the tambo men in the opening part, but he wasn't.

Mr. Cleveland was standing in the lobby when Stowe came in and commenced abusing. Cleveland told him to go away or he would have to call a policeman, and then started into the theatre, getting as far as the passage at the back of the seats. Stowe followed him and was heard to remark, "I'll put a bullet through your brain!"

Doorkeeper Fred Felix heard this and rushed forward, only to be threatened by Stowe, who pointed the revolver at Felix, whereupon the latter retreated. Stowe was standing in the carpeted passage between the main lobby and the theatre proper, while Mr. Cleveland was inside. Using some bad language he drew a revolver from his hip pocket and fired at Cleveland, who had his back turned. One of the Japanese members of the company, who was standing in the passage, saw Stowe reach for his gun and called out to Cleveland, who ducked his head just as the bullet—if there was one—escaped him. Cleveland turned and promptly collared Stowe, from whom he snatched the revolver, but Stowe grabbed it again and in getting it away scorched Cleveland's hand. Policeman David McKee, who was on duty outside the theatre, was called in and arrested Stowe, whom he took to Police Headquarters, but not without some vigorous resistance.

On his way to the station Stowe told the officer that he had fired at Cleveland and was sorry he had not shot the —'s head off, as he had fully intended to do. At the station the prisoner described himself as "Edward Stowe, aged 23, actor, New Orleans." He expressed great regret that he had to abandon a bull dog, which he had left in the theatre. Mr. Cleveland followed close on the heels of the pisoner, and handed to Inspector Stephen the weapon he had taken from Stowe. It is a 44- libre Remington and contained an unexploded blank cartridge and an exploded cartridge. The question which is puzzling the police is whether the second cartridge was blank like the unexploded one. The pistol is one used on the stage and is generally filled with bulletless cartridges. But in this instance, from the fact that the exploded and unexploded cartridges differ in kind, it is suspected that the exploded one contained something besides powder.

From his language both to Policeman McKee, who arrested him, and while in the station, it would seem—at least so think the police—that Stowe meant mischief. A search has been commenced for the bullet, as since it escaped Cleveland it must have found a billet somewhere. Should the charge of intent to kill fail through a second one of having unlawful possession of property belonging to Manager Cleveland may be preferred against him.

A reporter saw Mr. Cleveland, who who said that the whole affair arose out of Stowe's bad temper. Stowe, he said, had been with the company for two seasons and had been picked up with a couple of others at New Orleans, where the shooter had been a bill poster. "But," said Mr. Cleveland, "he has been a comedian a season of sarcasms. His shooting business to-night was not caused by drink but by his bad temper. He always wanted to fight everyone in the company, and when he had a row with any of them he would come to me. The fellow first met me in the lobby and asked me to pay him up and he'd quit, as he often had threatened before. He also accused me of having opened a telegram to him which I never saw. He has been a constant source of trouble, but still I put up with him, while he would continually quarrel. He had some trouble in Vicksburg this season with the police and I think that he pulled a revolver there. As to whether the revolver that he used last night was loaded or not I cannot say, but even if it wasnot it was a gun that he and others have occasion to use on the stage, and if filled with a wad it would make a bad hole in a fellow's body. One of my company was hit with such a wad this season and it went through his trousers and into his leg almost to the bone."

Captain John Cummings of the stone-hooker Elizabeth Ann reported to the police late last night that a mulatto named Charles Addison, aged about 35, had been drowned at about 11 o'clock by falling off the boat on the foot of West Market-street. The captain was going down George-street when he was met by a man named Tiny Palmer, who said that he and Addison had been on the boat. Palmer was going below when he heard a splash. Rushing up he saw Addison in the water. He held a pole out to the unfortunate man, who grasped it and then let go and sank. There had been some drinking and Addison was full.

An unsuccessful search was made for the body. To-day Esplanade Constable Williams will grapple for it. Addison was to have commenced work to-day on the Elizabeth Ann. He was well known in the colored quarters of St. John's Ward and had been in the hands of the police more than once.

The person of Mr. "E.J. Dunning, commission merchant, Room 4, 28 Toronto-street," as the directory states, is urgently wanted in Toronto both by the police and by several creditors. Mr. Dunning is charged with having done some crooked work in the matter of discounting notes which proved to be worthless. He came here ostensibly from New York about six months ago and opened a broker's office in the Union Loan Building, Toronto-street. The chief complainant is Mr. G. H. Smith, barrister, 24½ Victoria-street, who had several dealings with Dunning in the way of loaning him money upon notes. They had many transactions and Smith was not always satisfied with Dunning's ways. Dunning had been given about $2000 worth of notes of the Rankin River Lumber Co., a company which was never incorporated and never existed although it was intended to be the name of a company that had arranged with Contractor McGaun to supply 50,000 ties for the G. T. R. at about $12,000. He was given these notes to negotiate but the company did not continue and their solicitor notified Dunning to return the paper. He partly did this and spread some of the notes around. Mr. Smith says that Dunning first came to him. Introduced by a mutual friend, and he lent him $625 on a Rankin note for $1400. Dunning assigned to Smith a contract between the Rankin River Lumber Co., acting by W. P. Keeling, and Dunning, for the delivery of 50,000 railway ties. Dunning now told Smith that he was negotiating for the purchase of [illegible] store in Queen-street west and for the sum of $4500 would assign $2000 of Rankin River notes and give a second mortgage on the property, but this didn't please Mr. Smith. Again Dunning called and said he wanted $200 for a couple of days and got it, leaving four notes as security. This amount was not repaid as promised and Dunning afterwards called and got possession of the notes, saying that he could get $1800 for them and so was able to pay Smith off. The proceed not to factory.

But Mr. Smith claims that he is out $1050 on account of money lent to Dunning and all he holds as security is a Rankin River note for $1000 and four others aggregating $3000, which he regards as worthless. There is a suit pending in the matter.

Mr. H. E. Cassan, solicitor for the Rankin River Lumber Co., was seen and stated that a few parties had proposed forming a company of such a name with a view to supplying the ties mentioned and Dunning was given the notes to negotiate. But they changed their minds and Dunning was notified to return the paper at once, some of which he did hand over. The notes, said Mr. Cassan, never had any legal value.

The office occupied by Dunning in the Union Loan building is covered by John Stark & Co., brokers, who on Thursday took possession of the place. Mr. Dunning was in the Police Court on May 13, charged with fraudulently appropriating two notes for $160 and $230, the property of J. A. McLeod, but in this he was honorably acquitted by the magistrate, there being no evidence of fraud, and Dunning producing a receipt from McKenzie showing that he had paid $200 for the notes. However, there is a warrant out for his arrest and the detectives are looking for him; the warrant is sworn to by a man named Illsley, who claims to have been defrauded out of some money.

Some of Dunning's friends say that he will turn up in a few days and that all the existing trouble he will be settled, negotiations to that effect being in progress. But no one will say whether is away or in his seclusion in the city.

One of the many events of yesterday, and one which was an unusual one, was the unveiling of the statue of the late Rev. Egerton Ryerson, D.D., LL.D., the founder of the school system of Ontario. In the front of the Normal School building, which was the scene of much of his labor, and facing Bond-street there now stands a bronze likeness of the man to whom Ontario owes a lasting debt of gratitude for having given what is pronounced the best school system in the world.

At 3 o'clock yesterday there was a gathering of about a thousand persons on the grounds, chiefly of those interested in educational work. The Union Jack floated from the tower of the building, while in front was the handsome and artistic statue in bronze covered with the Canadian flag and placed upon a pedestal of granite. The statue, including the whole being 20 feet high, the figure alone being 9 feet 6 inches.

The Minister of Education was paid a glowing eulogy by the mover of a vote, Dr. Ryerson and received his quaint speech in the most felicitous of terms, as indeed did all the speakers that followed, the common theme being that Ontario's educational system was even a better monument than the statue.

A Railway Train Pitches Over an Embankment—No Deaths Reported.

ST. LOUIS, May 24.—The west bound train on the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad which left St. Louis last night at 8.15 was wrecked three miles from Sullivan, Mo. Not a passenger escaped unhurt and 45 are known to have been seriously injured though no deaths are reported. The train was running at a high rate of speed when suddenly, without warning, the track gave way and the locomotive, baggage car and five coaches went over the embankment.

BERLIN, May 24.—The Associated Press Correspondent learns that there was no difficulty encountered during the deliberations of the Samoan Conference yesterday. The question of the indemnity to be paid by the Samoans for the killing of Germans at Apia by natives was not brought up but was left to the Working Committee. This action is taken as an indication that this question can be solved here. The only [illegible] still to be settled is [illegible] The final adjournment may come

WHO WAS THE STRANGER?

A CHICAGO REPORTER'S STARTLING DISCOVERY.

Dr. Cronin's Body Where Cronin's Body Was Found Cut Up a Number Inches From a Human Head.

CHICAGO, May 24.—Wm. E. Hinchliffe, a reporter for The Inter-Ocean, did a little police work last night on his own account. The result may involve disclosure that another person beside Cronin was murdered.

Hinchliffe heard that the authorities police had neglected to search the catch basin where Cronin's body was found, after removing the corpse. The newspaper man proceeded to the spot himself. In the bottom of the sewer basin, concealed in the weeds, he found a bloody towel exactly similar to the one that was wrapped about Cronin's head. Further groping brought up a single human finger. The member was decomposed and it was impossible to determine whether it was a man's or a woman's. Probabilities favor the idea that it was the finger of a male.

Recollections of Woodruff's conclusion as to a woman's body were revived by the discovery. The woman's body, Woodruff said, had been cut up into small pieces and the finding of the finger is pretty strongly taken as a possible corroboration of the [illegible] strange story. It is certain that the finger is not from the hand of Dr. Cronin.

THE MYSTERY DEEPENING.

Doctors Cannot Agree as to the Method of Cronin's Death.

CHICAGO, May 24.—A post-mortem examination of Dr. Cronin's body was made yesterday. The doctors found no signs of suffocation or strangling, and could not agree as to the cause of death, although all were of opinion that Cronin might have been killed by the blow at the outer corner of his left eye. Even this blow was not hard enough to fracture or splinter the bones. The mystery of the case is thus deepened. The funeral will take place Monday. Cronin's brother John arrived from Arkansas yesterday and positively identified the body.

A Bloodstained Floor.
CHICAGO, May 24.—The police are guarding a vacant cottage in Lakeview which was rented shortly before Dr. Cronin's death but has not been occupied since. A reporter gained entrance this morning and discovered blood stains on the front parlor floor, in the corner of the back parlor, in the hallway and on the front steps. The steps were also covered with blood, although the murderers evidently made an effort to wipe away the evidence of the crime. The parlor floor is covered with bloody marks. The floor is daubed with brown paint and it can be plainly seen that the job was done in a hurry. But the murderers did not succeed in completely covering up the life blood of Dr. Cronin.

Cornell Gets a Million.
NEW YORK, May 24.—A despatch from Ithaca says it has been announced that in the event of the final loss of the McGraw-Fiske suit, involving $1,500,000 bequeathed to the Cornell University library, Henry W. Sage would pay for the splendid library building, to cost over $300,000, on which work has begun. In addition to standing the cost of the building, Mr. Sage offers, if the suit is lost, to give the library an endowment of $300,000. If the McGraw-Fiske suit is won, as is confidently expected, Mr. Sage's $600,000 will probably go to the university for other purposes.

Is Blaine After Hayti?
NEW YORK, May 24.—The Herald's Washington special says: "General Wallace and ex-Consul Packard have been selected as two of the three commissioners to go to Hayti and use their influence to secure a peaceable settlement of the trouble there and the establishment of a government which can maintain peace and order. The commissioners will ascertain where on the Haytian end of the Island of San Domingo there is a good harbor for a coaling station and will endeavor to secure from the Haytian Government the use of such a port for that purpose."

Bones of a Pre-historic Race.
WATERLOO, Ia., May 24.—Professor Webster of Charles City has just opened five mounds near Bradford, Chickasaw County. He found in them thirteen fairly well preserved skeletons. The skulls of all of them showed the same characteristics of low development that were shown by the skeletons near Floyd. Professor Webster is of opinion that there was quite a population in the Upper Cedar Valley in pre-historic times.

A $100,000 Embezzler.
NEW HAVEN, May 24.—John C. Bradley, cashier of the Merchants' National Bank, is said to have been under the surveillance of officers at his residence in Fair Haven since yesterday afternoon. He is charged with embezzlement of the bank's funds. The shortage may reach $100,000. It is said Bradley and C. W. Palmer for years discounted notes without the knowledge of the directors. Palmer has been arrested here.

THE "JESUIT AGGRESSION"

Warm Speeches on the Subject at the Opera House.

Rev. D. J. Macdonnell and Mr. J. J. McLaren, of Toronto, the Speakers—A Number of Vigorous Resolutions—A Committee Appointed to Organize the Movement Here.

Thursday evening the opera house was filled. On the platform, besides the chairman and speakers, were Rev. Messrs. Sheroy, Torrance, Ball, Wilson and Huff.

Mr. Geo. Stewart, of Ottawaboo, presided, and in his opening remarks said it was a serious matter to see a Canadian Legislature handing over to a foreign potentate the liberties of Canada. He urged the people to take hold of this movement and get our legislature to see that the disallowance of this bill must and shall be.

Mr. John Cameron introduced the first resolution. He said that no matter what their views, this matter should be discussed dispassionately and without giving unnecessary offence. He felt he could not move this motion without saying a few words in the first place, he thought it should be laid down as a rule, regardless of politics, that this was to be one country from the Atlantic to the Pacific; this being the case, the rights of disallowance must be exercised for the general good, and any question that was perilous to the public weal should be disallowed by the Governor General. The Dominion Government did wrong in not disallowing the Jesuits' Estates Bill, though the people made the first mistake in ever allowing them to incorporate the Jesuits, a body which was iniquitous and injurious to the country at large. If the government could not have disallowed it, they should at least have left it an open question, for no action was necessary, according to the Act of Confederation. But the Jesuits' Estate Act being declared constitutional, it was not necessary for the government to support it, for the government was not bound to resign if defeated on an isolated question like this. Our representatives need not try to shelter themselves behind the excuse that if they had voted against the bill the government would have been defeated and the Opposition brought in; for both party leaders were one on this question, and in any case Canada was not bound to the choice of two men as political leaders. The time had arrived when we should send men to parliament who had backbone and whose opinions on public matters should be learned before they are sent there. The speaker next dealt with the argument that the measure was within the jurisdiction only of the Quebec government. He pointed out that an amendment practically nullifying the New Brunswick school law was not long ago passed by the government, when no qualms of conscience disturbed them in the disallowance. It was said that they were too late in moving in this matter now; but he thought while we were to blame for not dealing fault before, we should not be forever debarred from doing so. The speaker referred to the fact that both parties pandered to the Roman Catholic vote, and this same principle was shown in the House of Commons the other day. He regretted that his himself while in the Legislature had done as others had in this respect. It was about time the people awakened to a realization of the scandal policy which they had been following. He introduced this resolution, which he hoped they would take to heart. For himself he was prepared to oppose a National Policy advocate. In behalf of these principles, he would even support a Commercial Unionist rather than vote against civil and religious liberty. If this stand was taken by the people there would soon be true civil and religious freedom from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The resolution was:—

That this meeting views with alarm the constantly increasing ecclesiastic aggression in the Government of this country, and regards with feelings of deep humiliation the fact that a motion recently submitted to the House of Commons calling for the disallowance of a provincial Act which recognizes a right on the part of the Pope to interfere in the administration of the civil affairs of Canada, an Act at once derogatory to the supremacy of the Queen and menacing to the liberties of the people of the whole Dominion, was voted down by a majority of 126, only 13 members standing by the principles of freedom and equal rights to all, and refusing the foregoing vote to be contrary to the will of the great majority of the people of Canada, hereby declare our approval of the address issued by the Citizens' Committee, of Toronto, and that we agree in calling a convention of delegates from all parts of the province for the purpose of forming a provincial organization whose object shall be the undoing of the mischief already wrought, and the maintaining in the future of our civil and religious freedom.

Mr. Yellaly, in seconding the resolution, said he was in accord with its sentiments. He thought the time had come when we should vote for men and measures, not party.

The motion was then put by the chairman and declared carried.

Rev. Mr. Macdonell's Address.

Rev. D. J. Macdonell was received with applause. He said this was a grave and important question, and he could not understand how it could be treated dispassionately. It was a matter touching liberty, nor a desire to curb the legitimate freedom of worship or life of our Roman Catholic citizens, that aroused this agitation. Despite all assertions to the contrary, the true certain Protestants would resist aggression against the rights of their Roman Catholic fellow citizens as they would against themselves. This was the very spirit of Protestantism. This was no question of theology, but one of civil and religious freedom. Matters were they actuated by any dislike to the French Canadians, but rather by the desire that French and [illegible] should be united in peace. The speaker referred to the distrust which existed between politicians, and said if their ends were to be accomplished Tories and Grits must work together in harmony. He was not there to pronounce upon the motives of those who voted against the disallowance resolution, but the fact was that while he believed there were as many conscientious voters among the 126 as among the 13, the fact remained that the overwhelming majority gave a vote which we consider to be disastrous to our country. But with the acts of these men and the outcome of these acts the people had to do. In the first place he asked the learned to judge of this question by the deep-rooted abhorrence of parties men and the resolutions which were adopted, and not by the fiery speeches of irresponsible persons. Quoting from a pamphlet circulated by Sir John and others, containing an address of Rev. Mr. Herridge, of Ottawa, who had placed himself in opposition to the agitation, to the effect that the political representatives of misrepresentation were perilous to the freedom of the state and should be resisted. Mr. Macdonell asked, is or is not the incorporation of the Jesuits a political encroachment perilous to the state? Pope Clement XIV, in 1773 suppressed the Jesuits, and the speaker read an extract from the decree completely abolishing the Order, which contained a number of strong statements against the pernicious influences of the Order upon society and the state. Mr. Macdonnell read another extract from a speech in the House of Commons by Solicitor General Fiddlerbore, who said it was impossible with any form of government to establish the Jesuits, who were aliens in every country, and held property for purposes dependent upon the pleasure of a foreign potentate. The speaker laid particular stress upon a statement that the Jesuits would long ago have ceased to exist in Canada if the French Government had retained the country; because they recognized the pernicious influences of the Order. In view of these opinions was not the Jesuit incorporation a peril to the State? Government after government, both Roman Catholic and Protestant, had suppressed and driven them from their countries, and in Canada it was a question not only of religious freedom, but whether or no the government shall be able to wield the power of state if the Jesuits gain a foothold here. Besides being intolerable to the government, the revenue of their intense have never been permanent. Mr. Macdonnell said he could not see how it was right to incorporate Jesuits in one province, and not right to incorporate Orangemen in another. But it would be no easy task, this of ridding Canada of the Jesuits, for they had beaten the greatest administrator in Europe, Bismarck. The speaker said the principle upon which the order was founded (not the men, for there were many good ones among them), but their fundamental principle was wrong; it demanded the absolute emasculation of will from every member of the society, that to their be absolutely subservient to the superior, irrespective of his will or opinion. Taking up the Jesuit's Estate Bill, he pointed out what the said was the whole contention between the Crown and the Pope. The Crown said that as the Jesuits had been suppressed, their estates escheat to the Crown; the Pope said differently, that their estates escheated to the church. Sir John Thompson contends that this property was in dispute between the Bishops and the Jesuits, which the Crown could not settle, so the Pope did so. No, no, Mr. Macdonell said, the Pope regarded the property as belonging to the church, and to prove it he read extracts from the Pope's decree, claiming ownership and disposing of the money; and which the government four days afterwards allowed by an act of parliament. There was something very strange about that also. The Pope had claimed $2,000,000 at first on moral grounds. They had only paid him $400,000, and it was quite open to him to press for the settlement of the remainder of his moral claims. He could not understand the sort of reasoning which had taken place at Quebec and Ottawa. As to the "question of provincial rights, the question of the welfare of this land towered far above it, and the peace and goodwill and integrity of this Dominion should be preserved. What was to be done? The constitutionality of the Act was to be tested, and steps were being taken to have the question brought before the courts. Private citizens were doing what the government had not done. There was another way in which this question was being tested, thanks to the Mail, which may contemplate, by its suit with the Jesuits, what could be accomplished in no other way. It ought to be made a public question for Canada. Still another way was to petition the House. They say, don't govern the country by petitions; then, he would say, dissolve the House and let the electors decide. Another suggestion was to bring the matter before the House again for re-consideration. He did not think much of this course, for, no doubt, the members would vote the same way; but, no matter by what means, failure or success, efforts should be made to secure the immediate disallowance of the bill. Rev. Mr. Macdonnell's concluding was a fervid outburst of eloquence that called forth loud applause.

A Q.C.'s Address.

Mr. J. J. McLaren, Q. C., was the next speaker. He first criticised the speech of Sir John Thompson in the House, which was largely composed of extracts from a pamphlet written by Father [illegible], a Montreal Jesuit. One of the strong points the Minister of Justice made in his speech was that the King had no rights, as a branch of the legislature, to confiscate these lands by the law of nations; but how unfair it was of Sir John Thompson to hide from the people that this appeal be private individuals and not to the government such as the Jesuits. The speaker cited several parallel cases in which this contention was supported. Then Sir John Thompson said that the King could not do it, but only the parliament. He skilfully concealed the fact that parliament had done this very thing, for the Act of 1774, from which he quoted, giving religious rights to Roman Catholics, expressly forbade the establishing of the Society of Jesus. The speaker briefly reviewed the history of the whole Jesuits' estates question, which property was given to Quebec on the condition that it be devoted to educational interests, but which in 1866 was diverted from the original purpose. It was this they complained of. It was stated that this was a question purely confined to Quebec, but the fact was that the greater part of the property in dispute was owned by the Dominion of Canada. Mr. McLaren exposed a little transaction between the Jesuits and the government of Quebec, by which the latter renounced all claim to the Plate-Le Prairie on condition that the Pope in turn withdrew all claim to the Champ de Mars, a property in the heart of Montreal valued at over a million dollars, but which, being legally confiscated by the conquering power at the time the British gained control of Canada, was already owned by the Dominion. The Quebec government say that by so doing they cleared the Dominion's title to this property—that was clearing their title to their own rightful possessions. The speaker thought Sir John Thompson was laying up trouble for himself by his action and the Government in itself by not disallowing this bill. Another statement was that the House of Commons was not the proper place to settle this matter; but the courts. They say, let some private party take it into court and see. But there was no way in which this could be done, for several reasons. First, when a whole community is interested, the only person who can undertake the suit is the Attorney General—and fancy Mr. Mercier's Attorney moving to set aside Mr. Mercier's bill. Then besides there being no plaintiff, no defendant could be found. But the Jesuits readily rushed into court themselves, and then we may be able to get at them. The Mail he thought should be supported in its action.

Rev. Mr. Torrance then presented the following resolution, which was also carried:

That the following gentlemen, with power to add to their number, and of whom seven shall be a quorum, be appointed a committee to be known as the Citizens' Committee of Peterborough, with instructions to see that this town and county are properly represented at the convention to be held in Toronto on the 11th and 12th of June next, to circulate petitions praying for the disallowance of the Act respecting the settlement of the Jesuit Estates, or to aid in the collection of funds wherewith the legality of the foregoing Act and the Act incorporating the Jesuits may be tested in the courts, and to do generally whatsoever may be deemed necessary to the carrying out of this and the foregoing resolution, viz.:—Messrs. Geo. Stewart, A. P. Peacocke, E. E. D. Hall, Dr. Pike, A. Clegg, J. A. Davidson, H. S. Griffin, T. J. Turner, A. L. Davis, W. J. Means, W. W. Johnston, D. B. Gardiner, Dr. Taylor, J. L. Hughes, T. E. Bell, J. J. Hartley, J. Carnegie, D. McLeod, and Rev. Messrs. Torrance, Ball, Sheroy, Pearson, Huff and Parker.

This resolution was introduced by Rev. S. J. Sheroy and carried:—

That this meeting when it adjourns do stand adjourned to meet at the call of the Citizens' committee, to hear the report of the delegates to Toronto and to take further action.

Rev. A. Ball next moved a vote of thanks to the speakers of the evening, which Rev. Mr. Wilson seconded. The resolution was carried.

The meeting broke up after the national anthem had been sung.

Boy one Year and a Half Old. Face and Body in a Terrible Condition, being Covered with Sores. Sulphur Springs fail. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I have used your Cuticura Remedies in two cases where it proved to be successful. The first was in the case of a boy a year and a half old. His face and body were in a terrible condition, the former being completely covered with sores. I took him to the Mineral Sulphur Springs, but he did not improve any. I was then advised to try the Cuticura Remedies, which I did. He took one and one half bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, when his skin was as smooth as could be, and is to-day. I used the Cuticura on his sores and the Cuticura Soap in washing him. He is now five years of age and all right. The other case was a disease of the scalp, which was cured by washing with the Cuticura Soap and rubbing in the Cuticura, one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent being used. They have proved successful in every case where I have advised the use of them. It is surprising how rapidly a child will improve under their treatment. I recommend them for any diseases of the skin as being the best in the world. This is my experience, and I am ready to stand by my statement. JOHN R. REED. American House, Hogansburgh, N.Y.

Three Long Years in Bed with Spinal Disease.

Charles Cluthe, Esq., Toronto.

Dear Sir—I wish to inform you how I am getting on. I am splendid now. I can walk any distance. I work all the time. My mother and I do all the housework for a large family. You know when you came to measure me I had to be held up, but after you put the instrument on I could walk through the house and the third day I could walk out. I feel that I can never thank you or say enough for you, when I think that for 3 long years I was a poor helpless girl, sometimes in bed for four months at the time and getting worse every day. Anyone wishing further particulars refer them to me. Thanking you once more, I remain your true friend. MATTIE GRAHAM, Peterborough.

Rupture.

Dear Sir—I am only to inform you that the Scientific Truss you put on me last spring has been all I was recommended and more, as it [illegible] which I was troubled with for a long time, and not having been able to work on account of it; but on hearing of you, I came and had you adjust this Truss, which gave me great relief at once, as I was able to work at any kind of work. I would not part with it for ten times the price if I could not get another. For further proof send them to me.

I remain, yours truly, ALEXANDER RYCKMAN, Jordan Station, Ontario.

THE VICTORIOUS VALKYRIE.

A Brilliant Display of Light Weather Speed—The Times' Comment.

LONDON, May 5.—In the race yesterday with the first and Yarana the Valkyrie was exceedingly smart in manoeuvring a steamer in the Horn, not a yard being wasted. The day was supposed to be in favor of the Yarana but the wind was light and variable and afforded no chance of showing her best qualities.

The Times calls the Valkyrie's performance a brilliant display of light weather speed. "It was no mean performance to beat the Yarana by upwards of 4 minutes and the first by 15 minutes in a dead beat in a light breeze to the Horn, the lead of the former evenly served out, the Valkyrie was always able to keep the Yarana tight pinned under the lee and she was by far the faster boat with sheets off. Toward the end the Valkyrie was favored to some extent by luck." Time to the Horn:

	H.	M.	S.
Valkyrie	1	22	0
Yarana	1	26	15
Isar	1	28	15

Time at the finish:

	H.	M.	S.
Valkyrie	3	7	0
Yarana	3	11	15

They are Legion!

Sarsaparillas and other advertised blood medicines are numerous, but the only one possessed of such superior curative properties as to warrant its manufacturers in selling it, as they are doing, through druggists, under a positive guarantee, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If it don't benefit or cure you get the money back which you pay for it. It is recommended to cure all chronic blood, liver and lung diseases, no biliousness, skin and scalp diseases, scrofulous sores and swellings, salt-rheum, tetter, erysipelas and even cancerous of the lungs (or consumption), if taken in time.

Nerviline. What is It?

Nerviline is a combination of the most powerful pain relieving substances known. Nerviline is not a nostrum, but a preparation which has received from members of the medical profession, clergymen, the press and others most enthusiastic endorsation. If suffering from pain of any kind, external or local, give Nervilline a trial. Nervilline cures toothache, neuralgia, and almost half mentally. Trial bottles 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents, at druggists and dealers everywhere. 6dw21

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulcerations, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 933 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The equal of this great preparation is yet to be found. It is an unfailing Restorer for grey hair—it stops all falling out of the hair—it removes all dandruff and keeps the scalp clean. On bald heads (if there are but the faintest traces of roots) the Magic will produce a fine growth. Will you try it? Or will you let your hair go, and become prematurely old? What do you say? All druggists everywhere have it for sale. Ask for it. Do a t let the druggist tell you he has something just as good—many have dead stock of other hair tonics on hand and try to shove them off in this way.

GOAT'S LANDING, May 22rd, 1889.

J. J. Turner:

DEAR SIR,—The Sails received give me entire satisfaction, and are the best, both as to cut and workmanship, of any I have ever had. The material has been much admired, and stands as fast on a beard, and I find the greatest difference in going to windward this year, holding fully two points closer. I can thoroughly recommend any one to go to you for a similar job.

I am yours respectfully,
2d EMERALD DRAYTON.

He Stabs Brown Himself.

Wm. MacMaster was the cause of quite a commotion at his home and around the police station last night. He had been drinking, and about nine o'clock Mrs. MacMaster and her girls came to the Chief in a great flurry and told him that MacMaster had jumped in the river and drowned himself. The Chief did not think, however, that MacMaster was a utility, and consequently stayed away. A little after ten o'clock Wm. MacMaster again appeared and said that her husband was at home assaulting the children and robbing on awful row. She wanted him arrested at once, but was told she must first get out a warrant. She went away again, and came more excited than before. Then

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

How the Day was Celebrated in Peterborough.

Athletic Sports, Baseball and Lacrosse Matches, and Horse Racing — Rain Interfered Somewhat — Victories for the Town Clubs.

The Queen was 70 years old yesterday, and the occasion was duly celebrated all over the land. Peterborough was not remiss in its remembrance of Her Majesty's birthday, and the day was celebrated here in a satisfactory manner.

Numerous flags floated from high places in every part of the town in honor of the day, and fireworks, which seemed to have been shelved for a few years past, again made their appearance to frighten people and burn their clothes. Late in the afternoon showers of rain fell, which interfered with the sports to a certain extent.

Baseball.

In the forenoon a ball match was played on the P.A.A.A. grounds between Campbellford and a team of the Peterboroughs. There was a good attendance of spectators. Play began shortly after half past nine, the hour advertised, and continued till 11.30, by which time seven innings had been played. As an exhibition of baseball the game was perhaps a little agricultural, both sides hitting well and making a large number of errors. The Campbellford men batted the heaviest, three of them making home runs by hits over the fence, but the Peterboroughs by their sharper play prevented them from getting the big end of the score. Campbellford has a fairly good battery but their field needs a little brushing up.

For Peterborough Pearson pitched well and received good support from Callahan. Moore also made a couple of fine catches.

Mr. Sam Ray umpired the game and gave general satisfaction. Following is the batting order of the teams and the score:—

The Military Spectacle.

At eleven o'clock the officers and men of the 57th Batt. paraded at the drill shed, and headed by the band of the regiment marched to the P.A.A.A. grounds, which were reached about 11:30.

Col. Rogers, mounted, was in command. Major Bell, also mounted, and Sergt-Major Rundle, were in their places. The officers of the different companies who attended parade were:—

No. 1 Co.—Capt. Edwards and Lieut. Mason.
No. 2 Co.—Capt. Langford and Lieut. Lee.
No. 3 Co.—Capt. Hall and Lieut. Shaw.
No. 4 Co.—Capt. Donnistoun and Lieut. Dixon.
No. 5 Co.—Capt Miller and Lieut. Matthews.
No. 6 Co.—Capt. Brennan and Lieuts. Bennett and Loch.

After performing a number of military evolutions the men were drawn up in line a few minutes before twelve, and just at noon the feu de joie was fired. The band struck up the National Anthem, the men gave three cheers for the Queen, and after this ebullition of loyalty the troops marched back to the shed and disbanded for dinner.

Afternoon Sports.

Shortly after two o'clock the athletic sports began on the P. A. A. A. grounds. There must have been six or eight hundred people present. The sports, which were carried out under the joint auspices of the P.A.A.A. and 57th Battalion, were enlivened at intervals during the afternoon by music from the band.

Mr. R. B. Rogers and Capt. Brennan were starters of the races and Dr. Burnham, Hon. S. Hamilton and Col. J. Z. Rogers, judges.

Following is a list of the successful ones:—

RUNNING HIGH JUMP.—1st A. Milburn, 5 feet; 2nd A. Moore.

RUNNING LONG JUMP.—1st A. Milburn, 2nd A. Moore. Four entries. Moore actually made the best distance, but slightly overstepped the mark and his effort did not count. Distance, 15 feet, 10 inches.

RUNNING HOP STEP AND JUMP.—Three entries; 1st A. Moore, 37 feet 9 inches; 2nd W. S. Hawthorne.

BICYCLE RACE, one mile (green).—Six entries. This was a good race between Eddie Roy and W. Morgan, the former winning by a few feet only.

100 YARDS DASH.—Three entries; 1st A. Moore, 2nd A. Milburn.

COMPANY'S RACE.—This event had to be run off twice, the first one being unsatisfactory. The men of the different companies clasped hands and ran together across the ground. Each of the six companies had ten men running, No. 2 winning first prize, and No. 6 second.

HALF MILE BICYCLE RACE.—This was a close race between Fred Might and Mattie Roy, the former winning after a hard struggle.

440 YARD RACE—Five entries; 1st A. Moore, 2nd J. Ringer.

BOYS' RACE, 220 yards, (handicap)—This event brought out fully fifty ambitious youngsters, who were ranged in order of size before starting. Jerry Flaherty took first prize and George Galley second.

OFFICERS' RACE—This was gotten up impromptu, but it created a good deal of amusement. The entries were Col. Rogers, Major Bell, Captains Edwards, Donnistoun, Langford, Miller, Hill and Brennan; Lieuts. Lee, Bennett, Matthews and Loch. Capt. Brennan came in first and Capt. Donnistoun second. The others were bunched, with Col. Rogers and Capt. Langford hopelessly in the rear—they were standing at the starting point watching the others racing.

BICYCLE RACE, two miles (handicap)—This brought out M. Roy and F. Might at the scratch, with W. Holland and W. Morgan a half lap in advance. The two latter soon dropped out, Might and Roy being left alone to struggle. The latter won by a few yards only.

NON COMMISSIONED OFFICERS' RACE—This was also an impromptu event. There were some dozen entries, Ashton Fife taking first place, Harold Fife second and E. Bloome third.

OBSTACLE RACE—1st A. Moore, 2nd A. Metherel, 3rd G. C. Hodge.

COMPANY RACE IN FILE—This was quite an amusing race. Ten men each from companies 1, 2, 4, 5 and 6, each holding on by the belt of the man in front of him, ran in file across the grounds. A stumble on the part of one would cause the whole line to go down, and some of the companies were thus unfortunate. No. One Company was the only that finished with ten men in line.

MENAGERIE RACE—This was the piece de resistance of the afternoon. Capt. Brennan reached the goal first with his calf, Capt. Hill's gobbler taking second money and Capt. Donnistoun's white turkey third. Lieut. Lee's duck got only half way, while Mr. Scheefield's geese very nearly reached the goal. Capt. Langford had a cat that cleared the ground and refused to budge, while no amount of pushing or poking could induce Mr. R. B. Rogers's obstinate pig to go in the desired direction. Lieut. Mason's chicken wanted to fly to the grand stand instead of the way it was wanted to go. The race caused immense laughter.

HALF MILE RACE—1st J. Ringer, 2nd G. C. Hodge.

SACK RACE—Dozen entries—1st G. C. Hodge, 2nd J. Ringer.

CLIMBING THE GREASY POLE — A young lad named McWilliams covered himself with grease in reaching half the distance to the top, but could get no further.

DONKEY RACE—In this race a man mounted another on his back and ran a certain distance, when the two changed positions and the one who rode first ran back to the starting point with his burden. Fife Bros. took first prize, Hodge and Ringer second.

Owing to the rain the bag of war had to be declared off.

For all these events substantial prizes were offered, the gifts of merchants and business men of the town who wished to encourage sport.

The Lacrosse Match.

The Riverside Park contributions to the sports of the day was a spirited lacrosse match between the Riversides and a team of the West Toronto's. After some delay, about 3 o'clock the men lined up as follows:—

Riversides.	Positions.	West Torontos.
J. Parker	Goal	[illegible]
[illegible]	Point	[illegible]
[illegible]	Cover Point	[illegible]
[illegible]	Defence Field	R. McDonald
[illegible]	Defence Field	J. Beaty (capt)
[illegible]	Centre Field	J. De G. Kirby
[illegible]	Home Field	R. Crosbie
[illegible]	Home Field	G. Carson
[illegible]	Outside Home	W. Mossop
Peden Smith	Inside Home	C. A. Kemble
J. Daly	Field Captain	[illegible]
[illegible]	Umpire	G. Wilson
[illegible]	[illegible]	W. T. Scott

In the first game, after the face off, Bayley got the ball and carried the battle towards the Toronto flags, where the play was made the most of the time; when occasionally the ball found its way to the other end of the field, where it found Jos Joyal ready to send it back. This state of things tended to call [illegible] from [illegible] to [illegible] fences, so that when after 34 minutes play the ball got back near the home poles, Murchison of the Torontos, who is not to be trifled with, secured the rubber and scored first game. The second game was brief and without particular incident, Duncan putting the ball between the Toronto poles in 1½ minutes after the face. The third game was brief. The home flags were first thrown down, but Joyal soon sent it back behind the flags. Phelan passed it to the front. Bayley tipped it to Duncan, who made no good use of his chance that he had the honor of scoring game after 22 minutes' play. The fourth game was a long one, Toronto, to avert defeat, playing mostly on the defence, though at times they made sharp attacks. Much time was lost by fouling and hot ball. This was the most interesting game of all. The team play of the home boys was very pretty, and in this bout, Duncan, Phelan, McCabe, Packenham, Bayley, Hendren and Joyal did some neat work for the Riversides, while Mossbaw, Robinson and DeGrochy did good individual playing. At length, the home flags being for the moment undefended, Crosby, getting the ball, had an easy one and scored second game for the visitors. Time, 56 minutes. The fifth game was short and sweet. Forty-five seconds after the face Phelan did the trick neatly, thus winning the game and the match for the Riversides, who had, without doubt, the best of the play throughout the game, the team play of the home team surpassing that of the visitors. There was a good attendance of spectators, and, barring an accidental hurt or two to players, the match passed off pleasantly.

At the Driving Park.

Mr. John Newhall conducted races at the Driving Park, at which there was a fair attendance.

The trotting race (handicap) was won by A. P. Morgan's Mayflower, with Brown's pacer second and F. J. Daly's Willie W. third. There was a close contest between the two first named horses for first place.

The carters' race was won by Jos. Curtis, with Wm. Croft second. There were three entries.

The novelty race (a walk, trot and run of half a mile each) was won by Mr. Beckel of Smith, with Jas. Patterson's horse second and J. Mervin's third.

Valuable prizes were offered for all of the events. The judges were Messrs. Wm. Croft, John Haggart, Dr. Beatty; Mr. Foy, starter.

A gold sovereign was also drawn for in the usual way, John Arbitt being the lucky man.

No Fireworks.

The Fire Brigade were to have given a display of fireworks on the P.A.A.A. grounds in the evening, but on account of the rain and the cold weather it was postponed. The crowd turned back and amused itself by promenading George street.

The Day Elsewhere.

Norwood.

Rev. Father Conway's pic-nic drew a large attendance from the village and district. About 125 persons went down from Peterborough and spent a most enjoyable day. There were the usual amusements, sports, dancing, etc., Prof. Doucet's orchestra supplying the music. Rev. Father Conway was present, and by his geniality and carefulness in looking after the comforts of his guests, added to the pleasure of the affair. He is to be congratulated upon the success of the pic-nic which has become an annual event in Norwood.

At night there was a concert in the town hall under the management of Miss O'Neill, a music teacher of the village. Local and district talent made up the programme, Prof. Doucet's Orchestra being present, and Miss Saunders, of Peterborough giving recitations.

A gentleman who has not visited Norwood for fifteen years, was surprised at the growth and beauty of the village. He saw a wonderful improvement since his last visit to the then hamlet, which is now almost a town.

Lakefield.

At Lakefield there were a number of attractions. A cricket match, the village vs. the Lakefield Lumber Company, resulted in a victory for the latter. At baseball, the single and married men wrestled on the diamond, the former coming out victorious. Warsaw and Lakefield football teams had a match, the visitors winning by two goals to one. The first goal was scored after an hours' hard play.

Personal.

Mr. R. C. Walton of Rochester, N. Y., paid a flying visit to Peterborough to-day.

Rev. T. Fothergill, pastor of Cwyoy, Monmouthshire, England, arrived in Peterborough on Monday evening, on a visit to Rev. P. C. Parker, renewing the association of college days at Manchester Baptist College.

A Distinguished Visitor.

Many of our readers will doubtless be glad to hear that arrangements have been completed whereby, in addition to his sermon on Sunday, June 9th, Dr. Clark has agreed to give his noted lecture on "Water-Babies" on the following evening. The lecture will be delivered under the auspices of the Y.M.C., and the committee of management, while recognizing that the opera house would be a more fitting place for the appearance of so brilliant a man, have decided that in view of the season of the year to use the St. John's school house on the occasion. It is to be hoped that a due public appreciation will be shown of Dr. Clark's first visit to Peterborough, for it cannot but be both profitable and pleasureable to be brought into contact with a man who, from his high refinement, coupled with lofty ambitions and warm kindness of heart, has won the esteem and gratitude of thousands of his fellowmen in both the old and the new world.

Willow and Wisbeck.

The eleven of the Peterborough cricket club which went to Toronto Friday were beaten by the University team. The Peterborough team comprised J. Stirling, J. H. Burnham, F. J. C. MacDonnel, W. D. Parker, W. A. Stratton, J. H. Long, J. L. Gower, J. Carew, J. F. Turnbull, A. H. Strickland a substitute named Shiel. Peterborough scored 57 and 26; Varsity 44 and 52 for 4 wickets down. For Peterborough Stratton and Turnbull did all the bowling. The best scores were:—Parker 24, Stratton 19, Gower 14 and Burnham 11 not out. For the Varsity, Eykart, Pope and Senkler were the strong men.

A Disgraceful Row.

Last night Thos. Gainey and Wm. Geerie, two residents of Ashburnham, became involved in a quarrel over a horse. Both were intoxicated and soon they were engaged in a fight, in which Geerie's ear, it is said, was chewed by his adversary. Gainey's aged mother interfered and tried to prevent the fight, but she was knocked down and trampled on, and severely hurt. No arrests were made.

Stolen Hunting.

Through the kindness of the officers of the Baptist church, the meetings of the Toronto branch of the Christian Alliance will be held in the Murray street Baptist church. The first meetings will be held on Tuesday at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

THE SIKH SOVEREIGN.

All About Maharajah Dhuleep Singh and His English Bride.

PARIS, May 23.—The ex-Maharajah Dhuleep Singh and his English bride have left to spend their honeymoon in Russia. The wedding ceremony was strictly private and only attended by one or two Paris friends of the bride and bridegroom. The courtship was a short one. Barely six months have elapsed since the couple first met in the drawing-room of a house here. The marriage took place in the office of the mayor of the eighth arrondissement (city district). In the register the bridegroom was described as the Maharajah Dhuleep Singh, the sovereign of the Sikh nation, formerly of the Faubourg Saint German; profession, rajah, and the widower of the Maharanee Bamba Muller, who died in London.

The bride is a young and good-looking lady. She wore a lavender-colored traveling costume and orange blossoms, and figured in the register as the daughter of the late B. D. Wetherill and of Sarah, his wife, both of Hampshire, England. When the nuptial knot was duly tied, the mayor, girt with his tri-color scarf of office, addressed a briefly hymeneal homily to the bride and bridegroom, and the proceedings were then explained in English to the maharajah, who cannot speak French.

After this the mayor read a kind of address to the bridegroom, in which his honor showed that he was evidently suffering from a mild form of Anglophobia. He saluted in the person of the ex-maharajah the last of the kings of Punjaub, and spoke of him as having been despoiled of his territories and of him finding hospitality in France. After a few references to the former greatness of the dethroned prince, Monsieur le Maire finally wound up by expressing a hope that the royal union would be propitious. The ceremony then terminated, and the bride and bridegroom received the congratulations of their friends.

Mr. Lincoln Welcomed to England.

LIVERPOOL, May 23.—Upon the arrival of the steamer City of Paris in the Mersey yesterday afternoon a special tender decorated with flags put out to the vessel for the purpose of conveying Robert T. Lincoln, the new American Minister, ashore. Among those on the tender were Henry White, first Secretary of the American Legation at London; Mr. Russell, the American Consul at Liverpool, and the members of the corporation of this city. The Mayor met Mr. Lincoln at the landing stage and welcomed him to the city. Mr. Lincoln spent no time in Liverpool, but proceeded immediately to London.

Bellegham's Fame Abroad.

By virtue of keeping, making and selling first class furniture only, at the most reasonable prices, Bellegham's name has gone abroad as well as being a household word at home. A few days ago he received an order for the equipment of furniture for an entire residence at Gravesherst. The goods were shipped at once, arrived safely and gave the most complete satisfaction in every respect. There is no secret about this widespread popularity of D. Bellegham, because he gives the best goods and the best possible value for the money of the customer. He is doing a big trade this spring; the general spirit of refitting and refurnishing has created a demand which none but Bellegham can fill satisfactorily. His warerooms contain an immense and varied stock of the best of furniture, whether of the costly or plain type—whether for parlour or kitchen—castle or cabin. And what he hasn't in stock in the shape of special articles he is able to manufacture at the shortest notice and in the best manner. He has an extensive factory equipped with the best machinery, and manned with skilful workmen. The lumber used in making all his furniture as for repairs is thoroughly kiln dried, and the utmost pains is taken at every stage, from the rough lumber to the upholster's work. You can't make any mistake, but on the other hand will make a great strike by buying your furniture from D. Bellegham, the famous "Furniture King." Remember all the above information when you need, as you must do at this time, new furniture or furniture repairs, for the purpose of "putting your house in order" and remember, too, that Bellegham's warerooms (factory in the rear) are at 188 and 190 Hunter street west Peterborough.

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them rousted to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. These teas require no sale.

W. J. MORROW,

"The Cup that Cheers."

The poet Cowper, when singing, in the above strain, the praises of tea as a beverage, no doubt had a prophetic vision of the magnificent stock of teas to be found at the great specialty tea house of Hawley Bros., George street. The best and finest brands of every kind of tea grown are found at their store. And not only the best, but the cheapest; remember that. Buying in immense quantities, this firm gets better prices and is, therefore, able to give customers the best value in teas, coffees, spices, etc., to be got in the Midland district. dw

Rev. Mr. Chiniquy

Addresses the Congregations of St. Paul's and St. Andrew's Church—Lectures To-night and To-morrow

Rev. Mr. Chiniquy, the well known converted Roman Catholic priest, preached in St. Paul's church Sunday morning and in St. Andrew's in the evening. To-night he lectures in St. Andrew's church and to-morrow night in St. Paul's.

St. Paul's church was crowded Sunday morning. Mr. Chiniquy's address was a sketch of his past life. He said he was born in 1809 (which would make him 80 years of age at the present) and educated in the Roman Catholic religion, he entered the priesthood in 1833, and remained in it for twenty-five years. His labors were principally among his fellow-countrymen of the lower Provinces, and his priestly career was distinguished by extraordinary zeal and success, so great in fact that he was presented with a gold medal in appreciation of his services, an honor received by no other priest on this continent. The medal Rev. Mr. Chiniquy wore on his breast in the pulpit. He loved his church of Rome, he said, and his sole ambition was to advance its interests. He studied the Bible carefully for the purpose of fitting himself to discuss with Protestant ministers the question as to which was the true church, hoping that he would be able to convince them of the error of their ways. He met with such success in his ministry that in the year 1851 the Bishop of Chicago made a proposition to him that he take charge of the French colony it was intended to establish in the United States. The Bishop confided to him that it was the intention of the church to bring the whole of the United States under the control of the Pope, by means of the Irish Catholic element in the east and the French Catholics in the west. The idea was to encourage emigration from Belgium, France and Canada, and establish them in the Western States. Illinois, then a comparative wilderness, was selected for this purpose, and soon Father Chiniquy had established there a thriving community of 75,000 French speaking Catholics. They built fine churches, established schools and nunneries, and all the time Mr. Chiniquy studied his Bible prayerfully for the purpose of convincing himself and furnishing him with information with which to convince others that his beloved Church of Rome was the true church and out of it there was no salvation. He was pastor of one of the largest congregations in one of the finest churches in Quebec. At this time his mind began to be disturbed. A voice seemed to be constantly telling him that he was wrong, and urging him to come out of the Church of Rome, with its idolatry and its false system of doctrine. He studied the harder in order to convince himself, the more the cloud of doubt oppressed him. In vain, and one fatal day afternoon the final struggle took place. He prayed God on his knees for over an hour to show him the truth, and finally God shed His light abroad in his heart and the cloud rolled away. He then saw his true position, and he determined from that hour to renounce the church of Rome. It cost him a severe struggle to throw off his allegiance to the Pope, but he did it. The next morning, before a very large congregation, he told his people that he had left the church and could no longer be their pastor, and also told them why. For two hours he addressed them and told the great gift of Jesus, who had died to save them, and pointed out to them that the cleansing blood was enough to save them without appealing to the Virgin Mary, without any purgatory, without the confessional. The congregation was soon in tears, and the result was that every one of the large number present decided to take the step with him and leave the church of Rome. They asked him to remain with them, and he did so, preaching the gospel as it was found in the Bible. The result after six months was a thousand converts, and a year two thousand, and now there were between thirty-five and forty thousand converts as a result of that movement, among them 37 priests and a number of monks and nuns. There was scarcely a town or city in the continent where some of these dear converts could not be found, for which he praised God.

In conclusion Mr. Chiniquy reproached Protestants for their lack of interest in their church, which was no different from the Catholics, who sought by every means to advance themselves. They had committed a great sin also in not loving their Roman Catholic brethren and seeking to bring them under the light of the gospel.

At night St. Andrew's Church was crowded to overflowing. Rev. Mr. Chiniquy preached a gospel sermon based on the 4th chapter of Job, which he commended to the careful perusal of his hearers.

Young's Point.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

RETURNED.—Our genial friend, Mr. Ed. Young, has returned after spending a very pleasant six weeks in Seattle, Washington Territory. He speaks very highly of the country and climate, but reports a surplus of laboring men. Mr. Tom Kearney, who accompanied him, has found steady employment in Seattle, and intends to remain there for some time.

LUMBERING.—A drive of 40,000 logs of last season's cut, which was held over at Burleigh, passed through here last week on the way to the mills of J. M. Irwin.

Mr. G. Young has engaged the "Mary Ellen" to tow to the Point the logs which his shanty took out this season. These, together with the timber which he has purchased, will make a busy season's cut.

CAMPBELLO.—Quite a number of the Lakefield youth paddled to the Point Sunday morning and spent the day, returning home again in the evening.

RAIN.—The farmers were delighted with the heavy rain on Tuesday last. They have better prospect of a fair crop.

INVENTORS in mind these New Truck Tins just arrived at H. E. Kirby's. dw

NOT IN HER DICTIONARY.

THE QUEEN HAS NO THOUGHT OF ABDICATION.

Her Majesty in Splendid Health—Is Chiefly Concerned by the Bishop in Piccadilly—Shooting for Sovereign.

LONDON, May 26.—The Queen was seventy Friday. When she went to Sandringham lately some gossips would have it that she was preparing for abdication in view of the present anniversary. As a matter of fact, however, nothing is further from the mind of the Queen. She is in splendid health, and there is not a finer specimen of womanhood in the three kingdoms. She never talks anything, never has a pain or ache, and her mind is probably busier than it has ever been—which is saying a good deal. Abdication is not in the Royal dictionary, and folks who are so cautious for a new Court are sure—the new court being the Marlboro House set—still have to bide patiently, probably for another ten years. There is really no apparent reason why the Queen should not reign longer than George the Third.

In Honor of the Queen's Birthday.

LONDON, May 25.—The official state banquet in honor of the Queen's birthday was given yesterday. Lord Salisbury had among his guests at the official residence the Prince of Wales and most of the foreign ambassadors, including Mr. Lincoln, the United States Minister. Lady Salisbury entertained a large and distinguished party at her reception at the Foreign Office. United States Minister Lincoln visited the Queen at Windsor yesterday and presented his credentials. Her Majesty received the Minister very cordially.

Mr. Gladstone Injured.

LONDON, May 25.—Mr. Gladstone, replying to inquiries, says that he is no worse suffers from his mishap in Piccadilly, and expresses thanks for the sympathy extended to him.

Of Interest to Burglars.

LONDON, May 23.—The bill restoring the punishment of flogging with the cat-o'-nine-tails and authorizing its infliction upon burglars convicted of having dangerous weapons in their possession has passed its third reading in the House of Commons. Its passage in the House of Lords is assured.

A CLERGYMAN'S SUICIDE.

The Assistant Rector of a Baltimore Church Shoots Himself.

BALTIMORE, May 26.—At 9.30 this morning Wm. L. Glenn knocked at the bedroom door of his friend H. G. Scherr, the handsome young assistant rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Scherr said he did not wish to be disturbed as he was about to take his bath. Half an hour later Rev. Dr. Hodges, the rector of St. Paul's was informed by the housekeeper of St. Paul's, house that she had heard the report of a pistol. The doctor went to his assistant's room—Scherr lay dead upon the floor. Beside him was a 32-calibre self-acting revolver. The ball had passed in at the right temple and out above the left ear. On the table was this note:

"Many will condemn me, God will have mercy. Please tell my dear aged parents, but do it in a gentle manner. Bury me from St. Paul's house and do not send my body to my parents for it would kill them if you do. GREENFIELD SCHERR."

Scherr was aged 29. He was subject to fits of despondency, believed to be because of financial troubles and unrequited affection.

Crop Prospects in the States.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The weather during the past week was favorable for all growing crops in the Northwest, central valleys and New England, but the drought continues in the South Atlantic and East Gulf States, where the reports indicate that all crops are greatly in need of rain. Cotton and small fruits have been doubtless more or less injured. Insects are increasing rapidly and gloomy prospects are generally reported. The crop prospects have been greatly improved in the states of the Ohio valley by timely rain but some damage resulted to fruits in this section from frosts which occurred on May 23. Throughout the states of the corn and wheat belt the weather for the week improved the condition of the principal crops although frost caused some damage to early corn and vegetables in Minnesota. Excessive rains and cool weather over the Middle Atlantic States injuriously affected small fruits and tender vegetables but generally improved grass and grain.

She is prematurely deprived of her charms of face and form, and made unattractive by the wasting effects of ailments and irregularities peculiar to her sex. To check this drain upon, not only her strength and health, but upon her amiable qualities as well, is her first duty. This is safely and speedily accomplished by a course of self-treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a nervine and tonic of wonderful efficacy, and prepared especially for the alleviation of those suffering from "dragging-down" pains, sensations of nausea, and weakness incident to women—a boon to her sex Druggists.

DRINKING

ROYAL DANDELION COFFEE

Some drink because they are hungry,
And some because they're dry,
Some drink to keep them in good health,
And some that they may thrive.

Some drink because they are too hot,
And some because they're too cold,
Some drink to strengthen them when young,
And some when they are old.

Some drink to keep them wide awake,
And some that they may sleep,
Some drink because they merry are,
And some because they weep.

Some drink when they do money gain,
And some because of loss;
Some drink when they are pleased,
And some when they are cross.

Some drink when they are hard at work,
And some when they do play;
Some think it right to drink at night,
While others drink by day.

Some drink for sake of company,
While others drink on the sly;
And many drink but never think,
About the reason why.

Some say they drink for pleasure,
And some they drink for pain,
Some say 'tis good, some very bad,
But never once refrain.

Three Long Years in Bed with Spinal Disease.

Charles Cluthe, Esq., Toronto,

DEAR SIR—I wish to inform you how I am getting on. I am splendid now. I can walk any distance. I work all the time. My mother and I do all the housework for a large family. You know when you came to measure me I had to be held up, but after you put the instrument on I could walk through the house and the third day I could walk out. I feel that I can never thank you or say enough for you, when I think that for 3 long years I was a poor helpless girl, sometimes in bed for four months at the time and getting worse every day. Anyone wishing further particulars refer them to me. Thanking you once more, I remain your true friend, MATTIE GRAHAM, Peterborough.

Rupture.

DEAR SIR—I am only to inform you that the Scientific Truss you put on me last spring has been all I was recommended and more, as it has healed my Rupture, which I was troubled with for a long time, and not having been able to work on account of it; but on hearing of you, I came and had you adjust this Truss, which gave me great relief at once, as I was able to work at any kind of work. I would not part with it for ten times the price if I could not get another. For further proof send them to me.

MUNCASTER'S

As Night Follows Day.

By HON. MRS. FETHERSTONHAUGH.

Francis Eridon spoke as lightly as if no dark shadow were hanging over his life. Without a word they take their seats on Lady Maberley's own sofa.

From across the corridor the music of the band steals softly into the room.

As one of the most charming writers of the day has said: "There is an indescribable underlying pathos in dance music—everybody knows it; a heartache behind all the laughter, a weariness below all the rapid movement—a question, a doubt, a misgiving under all the radiance and joy."

Perhaps it was this feeling which caused a long unbroken silence to fall upon the pair now listening to the music's far off strains; but at last Francis Eridon turns towards his companion and says quietly:

"What was it you had to say to me, Janet? Forgive me for calling you by that name, but probably it is the last time on earth I shall ever so err, for it will be a long time ere I see old England again, and who knows what those years may bring forth?"

Miss Harding either will not or cannot answer. Her face is turned away, and he cannot see the unshed tears in her sad, gray eyes, nor can he note the piteous conflict of feeling visible on her face.

"I know you have little faith in me, Janet, but even now, when it has come to the last words between us, I do not regret that I told you the truth all through."

His companion makes a desperate effort to reply, but an inarticulate murmur is the only result—the words will not come!

"You were so true and honest yourself, dear, that some power stronger than my own constrained me to be the same, somehow, and I never thought you would not believe me! That hurt worst of all, I think."

A sudden and uncontrollable sob from Janet falls like a thunder clap on his ears.

"My dear child, for God's sake don't cry!" he exclaims anxiously. "It was no fault of yours, dear, and I'm ten times happier now that at least we part friends. We do do that, I think, don't we. Tell me—what was it you wished to say to me, Janet?"

There is an instant's silence, during which a proud woman's soul is fighting out a desperate fight—then Janet Harding's voice rings out clear and true:

"Will you marry me, Lord Francis, now?"

Petrified astonishment causes Francis Eridon to keep silence for quite half a minute. Can she mean it? Is it possible that she would marry him now, when absolute ruin is his portion? If she doubted his honesty of purpose before, how much more might she not doubt it now? No, it could be nothing but a girl's sentimental sympathy for a man to whom fate has dealt a hard blow.

"My dear," he says gravely and quietly, but the tremor in his voice shows how deeply he is moved, "I shall respect and honor you to my dying day for your brave, true womanliness, for I can realise what it cost you to say those words. But, my darling, I love you too well to accept what you offer me, for I know that it is prompted by sweet compassion alone, and I will not take that! My own, forgive me—though I feel as reckless as only a ruined man can feel, I have not sunk so low as to be a suitor for your charity, sweet and kindly though it be."

"But, Lord Francis, it is not charity, or compassion either." Here Miss Harding's cheeks blushed for her, but she goes on bravely: "It was all a mistake. Don't you see that it was not I who did not—not 'care' for you? It was you that I believed did not care for me!" The low voice trembles enough, but the clear, true eyes look him so frankly and confidingly in the face that Francis Eardon cannot choose but believe her.

"My darling!" is all he says, but his voice has so changed its tone that Miss Harding finds courage to lay one small hand on the arm nearest her, and to observe pathetically:

"You're not going to refuse me, Lord Francis, are you?"

"You are not going to refuse me, Lord Francis?"

Half an hour passes by with a rapidity unprecedented in both their lives—then a tardy sense of duty recalls them once more to the ballroom.

"You're making a very bad match, Janet," observes Francis Eridon sadly, looking at the radiant, diamond crowned vision standing before him. "So far as worldly possessions go, I'm not even worth as much as one of those magnificent diamond stars in your pretty hair. And as regards myself"——

"You are worth all the world to me," is the quiet, confident response of the woman who has chosen him, and him alone, from out all others on the face of this earth.

At the entrance to the ballroom they have to stand aside a minute, to make way for a party who are just leaving it; among the latter is Mrs. Fairfax.

"Good-by, Lord Francis," she gushes forth sweetly, "So sorry we shall not meet again. May I wish you better luck in another hemisphere—in every way!" she adds spitefully.

"It would scarcely prove better luck than has come to me in this one, Mrs. Fairfax!" laughs Francis Eridon gayly.

Something in his voice arouses the fair Lesra's interested curiosity, and she looks attentively at the pair before her, scrutinising their faces with a keen and searching look.

What she reads there scarcely seems to please her. Her thin lips grow strangely compressed, and her eyes take a look as cold and hard as a nether mill stone, but for all remark, she turns to the feeble young man who is escorting her, and in a voice, the suppressed fury of which makes him shake in his dancing shoes, says:

"Is that carriage never coming, Mr. Cony?"

"Now we'll exhibit our valse, Janet!" observes her future husband jestingly. "They've changed the time since we were last here, but I consider this one even more appropriate still."

"I hardly if well enough, but can't remember the name!"

"Miss Carb," whispers Lord Francis in her ear, with unmistakable earnestness of explanation.

"Oh! Francis," the name comes forth with a shy grace, "there's one more favor I have to ask of you, a very great one."

"Greater even than the last?" inquires Lord Francis, mischievously.

"May I—may we," the last pronoun is accompanied by a vivid, happy blush, "buy back Culloden from old Barnes? may we?"

"Of course. You shall have him for a park hack if you fancy it, child. But, Janet, seriously speaking, my gambling days are over once for all. I did not care what became of myself, but now life is going to be a different thing altogether!"

"I am very glad" answers Janet Harding in her clear, truthful tones.

"All the same, the horse shall come back to me, dear one, and have a good time for ever and aye—for perhaps we ourselves even do not know how powerful an arbiter of our destiny was that ill fated Culloden!"

The First Sign

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Texas.

Dyspepsia Cured.

It would be impossible for me to describe what I suffered from Indigestion and Headache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary relief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is completely restored.—Mary Harley, Springfield, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 238 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

West Stockwood Hospitality.

The firemen desire to publicly express their thanks for the hospitality extended them by Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Jamieson, after having extinguished the fire on Harvey street last night. The red-coated lads were taken in and handsomely entertained. This is what the boys deserve—substantial recognition of their valuable services. Of course it is not open to everybody to entertain the boys with refreshments, but everybody can afford to invest 15 cents to see the grand display of fireworks in the Cricket Grounds next Friday night. Be sure and patronize the fine display of our defenders from the "destroying element."

Lacrosse.

The Toronto papers to-day contain the following:—"The West Torontos played a drawn game in Peterborough with the Riverside Lacrosse Club, of that town, each club scoring two games. A fifth game was claimed by Peterborough, the ball having been put through the West Torontos' goal after time had been called, one of the Peterborough men having badly injured the point player of the West Torontos." Peterborough can certainly claim the match when it was awarded them by the referee. Time had not been called before the last goal was scored. No doubt the Torontos are anxious to find an excuse for their defeat, and so are prepared to dispute even the referee's decision.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The meeting for young men on Saturday evening was well attended and much interest manifested. The singing was hearty and addresses short and pointed.

Rev. Mr. Fotheringill of England delivered an excellent address at the "Gospel and Song service" last evening, which was much appreciated by the large number of young men present. The Y. M. C. A. Orchestra led the singing at both services. Next Sunday morning from 9.30 to 10.15 a.m. A Bible class for beginners will be held, conducted by the general secretary. It is hoped that a large number of our young men will avail themselves of this class by being present, which by the blessing of God will prove a great boon to all.

An Early Fire.

The rough-cast dwelling house on Harvey street owned by Mr. C. Sawers and occupied by Mr. John Preston, was partially destroyed by fire at two o'clock this morning. The building was saved in a damaged condition through the exertions of the fire brigade, which turned out promptly. Mr. Preston was in the house alone, his family being out of town, and when awakened by the smoke found his retreat by the stairs cut off by the flames. He had to jump from the upper window, and in so doing hurt his back and received other injuries. The household goods of Mr. Preston were almost entirely consumed. They were insured for $300 in the Ætna. The loss on the house will probably be covered by an insurance of $700 in the Royal.

A Narrow Escape.

Between ten and eleven o'clock this forenoon Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Mortimer and child had a narrow escape from drowning in Little Lake. They had gone down the river several miles Saturday evening to spend Sunday with some friends. They were returning home this forenoon and had just rounded the cemetery point in Little Lake when the accident occurred. Mr. Mortimer was preparing to take in the sail, the wind being a little too fresh, when the boat was struck by a squall and in an instant upset. Mr. Mortimer got his wife partly on top of the upturned boat and together they held up the little boy until assistance arrived. They were in the water fully ten minutes, shouting loudly all the while, and in a few minutes longer they must have inevitably perished, as the boat was sinking under them when succor arrived. Several canoes struck out from the shore, Mr. J. Carruth arriving first on the scene, Capt. McDonald and Jas. Young and Mr. Kelly, caretaker of the cemetery, being also soon on hand with a number of other parties. The rescued party was taken aboard the Golden-Eye, and from thence driven to their home. It is believed no more serious consequences will follow the accident, though the fright and long stay in the cold water might be considered serious enough.

Handsome Premises.

Messrs. Craig & Mooney can now lay claims to one of the finest places of business in town. Their premises at the corner of Brock and George streets have recently been improved and enlarged to meet the demands of their increasing trade, and a brief description of the alterations is not out of place in recognition of the push and enterprise of this young but progressive firm. The front of the shop has been completely transformed. The entrance is now on the corner, the whole George street front being composed of three large plate glasses, side by side, while on the Brock street side is another large light. Over the plate glasses are colored windows, which shed a rich glow upon the interior. Inside the floor has been cut down to the level of the sidewalk to a depth of about 15 feet. This gives one of the finest display windows in town. A whole drawing room suite can be shown at once. The stairs have been placed in the rear of the shop, leading to the large show-room above the size of the shop below. Both of these departments are stocked with a select supply of first-class furniture suitable for all requirements. The workshops are situated in the new brick addition, 25 feet square, which has been built in rear of the store. Altogether Messrs. Craig & Mooney have elegant and commodious premises of which they have reason to be proud. Their friends will wish them continued success. The improvements were made by Mr. John Barnham, the printer of the building, Mr. Wm. Langford having the contract.

Personal.

Mr. Harry Stock is confined to the house with a sprained knee, an injury received last Friday.

Miss White, Albert street, injured in a recent accident, after two or three days' amendment, last night suffered a change to a less favourable condition.

The Lindsay Post says:—Mrs. James Hanlon, of Iowa City, Iowa, is visiting her sister, Mrs. John O'Brien, of this town. Mrs. Hanlon left Peterborough forty years ago.

"The Cup that Cheers."

The poet Cowper, when singing, in the above strain, the praises of tea as a beverage, no doubt had a proper conception of the magnificent stock of teas to be found at the great specialty tea house of Hawley Bros., George street. The best and finest brands of every kind of tea grown are found at their store. And not only the best, but the cheapest; remember that. Buying in immense quantities, the firm gets better prices and is, therefore, able to give customers the best value in teas, coffees, spices, etc., to be got in the Midland district. dw

Sunday in the Churches.

Sermons to the Sons of England—Impressive Words Made to the Hero Saved Methodist Church, Ashburnham—Rev. Mr. Lewis, of Cobourg, at the George Street Church—Church Notes.

At St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, Sunday afternoon, Rev. W. G. Warren preached the annual sermon to the Sons of England Benevolent Society. About an even hundred of the local brethren from both Lansdowne and Peterborough lodges, and ten from Exeter lodge, Lakefield, marched in a body to the church, which was completely filled with the members of the Order and their friends.

Rev. Mr. Warren took for his text a part of the fifth and sixth verses of the fourth chapter of Deuteronomy. It was said one of the noblest attributes of man was his faculty for worship, and the members of the Order present were in the church for that purpose, by so doing perpetuating one of the grandest customs of their race. The reverend speaker referred to the progress of the Order in the last year particularly, during which time 21 new charters had been granted. The Society had increased both numerically and financially, and they were there to thank God for this increase of their prosperity, and to pray for a continuance of the same. A truth they should bear in mind was that everything depends upon God, and so the increase of their order was due to the divine blessing. The Society was one with several laudable objects, for instance, the mutual benefits of its members and the care of their widows and orphans; but the Society's principal object was of even greater importance to humanity at large than the others, for it speaks of a larger love that scarcely knows a limit, it speaks of reverence, virtue, liberty and everything that is good in the soul of man—they were united to perpetuate the name and glory of England. Patriotism was commendable, and the mere mention of the name of England suggested that great principle of personal liberty which she was the first to assert. These principles were found blended with the truest catholicity in the gospel, and England owed her greatness to her acceptance of the gospel of Jesus Christ. The speaker traced the growth of Christianity from its earliest introduction into England down to the present and concluded by saying that England had handed down these principles and this gospel to be cherished and perpetuated by her sons to-day. He urged his hearers to follow the example of their forefathers, be guided by the teachings of the holy book, and thereby receive a continuance of the blessings which had been showered upon England and her people in the past.

At the conclusion of the service the brethren returned to their lodge rooms, where votes of thanks were passed to Rev. Mr. Warren for his excellent society sermon, to the choir for their kind assistance, and to the church wardens for having placed the church at the disposal of the Order.

Next Thursday will be the feast of the Ascension of our Blessed Lord. At St. Peter's Cathedral there will be three masses, at 6, 8 and 10:30 a.m. At the eight o'clock mass the children will receive their first communion.

On Sunday evening next, June 2nd, there will be a musical praise service in the George Street Methodist Church. The choir of the church have been diligently rehearsing a number of anthems, etc., for that purpose.

At Charlotte street church yesterday Rev. Mr. Shorey intimated that the religious services on Sunday evenings at the North Monaghan Grange Hall, Methodist mission, would be resumed, under the auspices of the church, the services to be conducted by members of the Laymen's Association as previously done.

The Mark street Methodist church has, during the past week, been greatly improved. The choir and organist now sit behind the minister on an elevated dais around which a small curtain is suspended from a semi-circular rod. The pulpit platform has been rounded off and set out further from the wall, a front seat being taken away to make room for it, and a handsome new pulpit has been erected. A sofa has been placed behind the pulpit. The high wainscotting on the wall behind the choir has been tastefully draped with red cloth. The side seats have also been re-arranged and placed at an angle admitting of the occupants more directly facing the pulpit. New carpets have been spread, and when the finishing touches are made the Mark street church will have been vastly improved. The high partition at the entrance of the church has also been pulled down.

"Divine Healing."

"Personal Experience Supporting the Testimony" Rev. Canon Wilberforce's Testimony in Regard to "Divine Healing"—He Has "No Shadow of a Doubt He was Healed by the Lord's Blessing Upon His Own Word"—A Copy of His Letter.

In view of the visit of the delegates of the Christian Alliance to Peterborough to-morrow, the subjoined letter from Rev. Canon Wilberforce will be read with interest. The following is taken from the Hampshire Independent of May 4th:

"A contributor to the Birmingham Gazette who wrote to Canon Wilberforce respecting his reported 'cure by faith,' has received the following reply:—

THE DEANERY, Southampton,
April 26, 1889.

MY DEAR SIR,—I cannot reply to your letter as you ask me, "in one line." I have no shadow of doubt that I was healed by the Lord's blessing upon His own word recorded in St. James v., 15, 16, but, as in so many cases, there was sufficient margin of time and possibility of change of tissue between the anointing and the recovery to justify the sceptic in disconnecting the two, and therefore my experience has been of more value in strengthening my own faith than in the direction of public testimony.

I can only say that my internal ailment was of such a nature that leading surgeons declared it to be incurable except at the cost of a severe operation, which leading physicians thought me unable at the time to endure with safety.

While endeavouring at the seaside to gain strength for the operation, the passage (St. James v., 15, 16) was impressed with indescribable force upon my mind. I resisted it, and reasoned with myself against it for two months. I even came up to London, and retired in a house near the eminent surgeon that I might undergo the operation, but the spiritual pressure increased until at last I sent for elders, men of God, full of faith, by whom I was prayed over and anointed, and in a few weeks the internal ailment passed entirely away. "This was the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in mine eyes."

I am, faithfully yours,
BASIL WILBERFORCE.

"The Daily Telegraph has a leading article on the above, in the course of which it remarks that 'Faith-healing,' attested by a Canon of the Church of England, is a somewhat startling phenomenon; yet the story told by Canon Wilberforce is clear enough. The passage to which he refers is that on which this 'Primitive people' build their refusal to call in medical aid for themselves or their wives or children, even at the last extremity. It runs: "Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the Church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil, in the name of the Lord. And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up." Nothing could be more conclusive, and yet, excepting in the case of the 'Primitive people' and Canon Wilberforce, this ordinance is entirely neglected by the great body of Christians."

The prevalence of scrofulous taint in the blood is much more universal than many are aware. Indeed, but few persons are free from it. Fortunately, however, we have in Ayer's Sarsaparilla the most potent remedy ever discovered for this terrible affliction.

SENATOR RYAN DEAD.

One of the Oldest Members of the Canadian Parliament Passes Away.

MONTREAL, May 26.—Hon. Thomas Ryan, Senator for the Victoria division of this province, died this morning, after a protracted illness, at his residence in this city.

Mr. Ryan was one of the oldest members of the Canadian Senate, having been appointed in 1867, when a movement existed in Montreal in favor of annexation to the United States. He was one of the leaders in this movement, and was elected to the Legislative Council for the old Province of Canada for Victoria division, one of the constituencies of the county of Montreal. He was afterwards appointed a member of the Senate of Canada by Royal proclamation. Mr. Ryan was also chosen chairman of the Canadian representatives at the Detroit reciprocity convention of the same year. Another prominent part of his life was his election as a director of the Bank of Montreal, a post he held for a number of years. In 1887 he was called to the newly constituted Senate of Canada by Royal proclamation. Mr. Ryan in social and family relations was a cherished and esteemed gentleman, kindly in his nature and generally regarded by his intimate friends. The weight of years had lately told on his strength and he was unable to be responsible for him to give that attention to public and private business that had been his wont.

Mr. Ryan was born at Castlehill, county Kildare, Ireland, on Aug. 21, 1794. He was educated at Clongowes College. In 1871 he married Esther Willington, daughter of Mr. C. W. F. De Montmorenci, grand-daughter of the late Baron de Longueuil, and widow of the late Oliver Perrault de Linere. He was a lieutenant-colonel in the reserve militia and for some time a Catholic school commissioner and a member of the Council of Public Instruction.]

LONDON, May 25.—Sir Charles Tupper reached London to-day and attended the Colonial Secretary's Queen's Birthday dinner. Yet another phosphate company's prospectus will be issued next week, namely, the Emerald Central Lake and Lievre District Phosphate Company. The business men are to be commended for their efforts in endeavoring to have the front street watered and they should be assisted in a pecuniary way. It is likely the council will be asked to assist pay the expense.

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call.

AT TURNBULL'S

The heavy spring trade is on us. Every day from this out we shall be kept busy in supplying the needs of our old and new customers.

Scarcely a day passes but we receive packages of New Goods especially in Millinery and Millinery Trimmings. New Shades taking the place of those bought earlier and at lower prices. To keep posted in what is being shown, you need to visit our establishment weekly.

Like an opening rose, our Dress Goods and Trimmings show new beauty at every sight. The colors blend together so perfectly—moss sage and nile green still hold in favor. Terra Cotta, Blue Greys, Dove and Resida Shades are as much sought after as ever. In our Black Stock department we are showing a new voile of Cloth, fine light and durable—just the dress for an old lady. Much nicer than nuns' veilings.

It needs to be repeated and remembered that in all goods and most emphatically in Cotton Goods we keep a most complete stock. Where will you find the variety of cottonades, shirtings, tickings, &c., you find with us. Not less than 60 different patterns of Shirtings,—all prices, as low as the lowest.

At the Ribbon Counter you are almost always sure to find exactly what you want for dress and millinery use.

Our stock of Neck Frillings is very choice, being different to what is usually shown. We import them from a different market.

When house cleaning you may require a new Carpet. We show a beautiful Tapestry at 50c. Lower and higher qualities according to good value.

The rush is on us in our Tailoring department. Our stock of Tweeds and Worsteds please the eye and pocket of our patrons. Best satisfaction in a fit if always given.

THE TORONTO BUDGET.
COMEDIAN STOWE SENT TO JAIL FOR 60 DAYS.

Toronto University Passing Around the Degree of LL.D.—Harry Algoss Receives a Severe Sentence.

TORONTO, May 28.—Thos. Gerrings, an assistant bookkeeper at Smith & Keighley's warehouse, died suddenly yesterday morning at 8.30 in the office of that establishment. He walked down to business and seemed in excellent spirits. His death was due to the bursting of a blood vessel. The deceased was about 36 years of age and leaves a widow. His friends are in London, Eng.
The Civil Assizes open on June 10, and the Criminal on June 3, Mr. Justice McMahon presiding.
A charge of indecently assaulting an 11-year-old girl is laid against Alexander Laing of 265 King-street east.
Albert Robson, 60 Strachan-avenue, broke one of the bones of his leg in jumping a fence at the Woodbine. He was removed to the Hospital.
A policeman found a man lying unconscious on the sidewalk in Beverley-street, near Grange-avenue, and took charge of him. From papers found in his possession he was identified as Samuel McBurney, a prominent and wealthy citizen, living at 66 Beverley-street. A physician pronounced him as suffering from epilepsy. All day yesterday Mr. McBurney remained in a comatose state, and his condition is unchanged, fears being entertained that he may not recover.
The anti-poverty champion (ex-Priest Dr. McGlynn), is engaged to lecture in Toronto next week.
The strike of the plasterers' laborers is almost over. Two more of the firms of employers agreed to the men's demands yesterday. Only ten firms are still holding out, and not more than forty men are now on strike.
Henry Algoss, the smart young man arrested at Hamilton for trying the confidence fraud here and elsewhere, and who pleaded guilty to the charge, was sent to the penitentiary for 5 years by Judge Morgan yesterday.
Michael Greaney, for assaulting a constable at West Toronto Junction, was sent to the Central Prison for 18 months.
At the Police Court yesterday Edward Stowe, the young comedian who fired off a revolver at Manager William S. Cleveland of the Haverly Minstrel Company, in the Grand Opera House entrance on Friday evening, was up for trial. Mr. Cleveland stated that Stowe came up in the entrance and wanted to talk with him, asking him to look at a letter he held in his hand. Witness replied, "Ed, this is no time for you to be in the front of the house; you ought to be on the stage now; go back and I'll talk to you after the performance." Stowe persisted and commenced to swear, so prosecutor went into the theatre to see if there was a policeman. Stowe followed and fired off the revolver at him. In cross-examination, Mr. Cleveland stated that the revolver was stage property and usually loaded with blank cartridges. It was fired off in one of the acts by three members of the company, of whom Stowe was one. Stowe made a statement in his own defence, stating that he was a little late for the evening performance owing to the difficulty he had in procuring cartridges. The trouble was caused by a letter he had just received stating that his brother had died in Chicago. Several telegrams had been sent him to different places, and he believed that Mr. Cleveland had opened them and had not told him about them. He asked Mr. Cleveland to read the letter and on his refusing he had lost his temper. He intended scaring him with the revolver but it went off in his hand. The Magistrate imposed a sentence of 60 days' hard labor in jail without the option of a fine.
Ald. Dodds stated yesterday at a civic committee meeting that people were negotiating with the Government to buy the old parliament buildings site and the Lieutenant-Governor's grounds in order to erect thereon a monster hotel.

THE REMOVAL OF CRONIN.
DETECTIVE COUGHLIN CHARGED WITH THE [illegible]

Yesterday's Developments in the Chinese Mystery—A Strong Array of Evidence Against McGeehan.

NEW YORK, May 27.—A Chicago despatch to The Sun states that the police have been put in possession of startling facts concerning Dr. Cronin's murder. It has been clearly shown up the dead man's friends that his removal was ordered by a committee representing the Clan-Na-Gael Society. Charges of traitorous conduct were preferred against him at a meeting of the Clan-Na-Gael camp. He was found guilty and his death was ordered. The charge was based on the statement of the British spy LeCaron that there were four more spies in America. When LeCaron made that statement on the stand before the Parnell Commission he was ordered to give the names of the spies. He said he dared not do it, because if they were known they would be murdered. Justice Hannen then took him into an ante-room, and in the presence of Sir Richard Webster Le Caron gave the names.
Within 48 hours after this news was cabled from London, nearly every Clan-Na-Gael Camp in America had met and passed resolutions declaring in favor of a rigid hunt for the four spies. Suspicion, justly or unjustly, was pointed to Dr. Cronin. A committee was appointed to try him. He was convicted without having a chance to make a defence, and his assassins were brought here from other cities to carry out the mandate of the committee. The latter were chosen by secret ballot. Positively nothing is known of the evidence that was produced to bring about the conviction, but it is said on the best authority that it was furnished by men who were unfriendly to Dr. Cronin. It consisted of telegrams, letters and affidavits. It seemed almost overwhelming, and Cronin was declared a traitor. His death was ordered under the clause in the Clan-Na-Gael bylaws which says that a man can be "removed" for traitorous conduct. The word "removed" simply means death.
It is asserted that the murderous conspiracy would not have ended with Dr. Cronin's death had not his mutilated body been found. There were other Irishmen on the condemned list and they would all have shared Cronin's fate had the chance to dispose of them safely arisen. It is asserted that W. J. Hynes, the well-known attorney, Father Gleason, Captain J. P. O'Connor, John Devoy and two others had been tried, convicted and their death sentence signed.

The Evidence Against McGeehan.

CHICAGO, May 27.—The police claim that the chain of circumstantial evidence tending to show that McGeehan was concerned in the assassination of Dr. Cronin is tightening around him. The real estate agent who leased the room in Clark-street opposite Cronin's office to-day identified him as the man who rented it. The police say McGeehan was missing from his room in McCoy's Hotel on the night of the murder, and it was because he could give no satisfactory account of himself on that night that he was arrested. T. T. Conklin informed the detectives that Cronin had been warned by friends that McGeehan had sold three or four people that he was going to remove Cronin.
Harry Jordan, a man who came from Philadelphia some time ago and who is said to have been an intimate friend of McGeehan's, has been arrested to be held as a witness.

Coughlin Committed for Murder.

CHICAGO, May 27.—To-night an examination by a justice was held at the police station where Detective Daniel Coughlin was confined. Afterwards the magistrate ordered a commitment and Coughlin was taken to the county jail. The warrant was sworn out by John Cronin, brother of the dead doctor. Coughlin is charged directly with the murder.
Luke Dillon, who came here from Philadelphia to assist in finding out the murderers of Dr. Cronin, says he has received a telegram saying the Clan-na-Gael of Philadelphia have sent him $1000 to forward the work.
The report that McGeehan was identified as the man who rented a room opposite Dr. Cronin's office is denied. The few people who saw the man who hired the horse at Dinan's livery stable and drove Cronin to his doom are so uncertain in their descriptions that his identification is very doubtful. Extraordinary efforts have been made, it is said, to get a statement from Coughlin. It is asserted that Coughlin has not been allowed to see his lawyer nor even his wife. King, who was arrested last night on the strength of Woodruff's story, was released to-day. It is announced that the police believe King is all right. Leverymas Dinan and Frank Scanlon, a friend of Cronin, both saw the man who drove Cronin away and they say Peter McGeehan, who has been arrested, was not the man.
Captain Schaack and Lieut. Wing conferred for several hours this afternoon. Capt. Schaack afterwards announced that the police had P. O. Sullivan, the ice man, under arrest. Sullivan was at the conference for a few minutes. Detectives and Jeanie Mahoney who introduced Sullivan to Cronin were examined at the conference.

Cronin a Ladies' Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—A statement which may possibly throw light on the Cronin mystery at Chicago is furnished by Professor A. C. Elmer, organist at the Jewish Temple Emanu-El and St. Mary's Catholic Cathedral, in this city. When Cronin reached St. Louis from Canada in 1880 Professor Elmer gave him a position in the choir, and for ten years the two men were very intimate. Professor Elmer said in an interview yesterday:
"Cronin had a wonderful tenor voice. I think his murder was due less to politics than to his relations with women. He was a ladies' man. When in St. Louis he frequently told me he feared death at the hands of people who were jealous of him. He told me stories which he said would serve as a clue to his fate in case he should mysteriously disappear. Those stories related to women, not to Irish politics."

Mr. Hynes complains that while reporting a meeting of the Orangemen at Whitehall Saturday there was a rush by the crowd and he was unmercifully pushed against the Duke of Cambridge. The Duke caught him by the shoulders and with his assistant, Miss Robinson, both held of him and handed him about and caused him to bump against the railings, which they are pointed. BELGRADE, May 27.—Serious rioting took place yesterday. Last night a mob of anti-Progressists attacked the house of ex-Premier Garashanine and smashed the windows and doors with stones. The crowd then visited several club houses and printing offices of the Progressists and demolished everything upon which they could lay their hands. The gendarmes were powerless and the regular troops were called out. The soldiers charged, killing three rioters and wounding a number of others. The excitement to-day is intense and it is feared the rioting will be renewed.

PROTESTANTS AT OTTAWA.
Principal MacVicar and Others Address the Open Meeting.

OTTAWA, May 27.—An open meeting of Protestants of all denominations was held in the Grand Opera House this evening. Despite the rain the house was densely packed. Alderman Henderson occupied the chair. On rising after prayer he read this telegram from L. H. Dawson of Montreal:
"Meeting now in session here wishes you success in the struggle for constitutional rights, one law for all Canadian citizens and no state endowments for any church."
Rev. Principal MacVicar of Montreal, who was on this cordially received, referred to the significant fact of this meeting coming so close on Her Majesty's birthday. Canada was a portion of Her Majesty's domain and the question now before the people was who is to rule this Dominion—Her Majesty the Queen or a foreign alien potentate?
Rev. Hugh Johnston, D.D., said that it had been said as ministers they had no right to step down from their height and take part in this agitation. What! The Jesuits — the Roman Catholics—can go on from day to day, dictate to even the Parliament of Canada and must we as Protestants be silent? He for one was going to divest himself of his clerical calling and as a man—a free man—be meant to speak, and yes and if necessary fight, for our civil and religious equality.
Rev. Dr. Moore made a few remarks and Hon. William MacDougall said that he was quite positive as to the illegality of the act.
Resolutions denouncing the Jesuits Estates Act and appointing a citizens' committee were adopted.

REPENTANCE AFTER DEATH.
Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott Believes There is No Limit to God's Mercy.

BROOKLYN, May 27.—That part of the Presbyterian creed in which it is declared that God has forewritten a certain part of the human race to eternal life and the rest to eternal damnation was read by Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott yesterday morning in Plymouth Church, and was made the text of the most notable sermon Dr. Abbott has delivered since he became the successor of Henry Ward Beecher. The sermon was remarkable as containing an outspoken declaration from an eminent Congregational clergyman, and the editor of Christian Union, of a belief in the possibility of repentance after death. God's mercy is not subject to any limitation of time, said Dr. Abbott. He found nothing in the Bible to lead him to believe that the offer of divine mercy was limited to a man's lifetime. If he had found these doctrines in the gospel, it could have been no gospel to him. God's mercy is eternal. If in the far recesses of eternity some wretched beings have forgotten God, it will not be because the door of His mercy is not wide open.

It soon burned down the hotel and six other houses and stables near by, and then in succession burned to the ground the Pioneer hotel, Layfayette house, Pollard house and the Pyramid house. The N. and C. depot was partly consumed. On Center-street the fire broke out again and destroyed five business houses and ten residences. In one block every building except one is in ashes. Fire in another direction burned the roundhouse and turn-table of the Central Pacific railway company, two houses and one cement house. The Silver State flour mills were next consumed, and after that Sagar's flour mills. The loss will probably be between $200,000 and $300,000. Insurance about $125,000.

The Jesuits' Doctrines.

Rev. Mr. Chiniquy's Lecture in St. Andrew's Church—His Exile of the Teachings of the Jesuits—Another Address To-night.

St. Andrew's church was only about half filled last night, when Rev. Mr. Chiniquy delivered a lecture on the subject of Jesuitism. Mr. John Carnegie presided, and there were on the platform Rev. Messrs. Bell, Parker and Davis and Mr. J. J. Hartley.

After the opening services and a few remarks from the chairman, Rev. Mr. Chiniquy began his address. After dwelling at some length upon the fall of Eve in the garden through the advice of the serpent, the speaker said the same thing occurred in later days, when, after the period of light which followed the advent of Jesus upon earth, the serpent, in the form of the Pope of Rome, tended to destroy the teachings of Christ, to give the lie to Christ himself, who said he would not give his church into any human hands but would send his holy ghost to rule over it. The Pope says that he is the successor of St. Peter, who he claims was appointed the corner-stone of the church. Then, said the speaker, we see the sentence which were given the light shooting their eyes and care to the teachings of Christ and accepting the false and diabolical doctrines of the Pope. Christ told his people to read the Bible; the Pope says to them, do not read it. The result was that the whole world fell into the hands of Satan. The true church was concealed by the mountain of sin and dirt which the Pope heaped up over it. Then many apostles arose. Luther, Knox, Calvin and many others, and their voices were heard throughout the world, preaching the truth. Nothing could resist the power of these grand men, and they roll away the mountain and then the church of Christ comes out beautiful and bright as the stars of heaven. The truth spreads rapidly, and everyone hopes that the great day when God, King of Kings, shall come to reign over us, is close at hand. Suddenly these lights are put out, said the speaker, and in the shape of Jesuitism; and to that society the devil gives a power which is terrible and irresistible. The reign of Jesus does not come because the Jesuits are here to fight it. But when they cannot stop the spread of the gospel by their own doctrines they draw the sword. They get the Pope to issue the diabolical decree which says that anyone who reads his Bible and does not submit to the Pope shall die. Wherever a Protestant is found he is put to death. In England, France, Germany, Spain and other countries persecution does bloody work, and in France in a single night was seen the slaughter of 75,000 Protestants. Rev. Mr. Chiniquy here read extracts from a book published by himself, containing the laws passed at the request of the Jesuits, which said that a man in the presence of the Pope or priest must be as a corpse, without intelligence or will—a doctrine completely in opposition to the teaching of Christ. They say the Pope is to be God, the Light and the intelligence of the people. One of their teachings is that it is no sin for a young man, the son of a rich parent, to wish his father dead if it is only in order to gain his heritage. They say also, the speaker said, that it is not wrong for a Catholic to kill a Protestant; and if a man, who witnessed a murder committed by his friend and wished to shield him, was brought into the witness box and asked if he saw there, by moving his foot found resting it on a new place, can say no, he was not there—and it would be perfectly justifiable according to the Jesuit's doctrines. It was for these reasons that the Jesuits were turned out of every country they ever existed in, because they were enemies to public morality and to the state. "And these are the men to-day," said Mr. Chiniquy, "into whose hands your country has been betrayed by the men put down to Ottawa to rule Canada. These were the men, he said, to whom their representatives had given $400,000 in order to quash their doctrines. Mr. Chiniquy said he would not go into detail as regarded the teachings of the Jesuits—they were of such a character they were not fit to be spoken of. But the fact was, he said, the

were to-day ruling the people of Canada; the Queen had lost her power and the parliament paid not any what was to be done with their money. Friends, he urged, for God's sake open your eyes. He did not wish them to attack the Jesuits and the Roman Catholic Church with the sword; but if they did not destroy the church it would surely destroy them. Mr. Chiniquy said he saw in a Quebec paper last Saturday that one of the principal priests had stated that the great object of the Jesuits was to form a strong French Catholic nation in Canada. But the French Canadians of Quebec were tired of Jesuit rule and were leaving the country in large numbers. The result was the Jesuits could not carry out their plans with the people here, but they say publicly they will go to France and England and bring over enough French Catholics to rule Canada. The church must be destroyed, not by the sword, but by converting the Roman Catholics. God had given the people of Ontario a great nation, that of giving the gospel to the Catholics of Quebec, and Mr. Chiniquy appealed to Protestants to give him money to carry on the work of evangelization. He hoped and prayed that the would be educated Christians in the gospel and they would then carry this blessing among their own people. Mr. Chiniquy said he had given over $30,000 of his own means to this work and that his blood in its behalf, and he urged Protestants to respond to the call to duty. He offered for sale a book written by himself, containing, as he stated, a complete expose of the Jesuits' doctrines and the treachery of the Roman Catholic church, published by himself while a priest. From this book they would fully understand what the Jesuits are. It was the Jesuits, he said, who brought the church to declare that the Pope was infallible as God himself. He also preached a sermon of small orders, which he said were the gods of the Roman Catholics. He gave one away with each book.

The meeting was brought to a close by the pronunciation of the benediction by Rev. Mr. Bell.

To-night Rev. Mr. Chiniquy lectures in St. Paul's Church. Mr. Robt. Wale will be chairman. The speaker will be escorted to the church by a procession of True Blues of the town, headed by the fife and drum band.

A DEACON'S ELOPEMENT.

He Skips Out With a Pretty Young Lady Boarder and Decides to Remain.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 27.—Canada has offered refuge for another astonishing citizen of the great Republic. This time it is a highly respectable citizen of advanced age, a deacon of the Congregational Church, and his pretty, but unscrupulous lady boarder. Widower and spring have gone off together, to the scandal of the entire good State of Connecticut. Deacon Asher P. Smith resided in Litchman, and did the largest general produce business in the State, his daily receipts of fowl averaging from four to five hundred. He is the father of a large family, and is also a grandfather, being 70 years of age. He is a brother of the noted Reuben P. Smith of The Century Magazine Company, New York, a millionaire.

Deacon Smith two years ago took into his employ, as assistant cashier, Miss Josephine King, a pretty brunette, aged 21 years. She proved a bewitching cash, an excellent hand at figures, that she was made confidential bookkeeper. Their relations soon began to attract attention. Miss King's people were most respectable, but she seemed determined to completely captivate her aged employer, and succeeded. They were finally discovered in a rather embarrassing situation, which led to the pair taking flight to avoid ridicule. Mr. Smith called in all the paper he could, mortgaged everything, and, after borrowing a large sum, started a few days since for Montreal, in the vicinity of which he and his paramour are now located. He took away with him a large sum of money, the extent of which has not yet been discovered. His son has assumed charge of the deserted business and promises all the victimized creditors full settlement with interest inside a year. Deacon Smith's action has nearly broken his old wife's heart.

PORT HURON, Mich., May 27.—Albert Martin, the assassin who so brutally outraged Mrs. John Gillis, the wife of a farmer living near the city, about two weeks ago, was taken from the county jail about 2 o'clock this morning by a masked mob and lynched.

The doors of the corridor were beaten in with sledge-hammers, a rope put about Martin's neck and he was dragged along the street to the bridge and swung off. He was probably killed by the terrible injuries received while his body was being hauled over the pavements.

There have been no arrests.

DEADWOOD, Ills., May 27.—In response to an appeal by the Sheriff, Governor Pitcher has authorized the Illinois National Guard to protect property and persons endangered by the riot here. Adjutant-General Vance ordered a regiment to the sheriff's aid. About 500 marines from adjoining mining villages, armed with guns and revolvers, marched to the J shaft here this afternoon. About 15 employes were marched away at the end of the strikers' guns. The mob then filled the shaft with pit cars and debris and wrecked things generally. They finally left saying they would return and burn the shaft. Serious times are expected.

Three Long Years in Bed with Spinal Disease.

Charles Cluthe, Esq., Toronto.

DEAR SIR—I wish to inform you how I am getting on. I am splendid now. I can walk any distance. I work all the time. My mother and I do all the housework for a large family. You know when you came to measure me I had to be held up, but after you put the instrument on I could walk through the house and the third day I could walk out. I feel that I can never thank you or say enough for you. When I think that for 3 long years I was a poor helpless girl, sometimes in bed for four months at the time and getting worse every day. Anyone wishing further particulars refer them to me. Thanking you once more, I remain Your true friend, MATTIE GRAHAM, Peterborough.

Rupture.

DEAR SIR—I am only to inform you that the Scientific Truss you put on me last spring has taken all I was recommended and more, as it has healed my Rupture, which I was troubled with for a long time, and not having been able to work on account of it; but on hearing of you, I came and had you adjust this Truss, which gave me great relief at once, so I was able to work at any kind of work. I would not part with it for ten times the price if I could not get another. For further proof send them to me.

I remain, yours truly,
ALEXANDER BUCKMAN,

MUNCASTER'S

The Johnstown Stage.

By ROBERT HOWE FLETCHER.

City of Rocks was losing its sharp outlines in the radiating heat of a July afternoon. The unbroken, gray sage brush plain surrounding it had already lost its one outline, the horizon, and now merged itself in the distance of its own dustiness. The void between giant plain and glaring sky was filled with hot silence. It was the silence of solitude undisturbed by humanity: for the only human habitation in the City of Rocks was the stage station, and that, in its square, uncompromising adaptation to its uses, seemed lonelier than the rough, but sometimes beautiful, and always fantastic, stone formations around it.

The Johnstown stage was due at City of Rocks at 5 o'clock. About that hour a man in a flannel shirt, dirty soldier trousers tucked in his boots and a slouch hat on the back of his bronzed, bearded, unkempt head, materialized in the obscurity of the doorway of the station house, and shading his eyes with his hand, looked down the road. As he stood there, a cloud of dust became visible in the distance. It floated and wavered nearer and nearer, until the creaking and jingling of dry wood, leather and metal, and the pounding of hoofs, were heard. Then, as the cloud approached the station, an apparition of two horses and a stage coach was seen within it. The cloud stopped in front of the house, the dust settled, and the coach, coated inside and out with the white powder, was disclosed. The driver, looking like a miller, laid his whip on the roof and prepared to descend. The station keeper, who, meanwhile, had stepped out into the road and silently commenced to unhook the traces, looked up for the first time. The next moment he dropped the trace with an exclamation of wonder, while his hand slowly but instinctively sought the revolver which hung in a belt loosely about his hips. For a few seconds he scrutinized the face of the man who was swinging himself down from the box, and then his look of surprise changed to one of recognition, his hand relaxed its hold on the pistol, and he said heartily, "Well, I'll be darned! Lieutenant, is that you? Why, what's come of Jim?"

"He was taken sick down by Shotgun creek and had to lay off at the milk ranch," said the man addressed, taking off his hat and beating out the dust against his leg. He was tall and broad shouldered, but slender, and was dressed in the same manner as the station keeper, even to the revolver, which hung about his hips. His voice and bearing, however, the only characteristics unaffected by the dust, betrayed a difference between them.

"Sick, nothing!" exclaimed the hostler, in a tone of disgust, taking out the straw which he held between his teeth and throwing it energetically on the ground. "That fellow's all'ays sick! I'm durned if I don't b'lieve he's weakened sence Whistling Dick jumped his stage last month! He's yeard that the paymaster's sending his money up by express this trip to pay off the boys at the fort, and he's afeared he'll git jumped agin, durn him! That's w'at's the matter. It leaves me in a purty fix!" he continued. "Frank's out after stock, and there's no one yere but me. Who's goin' to take the stage on?"

"I'll take it on as far as Pack City, if you like," said the lieutenant. "The old man will find some one there to take Jim's place easy enough."

The station keeper, without replying, mechanically resumed his duties of taking out the horses, and watched them meditatively as they walked slowly off to the stables. Then finally turning to the lieutenant, with the air of one whose mind is made up, he said: "By thunder, I guess that's the only thing we kin do. I can't leave yere. I wouldn't have a head of stock left by the time I got back. Them damned Injuns is gittin' worse and worse, not to mention the hoss thieves and rode agents that's gittin' thicker'n fleas on a dog's back. It's sort o' crowdin' you, though, lieutenant, and I don't know what the old man'll say."

"He won't say thank you, at any rate," said the lieutenant.

"You kin gamble on that," said the hostler, approvingly. "Who's this Johnny-come-lately?" he added, as a passenger from the inside of the stage stepped toward them.

"I am said Mr—was a stock man," said the lieutenant; "he's billed for Pack City."

"Jim!" growled the hostler, contemptuously. "Jim's a stranger himself in these parts. How should he know?"

And when the traveler, an elderly man, joined them with a sociable remark that "it was purty tol'able warm," the hostler vented his wor— on Jim by ignoring him altogether and continuing his talk with the lieutenant about way bills, express, mail and other stage matters. But the passenger, appearing in no wise affected by this lack of cordiality, held his ground, and, if he did not join in the conversation, listened to it so persistently that the hostler finally turned to him and said, rather sarcastically, "Stranger, is there anything I can do for you?"

"Well, no, pard," replied the traveler, good humoredly, "there's nothin' you kin do for me; but I reckon you kin do somethin' for that lady inside; she's petered plumb out and the kid's yelling like all possessed."

At this the amateur driver walked over to the stage door and looked in. There was the usual litter of mail bags and small handles and smell of dust and leather. Addressing the woman, who, in a long linen duster and with a veil over her face, reclined limply in one corner, half holding a crying baby, the lieutenant said, "Supper station, madam."

This announcement producing no reply, he repeated it in a louder tone. The baby's cry was an added force to the baby's cries.

"I reckon she's fainted," said the other passenger, appearing at his elbow with a cup of water, "try this yere."

The lieutenant got inside, followed by the old man, to whom he unceremoniously handed the baby. Taking out his pocket flask he mixed a little whisky and water, and pushing the veil up from off the unconscious mouth, he succeeded in partially reviving the exhausted woman. "Now, then," he said, in an authoritative tone, "you must come outside in the open air, and wash your face and hands; that will brace you up quicker than anything. Then when you have had some dinner you will be all right. We haven't much time," he added.

The woman obediently arose, but, cramped and worn out by the long day's ride, had to be assisted to the ground. She succeeded in walking over to the water trough and sitting down on its edge, while the men led the baby. The lieutenant handed her a basin and towel, and left her to her toilet. Presently he returned and said, "Supper is ready."

"Thank you, I don't want any supper," was the reply.

As he heard her speak for the first time, the lieutenant looked at the shrouded form with surprise. The voice was low and trained, the voice of a gentlewoman. He greeted him with a cry!

suggestion of perfumed lace and six button kid gloves, of waltz music, yachting and low murmured words in dim conservatories. The recollection of the fried pork and beans awaiting them in the station, however, brought his mind back to the subject.

"I beg your pardon," he said, "but you must eat something. You can't stage all day without eating."

Her back was turned toward him as she sat dabbling her hand in the water for the amusement of the baby, and he went around and stood in front of her to emphasize his remark. Her veil was still down, and she did not raise her head as she replied, in the even tones of a superior addressing an over zealous inferior. "You are very kind, but I don't want anything."

The lieutenant was rather nettled at this; but, nevertheless, persisted. His interest was awakened. Besides, it would be very inconvenient to have her faint on the road. "I hope you won't think me obtrusive," he said, modulating his tone respectfully, "but you must have something. If you would prefer it, I will bring it out here."

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, became greatly debilitated, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. HAIR MAGIC.

The equal of this great preparation is yet to be found. It is an unfailing Restorer for gray hair—it stops all falling out of the hair—it removes all dandruff and keeps the scalp clean. On bald heads (if there are but the faintest traces of roots) the Magic will produce a fine growth. Will you try it? Or will you let your hair go, and become prematurely old? What do you say? All druggists everywhere have it for sale. Ask for it. Don't let the druggist tell you he has something just as good—many have dead stock of other hair tonics on hand and try to shove them off in this way. See that each bottle bears seal and signature

A Suspected and Horse-Thief Arrested.

This forenoon Chief Reazel arrested a man who gave his name as C. A. Gallagher, of Toronto. He was very drunk, but the Chief wanted him not for imbibing too freely but on a charge of stealing a horse and buggy. The 12th of May last the Chief received a telegram from Tecumseh, asking him to look out for a man who called himself Burke, who was wanted for larceny. A description of the man and the horse and buggy was given. Last Friday Gallagher, as he calls himself, arrived in town with a horse and buggy, which he sold yesterday to Mr. John Halpin, blacksmith, for $60. Mr. Halpin gave him $6 cash and a note for the balance. Chief Reazel now has suspected Gallagher was the man wanted in Tecumseh, as he answered the description in the message and the horse and buggy exactly corresponded with the description of the stolen articles. He was arrested about noon and is now locked up, awaiting the arrival of Constable Farquharson of Tecumseh, who will arrive on the 5:40 train to-night.

Cardiff Baptist Church.

On Tuesday afternoon and evening of last week a deputation of ministers and laymen of the Baptist churches of Peterborough, Lakefield, Smith, Warsaw and Norwood were in Cardiff township to re-organize the Baptist church organized there and to set apart to the ministry of the church Mr. E. W. Roughley. These gentlemen left Peterborough on Monday morning at 4.30 and arrived at Pradeah Lake on Tuesday morning at 12 o'clock. The services they attended were at the head of the lake. Rev. Messrs. P. Clifton Parker, J. B. Huff and W. Pear, with Mr. T. J. Burnett, Lakefield, took the chief part in the ceremonies. The church was re-organized under the name of the Cardiff Baptist church, and will consist of four different congregations. Rev. E. W. Roughley will officiate as minister of the church. Some members of the deputation speak very highly of the people, who treated them most generously, giving them the best that they had. Messrs. Edwards, of Pradeah Lake, and Messrs. Sanderson were not the least among these. Mr. Walter Kidd was very hospitable, and Mr. Duncan Anderson, Crown Lands Commissioner of Apsley, opened his house to the party on Monday night when they were on their way up and on Wednesday evening on their return. Rev. P. Clifton Parker, of Peterborough, preached in the Temperance Hall, Apsley, on Wednesday evening.—[COM.

A Sad Death.

The Calgary Tribune says:—"It is with exceeding regret that we have to chronicle the death of Mr. Fred A. Munson, B. Sc., of Cobourg, Ont., which occurred at the Palace Hotel, Calgary, Tuesday morning at 5:30 o'clock. Deceased arrived in town on Friday morning, and called upon a number of old friends during the day. In the evening he met Mr. W. F. Brodie, of Morley, an old college chum, to whom he complained of not feeling well. He grew worse, and the next day had to take to his bed. Medical aid was summoned, and the doctor pronounced the case to be very severe attack of pleurisy. He received the best of attention during the night, and the following day he revived considerably, but on Monday evening he passed into a comatose state in which he remained until about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, when he quietly passed away. The deceased was about 33 years of age, and graduated in science at Victoria University, Cobourg, in 1877. He chose the profession of law, and was some time in the law office of Mr. D. W. Dumble, of Peterborough, Ont., after which he came to Winnipeg, and was with his brother Mr. J. H. D. Munson, the well-known barrister, of that city. Latterly he has been practising law in Cobourg, but left for the west about three weeks ago to seek a new location. He leaves a young widow, a bride of about five months, to mourn his untimely end." While in Peterborough Mr. Munson made many warm friends, who will exceedingly regret to here of his sad and sudden death.

Police Court.

A Young Woman Charged with Larceny—The First Prosecution under the Crooks Act.

TUESDAY, May 28.

Lizzie Davis was arrested last night on a charge of larceny. She hails from Belmont, and has been working at the Grand Central hotel only for a little over a week. It was alleged she stole $10 from another domestic at the hotel, Ada O'Brien, last Thursday, and when accused of the offence yesterday by the Chief of Police, admitted her guilt. She was before the magistrate this morning and pleaded guilty to the charge. Mr. A. P. Possesette looked after her interests at the request of the court, and asked the magistrate to be lenient in his judgment. He said he understood the accused would make full restitution and pay costs. The magistrate said he did not wish to blast the girl's prospects for life, though the offence was a serious one, and adjourned the case till to-morrow morning in order to find out more about the young woman.

It seems there is a "man in the case." Lizzie has a beau, for love of whom it is said she was led into committing the theft. He was in court this morning. He and his devoted Lizzie enjoyed quite a time with the purloined money. She bought him four gold (?) rings, together they made two trips to Lakefield, Lizzie lent a friend a dollar and a quarter, and still she had $2 left. The police traced every bill of the stolen money, which was Bank of Ottawa paper, a currency not much in circulation here. The young woman has no other friends in town.

UNDER THE CROOKS ACT.

The first prosecution under the Crooks Act was entered at the police court this morning, T. Cavanagh being the defendant. He was charged with selling liquor on Sunday last. There were four witnesses in the case, three of whom were on hand. A warrant for the other was issued, and the magistrate said if he was arrested to-day he should be locked up and not let out till the morning. He was determined to show the public that they could not trifle with these liquor cases. Two witnesses were examined, both of whom denied having obtained any liquor at Mr. Cavanagh's hotel on Sunday, and the case was enlarged till to-morrow. Mr. Edwards prosecuted and Mr. A. P. Possesette conducted the defence.

The First Cheese Sold.

FIRST MEETING OF THE CHEESE BOARD—IT OPENS THE HIGHEST BID—ALL SOLD.

The first regular meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board for 1889 was held today. There was a good attendance of both salesmen and buyers, the latter being Messrs. Bird, Warrington, Clarton, Wrighton, Flavelle and Fitzgerald.

The cheese boarded was the first half of May, all colored. No Victoria factories were represented, it being understood that most of the factories in that section will this season try consigning. Liverpool quotations were 45s. 6d.

Bidding was as follows:—Mr. Bird, 8c. for selections; Warrington, 8c. for further selections; Clarton, 8½c. for selections; Warrington, 8¾c for the board; Clarton, 8 2/16c. for the board; Warrington, 8 5/16c. for selections; Clarton, 8½c. for the board.

No further offers were made and all the factories accepted. The Board adjourned for two weeks.

News Nuggets.

—A blazing chimney at the Commercial House last evening caused the fire alarm to be rung. The brigade responded, but their services were not required.

—The band will not be in the park to-night on account of the unpleasant weather. The opening concert will probably take place Tuesday of next week.

A Severe Blow.

This forenoon a young man named Wm. Saunders, an employee of Baptie's planing mill, was operating a circular saw when the quick flew back and struck him directly over the heart. He was knocked insensible, and it was feared was seriously hurt, but it is expected he will be all right in a few days. One of his fingers was also badly torn by the stitch.

No High School Grants.

The County Council Committee Decide to Give no Assistance—A Close Vote on the Matter.

At the last meeting of the County Council the following resolution was passed:—

"Your Committee recommend that the Warden and the Reeves of the several municipalities be a committee to meet with the High School Trustees of the town of Peterborough and the village of Norwood, and to report at the June session of this council some reasonable scheme under which this council may assist the High Schools in those municipalities, the Reeve of Ashburnham to be the convener of the committee."

The committee met this forenoon at the council chamber. There were present, Mr. John Burnham, chairman; Warden Brown, and Messrs. Geo. Stewart, M. Sanderson, Jos. Forster, J. Finlay, F. Himbirst, Jno. Maloney, Wm. Crough, A. R. Kidd, Jas. Moore, Wilson and Shaw.

Messrs. W. E. Roxburgh and A. R. Anderson were present in the interest of the Norwood High school, and Messrs. D. W. Dumble and Wm. English represented the Peterborough Collegiate Institute.

The first question discussed was as to the advisability of dividing the county into two high schools district, taking in Norwood and Peterborough, but it was considered inadvisable.

Next a basis of agreement as to the assistance to be given the two schools was discussed.

Mr. DUMBLE addressed the meeting, saying they were not there to ask for assistance but to listen to any proposition the committee might make. He pointed out that the Collegiate Institute here should properly speaking be for the education of town pupils, whereas by the course of instruction it was specially adapted for educating teachers for common schools, thereby interfering with the education of the town pupils. The more county pupils they had the less effective the Institute would be for town purposes. They would, therefore, require a considerable equivalent to recompense them for thus practically injuring their school by teaching county pupils. He, however, pointed out that the amount the county would be required to pay would be very small.

Mr. ROXBURGH pointed out that the Norwood high school district was a very small one and, therefore, as their's was a county school and charged no fees, they claimed assistance. He thought it unfortunate that Norwood high school could not be considered by itself irrespective of the Peterborough Institute.

There was some discussion by the members of the committee. Those who did speak said that, irrespective of their personal views, their constituents seemed to be averse to granting assistance to any high school, and no scheme which could be devised would be satisfactory to the ratepayers of the county at large.

Mr. Finlay moved, seconded by Mr. Kidd, that the county council be recommended to make a special grant of $700 to Norwood high school and $600 to Peterborough.

The motion was lost on a vote 7 to 6, as follows:—Yeas, Messrs. Brown, Burnham, Elmhirst, Finlay Kidd and Moore; Nays, Messrs. Crough, Forster, Shaw, Maloney, Wilson, Sanderson and Stewart.

The committee then adjourned.

The Christian Alliance.

The Convention Opened at the Baptist Church — Sanctification and Divine Healing Discussed.

The convention of the delegates of the Christian Alliance, Toronto, assembled in the Baptist church at ten o'clock this morning. At that hour there was an assemblage of about forty persons who were added to by others till over fifty were present. The following delegates occupied positions in the choir and pulpit platform:—Rev. J. Salmon, J. W. Fenton, Capt. Fisher, Dr. Zimmerman, Mrs. Walker, Miss Mattie Gordon, Mrs. Hatch, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Fletcher.

Rev. John Salmon, a middle-aged Scotchman with ragged, romanesque features framed in iron-gray hair and whiskers, attired in the regulation clerical black with white tie, announced the 41st hymn of a special collection (sold at the door at five cents each), and suggested at its close a few minutes of silent prayer. After further similar devotional exercises, made up largely of singing, Prof. Seward presiding at the organ,

Rev. Mr. SALMON said the subject of the convention would be Sanctification and Divine Healing. Conversion came first, sanctification followed and with it the divine Lord became the healer of those who put their trust in Him. The speaker said that on Friday he asked the Lord for a message for this meeting and got the 8th verse, "Yea, thy law is within my heart." The speaker emphasized the importance of "waiting on the Lord"—not anticipating His good time. He would hear our cry and deliver us and set our feet upon the rock and keep us there, in an atmosphere of calm confidence in God. Our sins would be no more even remembered against us, God would write His law in our hearts and mould us to His image; we should be delivered from condemnation, and have with the Father, and we should have the witness that we pleased God day by day. Is it possible for us to live that we may have the consciousness that we are pleasing God? Yes, it we had the law written in our hearts by the Holy Spirit. It was our privilege to be both delivered from condemnation, and also to be free from the condemnation of our own hearts. The law of the spirit of life made us free from the law of sin and death, and we could overcome the evil impulses of our nature from hour to hour. We must, in order to enjoy the perpetual incoming of Christ, crucify our affections, yield up everything of self and become nothing in Christ, and Christ would dwell in our hearts by faith that we may be filled with all the fullness of Christ. Thus would we do the will of God. Sanctification was Christ dwelling in the heart by faith. The speaker, referring to his personal experience, said his daily prayer was, "Lord, live in me,"—and He did live in him.

Capt. FISHER gave his experience. He had regarded sanctification as beyond his reach, but now it was a blessed personal experience. His life was completely changed—his being was changed. Five years ago he definitely gave over his body to God, and his offering was accepted by God, and now his life was a continuous service of joy. He was kept by the power of God.

Rev. J. B. HUFF said that his attention was earnestly directed to the subject of sanctification, and the remarks of the speaker. He inquired whether it was held that the gift of sanctification made the recipient pure and holy as God was holy. If that were the position taken by the convention he did not think it was sustained by the Scriptures. He should like an answer "Yes" or "No."

Mr. J. W. FENTON was happy to give an answer to the gentleman. When he was converted he said he was saved from hell, but not saved from his sin—he was not sanctified. For the past two and a half years, through God healing his body, he became sanctified and was saved from the power and dominion of sin. Now there was nothing good in his body, he had died unto sin. He was now perfect and complete in Christ and God was able to keep him from sin.

Rev. Mr. SILVER said the word of God was a more satisfactory proof than Christian experience. An evil nature, such as the speaker said he still had, was inconsistent with a sinless life. He quoted from St. John's gospel the text—"If we say we have no sin we deceive ourselves, etc." There was need of cleansing from day to day. The Lord's prayer implied daily need of forgiveness. There should be a distinction between a sin in nature and a sin in act. He deplored the teaching that placed any creature beyond sin.

Dr. ZIMMERMAN, in answer, quoted "Whosoever abideth in Him sinneth not."

Miss MATTIE GORDON, in further answer said the Lord's Prayer was for temporary use—before the Holy Ghost came upon the Apostles. The Alliance did not object to questions and inquiries. Experience was not a safe guide but the Word of God was perfectly safe on this subject of sanctification. It was possible to all to do sin. The heart that is cleansed from the root of original sin, had no impulse to actual transgression. If Christ were in us fully we could not sin. The convention then adjourned till afternoon.

The prevalence of scrofulous taint in the blood is much more universal than many are aware. Indeed, but few persons are free from it. Fortunately, however, we have in Ayer's Sarsaparilla the most potent remedy ever discovered for this terrible affliction.

A Pretty Wedding in Australia—The Bride Has Many Relatives in Peterborough.

The Queensland Figaro of March 23rd, a society journal published at Brisbane, South Australia, has the appended notice of a brilliant bynuneal event. The bride is a near relative of the Hall family of Peterborough, while a number of relatives of other Peterborough people were present at the wedding:—

TURNER—HALL.—About one of the prettiest weddings that has taken place this season was solemnized at the new Presbyterian Church, Wickham-terrace, on Wednesday last, the 20th inst., the contracting parties being Mr. Leonard Hazlewood Turner, eldest son of the Hon. J. S. Turner, of Kinellan, New Farm, and Miss Annie W. Hall, eldest daughter of Mr. G. Hall, Geneva House, Clifton-terrace. The Rev. J. F. M'Swaine, of St. Paul's, the officiating clergyman, read a most impressive service. The invitations were limited to relations of the interested parties, but long before the appointed hour the church was thronged with a fashionably-dressed congregation, eager to catch sight of the pretty bride. About two o'clock, the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered the church. She was prettily attired in her travelling dress of fawn and blue-checked tweed directoire coat over waistcoat and vest, prettily faced with blue and fawn marveilleux; a very pretty and becoming hat, trimmed to match, and carrying a lovely bouquet of stephanotis and white roses, beautifully arranged. She also wore a magnificent gold watch and chain (the front case of the watch richly set in diamonds,) a present from the bridegroom, and a gold bracelet, also richly set in diamonds, a gift from the Hon. J. S. Turner. The bride was attended by two pretty little maids, Miss Jeannie W. Hall (sister of the bride,) and Miss Kitty Graham, and they looked an exquisite pair in lovely cream sailor costumes, trimmed with gold braid, with pretty new fashioned caps trimmed to match, and carrying prettily arranged baskets of flowers. They also each wore two lovely gold bangles, the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. Leslie Turner, brother of the groom, did duty as best man, and the bride was given away by her father. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to Kinellan, the residence of the bridegroom, where they, in company with about forty guests, had an afternoon tea, after which the bride and bridegroom, amidst the congratulations and good wishes of their assembled friends, drove away to the railway station to catch the three o'clock train for Southport, where they intend spending their honeymoon. On their return they will remain the guests of the Hon. J. S. Turner, Kinellan, for some time. Among the invited guests were:—The Hon. J. S. Turner, the Hon. Wm. Graham with Mrs. Graham and the three Misses Graham; Messrs. Jack and W. Graham; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. E. Griffith, Miss Evelyn Griffith, Mr. Hazlewood Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. Hodson, Mrs. Rogers, Miss Wyatt, Mr. C. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Turner, Mrs. Jordan, Misses May and Annie Jordan and Miss Ethel Lawson. Mrs. Hall, mother of the bride, wore a handsome dress of pale-grey cashmere, picked out with pink roche; cape trimmed with velvet of same shade, and a pretty bonnet trimmed to match. Mrs. Graham, a handsome dress of black moire, with bonnet to match. Mrs. Rogers, a very rich dress of black faille, with bonnet to match. Miss Wyatt looked lovely in a gown of a beautifully shaded crushed strawberry, panel of rich merveilleux, and pretty hat to match. Miss Graham in white liberty silk, with bonnet to match. Miss Molly Graham looked very pretty in a neatly made dress of pale-pink nun's-veiling, beautifully smocked and wearing black velvet hat trimmed with pale-pink plumes and ribbons. Miss Annie Jordan, a lovely dress of crushed strawberry cashmere, with hat to match. Miss May Jordan looked exquisite in an extremely nice and becoming dress of electric-blue merveilleux, trimmed with lace, with bonnet to match. Mrs. Jordan a handsome dress of black merveilleux, with jet trimmings, and wearing a lovely grey bonnet, handsomely trimmed with scarlet plumes. Mrs. Stewart, a very rich black merveilleux dress, trimmed with black lace; bonnet to match. Miss Ethel Lawson was neatly attired in white embroidered muslin; hat to match. Mrs. Lawson, rich dress of black satin, with pretty bonnet with scarlet plumes. Mrs. Harcourt Turner looked lovely in a dress of fawn cashmere, nicely trimmed with white lace and gold braid, and wearing a pretty trimmed hat to match. The presents were numerous and some of a very costly nature:—Wedgewood plaque; cut crystal jam dish, silver mounted; pair of vases, fluted; case of napkin rings; complete china tea set, heavy gilt; crystal toilet set; large mirror brackets, in satin and plush; pair of hand painted porcelain plaques, mounted in velvet; Bible; Milton's poems in two volumes, with engravings from Dore brooch, composed of George III sovereign and two half sovereigns; case with two parasols; white satin handkerchief satchel, with hand-painted centre; pair of elegant silver dishes, with covers; pair of blue glass vases; lace handkerchief; Russian leather folding album; gold bracelet, diamond and pearl; afternoon tea set, in blue and gold (Spode); set of eight egg-flower vases; hand-painted terra-cotta plaque; hand bag and purse of crocodile leather; set of silver-mounted carvers, ivory handles, with rests and steel in oak case; gold pearl bracelet; pair of table flower glasses on mirror stands; large gilt Japanese tea-tray, pantagonal; silver tea tools with ivory handles, consisting of tongs, hammer and shovel in Morocco case; enamelled gold watch, with dial set with diamond points, and gold chain and appendages; large diamond bracelet, with diamond brooch to match; photo lithograph in frame; crown Derby plate, very old.

The entering wedge of a complaint that may prove fatal is often a slight cold, which a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral might have cured at the commencement. It would be well, therefore, to keep this remedy within reach at all times.

An Inhuman Stepmother at Hamilton—Serious Accident to a Montrealer—Bodies in the Dominion.

VICTORIA, B.C., May 28.—The United States Senate Committee appointed to examine into the relations of the United States and Canada arrived Sunday last. The committee has not decided whether to proceed farther north or return east.

SHOCKING CRUELTY.

An Inhuman Stepmother Drives a Lad Out of the House.

HAMILTON, May 28.—Inspector Hamilton, of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, brought a shocking case of cruelty before Police Magistrate Cahill this morning. Joseph Beddoe, a shoemaker, living at 89 Steven-street, was charged with cruelty to his son. Beddoe said he was not responsible; that his wife was the boss, and not only turned his children out of the house, but sometimes served him in the same way. William Beddoe, a half-starved and partly dressed lad about 15 years old, gave evidence in the case. The woman is his stepmother. He swore that she knocked him around and abused him. She drove him out of the house, and he was compelled to sleep in the woodshed for several nights until a family living near by took pity on him and gave him shelter. The woman refused to give him food. He told Inspector Hamilton that if somebody did not give him something to eat he would have to steal. Beddoe has another son who is dying in the home. The doctor attending him requests the father to send him to the hospital, but Beddoe would not consent to his removal. Beddoe acknowledged that his wife ran the house to suit herself. The magistrate told the defendant that he should have the dying boy sent to the hospital, where he would receive proper care and attention. The other lad will probably be provided with a home at the House of Providence, Dundas.

Lost a Leg and an Arm.

MONTREAL, May 28.—A man named King, while attempting to board a passing freight train at St. Henri, near Montreal, this morning, fell between the cars and had a leg and arm cut off.

The Storm King at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, May 28.—The storm that raged last night was one of the severest that has visited this district for many months. Trees in various parts of the city were blown down, and this morning the sidewalks were strewn with branches. At the beach the storm was particularly severe. Four yachts dragged their anchors and were driven down the bay and beached. A steamhooker was also blown onto the beach. At times the spray was driven clear over the beach, and the residents were in momentary dread that the water would wash over too.

Mrs. Wren Was Provoked.

MONTREAL, May 28.—The man John Wren, who had his head cleaved with an axe in the hands of his wife last night, is doing very well, although not yet out of danger. The neighbors state they have heard husband and wife quarrelling on several occasions, and Mrs. Wren says that her life has been unbearable and she feels that she was under great provocation.

Three Barns Ashore.

PICTON, May 28.—James Burlingham, the keeper of the Point Peter light, reports that three barges loaded with lumber went ashore and are going to pieces. They broke loose from a tug this morning. It is feared that the crews will all be lost. A telegram has been sent to the life-saving station at Wellington asking for assistance.

Oshawa Notes.

OSHAWA, May 28.—The County Council will meet at Whitby on Monday next. At its January session a committee was appointed to inquire into and select a location for a house of industry, and of its probable cost. The committee have now reported and the great topic of conversation in the poorhouse. While a majority of the people would favor the scheme others are opposed to it. The coming session will be a warm one on the subject.

The General Assembly.

NEW YORK, May 28.—In the Presbyterian General Assembly to-day Rev. Dr. Crosby offered a resolution setting forth that the action taken by the General Assembly on the temperance question must not be construed as an endorsement of any political party. This was unanimously adopted. The reports of the standing committee on education and of the special committee on the supply of and demand for ministers for the church were discussed. Rev. Dr. Thompson, chairman of the centennial fund committee, announced that $616,000 had been raised for disabled ministers. A resolution offered by Rev. Dr. Stryker of Chicago calling the attention of President Harrison to the evils of the slave traffic in Africa was adopted.

Ex-Mayor Murison of Hamilton Dead.

HAMILTON, May 28.—Ex-Mayor George Murison died shortly before midnight last night. He was a native of Aberdeenshire, Scotland, where he was born 69 years ago. When quite a young man—forty-five years ago he came to Canada to push his fortunes, and settled at once in Hamilton, establishing himself in business as a builder and contractor. For several years Mr. Murison did public duty as an alderman, and was in 1870 elected mayor of the city. Of late years he has been in the service of the city as building inspector. While still young Mr. Murison married Miss Farquhar, who, with their seven daughters survives him. Of the daughters all are married but one, who lives at home. Two reside in Chicago, one in Buffalo and three in Hamilton.

The Braidwood Riot.

BRAIDWOOD, Ill., May 28.—Eight companies of the Fourth Illinois National Guards pitched their tents on the Chicago, Wilmington and Vermillion coal lands at the "J" shaft this morning and are now escorting the Italian quarters. Twenty-five strikers who approached the camp were surrounded and arrested. On them were found knives and revolvers. Several of the prisoners were identified as participants in yesterday's rioting. It is asserted the Italians are rallying at Godley, Coal City, Clark City, Gardner and Braidville for an attack. Colonel Bennett's plan is to attack the Italian settlements in detail before they can rally. Great activity is noted in the Italian quarters and crowds are seen gathering to rescue their arrested brothers. The residents say the Italians mean fight. Serious trouble is expected.

A Burglar in the Tents.

MONTREAL, May 28.—J. W. Morgan, who is said to belong to New York, and Wm. H. Watson, [illegible] men, have been arrested. Morgan was to-day indicted for forgery and for attempting to obtain money under false pretenses at the Spring and House where he had stopped. He had registered [illegible] and in his possession were tickets issued at New York in favor of John Lewis were found. He is also being charged with highway robbery last week on Owen Sweeny, a Irish-American youth whom he and Watson floored out of $20. Watson admitted to the police that he had taken part with Morgan in the Sweeny affair and offered a settlement this morning. Enquiries at the Merchants' Bank elicited the fact that three other bogus checks in favor of J. W. Morgan, signed by C. H. Chaupard and endorsed by J. W. Morgan, 295 St. James-street, a Baltimore manager, had been received at the bank last week.

ORANGEMEN AT GODERICH
THE SUPREME GRAND LODGE IN ANNUAL SESSION.

New Warrants Issued—The Jesuits' Estates Act and French in the Schools to be Discussed.

GODERICH, May 28.—The Supreme Grand Orange Lodge of British North America met here to-day for the transaction of annual business. Most Worshipful Grand Master Clarke Wallace occupied the chair. At 4 o'clock Mayor Butler and the Town Council of Goderich at ended the meeting in a body, and the Mayor on behalf of the town presented an address of welcome.

Most Worshipful Grand Master Wallace replied thanking the mayor and council for their address of welcome and speaking highly of the beautiful appearance of the town.

During the afternoon the report of the Grand Secretary was read, which showed that the order had made good progress and was steadily increasing in numbers and influence. Twelve new warrants had been issued in Ontario West, 4 in Ontario East, 2 in Manitoba, 1 in Prince Edward Island and 1 in Nova Scotia.

The Grand Secretary's report also had the following:

"Since our last annual session the Jesuits' Estates Act passed by the Quebec Legislature has been allowed by the Dominion Government. I will not take up your time in going into the matter in detail, as you are all aware of the commotion that the allowance of the act has caused, and your Grand Master, who was one of the noble thirteen who voted and spoke for disallowance of the same, will deal with the matter in his address to you to much better advantage than I could do. I would also call your attention to the subject of the French language in the schools of Protestant Ontario, which was brought up on the motion of Mr. Craig, M.L.A., in the Ontario Legislature."

The address of the Grand Master dealt very fully with the Jesuit question, and it is expected that the discussion on this subject will be one of the leading features of the meeting.

CRACKS AT GRAVESEND.

Civil Service Wins the May Stakes and Surrender the Cup.

GRAVESEND, L.I., May 28.—The card to-day was a good one, including the Cup and the May Stakes. Results:

First Race, ¾ mile, $1000, for maiden 3-year-olds—Onway won.

Second race, 1¼ miles, sweepstakes for 3-year-olds and upwards, $1000 added—Babie B won.

Third race, The May Stakes, for 3-year-olds, 1 mile, $1000 added—Civil Service won.

Fourth race, The Brooklyn Cup, 1½ miles, for 3-year-olds and upwards, ($2000 added. Marauder won.

There was very great interest in this race and the betting was very heavy. There was a rip that Hanover had gone 1½ miles Sunday in 2.32, and he was backed heavily. They got the flag at the first rattle and darted off in this order: Elkwood, Glen Echo, Eurus, Hanover and Marauder. Taylor pushed Hanover to the front on the first turn and he came into the stretch nearly a length before Eurus, who was a couple in front of Elkwood. Passing the stands Eurus was a neck before Hanover and was edging him toward the rail. Elkwood was third, two lengths behind Hanover. Elkwood and Eurus were lapped at the quarter post. Going up the back stretch Elkwood went to the front and at the old club house he was a neck before Hanover, who was the same distance in front of Eurus. Hanover hovered on through the heavy going on the upper turn and Marauder came up on the outside with a rush. Elkwood led Marauder a length into the home stretch and Hanover was at his flank running so gamely that even his friends were surprised. At the last furlong post Marauder was a length in the lead with Hanover next. Marauder, splendidly ridden by Garrison, was by a length and a half over Hanover, who beat Elkwood half a length. Eurus and Glen Echo were close behind. The time was 2.34, 2.32, 1.39, 1.46, 2.14, and 2.43. Many believe this race shows that Hanover is coming back to his old form and that he will regain his speed at a distance.

Fifth race, 1½ miles, handicap sweepstakes, $1000 added—J. A. R. won.

Sixth race, 11-16 miles—Raymond G. won.

The American's Cup.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The America's Cup Committee met to-day. It is said they are determined on adhering to the conditions of holding the cup under the deed of gift, to which the Yacht Squadron objects. There may therefore be no race this season.

Civil Service Examinations—The Behring Sea Matter.

OTTAWA, May 28.—Promotion examinations for the Civil Service were held to-day in the House of Commons. There were 60 candidates present.

Sir John Macdonald, Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. J. A. Chapleau and Hon. John Costigan have left for Montreal to attend the Tedlion banquet to-morrow. Owing to the illness of his brother, Sir Hector Langevin will be unable to attend.

Considerable surprise is manifested here at the action of the American Government in sending three cruisers to Behring Sea. This is regarded here as an implied declaration that the United States will maintain her alleged exclusive sovereignty in those waters. A Cabinet Minister, talking to me to-day, said: "I am hopeful of a peaceable settlement. Negotiations were progressing favorably before the Republicans assumed office. Mr. Bayard had gone so far as to propose an international conservation to take steps for the protection of the fur-bearing animals in Behring's Sea and the Sea of Okhotsk. Russia and England have agreed to send representatives. I do not anticipate trouble this year, even though British way ships proceed to Behring Sea. That pressure there is only natural. The Canadian sealers venturing north will be warned of their dangers as usual and will be ordered to submit in case of seizure. Canadian seamen cannot expect protection from British men-of-war, unless some flagrant outrage were committed. After seizure the vessel and crew can be prosecuted although [illegible]

THE MAYBRICK TRAGEDY.
DAMAGING EVIDENCE AGAINST THE PRISONER.

[illegible] Judge Stephen [illegible] Letter Writer Operates a Sensation—"Poison for Rats"—Counsel Cause Scored.

LIVERPOOL, May 28.—The inquest over the body of Mr. Maybrick, who is supposed to have been poisoned by his wife, was resumed to-day. Michael Maybrick testified that he had visited his brother during his illness and had warned Mrs. Maybrick that he suspected his brother was receiving improper treatment. The wife insisted upon her right to nurse her husband. Witness thereupon summoned two doctors and a new nurse. He also seized a bottle containing brandy and extract of meat. At a later visit witness found Mrs. Maybrick shaving the contents and labels of medicine bottles. He remonstrated and asked how she dared do such a thing. She replied there was sufficient in which to kill a white field from which the labels had been taken.

Sarah Jones, a nurse, who had charge of the Maybrick children, produced a letter addressed to one Brierly in Liverpool, and which was given to witness to post by Mrs. Maybrick. While on her way to do this witness dropped the letter in the road. The envelope was sealed and witness opened the letter with the intention of placing it in another envelope. She noticed that the letter contained sickening words. The following sentences attracted her attention:

"Herbert, my husband is sick unto death. All diseases upon here keep his strength on hold out. Darling, relieve your mind of all fear of discovery now or in the future. In any case do not leave the island until I see you once again."

Witness gave the letter to Edwin Maybrick. After Mr. Maybrick died witness found in the linen closet a miserable box rolled up in a sheet. The box [illegible] and to Mrs. Maybrick and contained a package of powder labelled poison.

Evidence was given to the effect that Mrs. Maybrick bought a quantity of arsenical fly papers and that she [illegible] prepared with the patients' food and medicines. On one occasion the deceased remonstrated with his wife saying, "How could you do it?" Other witnesses testified to the wife's hatred of the deceased and to her threatening to give it to him [illegible] publicly upbraiding her.

An Uproar in the French House.

PARIS, May 28.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day M. Laguerre gave notice that he would interpellate the Government in relation to the delay of the Senate in making a report in the case of Gen. Boulanger.

President Melino replied that while he was desirous to protect the liberty of the tribune it would be impossible to allow M. Laguerre to make such interpellation. The Senate, he said, was entirely independent in this matter, as the issue was of a judicial character. The Chamber had no right or power to interfere.

M. Laguerre referred to recent interpellations made in the Chamber concerning the slowness of a certain judicial action. The President of the Senate while sitting on a case like that of General Boulanger was similar to an examining judge and the Government had a right to inform him that the procedure was slow. If no debate was permitted on his interpellation public opinion would severely judge parliamentarism and the Chamber would exhibit a fear of universal suffrage.

These remarks caused an uproar. When it subsided M de Cassagnac declared that M. Melino had taken it upon himself to assume the guardianship of the majority. He asked the Republicans to show some decency and denounced the President's decision as an ignoble mockery of justice.

Here there was a renewal of the uproar. M de Cassagnac in conclusion said if the deputies retained any feeling of shame, courage or duty they would vote to allow M. Laguerre to proceed with his interpellation.

The Chamber, after passing a vote censuring M de Cassagnac, proceeded with the order of the day by a vote of 308 to 216.

Mr. Chiniquy at St. Paul's.

The Ex-Priest Delivers an Address upon The Relations of the Church of Rome to Protestantism.

There was a large audience at St. Paul's to listen to Rev. Mr. Chiniquy. The chair was occupied by Mr. Robert Weir, and on the platform were Rev. Messrs. Ball, Pearson, Torrance and Bennet, and Mr. J. J. Hartley.

Rev. Mr. CHINIQUY, after referring to the dominion of the Church of Rome over the ancestors of the audience in Scotland and England, said that the church had appropriated the best of the lands and the whole country was under the dominion of the Church of Rome. But the people turned to the Bible, read it, and found the truth of the gospel, and discovered the fallacies and errors of the church to which they had before been subject. Through the influence of the Pope bloody efforts were made to induce them to renounce the Bible, but the people preferred to die rather than give up the Bible. Attempts were made to destroy the Bible and those who refused to surrender it were put to death. Reference was made to the terrible persecutions of this age throughout Europe, in England, Scotland and Ireland, by the orders of the Pope. Then the struggle came to decide whether the people of those countries or the Pope ruled those lands, and at the Battle of the Boyne God gave the victory to his people, the sword of the Pope was broken and liberty of conscience became a reality in the British Empire. The speaker said he recalled these things because he asserted that the Church of Rome had not changed; it is the same in desire as it was centuries ago. The sentence of death passed upon the ancestors of the audience, was still hanging over them. The only reason the speaker said why the scenes of old were not repeated was because that church was not strong enough to undertake such a task. He had been twenty-five years a priest of Rome and he knew, he said, all its secrets, and when he left that church he was threatened with death if he revealed these secrets. The speaker produced a book which, he said, was secretly taught in all colleges of the Church of Rome, from which it was read that heretics were first to be admonished, and if they remained obstinate they were to be handed over to the secular arm to be put to death. The speaker asserted that it was the duty of every priest to exterminate heretics. Only twenty-nine years ago thirty Englishmen in Spain, through the influence of the Jesuits, had, the speaker said, been condemned to death for having the Bible found in their hands, and but for the intervention of England that sentence would have been executed. The speaker produced a copy of a book written by himself, which, he said, should be in every family, in which he had exposed the policy of the Church of Rome. The speaker detailed the several attempts that had been made upon his life, and how the Orangemen had protected him, and he expressed his gratitude to them for their aid. When, he said, the attempts to kill him had failed, there had been repeated attempts to send him to the penitentiary by false witnesses, but God had saved him. He urged his hearers to love the individual Roman Catholics, but destroy the church of Rome—by the use of the sword of Christ—convert them to the true faith.

A vote of thanks, moved by Mr. J. J. Hartley, seconded by Rev. A. Bell, was tendered the speaker, and after the benediction by Rev. Mr. Pearson the meeting dispersed.

The mayor and recorder said that the people of Canada were asleep over the danger from Jesuit aggression, with which Rev. Mr. Pearson coincided.

Bridgenorth Methodist Church

The Corner Stone of the New Edifice Laid on the Queen's Birthday.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Our little village presented a very lively holiday appearance on the Queen's Birthday. The occasion of the unusual stir was the laying of the corner stone of the new Methodist church, which is in course of erection, and it may be safely said that at few places if any was the holiday more enjoyably or profitably spent than here.

Soon after 11 o'clock the numerous company of visitors repaired to the place where the foundation walls of the new edifice are constructed, and witnessed the interesting ceremony. W. R. Kelly, Esq., of Bridgenorth was called upon to lay the stone, which he gracefully did assisted by the workmen, Mr. Greene, of Peterborough. The handsome silver trowel presented by the building committee was used, and with this, and a check of $100.00, Mr. Kelly could sympathize deeply set the stone in its mortar bed.

The Lakefield brass band then led the way to Mr. R. Deacon's beautiful park, where the ladies had provided dinner, of which the company partook with great relish. The afternoon was spent very pleasantly, the band rendering many fine selections, and Rev. Messrs. J. R. Hoag, S. J. Sharp, and M. L. Pearson giving short but appropriate addresses. It is true, that the spirits of many were dampened by a gentle shower of short duration that came up from the west, nevertheless everyone seemed to be happy, and enjoyed feeling well satisfied with the day's entertainment.

The total proceeds amounted to $302.67, which, after the expenses were met, should be a very substantial sum on the deposit of the building committee. The church will, it is expected, be ready for use by the congregation about the middle of September.

The prevalence of scrofulous taint in the blood is much more universal than many are aware. Indeed, but few persons are free from it. Fortunately, however, we have in Ayer's Sarsaparilla the most potent remedy ever discovered for this terrible affliction.

INJURED FOR MURDER.

The Cook Threatening Accused Crowley's Keeper—A Detective's Story.

CHICAGO, May 28.—The Times says Patrick O. Sullivan has made a full confession, and has given the names of every one he knew that was implicated in the murder of Dr. Cronin.

Mayor Boldenweck of Lakeview said this morning that the statement that P. O. Sullivan had made a full confession was not true.

P. O. Sullivan was brought before Justice Kersten this morning and held without bail until June 10. He was committed to the county jail. Frank Woodruff, the horse thief, was brought before Judge Williamson this morning to plead to the charge of larceny as bailee. He entered the plea of not guilty, and was taken back to jail.

A Private Detective's Story.

CHICAGO, May 28.—The Daily News says: Detective Robert Bruce, who had been conducting a private agency in this city, walked into Lieutenant Elliott's office this morning and said several months ago Alderman McCormack had offered him $1100 to kill Dr. Cronin. Bruce, who has just returned from Texas, says McCormack paid him $100 in advance and agreed to pay the remaining $1000 when the job was done. Bruce declares McCormack told him to feign sickness in his office and then send for Dr. Cronin and kill him. Bruce says he took the $100, spent it for liquor and never made a move towards carrying out the contract. Bruce bears an unsavory reputation and the police do not place much reliance on the story.

Before the Grand Jury.

CHICAGO, May 28.—The coroner's jury to-day inspected the blood-stained cottage and other places connected with the Cronin case. The inquest was adjourned until to-morrow.

States-Attorney Longenecker went before the Grand Jury to-day with a number of police officials and that body took up the Cronin case. Lieman Sullivan himself and the officials high and low positively deny that Sullivan made a confession laying bare the details of the plot for the murder of Cronin. An afternoon paper states that Sullivan merely admitted that one of the men who hired the cottage sought work from him, had been frequently about his place and could have secured one of Sullivan's cards if he had desired. It is now said Jordan the bartender, was not arrested as stated yesterday.

Three Indictments.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Detective Daniel Coughlin, Patrick O. Sullivan, the lieman, and Frank J. Black, alias Woodruff, were indicted by the Grand Jury this evening for the murder of Dr. Cronin. This result was reached after an investigation which lasted seven hours, during which two dozen witnesses were examined. The three prisoners were included in one indictment to which there were three counts charging them with killing Cronin with a blunt instrument, the second alleging the use of a sharp instrument and the third instrument and means unknown. No evidence was introduced to prove a conspiracy and Cronin's private papers were not placed before the Grand Jury. The witnesses who were called were those whose stories have been told in general outline if not in detail in the press. Judge Longenecker thought it advisable to tighten the coils into which the three prisoners had already been drawn and fasten them with indictments probably to prevent any attempt to secure the release of one or more of them on bail.

A FRIEND OF CRONIN'S IN TOWN.

The Result of His Interview With Mr. C. F. Lang, the Reporter.

TORONTO, May 28.—Yesterday there arrived in Toronto Mr. Armand Tuefy of Chicago, who is a well-known lawyer in that city and an old graduate of Toronto University, being a brother of Rev. Father John E. Tuefy of St. Basil's College, and of Mr. R. B. Tuefy. Mr. Tuefy was an intimate friend of Dr. Cronin, for whom he had the most kindly regard.

"My only object in coming to Toronto just now," said Mr. Tuefy, "was to have an interview with Mr. C. F. Lang, the reporter who sent the despatches to the American papers. I saw Mr. Lang and had a talk with him. He still maintained that he had seen Dr. Cronin in Toronto on Friday, May 10. My only object in coming here was to see Mr. Lang in the hope of ascertaining such as Alexander Sullivan, who had been maligned. Mr. Lang gave me this written statement, which I shall take back with me, and which he wrote at the Rossin House last Saturday afternoon:

TORONTO, May 25, 1889.

To whom it may concern:

This is to certify that up to the time I wrote the despatches regarding Dr. Cronin having been seen in Toronto I had no letter, telegram or any other communication with reference to Chicago or elsewhere regarding his disappearance excepting the newspapers to which I sent the despatches. (Signed) C. F. LANG.

"I am certain," said Mr. Tuefy, "that Dr. Cronin was a dead man by 2.30 o'clock on the night of Saturday, May 4. I do not believe that Mr. Lang was influenced by anyone to send the reports he did, and anyone who says so does a great injustice to him. His motive may have been otherwise, but no one in Chicago believes that Dr. Cronin was here after May 4."

Mr. Tuefy further said that he had come to Toronto on his own hook and was not representing any society, but as a friend of the dead doctor he wanted to have the matter sifted thoroughly.

BEST IN THE WORLD.

Further Great Cures of Skin Diseases by the Cuticura Remedies.

Boy one Year and a Half Old. Face and Body in a Terrible Condition, being Covered with Sores. Sulphur Springs fail. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I have used your CUTICURA REMEDIES in two cases where it proved to be successful. The first was in the case of a boy a year and a half old. His face and body were in a terrible condition, the former being entirely disfigured. [illegible] but he did not improve any. I was then advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which I did. He took one and one half bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, when his skin was as smooth as could be, and is to-day. I used the CUTICURA on his face and the CUTICURA SOAP in washing him. He is now five years of age and all right. The other case was a disease of the scalp, which was cured by washing with the CUTICURA SOAP and rubbing in the CUTICURA, one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT being used. They have proved successful in every case where I have advised the use of them. It is surprising how quickly a child will recover under their treatment. I have used them for any disease of the skin as being the best in the world. This is my experience, and I am ready to stand by my statement. JOHN R. HEBO, American House, Hagaustown, N.Y.

An Unbearable Skin Disease Cured.

I have been afflicted since last March with a skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with cankers and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial. I used the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and the RESOLVENT internally for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

PRICES AND PROSPECTS.

Leading Features of the Grain and Produce Markets at Home and Abroad.

Toronto, May 28.—St. Lawrence market very dull. The supply was small and the demand poor. The cold weather has sent the price of green stuffs up. No pork was offered.

Receipts of hay and straw were small and the demand poor. Hay sold at $12 to $15 and straw at $10.

Flour—Quiet as usual. Straight rollers are quoted at $4.05, extras at $4.25, and patents at $4.75 to $5.25.

Wheat—Very little doing. On Call No. 2 fall was offered at 94 cents outside, and 95 cents here, with no bids. None was offered on the street.

Barley—Is quiet. On the street one load sold for 51 cents. Holders still ask 55 cents.

Peas—There is a fair demand. Sales outside are reported at 64 cents.

Oats—No change in prices. Light are quoted at 29 cents and heavy mixed 30 and 30½ cents on track. On the street one load sold at 31½ cents.

THE CROP OUTLOOK.

From all over Ontario come cheerful reports of the growing crops, and the outlook is very bright. The warm weather, with rain and cool nights and occasional cold days, has been just what was needed. The hay crop will be larger than ever before. It is so far advanced now that nothing can hurt it. The only contingency that can cause loss to the farmer will be continued wet weather when hay-making time is on. With good weather all the grains will yield a rich harvest. From now on the state of the weather will be a factor in the business situation of Ontario, and will be watched with interest.

BELGIANS COMING TO CANADA.

A Syndicate Ready to Settle a Colony on the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Quebec, May 27.—M. E. Hawebouck, a prominent Belgian ex-senator and leader of the delegation which recently interviewed Premier Mercier regarding the settlement of Belgian colony in this province, has returned to town in consequence of the Government to be made fully informed respecting the details of the proposed colonization scheme.

M. Hawebouck said on to-day that the deputation which he headed represented a large Belgian company, with a capital of 4,000,000f., which had been formally recognized by the Belgian Government. The company offers to bring out to this country at least 200 families within the next two years and to settle them here in the capacity of tenants on the seniors of a Belgian colony, providing the government will give them free lands and the necessary means of communication with it in the shape of roads and bridges. The land asked is on the south shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, well adapted for agriculture and running to the bank of the river, for the proposed settlers are expert fishermen as well as farmers. The company, for its part, proposes to assist the new settlers in the erection of necessary buildings and also to furnish them with cattle, provisions for the first season, fishing nets and other supplies. As a guarantee that they will execute their part of the contract the promoters of the scheme offer to deposit 500,000f. with the Government. M. Hawebouck thinks that the population of Belgium is so rapidly outgrowing the limits of the country and the means of support that it has to offer them that the success of the scheme would certainly be followed by an immense Belgian immigration to Canada. The Government is favorably considering the proposal, which, in the national and fishing interests of the province, they still consider of tremendous importance. There is every reason to believe that the delegation will there unanimously its early completed visit to South America to the interests of Belgian immigration.

A Victim of Unrequited Love.

St. Thomas, May 27.—Joseph Mills, aged 28, an English orphan employed as a farm hand with Farmer Morrill of Dalwarre, and the 17-year-old daughter of Farmer Rathwell to marry him. (From Our Own Correspondent.)

Last Saturday night our usually quiet village was roused by some unearthly noise in the northern part which proved to be some intoxicated people, who were carrying on at a great rate and using some very foul language. Such proceedings should not be allowed.

Mr. John J. Sousee has left our village and gone to try his luck elsewhere. We wish him success.

Owing to the fine weather of late the crops are looking well and the farmers anticipate a large harvest.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

Symptoms—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. Swayne's Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulcerations, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. In the spring of 1888, I had inflammation of the lungs, which left my lungs weak. I had a very bad cough, and resolved to try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It did me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken, and I can faithfully recommend it." Miss Mary Kay, Virginia, Ont. 2w21d

The Appetite

May be increased, the Digestive organs strengthened, and the Bowels regulated, by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills are purely vegetable in their composition. They contain neither calomel nor any other dangerous drug, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, became greatly debilitated, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well.—Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored.—C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and, at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—Philip Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but gave me increased vigor, and restored my health.—John Lazares, St. John, N. B.

A Coming Entertainment.

The Wilkesbarre News-Dealer says:—"There was a large audience at the Music Hall last evening to witness the second representation of Howorth's Hibernian. The entertainment given was even more pleasing than on the previous evening. The rattling dancing and singing were up-to-top, and the presentation of the scenes in the Green Isle was very much enjoyed. To those who were here over the big pond it was nearly as much of a treat as a trip to the scenes of their childhood. Mr. Howorth's excellent troupe will always be welcomed to Wilkesbarre." Howorth's double show, grand Hibernian and comedy company, appears at Bradburn's opera house next Tuesday evening. 1d

A Frontier Accident.

Shortly after seven o'clock this morning a horse owned by Mr. John Wahtenbahne fell into an old well and was got out only after two hours' hard work. The horse was attached to an egg wagon, and was driven into a shed next Bahbahn's grocery on Murray street. In fact shifted the load rounds over the old well in a corner of the shed, and the horse went down head first. Had it not been for a second covering about half way down the well, to keep out frost, the horse would have gone right to the bottom. As it was it dropped about 16 feet. A large crowd of men worked for two hours endeavoring to pull it out, and at last by means of a windlass pressed from the water company the animal was hoisted out, covered with mud and broken, but fortunately not seriously injured.

The Christian Alliance.

The Convention Opened at the Baptist Church — Consecration and Divine Healing Discussed.

TUESDAY, May 28.

At the afternoon sitting of the Convention of the Toronto Delegates of the Christian Alliance there was a much larger attendance than at the opening session. Rev. J. Salmon conducted the exercises, which consisted of hymns and prayer by Miss Mattie Gordon.

MRS. WALKER made an address. She said there were two chief injunctions of Christ—the first, "Come unto me," and the second—"Abide with me." Mrs. Walker, who was for a time pastor of a church in Providence, Rhode Island, related the steps she had taken in her full acceptance of Christ. When she was converted she was justified by faith; in taking the higher step she simply accepted what Christ had offered. Our fluctuations of religious experience resulted from not abiding in Christ. We should be constantin our devotion to Christ. The zeal that abode in Christ was satisfied with Christ, and the world was nothing to that zeal. If we abode in Christ we should be successful workers. The secret of the failure of those who had not had prayer answered, was their not abiding in Christ. When we pray we often fail to wait upon God, wait to give Him an opportunity to give an answer. Abiding in Christ gave great joy—only the joyful was the faithful and successful Christian. He that abode in Christ was always safe.

After a solo, "Nothing but the blood of Jesus," sung by Miss Mattie Gordon,

Dr. ZIMMERMAN related the incidents of his conversion and his struggles towards a higher Christian life. He compared his Christian life before he was sanctified to the course of a sailing vessel, which was affected by outside influences and compelled to tack, etc., and his sanctified condition (with the Holy Spirit in his heart) to that of a steam boiler placed in the same hull.

THE FIRST HEALING TESTIMONY.

When Rev. Mr. Salmon announced that "a dear sister who had been healed" would testify a flutter of new interest pervaded the audience.

MRS. FLETCHER, of Toronto, a pale spirituelle lady, with delicate face and form and a timid nervous manner, said that her maiden speech was very embarrassing and she rather haltingly detailed the steps she took before the point of speaking in public. When, however, she came to a narrative of her ailment she became conversational and consequently fluent. Two years ago she was suffering from a tumour in her right side, requiring a surgical operation which would probably prove fatal. As she faced this contingency the thought came to her that the Lord might spare her life. She asked the Lord for a token and opening her Bible the first words she read were, "I will heal him," and a second trial afforded another similar assurance. For two years she lay in bed growing worse. She pointed out the futility of will power to accomplish what Christ's strength supplied. When she was at the lowest point, though she had no knowledge of divine healing being led by God's help alone—God gave her a verse—"Jesus Christ maketh thee whole," and she felt that the process of healing was going on. From that time she began to improve, trusting in the Lord, and after two months her physician called and she refused to have his help. In three weeks she, trusting in Jesus, read the blessed words, "Woman thou art loosed from thine infirmity," and, though she had not stood on her feet for a year, trusting in Jesus, she arose and walked across the room. The next day she rose and dressed and since that time she had no return of her infirmity. Still for a year and a half she had terrible headaches. She went to the Christian Alliance Convention and found Christ there; she opened her heart and took the Saviour in as the Sanctified and He made her whole, and for the past three weeks she had been a marvel of health to all her friends.

Following her address came a well sung sacred solo by Miss Mattie Gordon, prayer by Rev. F. C. Parker and the benediction by Rev. Mr. Huff.

EVENING SESSION.

At night the church was filled with an interested congregation.

The first speaker was Miss Mattie Gordon, of Nashville, Tenn., who expounded the gospel, and proceeded to justify the doctrine of sanctification. After quoting passages of Scripture, she instanced two examples of sanctified living. Adam lived we know not how many years without sin, and he was of the same flesh and blood as we. It might be said in reply that he did not inherit sin as we do; but the next example answered this objection. Jesus Christ was made in the form of sinful man came on this earth and was tempted as we are, yet lived without sin. It might be said this was because Jesus was the Son of God and could appeal to Him in all his troubles. That was just the point after we are converted we become the sons of God, of the very same composition as Jesus, and if Jesus was brought off constantly victorious cannot we, by appealing to the Father in Heaven, be sinless too? The Scriptures frequently spoke of God the Father as being continually with us if we believe in Him; therefore to doubt the possibility of the sanctification of man was to doubt the Scriptures. The speaker quoted John viii, 28-36. In conclusion she urged her Christian hearers to arouse to a sense of their duty towards the unconverted. She spoke of the struggles of Christians in not trusting God to keep them, because they did not see their glorious privileges through Christ Jesus of not only keeping the old nature in subjection but of having it cast out altogether.

HEALING TESTIMONY.

The chairman announced that Mr. Fenton would the next night explain the doctrine of divine healing, but would just then content himself with giving his own experience.

Mr. FENTON said he was glad that he had experienced the truth of divine healing, not only because of his restored health, but because of the sweeter spiritual experience which brought him to yield himself to the Holy Ghost and become sanctified. Before that he had been a very weak sort of Christian. His first experience was once after he had returned from a trip through Bruce county to his home in Hamilton. While travelling his attention had been drawn to the prevalence of a disease, a sort of spinal meningitis, which the doctors could not cure, and the victims soon died after seizure. One night after he returned home he was seized with the symptoms of the epidemic, a cramping of the fingers and a burning pain in the spine. He awakened his wife, and together as they lay in bed their prayers were united in his behalf. Soon the pain left him, his fingers straightened out, and he fell into a refreshing sleep, waking next morning with new physical and spiritual vigor. After this he became engaged in gospel work in the city of Hamilton, and about this time attention began to be drawn towards divine healing; but the truth that God had provided for the bodies as well as the souls of men was not generally accepted. One young man was dying with consumption and had firm faith in the passage in St. James:—"Is any sick among you, let him call together the elders and let them pray for him and anoint him with oil in the name of the Lord; and the prayer of faith shall save him and he shall be raised up." But he could get no one, not even the ministers, to pray with him. Continuing his experience, Mr. Fenton said he went from Hamilton to Toronto, and was taken sick with hemmorrhage. He went to the Bermudas for a winter but came back little improved. A couple of years afterwards he was seized with apoplexy, followed by congestion of the brain. He was very bad with it, and could scarcely walk at times; on after struggling against the disease for a long time, the doctor decided him to go to New York. On the way there he always quoted prayer request now on hand and he determined to at once seek out Dr. Simpson, a former resident of Hamilton, who was now practising divine healing in New York. The speaker here took occasion to protest against the term "faith cure," as applied by some newspapers. It should be called divine healing, and nothing else. He found Dr. Simpson at the tabernacle expounding this very doctrine, and after listening he was convinced, but came away with the determination of going again next week. In the meantime he had several bad seizures, but he lived till the week was up. He went again, and though scarcely able to sit through the meeting on account of his head, he did so, and at the last went forward with others, was anointed and prayed for in the usual way, and instantly healed. This was to him an evidence of the Holy Ghost indwelling in our bodies.

Mr. WM. GOODERHAM, who came down from Toronto last night especially to attend this meeting, was the next speaker. He said these things were intended to stir Christians up and get them to read their Bibles. Referring to the cure experiences, he told of his wife up to the commencement about three weeks ago just to see if there was anything in it or not. He was convinced and went forward with others, was anointed and prayed for and went home. He was troubled with his old complaint, heart disease, which made him often stop and catch his old of things to steady himself, more than over the remainder of the day, but next morning there was a marvellous change. He felt the divine power thrilling all through his body, and since then he had been doing very hard work but felt as vigorous as a boy. He said people were saved by believing, and they were kept saved by looking to Jesus. So it was with divine healing, and if one exercised faith in a healing Saviour. He would give that one physical power. He also referred to the remarkable cure of Canon Wilberforce, and said a person could not be physically healed until they were first spiritually healed.

The meeting dispersed after singing and prayer.

WEDNESDAY, May 29th

Mr. W. J. Fenton gave an address on the subject of "Divine Healing." He said the Bible (both dispensations) was full of this subject testimonies of healing were valuable but the word of God on the subject is available to mistake. Sickness was caused by sin alone. All were brought under the curse of a broken law, and the remedy was Christ who was "wounded for our sake." Caused a curse was then brought on a tree. In the Old Testament we found nothing about any remedy for disease, except going to God himself. The scriptures pointed in support of divine healing, were Deut. xviii. 15; James, ii, 10; Exodus, xv, 25; Psalms, vi; xxvii; 2-14; xviii, 7; xxxi; xii; 1-7; xci; ciii; 17.18; cxix; Proverbs ix; ii Kings xx. There was not a single instance of any sick person being sent to a physician for healing. In the New Testament we find recorded that Christ spent as much time in healing the sick. Passages quoted—Matt. iv, 23; viii, 14, 15. All consequences of sin, sickness included, were covered by the atonement of Christ—our bodies as well as our souls. To show that divine healing did not cease with Christ's leaving the earth, the commission to the Apostles was quoted, and this commission was given to all of God's children; also John xiv, 12; John xvi, 23; Acts x, 37. To show that this power did not cease with the early church the speaker quoted James v, 13.

HEART DISEASE HEALED.

Mrs. HARRIS, of Toronto, said that two years ago she took the Lord for her physician. Her ailment was a serious form of heart disease—valvular complication, an incurable affection, liable to produce death at any moment. She was led to learn to God; she took Him at His word and she was instantly restored to health, and since that time she had been healed of congestion of the lungs by divine power.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

Mrs. HATCH, of Toronto, had been prostrated for nearly thirty years with a paralytic stroke, and had exhausted every resource of science without result. At last she trusted the Lord fully and was healed, though it was ten days before she could walk about; but she relied too much on her own help and she relapsed, and lay in bed for months. She again believed and trusted, and was healed three years ago, and since that she had enjoyed robust health.

Mrs. EASTLAND, also of Toronto, testified to having been healed of a chronic state of ill health for years. At a Christian Alliance meeting she took the Lord as her healer. She felt no immediate physical effect, but during the night God filled her room with His glory and she was healed, and afterwards trusting to her own strength she was stricken down, and again trusting was instantly healed, and was blessed with health ever since.

Sanitary Matters.

An Informal Meeting of the Board of Health—Dr. Charlton's Assessment.

There was to have been a meeting of the Board of Health last night, but not a sufficient number of members to form a quorum were on hand. However an informal meeting was held, at which the members had quite a discussion as to the sanitary condition of the town. There were present Messrs W. H. Moore, Wm. Fagilsh, Dr. Fife, T. E. Bradburn and Dr. Clarke, Medical Health officer.

Dr. Clake make a verbal report of the amount of sanitary work done since the beginning of the year. There were 4 cases of diphtheria and 3 of scarlet fever placarded and isolated, as a consequence of which there was not more than one case in each family afflicted. There was only one death from diphtheria, and that originated in the back country. There is not a case of infectious disease in town at present.

The deaths for the first 4 months last year were 58; for the corresponding term this year, 37.

The Sanitary Inspectors are making house-to-house calls this spring and are still at work. So far 354 yards and 229 waterclosets have been inspected, 52 dead animals buried, 2 pig pens removed, and 92 notices served for removal of nuisances.

Dr. Clarke stated that he had examined considerable well water this spring and found is much better on the whole than it was last year. Regarding the complaints about the south ward school well, he said it had been closed up and the children got good water from a well across the street.

Dr. Clarke was instructed to write to Brantford to ascertain the kind of earth closet in use there. They are said to be a success there, and if so the Board would like to introduce them here.

The medical health officer was also instructed to prevent the circulation of books from the Mechanics' Institute amongst families having infectious diseases, and in case any afflicted families have books to see that they are disinfected before being returned to the library.

In future all physicians will be required to report cases of typhoid fever, as well as diphtheria and other infectious diseases.

Juvenile Baseball Match.

A spirited game of baseball was played on Tuesday afternoon in the Central Park between a picked nine of the scholars of the South Ward school and an ambitious nine from Mr. Walkey's room in the Central school. The game was played after school hours, and the contest was for a regulation ball presented by Mr. Stirling, head master of the South Ward school. The South Ward boys won the ball after a keenly contested game. The following is the names of the teams and the score of each:—

Police Court.

WEDNESDAY, May 29.

The case against T. Cavanagh for violation of the Crooks Act was further enlarged for a week.

A young man named Thos. McGinty, who is apparently able-bodied and healthy as one could be at his age, was arraigned in court charged with not supporting himself and being without employment. His father stated that Thomas worked a little, but spent all his money, and lived at home on his parents' bounty. The magistrate threatened to send him up to gaol, but the young man promising to do better and support himself in future he was allowed to go with a warning.

Chas. Johnston was arraigned as a vagrant. For several nights past Johnston has been a free lodger at the police station, and yesterday morning on being let out "borrowed" Constable Stewart's rubber coat. He wore it all day and came back with it at night, when he again sought rest in the cells. He told the magistrate a long lingo this morning about the "hard time" he had encountered, how he was robbed of all his savings at Port Arthur and had walked all the way here looking for work. The magistrate replied that he would find plenty of work on the hill, and committed him to gaol for a month.

A man from Smith, was arrested last night while drunk. He was so completely intoxicated that he was unable to look after his horse or buggy, or even himself. It being his first offence he was allowed to go.

The girl Lizzie Davis, accused of the larceny of $10, was discharged on suspended sentence. Mr. Elias Burnham offered to make good the amount if necessary, asking that the girl be allowed to go, as some Christian ladies had promised to look after her. The $2 change and the rings were ordered to be returned to the girl from whom the money was stolen, the magistrate saying that if the prisoner could not make restitution herself he did not see why anyone else should be asked to. He addressed the girl in kind terms, warning her against future misdemeanors, and discharged her, saying that he did not like to send her to gaol, thereby perhaps doing her irreparable injury. A representative of the W. C. T. U. and a Salvation Army lass were present, and took the girl in charge. She is being kept at the S.A. barracks for a few days till her friends in Belmont can be communicated with.

The entering wedge of a complaint that may prove fatal is often a slight cold, which a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral might have cured at the commencement. It would be well, therefore, to keep this remedy within reach at all times.

"Faith Cure."

This is the age of specialists. We have specialists in religion, medicine, law and business. The idea is that a man can only do one thing well. If he does that he does well. The foremost and most successful business specialists we have are Hawley Bros., the well known tea merchants. They make a specialty of teas. They therefore buy in large quantities and at low prices, and thus their customers get the advantage of the best goods at the lowest prices. Every kind of tea grown is to be found at their George street shop, together with fine coffees, spices, allied goods. 3d123

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. BUYING THE BABY CARRIAGE.
THE MOTHERS' FIRST EXPERIENCE.
"I like to wait on the mother for the first time who comes to elect a triumphal chariot for her darling. Coy, diffident and cautious at first about making her ideas and wants known, she gradually unfolds like a flower of the morning in her work of love. It is charming to watch her eagerness in the matter, or the tenderness with which she feels the dewy cushions. Some young mothers, still unable to control the blush of commingled pleasure and shyness that indicates unfamiliarity with their new experiences, bring their babies with them. It simply surpasses the powers of an Amelia Rives to gush over the pretty way she fits the baby in the buggy, and softly wheels it to and fro the whole end of the store to see how it goes."

AT TURNBULL'S

The heavy spring trade is on us. Every day from this out we shall be kept busy in supplying the needs of our old and new customers.

Scarcely a day passes but we receive packages of New Goods especially in Millinery and Millinery Trimmings. New Shades taking the place of those bought earlier and at lower prices. To keep posted in what is being shown, you need to visit our establishment weekly.

Like an opening rose, our Dress Goods and Trimmings show new beauty at every sight. The colors blend together so perfectly—sage and nile green [illegible] favor. Terra Cotta, Blue Greys, Dove and Resida Shades are as much sought after as ever. In our Black Stock department we are showing a new voile of Cloth, fine light and durable—just the dress for an old lady. Much nicer than nuns' veilings.

It needs to be repeated and remembered that in all goods and most emphatically in Cotton Goods we keep a most complete stock. Where will you find the variety of cottonades, shirtings, tickings, &c., you find with us. Not less than 60 different patterns of Shirtings,—all prices, as low as the lowest.

At the Ribbon Counter you are almost always sure to find exactly what you want for dress and millinery use.

Our stock of Neck Frillings is very choice, being different to what is usually shown. We import them from a different market.

When house cleaning you may require a new Carpet. We show a beautiful Tapestry at 50c. Lower and higher qualities according to good value.

The rush is on us in our Tailoring department. Our stock of Tweeds and Worsteds please the eye and pocket of our patrons. Best satisfaction in a fit if always given.

THE DRIVER CONFESSES.

WOODRUFF'S STORY OF THE NIGHT OF MAY 4.

He Saw Cronin Enter the Cottage and Waited for His Dead Body to be Brought Out—Chronology of the Plot.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Woodruff has made a confession. He claims that he was not directly connected with the murder of Cronin, but simply acted as the driver of the wagon which disposed of the dead man's body in the catch basin where it was found. Woodruff went armed with detectives and located all the places where the chief acts of the tragedy occurred. He said he was directed by persons, whose names Capt. Schaack refuses, to go to Dinan's stable and obtain a horse and wagon. He was instructed to drive to the neighborhood of the cottage and he also knew for what purpose he was to go there. Woodruff arrived at the cottage 20 minutes before Cronin was driven up, and placed his horse and wagon at a point where he could keep his eye on the front steps. He saw the white horse rig containing Cronin and his conductor arrive, and $ of an hour thereafter the man known as Williams opened the door of the cottage and gave the signal by stamping on the porch.

Woodruff drove up, and, assisted by the third man, the trunk was loaded in the wagon. The two men followed the trunk and directed Woodruff to drive eastward to the lake to a point which Woodruff has designated. The wagon headed for the lake, and in its depths the trunk and its contents would have been deposited had not an interruption come from policemen. The men got out of the officers' way by taking a circuitous route, which again brought them to the Evanston road.

They had been driving for nearly an hour with their ghastly load when one man suggested the sewer. They stopped and took off the top of the manhole. It was found to be impossible to drop both trunk and body into the manhole. The key to their trunk had been lost and so they could not unlock it. Williams therefore kicked in the lid. The three lifted the body out and deposited it in the sewer as it was found. The trunk was again placed in the wagon. It was intended to take it back to the cottage and burn it, but hearing the noise of wagon wheels, one of the men threw the trunk out and they drove rapidly away. At Fullerton-avenue the men [illegible] good night.

The remainder of the confession is devoted to Woodruff's wanderings with the horse and wagon in his attempt to sell them. He states there is nothing in the woman story he told. The enormity of the crime never dawned upon him until he had taken part. King and Fairbairn had nothing to do with the case.

Willard J. Smith, at the suggestion of Chief Hobbard, to-day visited the jail and was confronted with Detective Coughlin. The latter denied that this was the Smith for whom he had ordered a carriage at Dinan's livery stable on the day of Dr. Cronin's murder. The chief said to Smith: "I guess this ought to settle it." Smith is not under arrest.

As the days go by the evidence of the conspiracy becomes more and more apparent. The police have now got all the scraps of evidence into something like an intelligible shape. The puzzle is becoming clearer and when a few missing pieces are supplied he who runs may read. All who wish to try to solve the puzzle should look at these few facts. First, take the mere sequence of events and see how one fits into the other to prove the plot. Here is the chain of events:

Feb. 20—A room is hired by "J. B. Simmons" at No. 117 Clark-street, directly opposite Cronin's office, whence his every movement could be watched.

Feb. 21—"Simmons" buys furniture and a trunk, which are taken to his room.

March 19—"Simmons's" room is found unoccupied and all his furniture taken away.

March 20—Frank Williams, thought to be J. B. Simmons, hires a little house in Lakeview from the Carlsons.

April 29—P. O. Sullivan, ice-dealer, living near Carlsons, has a large number of cards printed.

May 1—Sullivan makes a contract with Cronin by which latter is to attend ice-dealer's men whenever one of those cards is sent to him.

May 4—Cronin is sent for to attend one of Sullivan's men and is never seen alive again by his friends. Subsequently his friends made inquiries, and reports were received from various cities that Cronin had been seen alive, but his friends insisted that he had been made away with.

May 5—A bloody trunk is found in Lakeview.

May 10—Charles Long claims to have talked with Cronin in Toronto.

May 11—F. T. Woodruff is arrested for horse stealing, and says that on the night of May 4 he was hired to take a trunk out of Chicago, and that it contained the body of a woman. He added that Dr. Cronin was present when he took the body away.

May 23—The body of Dr. Cronin, bearing marks of a fearful crime, found in a sewer in Lakeview.

May 24—It is discovered that the house in Lakeview hired by Frank Williams was the scene of the murder. The trunk is identified as that bought in February by J. B. Simmons. The furniture in the house was also bought by him at the same time and moved before March 19 from the rooms in Clark-street. Daniel Coughlin, a detective, is suspected of complicity, or at least of trying to lead the police off the scent.

May 26—King, described by Woodruff as an accomplice, captured in a disorderly house.

May 27—Several other suspects are arrested, but nothing new of any importance is discovered. P. O. Sullivan arrested. King discharged; not the King wanted.

May 28—Coughlin, Iceman Sullivan and Woodruff indicted by the grand jury for murder.

May 29—Woodruff confesses to having driven the wagon with Dr. Cronin's body in it.

If one wishes to go further now, let him look at the list of men concerned in the whole terrible affair, and then he knows as much as the police [illegible] with details, any one of which may of course lead to the detection of the murderers, but which are not necessary to a full understanding of the general story. Here they all are:

Under Indictment.

COUGHLIN, DANIEL—Detective, who made arrangements for hiring of horse and buggy supposed to have been used by murder ers.

SULLIVAN, P. O.—Iceman with whom Cronin had contract, and to visit whose men Cronin was lured away on fatal night.

WOODRUFF, F. T., alias BLACK—Horse-thief drove wagon for murderers.

Under Arrest or Surveillance.

JORDAN, HARRY—Of Philadelphia; a bartender at hotel where McGeehan lived; thought to have information of McGeehan's movements.

MCGEEHAN, PETER—Of Philadelphia; allowed to have been a spy upon Cronin and to have threatened to kill him; suspected of participating in crime.

SULLIVAN, A. M.—Irish leader of world-wide fame, ex-President of Land League in United States; watched by the police.

WHALEY—Detective; thought to have aided Coughlin in covering up crime; under surveillance.

Wanted by Police.

SMITH, TOM—Said to have hired carriage in which body was removed.

WILLIAMS, FRANK, and his brother—Hired house in which murder was done.

SIMMONS, J. B.—Bought trunk in which body was removed, and the furniture found in the house.

All these three names are probably false.

FRAWLEY—Acted mysteriously in Chicago; is again said to be Mercoff, the dynamiter.

KING, W. L.—Accused by Woodruff of having hired him to drive wagon; a young man whose name was arrested but discharged.

ALLEGED FRAUD.

A Hamilton Real Estate Agent Charged With Altering a Receipt.

HAMILTON, May 29.—Yesterday afternoon Detective MacKenzie arrested Joseph S. Ralston, real estate agent, on a warrant charging him with altering a receipt from $50 to $500 with intent to defraud. A preliminary examination took place before Police Magistrate Cahill. The complainant in the case is Artemesia Winslow, St. Louis, Mo. In her evidence she swore that Ralston had been doing business for her for the past three years. He collected rents and moneys on her account. In February, 1888, he gave her a check for $50 in St. Louis, and she gave him a receipt for the same amount. A receipt was shown to her, and she said the typewriting was hers; but when she signed it the amount was $50 and not $500. She understood from her lawyer that the defendant stated that he had paid her $500, but she was positive that he had given her only $50. No further evidence was taken. The hearing was adjourned until Thursday, the prisoner being released on furnishing bail in $1000 and two sureties in $500 each. Mr. Ralston emphatically and unreservedly denies the charge, and says that he will have no difficulty in disproving it.

WAR SEEMS IMMINENT.

EXTENSIVE MILITARY PREPARATIONS IN RUSSIA.

Alexander's Jealousy of the Triple Alliance—Mysterious Intrigues in Servia—Railway Passengers Barred to Russia.

LONDON, May 29.—The military preparations throughout Russia are more extensive now than at any time within the past seven years, being on a scale to suggest that war is imminent. The military party profess to believe that peace will be maintained till the end of the year, although it is admitted that Russia is watching with jealous concern the development of the triple alliance, and it is even asserted that commanders have already been designated for service in the event of war. It is generally believed that this warlike attitude of Russia is partially due to King Humbert's visit to Berlin, and the close political relations believed to have been furthered thereby between Germany and Italy. It is quite likely, however, that other causes contribute quite as largely to this activity. The riots reported from Belgrade are undoubtedly cutting out work for the Russian soldiery, and it is only a question of time when active Russian interference in the affairs of Servia will supplement the intrigues of Russian diplomatic agents. The head of Russia is plainly discernible throughout these complications. The immediate cause of yesterday's rioting was the offence taken by the Russian party at the Progressists proclaiming the justice of the dismissal of the Metropolitan Michael. Russian influences are at work to bring about a state of anarchy in Servia, with a view to making this the pretext for open interference.

Burnt to Death.

LONDON, May 29.—A sleeping coach on an express train between Bestburg and Weltau caught fire yesterday while the train was running at a high rate of speed, and before the passengers could be rescued two of them were burned to death.

Fatal Rumor of the Pope's Death.

ROME, May 29.—The public was startled to-day by a report of the death of the Pope. The rumor reached the Houses of Parliament and caused much excitement among the senators and deputies. On enquiry it was learned that there was no foundation for the rumor. His Holiness is enjoying good health and attends daily to his duties.

Why Lord Lytton Was Absent.

LONDON, May 29.—In the House of Commons last evening Mr. Edmund Robertson, Liberal member for Dundee, moved to reduce the Foreign Office vote, the purpose of the motion being to take the judgment of the House in the matter of the absence of Lord Lytton, the British Ambassador to France, from the opening ceremonies of the Paris Exhibition. The withdrawal Mr. Robertson thought, was the result of a prearrangement, in view of the simultaneous action of the other Powers in ordering their representatives to hold themselves aloof from the ceremonies.

Sir James Ferguson, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, denied that Lord Lytton's absence was due to any pre-arrangement with the continental Governments. The House, he said, was of the opinion that England should not take part in the celebration of the centenary of a revolution regarding which parties in France remained bitterly divided. When a nation was unanimous in celebrating a great event there was no impropriety in the Queen's representative being present, as in the case of the celebration of the centenary of the Independence of America. But there was no analogy between France and America. Furthermore, there was no dissatisfaction in France at the absence of Lord Lytton from the opening of the exhibition.

Mr. Gladstone said he acquitted the Government of acting in concert with the other Powers in the matter, but thought the Government was blamable for its error of judgment. Lord Lytton ought to have been present.

The motion was rejected by a vote of 283 to 190.

Stormy Scene in the Belgian Chamber.

BRUSSELS, May 29.—In the Chamber of Representatives to-day Prime Minister Beervaert made a long speech in which he strenuously denied that the Government was plotting the ruin of citizens through the agency of police spies. He accused the Opposition of making political capital of the recent trials at Mons, a charge that elicited applause from the Right.

M. Bara accused the Prime Minister of organizing a conspiracy. He demanded an inquiry and moved a vote of censure against the Government. The motion was rejected.

A resolution expressing confidence was then adopted by a vote of 78 to 32. When the ministers left the Chamber the crowd outside hissed them and shouted "Resign! resign!" Several persons conspicuous in the demonstration were arrested.

EXCITEMENT AT VICTORIA, B.C.

British Warships at Esquimalt Ordered to Behring Sea.

VICTORIA, B.C., May 29.—Great excitement exists here consequent on orders just received by the naval fleet at Esquimalt to prepare to sail for Behring Sea early in June. The fleet consists of the war ships Amphion, Icarius and Swiftsure, and these three will be joined in a few days by the Champion, which has sailed from England. All preparations are being pushed forward in a hurry. Two torpedo boats are now being refitted at the dockyard.

The expedition will sail under the command of Admiral Hennge, and it is thought here that a rupture is imminent unless the United States should fall back from the position she has assumed in declaring her absolute sovereignty over the sealing fisheries in Alaskan waters. This fear is heightened by the recent action of the United States Government in sending men-of-war to Behring Sea.

A number of sealing vessels have left this port during the present month for these fisheries under the direct assurance of the naval authorities that they would be protected in case of necessity. The Amphion arrived here a fortnight ago. She is considered the finest warship on the Pacific coast. She steams twenty knots an hour and is thoroughly equipped with the latest improved machinery and armament. Many people here think that the fleet will leave at the earliest possible moment, and further developments are anxiously looked for.

The News Received at Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Nobody to-day at the State and Navy Departments expressed alarm at the news that the British North Pacific Squadron had been ordered to Behring Sea. Commodore Walker said none of our war vessels had been ordered to Alaska except the Thetis, which has been patrolling the Alaskan coast for several summers. He did not think Great Britain and the United States would war about the seal fisheries.

THE ORANGE GRAND LODGE

PROCEEDINGS OF THE SECOND DAY'S SESSION.

The Brethren Enjoy a Sail Excursion in the Morning and a Banquet in the Evening—A Stormy Discussion.

GODERICH, May 29.—The annual session of the Supreme Grand Orange Lodge of British America was continued to-day. The number of delegates was largely augmented. This morning at 9 o'clock the brethren met at the Court House and headed by the town band marched to the harbor, where arrangements had been made by the town authorities for a lake excursion of the members of the Grand Lodge and their friends on the Campana. The party enjoyed a 3 hours' sail.

The session met at 2 o'clock and discussed the Jesuits' Estates Act and the vote in the Dominion House. A stormy time was had and at 6 o'clock, as no sign of closing the debate was apparent, an adjournment was had until 10 p.m.

At 8 p.m. the banquet to the Grand Lodge was held in the Palace Roller Rink, the attendance being large. The chair was occupied by County Master Floody. This was the toast list: "The Queen," "The Governor-General," M.W.G.M. Bro. N. Clarke Wallace; "Grand Lodge of British America," Bros. Hon. Mackenzie Bowell and Parkhill; "The Town of Goderich," Mayor Buller; "Provincial Grand Orange Lodges," Bros. W. W. Fitzgerald, T. B. Collins, C. R. Gordon, Major Armstrong, Stewart Mulvey, J. L. Hughes, M. E. Cochrane, M.P., Mr. John White, M.P.; "The Press," Messrs. Creighton of The Toronto Empire, McGillicuddy of The Huron Signal, Mitchell of The Goderich Star and Doran of The Orange Sentinel.

At 10 o'clock the Supreme Grand Lodge met according to adjournment and resumed the debate on the Jesuits' Estates Act.

A GIDDY YOUNG GIRL.

Her Extraordinary Matrimonial Adventures—One Taken, the Other Left.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—On Saturday afternoon J. S. Pritchett, a young man from Idaho, and Miss Bammie Imel, a young lady residing near Carthage, called at the office of the County Recorder for a marriage license, after which they went to the office of the Probate Judge, by whom they were married. A few minutes after they left the Recorder's office a young farmer named Ulmer entered in an excited manner and asked for them, and after commanding the Recorder not to record the marriage license just issued, rushed out. The newly-married couple had gone to a dry goods store, and there the wife was left while the husband stepped out to attend to some business. During his absence Ulmer made his appearance and, informing the young wife that her mother was waiting outside, seized her by the arm and hurried her out into the street. The couple went several blocks, the lady stopping now and then to offer a protest, but she was silenced in a tone of authority by her companion and led hurriedly along. They finally entered a grocery and, after some earnest conversation, they entered Ulmer's buggy, standing near, and drove rapidly away. In the meantime the husband returned to the dry goods store and, finding his wife gone, started in search. Supposing she had returned home in company with Ulmer he started there shortly after dark, vowing vengeance on the man who had stolen his wife. He returned to the city, being unsuccessful in finding the runaway couple. What course he will next pursue he does not know. He and his stolen bride are cousins. Receiving an invitation to the wedding, the Idaho lover suddenly put in an appearance, and the wedding with its sensational denouement was the result.

STRUCK WHILE PREACHING.

An Evangelist Hit and Blinded by Lightning.

DANVILLE, Ill., May 29.—The people in the country near Hillsboro', Fountain County, Ind., have just erected and dedicated a new church. Rev. J. C. Meyers, a prominent evangelist, residing at State Line, Ind., has been conducting a revival. Last evening the church was crowded to suffocation and the windows were all thrown open. About 8 o'clock, as Mr. Meyers was in the midst of his sermon, a small rain cloud passed over the church. It only discharged one bolt of lightning, which first struck and completely destroyed the church chimney, and then, dividing into branches, ran down the stove pipes, melting and destroying the stoves and tearing up the floor before it entered the ground. All the congregation were more or less affected, but none of the injuries were serious. The main branch of the bolt, on leaving the chimney, descended the pulpit chandelier, directly over the head of Mr. Meyers. He jumped high in the air, and, turning a somersault, fell heavily, face downward, on the floor. He was thought to be dead and it was more than half an hour before he showed any signs of life. On the back of his head, where the bolt struck, is a seared place an inch in diameter. The face is burned, eyelids badly puffed and eyesight gone. His friends brought him to Danville this morning for treatment, and although able to distinguish large objects, the oculist thinks blindness will be perpetual.

What Two Honey Harbor Men Found.

MIDLAND, May 29.—Two young men from Honey Harbor, Arthur Finch and Andrew Simcoe, were in town the other day, exhibiting part of a collection of ancient relics which they had dug out of a grave in that vicinity. They had found two or three skeletons—in one the remains of a red man or white man has not been determined—and along with the bones were three silver armlets, four silver bracelets, four ear-rings, a dagger handle bearing a curious inscription, a necklace of fifty silver rings, about twenty buckles and similar articles. The bones had lain in the resting place for many years, as was shown by the roots of a neighboring tree having penetrated one of the skulls. The latter will be brought to town, and our surgeons will determine whether it be that of an Indian or a white man.

The place where the find was made is the site of a whilom Indian village, and bears of some rough attempts at fortification. The goods are of Montreal manufacture, and were without doubt bartered to the Indians for furs, etc.

Lakefield.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Passed off very quietly in the village, being observed as a general holiday. In the morning the Fortescue band played a few selections on the streets before leaving for Bridgenorth, where they had an engagement, and the fire company took their new engine down to the wharf for an hour's practice. About 9 a.m. an excursion train from town arrived with a number to spend the day up the lake or with village friends. The steamers Ormiston and Mary Ellen took a large number up the lake, where from all accounts they spent a pleasant day. A cricket match between a team of men from the village and the employees of the Lakefield Lumber Co., also played in the morning, when the former were defeated by the mill men. A team ball match between married and single also took place on the village square, which went to prove that married life is not conducive to proficiency in handling the bat (not broom-stick), as the bachelors came off victorious. In the afternoon the Warsaw and Lakefield base ball clubs had a match, which our friends from the "Cabbage of Chemong" came in the worst of, winding two goals to love by the home team. In the evening a social was held in the T. C. A. Hall by the ladies of the Presbyterian church, which was largely attended, and Her Majesty's 70th birthday well done brought to a close in Lakefield.

OUR NEW FIRE ENGINE.

On Thursday evening the new Waterous steamer "Lakefield" was taken out for her first test by the fire company, being placed at the edge of the small pond and connection attached with 400 inch nozzle. The throw of distance of 180 feet, and the following morning she did even better work. Abandoning two streams the same distance, to the satisfaction of her many admirers, while several who had opposed her purchase on the ground that she was too light, or that no one but practical engineers could manage her, were forced to change their opinions and admit she was doing grand work, much better than in her trial tests, and that our volunteer engineers were quite capable of running her in a satisfactory manner. She has been removed to a temporary building erected alongside the council chamber until such time as the new fire hall is completed.

ELECTRIC LIGHT.

The building for the electric light works, being erected where the woollen factory stood, will be finished in a few days and the necessary machinery put in. Wires are now being strung to the mills of the Lakefield Lumber Company and a number of our shops, and ere long we will be up to the age. Then for a street railway to Peterborough, and we will soon equal, if not rival, our county town, while our sister village of Ashburnham remains a child in arms, dependent on the big town for everything except street watering—which she does without—and we're in the bush woods, too.

SAWLOGS.

The large sawlog drives of the Lakefield Lumber Co., Messrs. Gilmour & Co., and Messrs. Bowlen, from Jack's Lake, have now reached Otter Lake. Part are being carried there, the remainder will be carted a short distance above the village, and it is expected in a short time the mill here will be running night and day.

THE IRON BRIDGE

is at last receiving the much needed repainting by the County Council, Mr. Wade having charge of the job. On Saturday one of their large saws was by some means dropped over into the swift current below the bridge midstream, where it could be seen at the bottom. Determined to recover it and not daunted by the swift water, Mr. Wade had a rope secured to poles, and tied himself securely into the rigging, went below, and after half an hour's hard work, with the aid of a pike pole he succeeded in recovering it. A large number of spectators watched the operations, and few, if any, would have willingly placed themselves in Mr. Wade's position.

COURT OF REVISION.

The Court of Revision on the assessment roll for the year 1889 was held in the council chamber on Tuesday evening, the Reeve in the chair and all members present. After taking the required declaration, Mr. Brown was appointed clerk.

John Crickmore appealed against his assessment of lots on Hunter-st. reduced $100. J. C. Sharp appealed his house on Water-st. reduced; confirmed. John Hall, appeal his grist mill; reduced $600.

Court then adjourned, after the Reeve had declared the roll was then confirmed and duly signed and attested.

GRANITE QUARRY.

Messrs. Fraser, of Toronto, have decided to go on and open up the granite quarry on the Lynch property in Dover, three miles from the village. Mr. Wade, formerly in charge of the Burleigh works, will be in charge, and is already making preparations for their active operations. The blocks will be dressed on the ground and shipped from the Lakefield station.

RIFLE MATCH.

A challenge from the Warsaw Rifle Club to shoot for a barrel of flour, was received by the Lakefield Club a short time ago and accepted. The match came off at the Lakefield butts on Tuesday afternoon, and was shot during a gale accompanied by hail and rain, rendering the position of the marksmen anything but agreeable, and making fine scores quite impossible at long ranges. The Lakefield Club came out ahead by 17 points, the following being the score:—Lakefield Club, Warsaw, 68. A return match will take place at Warsaw in the near future.

FROST.

The frost Tuesday night did considerable damage to the early vegetables etc., in this vicinity. Gardens about suffered to a considerable extent. Early beans, corn, potatoes, etc., will have to be replanted.

QUEBEC CONSERVATIVES.

The Convention at Montreal—Sir John on the Seas of Adversity.

MONTREAL, May 29.—The first representative gathering of the Conservatives of this Province since the advent of the Mercier regime occurred to-day, the occasion being the convention which was opened at St. Lawrence Hall at 10 o'clock this morning. Hon. Jean Blanchet, M.L.A. for Bonaventure and a prominent member of the Boss-Taillon ministry, occupied the chair. Among those present were Sir John Macdonald, Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Sir Adolphe Caron and Hon. Mr. Taillon. There was a large and enthusiastic attendance of the leading Conservatives of the province.

Resolutions were adopted that Confederation should be maintained with all the rights and liberties of the different provinces; declaring in favor of the continuance of the National Policy, as being based upon the interests of Canadians, and to oppose all attempts to hand over the regulation of our tariff to a foreign power;

To approve the railway policy of the Government as a bond of Confederation and a profitable expenditure. To approve the supporting of the railway policy by the subsidizing of a line of first steamers, thus making the shortest route between Europe, Asia and Australia.

It was decided to make four electoral districts—Montreal, Quebec, Three Rivers and Sherbrooke—each having an electoral committee with a general committee who shall deal with questions of a general character.

Resolutions of confidence in Sir John Macdonald and Hon. Mr. Taillon, and denouncing various acts of the Mercier Government in Quebec, particularly the administration of the Crown lands, were also adopted.

Sir John Macdonald was then introduced and was enthusiastically received. He said he felt proud of the confidence expressed to him by his friends of Quebec. The adversity of the party in local affairs for some time past did its good also, for in adversity true men were formed and tested. Fortunately with this short period of adversity was also short to be turned into a long period of unbounded prosperity. He then referred in complimentary terms to Mr. Taillon, whom he qualified not only as one but a thoroughly honest man, and if under his leadership victory still was secured it would certainly not be his fault. It was their sacred duty to redeem the province. They must put their shoulders to the wheel and raise the system of bribery and corruption.

Sir Adolphe Caron and Hon. Mr. Chapleau also spoke.

MR. TAILLON BANQUETTED.

Nearly 1000 Persons at the Vehicle—Speeches by Mr. Taillon and Others.

MONTREAL, May 30. The banquet to Hon. L. O. Taillon, leader of the Opposition in the Quebec Legislature, was held in the Lower Bleck last night. There were nearly 1000 persons seated at the tables. Joseph Tasse presided.

Hon. Mr. Taillon, in reply to the toast of his health, gave an elaborate review of provincial politics. He was also presented with an address from the electors of Montcalm.

J. J. Curran proposed the health of the Old Chieftain, Sir John Macdonald, and the veteran Premier made one of his characteristic speeches. He was presented with a handsome Celtic cross of flowers by the Conservative ladies of Montreal.

Among the other toasts were "The Parliament of Canada" and "The Quebec Legislature." The gathering did not disperse till after 2 o'clock this morning.

The Late Senator Ryan's Successor.

MONTREAL, May 29.—The appointment of Edward Murphy to the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Hon. Thomas Ryan will be gazetted on Saturday and will be well received generally on account of the wide esteem in which he is held.

CUT DOWN BY FROST.

Grain, Vegetables and Grass Destroyed in Some Counties Counties.

REGINA, May 28.—A very heavy frost prevailed here last night. Ice formed from ¼ to ½ of an inch thick on standing water. All the early garden vegetables are badly frozen, and it is thought the fruit is gone also. Barley and peas, especially on low land, are frozen. This morning, being cloudy, will be in favor of the crops generally.

CRESSLEY, May 29.—Last night's frost has dispelled all prospects of anything like an average fruit crop this season in this locality; barley, peas and corn are badly cut down on low lands and it is feared that the hay crop has been considerably damaged. All kinds of vegetables and root crops have suffered more or less.

HAMILTON, May 29.—The frost of last night did considerable damage. From the surrounding country very unfavorable reports are received. The greatest damage was done to the grapes, tomatoes, potatoes and beans, and all the vegetables that are above the ground. The tomatoes are seriously effected. Everything was well advanced and looked promising, and the frost came at an unpropitious time. At Burlington it was particularly severe and the grape vines were badly hurt. The grain was not so seriously affected. The frost touched the barley and the rye, but the wheat was not injured much.

ST. DAVIDS, County of Lincoln, May 29.—Thermometer registered 5 below freezing last night. Potatoes, corn, beans, tender, are cut down. Grapes appear to be hurt, but cannot definitely report that early.

GUELPH, May 29.—In this locality garden stuff has been severely frosted, flowers, grapes, vegetables and bushes all being severely damaged. The barley on low lands has been badly nipped, while that higher seems escaped better, though somewhat injured. The wheat crop is not far enough advanced here to suffer.

Three Long Years in Bed with Spinal Disease.

Charles Cluthe, Esq., Toronto,

DEAR SIR.—I wish to inform you how I am getting on. I am splendid now. I can walk any distance. I work all the time. My mother and I do all the housework for a large family. You know when you came to measure me I had to be held up, but after you put the limbs unseen on I could walk through the house and the third day I could walk out. I feel that I can never thank you or say enough for you, when I think that for 3 long years I was a poor helpless girl, sometimes in bed for four months at the time and getting worse every day. Anyone wishing further particulars refer them to me. Thanking you once more, I remain your true friend. MATTIE GRAHAM,

Rupture.

DEAR SIR.—I am only to inform you that the Scientific Truss you put on me last spring has been all I was recommended and more, as it has healed my Rupture, which I was troubled with for a long time, and not having been able to work on account of it; but on hearing of you, I came and had you adjust this Truss, which gave me great relief at once, as I was able to work at any kind of work. I would not part with it for ten times the price if I could not get another. For further proof refer them to me.

I remain, yours truly

MUNCASTER'S

THE JOHNSTOWNE STAGE.

By ROBERT HOWE FLETCHER.

Then she looked up half repentantly, half curiously, evidently thinking that this was a very odd stage driver. At last she said: "You are giving yourself needless trouble, but as you insist upon it, I will take a cup of tea and a little milk for the baby."

If her purpose was to rid herself of his importunities, her request was very effective. Tea! Milk! The lieutenant returned to the station house thoroughly pulling his mustache. "Now," he said to himself, "that is like a woman! Why couldn't she ask for oysters and champagne, or something reasonable—but tea! milk!"

"Nate," he said, doubtfully, to the hostler, "you don't happen to have such a thing as—as tea about the house, do you?"

"Why not?" replied the station keeper, promptly.

"Oh, I don't mean any sage brush wash," rejoined the lieutenant, impatiently, "I'm talking about store tea."

"Well, that's what I'm talking about," said Nate; "a Chinaman gave some to Frank the other day."

"Nate," said the lieutenant, drawing out his flask, "take a drink!"

And in a few minutes he was carrying out a cup of tea and some crackers to the water trough, unconscious of the elaborate wink with which Nate, restored somewhat to good humor by the unexpected drink, favored the elderly passenger. "He's hell!" said Nate, admiringly.

The lieutenant found the object of his solicitude as he had left her, [illegible] the discomfort of her condition with silent patience.

"You are very good," she said, more gently, but in the same even tone of a superior. Evidently this woman was accustomed to being waited on.

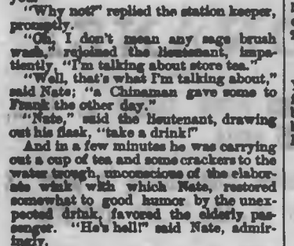
"I suppose that condensed milk will do for the baby," said the lieutenant; "have you anything to put it in?"

Yes; certainly, the baby had a bottle. But, alas! a search for the bottle revealed the fact that it must have been jolted out of the stage while the mother was unconscious.

"What shall I do!" she exclaimed, her fortitude suddenly forsaking her. "He won't drink out of a cup, and I am afraid he is hungry now." Evidently tears were gathering behind the veil, tears that she never would have shed for herself.

"Oh, I can fix that easy enough," said the stage driving lieutenant, consolingly.

Quickly entering the house once more, for time was getting precious, and the beans were getting cold, he seized an empty beer bottle, washed it out, filled it with a hot mixture of condensed milk, drove the cork in tight, pared the cork down to a convenient size, and pierced it with a saddler's awl; then tearing a piece of linen from his handkerchief, he padded the cork and tied it securely.



"There," he said, "I think that will work."

"There," he said to the disconsolate mother, "I think that will work. I once raised a litter of puppies on no better one."

The lady, who had smiled rather hopelessly at this cumbrous device, anxiously watched the infant's attempts to manage it. The lieutenant, notwithstanding that the beans were getting cold, looked on with almost as much interest. An expression of contentment gradually stole over the baby's face. Evidently the bottle met with its entire approval. Then the mother gave the child a quick, delighted hug, and with a little, low laugh of relief turned her veiled face to the driver and said, but this time her voice trembled: "You are so kind! How can I thank you?"

But he only replied with an amused smile, and instinctively, though carefully, lifting his hat, he went back to his supper of cold pork and beans, while the eyes behind the veil followed him with a look of increasing surprise and curiosity.

The stage, when it left City of Rocks, was twenty minutes late. But the jack rabbits, which laid back their ears and scudded at its approach, found it no mean rival that afternoon.

"I'll bet $10 he makes it up afore he gits to Stony creek, and not turn a hair!" said the station keeper to himself. Then, after a further contemplation of the fast receding cloud of dust, he added in a more reckless tone: "I'll bet $10 he makes it up afore he gits to Dick Day's ranch, and not turn a hair!" As no one accepted either of these generous propositions, he shook his head and remarked confidentially: "There ain't many kin copper the lieutenant, now, if you year me!" and, disappearing in the gloom of the interior of the house, City of Rocks was left once more to the hot silence of its fantastic square.

* * * * * * *

The sun was setting behind Bald Butte as the Johnstown stage approached the five mile grade which led down to Stony creek. The air was growing cool. The rabbits, looking like sage bushes in motion, flitted about in the twilight. A colony of prairie owls, pusting themselves at intervals along the road, accompanied the intruding vehicle through their territory, the head of the line rising as the stage drew near and gravely flying down to take station at the foot, until, the danger departed, they solemnly withdrew. Down the grade the stage went with the driver on the brake and the horses trotting loosely in their harness, until, with a final jolt and lurch, they fetched up on the bank of Stony creek. The driver swung himself off the box, and taking an iron pail out of the boot, proceeded to water his horses. The elderly passenger emerged from the stage with a tin cup, and scooping up some of the bright, cold water from the pebbly mountain stream, gallantly took it to the lady inside. Then, helping himself, he said to the driver, with a laugh:

"I judge you've been making up time. Ye herded 'em along pretty lively down that grade."

The lieutenant nodded his head. The position beneath his genial humor had responsibilities that discouraged sociability. Going to the other side of the stage he got out his overcoat and put it on. It was a garment made of rough, blue cloth, long and voluminous, with a cape that came to the waist. Quickly slipping his revolver from its holster, he put it in a fearful pocket in the lining of the coat. This pocket, apparently made for the purpose, dispensed with the ostentatious [illegible] and cumbrous method of holding the pistol on outside. These preparations for the night completed, he mounted to his place, and made the usual warning inquiry, "All set?"

"If you don't mind pard," said the passenger, "I'll ride outside for a ways, and give the lady a chance to stretch."

"I don't mind," said the lieutenant, and the elderly stranger clambered laboriously to his side. The horses' hoofs splashed and the stage wheels crunched their way through the stream, while the water frothed and foamed noisily about the wet felloes and through the cleaned spokes. Then hoofs and wheels came out on the soft bank, and the stage sped silently along the damp bottom land. Dark forms shaped themselves into cottonwood trees and alder bushes, and dissolved again into the darkness, while the fresh odor of the earth and growing things scented the cool night air.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. The semi-annual spring match of the Victoria Rifle Association was held at Lindsay yesterday. There were several Wimbledon men present. Capt. W. H. He fired 36 shots, scoring 183 out of a possible 190. Major S. Hughes won the county cup.

Did Not Resign.

Mr. T. Dixon Craig, the member for East Durham, left Port Hope yesterday for California. Before leaving he published a notice to the effect that he would not resign his seat for the present, but would wait a few months to see if his absence would be permanent. The rain will cease before that time and the general public will have a chance to see the finest display of fireworks ever seen in the Midland district. Remember to-morrow night.

The Christian Alliance Convention.

Miss Mattie Gordon delivered an address at the prayer meeting in St. Paul's Church last evening. Considerable interest is being aroused in the convention which is being held in the Baptist church. Miss Gordon and Mrs. Walker are continuing the convention to-day. Some thirty Christian people have accepted the doctrine of divine healing and been anointed for their reformation, some have been converted and others spiritually enlightened. The Convention has been a success.

Bazaar and Pic-nic.

The annual grand Pic-nic of Emsmere in connection with St. Martin's church, Rev. Father O'Connell, pastor, will be held in Chemong Park, Bridgenorth, June 11th. A fine programme of sports and games will be presented. The ladies of the parish will provide their usual splendid spread, and in every respect this will be the model picnic of the season. Don't forget that no pic-nic affords half so much fun and enjoyment as the annual Emsmere pic nic. Admission to grounds, including dinner, 50 cents, children half price. Your clover won't be fit to cut on June 11th, so knock off work and have a holiday of enjoyment at the Emsmere pic nic at Bridgenorth. dw

The Queen Anne Fountain.

For the first time since its erection the Brown memorial fountain in Central Park sported water yesterday. The tap at the George street main had been broken off and the water forced its way to the surface of the road. The water company dug down to the main and repaired the break, and for a few minutes the water was turned on the fountain. The basin soon overflowed, the orange have been plugged up in some way, and the water ran down the face of the fountain. Mr. Hendren, superintendent, informed the EXAMINER that as soon as the town provides a proper supply the company will supply the water. He proposes that the escape water be conducted to a cesspool built a few feet in rear of the fountain, far enough away not to endanger the foundation. If an ice-box were placed under the sidewalk and the water passed through it on the way to the fountain, there could be a continuous flow of cold water during the hot summer days. Both these suggestions could be carried out at small expense to the town. The company would supply the water free and then the fountain would become useful as well as ornamental.

HEALING AND HOLINESS.

Continuation of the Christian Alliance Convention.

Some Remarkable Cases of Divine Manifestation—The Convention Continues To-day and To-night—A Number Join the Alliance—Answers to Questions.

WEDNESDAY, May 29.

AFTERNOON SERMON.

There was a large audience at the church for the afternoon meeting. After the usual devotional exercises,

Mr. SALMON said, in answer to a question founded on II Cor. xi., 14, they did not teach that after the baptism of the Holy Ghost, Christians were not liable to sin. In answer to another question, he said there was no need that people should die of any particular disease. When their work was done the Lord could take them to Himself. People took medicine to heal themselves, not stopping to inquire whether it was the Lord's will. We could know whether it was God's will to heal us by the assurance of the Bible.

Mr. FENTON answered the question as to the possibility of dying away with death by faith by saying that it was declared, that it was appointed to men once to die. Death was not a calamity. The Bible gave a specific promise as to the healing of disease.

Miss MATTIE GORDON, in answer to a question as to how one could tell where to find a verse of the Bible applicable to any particular case, said a reference Bible or a concordance would be an assistance, in default of which the guidance of the Lord was to be relied upon.

Mrs. WALKER explained that when we went to God in prayer we should not at once rush off without giving Him a chance to answer. She believed God was as willing to talk with us as with His servants of old.

Capt. FISHER said at one time he did not believe in "divine" healing. On the train en route to Europe he accepted Christ as his healer, and he crossed the ocean and was saved from seasickness, though others were sick all around him. Afterwards he was healed at once of a fever. He sent for Rev. Mr. Salmon and he was anointed and prayed over and he was instantly free from all pain and fever. Continuing, the speaker spoke in support of the doctrine of divine healing.

Dr. ZIMMERMAN used Jeremiah xxxii, 27, showing that when the devil had possession of a man he was sinful in all his ways, but when Christ took possession of a man his life was righteous and he could not commit sin. Sin could find no place in "the temple" of the Holy Ghost. He related how he had been cured of bronchial trouble and acute indigestion by faith in God. He was healed repeatedly by the same means; his children were also healed, as well as his wife, and also a child ill with consumption, which was healed by prayer and anointing.

Miss MATTIE GORDON related the incidents of her conversion and her healing of serious illness through faith, taking God at His word. The benediction by the Rev. Mr. Salmon brought the meeting to a close.

EVENING SERMON.

The church was again crowded at night, though a heavy rainstorm prevailed without.

After the opening exercises Dr. Salmon answered a question which had been put to him, asking him to explain why the Apostle Paul, in view of this divine healing, was not cured of the "thorn in his flesh," mentioned in Cor. xii, 7-9. Dr. Salmon read the passages quoted, and said they would indicate that Paul gloried in his infirmity in order that the power of Christ might rest upon him; for God said to him, "my strength is made perfect in weakness." Whatever Paul's trouble, it did not prevent him from moving about and working for God, and that was sufficient. Dr. Salmon said divine healing was not "faith cure" nor "Christian Science," but divine power coming down from God on the ground of the atoning blood in answer to our faith. If we cannot rise up to the perfect faith, to assure our healing, then take the imperfect and secure the best remedy possible.

Rev. Mr. PARKER asked Dr. Salmon's opinion of the passage in I Tim., iv, 23:—"Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine often infirmities." The doctor replied that the wine was ordered as a nourishment; it is believed unfermented wine was used at the table in those days. Just as in these days a man with whom the water did not agree might be told by his physician to drink tea for nourishment, so Paul advised Timothy. The Doctor believed that whatever the Lord told us to do we should do.

Rev. Mr. Parker then asked if Christian doctors prescribed these remedies would it not be as good as getting it any other way.

Dr. SALMON replied that doctors were the gift of God in many instances and have been used of God, but he preferred going directly to the Lord instead of using remedies that come through any human agency. He had found out as a simple fact that when he did so the Lord healed him. He didn't object to anyone going to a doctor, but advised them to apply directly to the great physician above for healing.

He did not reply to Rev. Mr. Parker's inferred point, which was, why did not Timothy apply for this healing instruction directly to God instead of receiving it through John, who thus acted in the capacity of the Christian physician to-day.

In answer to another question concerning the part of the apostles in the healing of the sick, Dr. Salmon said that John and the others healed in the name of Jesus; they merely acted as mediators between the great physician and the patient. In this connection he loved to accept the truth of the passage, which says that anything that is asked of Him in Jesus' name He will give us, and was not the healing of sickness one of the things promised in God's word? Divine healing was not only a Bible doctrine but a precious fact. The speaker said he had taken the Lord for his all, in all the past three years, and had never asked any man for a cent nor received any salary, yet God sustained him and had been pleased to use him.

DR. SALMON'S EXPERIENCE.

Continuing, he told of how he had been first led to give his attention to this truth. He had heard a number of experiences and was convinced. He was first cured of an inflamed eye, and afterwards prayed for a dying child and it had been healed. Then he was himself afflicted with a terrible disease. He was anxious to be anointed and prove the efficacy of divine healing, but no one in Toronto held that belief, so he determined to go to Buffalo. But he had no money, when he received by letter $14 from a friend in New York, stating "The Father tells me you need this." He started for Buffalo to attend the convention. At this time the smallpox was raging in Montreal, and passengers on trains to the States had to be vaccinated. The doctor on the train told him if he would promise to have it done on his return to Toronto he would enter him as vaccinated, and he did so—but, Dr. Salmon added, I prayed to God not to let it take, and He didn't. At Buffalo he was anointed and prayed for and healed of his disease. He was thankful more for the spiritual blessing it brought him than for the benefit to his body. He then began holding meetings in Toronto, and the result was the Lord called him out for the work. He left his church, not knowing where he would go, nor did he know what he was going to do to-morrow. He was published in the newspapers as being "deranged" for being a faith cure crank, but he had the sweet consciousness of divine approbation. Since the 20th of October, 1888, he had been working on this line, and in that time several had colds, of which God had healed him.

Mr. FENTON made an announcement concerning the collections, which were made to pay the expenses of the [illegible] who had brought them here. None of the delegates received a cent of money for coming here; they were glad to do it for the Lord.

CURED OF CANCER.

Mrs. WALKER, of Providence, R. I., said she was attracted when her attention was first called to the doctrine of divine healing, last a year ago last August; she attended a [illegible] to God in prayer, and was convinced of the truth of it. She accepted God as her divine healer. She had studied the theories of divine healing and Christian science, and knew one was God's healing and the other was the devil's counterfeit of it, though no doubt many are healed by the Christian science doctrine. Christian science was, she claimed, contrary to God's word; it denied the personality of our Lord. The Bible says our bodies are the temples of the Holy Ghost; Christian science says our bodies are to be ignored, they do not exist at all. Last February she became troubled with a cancer. A few weeks ago she came to Toronto, the pain growing worse. They were holding meetings, and she was assisted by Dr. Salmon. That night she was awakened from her sleep by a voice, which she heard distinctly, saying, "I am thy Lord thou hadst thee." She replied, "Yes, Lord." The voice repeated the same words, and again she said, "Yes, Lord." Then the voice said: "Test me; put thy hand on the place of thy trouble." She did so, and behold the cancer was gone, which had been giving her such pain was entirely gone. She cried out for joy, and had been praising the Lord ever since. She urged her listeners to pray to God to be shown the truth, and she felt sure the spirit of God would reveal to them what He had to others, and they, too, would accept Him as their divine healer.

Dr. SALMON corroborated Mrs. Walker's statements concerning her cancer. Was it any wonder, though they were cancers on some points, that they blessed God for these wonderful results?

OPINIONS OF THE ALLIANCE.

Mr. FENTON, who is secretary of the Christian Alliance, explained some opinions of the four-fold Gospel, Christ the Saviour, the Sanctified, the Healer, and the Coming Lord. He said he believed sanctifying meant consecration, and explained that the subject intended to consecrate himself entirely to God after he was healed. They must, however, be careful to make no statement that sickness was always the result of individual sin, for God may take from cradle of training his children, though sickness may be a direct chastisement for sin. God had made provision for sickness in any case, and in taking it to God it should always be accompanied by self-judgment. Speaking of the Christian Alliance, he said it was not opposed to or intended to interfere with any of the churches, but was composed of Christians of all denominations. There have been conventions held in Hamilton and Toronto, and the object of the Alliance is simply to show people their blessed privilege of accepting Christ as their spiritual and physical healer. Their conventions were attended by blessed results, and they looked for good results in Peterborough. Members of the Alliance were expected to subscribe to these three truths—Christ as Saviour, Sanctifier and Healer. The fourth subject, Christ as our coming Lord, was left an open question. No fee was required from members. There were also colleges established in connection with the Alliance for the training of missionaries, who were sent out to heathen countries.

Before the meeting closed a number of those in the audience signified their intention of becoming members of the Alliance by writing their names and addresses on cards which were distributed amongst them and returned to the Secretary.

At the close of the afternoon and evening meetings "associating services" were held at which about thirty residents of the town were associated for healing, but so far no results are known.

THURSDAY, May 30th.

At the continuation of the proceedings of the convention of the Christian Alliance this morning there were present all the delegates except Rev. J. Salmon, Capt. Fisher and Dr. Zimmerman. After the usual devotional exercises,

Mrs. WALKER said the Lord had given her as a subject, Romans viii, 32 v., for a few remarks upon God's willingness, to give us all things, as he had freely delivered up his son.

Miss MATTIE GORDON gave a bible reading upon

THE SPIRIT AND NATURE OF PRAYER.

Attention was first called to Gen. xxxii, v 24, et seq, and it was pointed out that contrary to popular impression, the angel of God wrestled with Jacob, not Jacob with the angel, to show the latter his weakness. The Lord sent chastening and sickness, to prepare His children for a greater blessing We had no power with God till our own strength was gone. We were in a position to prevail with God when we were at our weakest, humanly speaking. Jacob prevailed by giving up all—dying to himself. If we surrendered at first we should receive the blessing without the struggle. Real prayer was not wrestling with God, but God wrestling with us. Prayer was not begging of God, but taking according to our faith, according to God's promise. We would not always receive when we asked, unless God saw that we were ready to receive the blessing. The speaker cited other portions of scripture to impress her remarks.

Mrs. HATCH related a personal experience to show that God sent sore trials to bring her to the place in which He wished her to be. For seventeen years and three months she was on a bed of sickness and suffering, and as soon as she took God at His word and believed she was healed. Since that, trusting in the Lord's strength, she had been sustained. She rejoiced that she had been worthy to be tried by affliction.

The meeting adjourned till 2.30 o'clock, to be followed by a meeting in the evening.

Bridgenorth.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The people of this village are feeling very indignant that some of the worshippers of Bacchus, who hail from Peterborough, are already beginning to violate the Sabbath's sanctity by taking the steamboat here for a trip up the lake.

After the shameful spectacle of a crowd of tipsies passing through our streets screeching and howling like demons just as the quiet worshippers were leaving the house of prayer Sabbath before last, many are expressing themselves very strongly about some steps being taken to have to have such outrageous work stopped. Those who encourage the thing, and those whom we would like to call gentlemen, were we warranted in so doing, had better consider what result may follow if the indignation of the community is fully aroused.

Streets Between Two Juries—Rho Coming Local Elections.

TORONTO, May 29.—Dick O'Leary, who piloted Colombo to victory for the Queen's Plate at the Ontario Jockey Club's meeting on the 24th, yesterday morning lodged a complaint against Charley Fleak, another jockey, for threatening him. There has been bad blood between these two since last spring, when Fleak was arrested for the alleged nobbing of Harry Cooper, the winner of the glasses on that occasion, and which horse O'Leary was training.

An inmate in the Toronto Asylum named Jean Nicolet escaped yesterday morning while out with a working party, and has not been recaptured.

Lieutenant-Col. Dawson and Major Delamere, of Toronto, have been detailed as examiners in Toronto in connection with the Royal Military College examination.

The report that at a meeting of the Ontario Reform leaders yesterday, at the Reform Club, it was decided to bring on the local elections in October next is discredited in circles where matters of that kind find interest, though an early session of the House next year is highly probable.

About twenty-five plasterers' laborers are still on strike. One more firm signed the agreement with the men yesterday, leaving ten firms still holding out. The strike can last only a short time longer.

The Master Bakers' Association has agreed to meet the Executive Committee of the Journeymen Bakers' Union on Thursday evening to hear their statement of the grievances, on account of which notice was given yesterday that there will be a strike on Monday next.

The standing of the two Toronto medical schools in the recent examinations of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, so far as could be learned yesterday, was as follows: In the final examinations the medical faculty of Toronto University sent up 28 candidates, of whom 23 passed and 16 were rejected (57 per cent.). In the primary, out of 65 candidates 38 passed and 27 were rejected (42 per cent.).

As far as could be gathered last night from Dr. Geikie, Dean of Trinity Medical School, it would appear that that school passed 20 or 40 of her candidates in the final exams and in the primary between 35 and 40 passed.

It is worthy of note that Mr. [illegible], a Trinity man, was the only candidate who took honors.

For the past four or five days there have been rumors along the Esplanade that a woman had been drowned in the bay on the morning of the 24th. A water dog owned by Daniel O. It would appear that the dog in question when taken down for its morning swim [illegible] and that Mr. Brooks believed that there was a tragedy concealed beneath the waters of the bay.

The Canadian Institute was largely attended yesterday, [illegible] were [illegible] bestowed on the work of the Ontario Society of Artists. In the evening the annual meeting was held. "Faith Cure."

This is the age of specialists. We have specialists in religion, medicine, law and business. The idea is that a man can only do one thing well. If he does that he does well. The foremost and most successful business specialists we have are Hawley Bros., the well known tea merchants. They make a specialty of teas. They, therefore, buy in large quantities and at low prices, and thus their customers get the advantage of the best goods at the lowest prices. Every kind of tea grown is to be found at their George street shop, together with fine coffees, spices, allied goods. 3d123

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call. W. J. MORROW, 340 George street.

Now Is Your Opportunity

Also a large stock of sugars and other groceries bought before the recent advance in prices, of which the purchasers will get the benefit. Choice butter, fresh eggs, a good assortment of apples and other farmers' produce always on hand, including a large stock of first class potatoes, which is now being sold at 50c. per bag, delivered to any part of the town. tafw

BUYING THE BABY CARRIAGE.
THE MOTHERS' FIRST EXPERIENCE.
"I like to wait on the mother-for-the first time who comes to elect a triumphal chariot for her darling. Coy, diffident and cautious at first about making her ideas and wants known, she gradually unfolds like a flower of the morning in her work of love. It is charming to watch her eagerness in the matter, or the tenderness with which she feels the downy cushions. Some young mothers, still unable to control the blush of commingled pleasure and shyness that indicates unfamiliarity with their new experience, bring their babies with them. It simply surpasses the powers of an Amelia Rives to gush over the pretty way she fits the baby in the buggy, and softly wheels it to and fro the whole end of the store to see how it goes."

The heavy spring trade is on us. Every day from this out we shall be kept busy in supplying the needs of our old and new customers.

Scarcely a day passes but we receive packages of New Goods especially in Millinery and Millinery Trimmings. New Shades taking the place of those bought earlier and at lower prices. To keep posted in what is being shown, you need to visit our establishment weekly.

Like an opening rose, our Dress Goods and Trimmings show new beauty at every sight. The colors blend together so perfectly—moss sage and nile green still hold in favor. Terra Cotta, Blue Greys, Dove and Resida Shades are as much sought after as ever. In our Black Stock department we are showing a new voile of Cloth, fine light and durable—just the dress for an old lady. Much nicer than nuns' veilings.

It needs to be repeated and remembered that in all goods and most emphatically in Cotton Goods we keep a most complete stock. Where will you find the variety of cottonades, shirtings, tickings, &c., you find with us. Not less than 60 different patterns of Shirtings,—all prices, as low as the lowest.

At the Ribbon Counter you are almost always sure to find exactly what you want for dress and millinery use.

Our stock of Neck Frillings is very choice, being different to what is usually shown. We import them from a different market.

When house cleaning you may require a new Carpet. We show a beautiful Tapestry at 50c. Lower and higher qualities according to good value.

The rush is on us in our Tailoring department. Our stock of Tweeds and Worsteds please the eye and pocket of our patrons. Best satisfaction in a fit if always given.

THE VICTORIA UNIVERSITY FEDERATION TANGLE.

Bakers to Go On Strike—The New Law School—A Farewell Banquet to a Rejected Educationist.

TORONTO, May 31.—John Harrison, the boy who was struck on the head by a horse Wednesday, was too ill to appear in court yesterday morning to prosecute his assailant.

Geo. Adams was sent to jail for 60 days yesterday morning by the Police Magistrate for a savage attack on a woman named Lily Kelly.

The Board of Regents of the Victoria University and the Advisory Board met here to try and straighten the tangle in the federation scheme yesterday morning. Dr. Carman occupied the chair. Dr. Potts explained that he had now $60,000 on deposit and a promise of $264,000, also a letter of credit from a bank manager, through Hon. John Macdonald, for $25,000 and $4000 from Irving and Fred. Walker. A resolution was passed requesting the Senate to withdraw their opposition, 10 members declining to vote and the vote standing 24 to 0. Afterwards the Senate sat and by a vote of 26 to 3 passed this resolution:

That having heard the request of the joint meeting of the Board and Advisory Committee and in view of the perils of further delay both to the harmony of the church at large and to the financial and educational interests of the college, this Senate do now comply with the request of the Board of Regents presented to our meeting Nov. 21, and the Senate is willing and do hereby concur with the Board of Regents in giving the necessary notice to federate with Toronto University and pray the court to remove the Board of Regents from the injunction in so far as it is granted on our behalf. That the Chancellor and Registrar be directed to lay a copy of this resolution properly attested before the court.

It is claimed by those who did not vote that the Senate has no power to meet outside of Cobourg.

On Wednesday afternoon the friends of a gentleman whose name they refused to have published, informed Esplanade Constable Williams that he had been missing for several days. He was accompanied by a liver and white retriever, and seeing in the papers the curious actions of a dog on the Esplanade, they connected his disappearance with it. Mr. Williams called at the residence of Mr. Brooks, No. 261 Jarvis-street, to see if he could learn anything about the animal. He was there told that it was a gentleman of the same name as Mr. Brooks who had been interested in the dog, and further that it was not his but one that had followed him home. The officer cannot find the Mr. Brooks wanted.

York-street circles were plunged in grief yesterday when it became known that Harry Dalton, Tom Jones' partner, had died the night before in the General Hospital. Dalton, though but 29 years of age, had a record in police circles, and was the faithful chum of Paddy Rats. Tom Buckley, the murderer of Bertha Robinson, and others of that ilk. The immediate cause of his death was inflammation of the lungs. His funeral expenses are being paid by his old associates and he will be buried on Sunday. The police hold a warrant for his arrest as a vagrant.

There was a large attendance of the benchers in Osgoode Hall yesterday when gratifying progress was made in reference to the important question of legal education. Mr. Æmilius Irving, Q.C., presided, and the master numbered a score. At the last meeting a committee was appointed to report on rules for the proposed Law School. This report was presented and fully discussed yesterday. Substantially it was on the basis of the propositions, the tenor of which had been approved at previous meetings of the Benchers. With a few slight amendments the report was adopted. The rules will be promulgated and the Law School may now be considered as accomplished fact. The result of the meeting was regarded as highly satisfactory. The legal profession generally are to be congratulated on the realization of a scheme which has long been discussed and which is calculated to place the legal education of the district on a more satisfactory basis.

A farewell banquet was given to Rev. Dr. J. H. Castle, the ex-President of McMaster, last night. Speeches were made by Hon. Oliver Mowat, Sir Daniel Wilson, Principal Caven, Dr. Thomas, Chancellor Boyd and others.

The crisis in the trouble between the journeymen bakers and the masters has been reached and to-morrow night the former will go out on strike, the two parties not being able to agree. Last night the executive committee of the Toronto Journeyman Bakers' Union met the executive committee of the Master Bakers' Association in Richmond Hall and sought to make an amicable settlement, but the masters refused to even read the proposed agreement of the journeymen, which was to this effect: That the Journeymen Bakers' Union be recognized as a body; that the foremen be paid $14 a week and journeymen $12 a week, instead of $12 and $10 respectively as at present; that 10 hours constitute a day's work, with one hour for meals, work to commence at 4 a.m. 5 days in the week and at 3 a.m. on the sixth day; that none but union men be employed; that one apprentice be allowed for every three journeymen; that the agreement should remain in force till June 1, 1890; and that a uniform hour for starting should be recognized whether labor was employed or not. The masters would take no stock in this proposal and the journeymen went up stairs where their union was in session and reported, the result being a unanimous resolve to strike. The journeymen number 160 and there were 128 present.

The Grand Orange Lodge of British America Concludes Its Labors at Goderich—Officers Elected.

GODERICH, May 30.—The Supreme Grand Orange Lodge resumed its sittings at 11 last night and continued in session until 5 o'clock this morning. The debate on the Jesuit question was continued, and the Grand Lodge was quite hostile camps on the matter. The report of the special committee was the ostensible ground of the controversy, and the issue at once was whether the Orange members of Parliament who voted with the majority should be condemned or not. The first clause of the report was laudatory of the action of the noble thirteen, and was approved of by the entire gathering. The second clause was condemnatory of the Protestant members, especially those who are Orangemen," of the Dominion Parliament who had voted with the majority on the question when it was before the House.

The entire lodge was in favor of censuring the Protestant members, but the special mention of the Orange members caused a division. In the afternoon John White of Hastings and Stewart Mulvey of Winnipeg had thrown bombs into the camp of the Orange members and their friends, and when the lodge met last night the excitement was at fever heat. Strong addresses in favor of censuring the Orange members were made by Major Armstrong, St. John, N.B.; C. R. Gordon, Sherbrooke; J. L. Hughes, Rev. W. F. Wilson, Ald. McMillan and Ald. Wm. Bell of Toronto, and the defence was taken up by George Taylor, M.P., for Leeds, Edward Cochrane, M.P. for East Northumberland, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, A. McKay, M. G. Hamilton, Robert Birmingham and Rev. Mr. Hellivell.

The vote was in favor of censuring the Protestant members of Parliament, but in the report furnished to the reporters the phrase "especially those who are Orangemen" was eliminated. The result of the vote was greeted with rousing cheers and singing the National Anthem.

The election of officers resulted as follows:
Grand Master—N. Clarke Wallace, Woodbridge (re-elected).
Deputy Grand Master—E. F. Clarke, Toronto (re-elected).
Grand Chaplain—Rev. J. Hallwell, Amethburg (re-elected).
Grand Secretary—Thos. Keyes, St. Catharines (re-elected).
Grand Treasurer—Mr. Anderson (re-elected).
Grand Lecturer—James Kelly, St. John, N.B.
Grand Director of Ceremonies—E. Fleety, Clinton.
Deputy Grand Chaplains—Rev. Rural Dean Cooper, B.D., Inverway; Rev. James H. Dill, Merritton; Rev. Wm. Walker, Fort Hastings; Rev. Mr. Minget, Arthur; Rev. R. W. Sibbald, Lloydtown; Rev. W. H. Perry, Angus; Rev. J. B. Wilson, Dunnville; Rev. R. H. Leech, Eldorado.
Deputy Grand Secretary—A. J. Van Ingen, Newcastle.
Deputy Grand Treasurer—Frank D. Stewart, Carmen.
Deputy Grand Lecturers — (Ontario West) Capt. Wilmore, Burford; (Ontario East) John McCaughey, Cobourg; (New Brunswick) Wm. Roxborough, South Bay, N.B.; (Quebec) R. McGloughlin, Montreal; (Manitoba) J. Morrow (Northwest Territories) J. Niblock, Alberta, J. E. Mill, Calgary; (Nova Scotia) John O. Gass, Shubenacadie; (British Columbia) Wm. Johnston, New Westminster.
Auditors—T. C. McAvoy, Belmont, and W. H. Stewart.

The work of the session was concluded this afternoon and the evening trains were crowded with deserting brethren.

The next meeting of the Supreme Grand Lodge will be held in St. John, N.B.

A Big Brewery Deal.

DETROIT, May 31.—The large brewery of E. W. Voigt of this city has gone into the hands of an English company. This negotiation was the oldest of the American brewery deals worked by the English investors and their agents, and Mr. Voigt himself has been in London for some time, evidently dispensing largely with the services of middlemen. The new joint stock company has a capital of $625,000, and in addition thereto $375,000 in first mortgage bonds will be floated. Mr. Voigt retains an interest of $150,000 in the company's stock, will probably take half of the first mortgage bonds in part payment for his property, and gets the residue, about $60 0,000, in cash. He will remain as manager of the property on a royalty of 10 cents per barrel of beer sold, the company proposing to double the present capacity of 37,000 barrels. Mr. Voigt guarantees a dividend of 12 per cent. on the stock of the company after a 5 per cent. fixed charges is paid as interest on $375,000 of bonds. Mr. Voigt and Col. John Atkinson, a prominent lawyer of this city, are the home directors with Durant E. Cardinal of Manchester, England; Percy C. Reid of Hatfield; Thomas Young of Eastbourne and Edward H. Cousens as the English directors. The latter gentleman is an attorney and the first three are themselves managers of large English-brewing concerns. The saloons which Voigt established and controlled in various parts of this city, about twenty-five in number, all selling the brewery's product, go over to the new company on leases of varying terms of continuance. The stock of the company was placed on subscription in London for about two full days, and was all subscribed within that time.

Brethren in Collision.

COLUMBUS, O., May 31.—A decided sensation was created on High-street by an encounter between Rev. Fred Bell, the singing preacher, formerly of Brooklyn and other cities, and Rev. Mr. Foster, a Methodist minister. Bell has, according to his own confession, led a checkered career, and was until recently pastor of the Central Christian Church. He sought to secure a divorce from and abandon his wife, now in Manchester, England, but in this has been checkmated, she having filed a counter suit. He was, a few months ago, allowed to resign as pastor of the church, but more recently has been expelled. He has been preaching Sunday nights in one of the opera houses, and because of his notoriety and theatrical bearing drew large audiences. A card was published signed by Thomas E. Foster, in which Bell was referred to as "the British matérial freak," and the intimation was made that Bell could not hope to win the confidence of people so long as he courted the applause of disreputable women and drank beer with them. Bell, while on a street car noticed Brother Foster in a buggy on the street, and jumping off, Brother Bell proceeded to do up Rev. Mr. Foster [illegible] to jerk him from the conveyance, and, as he said, "giving it to him in the neck." The belligerent Bell was nabbed by a burley policeman, and much to his chagrin and mortification, hustled into the patrol wagon and taken to the city prison, where he was soon after released on bail.

Killed By a Fall of Rock.

ISHPEMING, Mich., May 31.—Three Cornish miners, names unknown, were instantly killed by a fall of rock at the Humboldt mine, Humboldt, last evening. All were married and leave large families. The responsibility for the accident has not been fixed.

Political Ambition Ruined Him.

OTTAWA, May 30.—While planting potatoes at Manotan Springs, N. Y., W. E. Brown, Ottawa's absconding boot and shoe merchant, was arrested by a Montreal detective, assisted by a local officer. It is alleged Brown disposed of his goods with intent to defraud his creditors. The damages are laid at $10,000. Brown is held pending bail, which has been fixed at $7000. Brown's liabilities are heavy. Among the things which assisted in his financial ruin was a large outlay in an endeavor to become Mayor of Ottawa.

Lost His Shirt But Saved His Life.

WEST LORNE, May 30.—A man named Jennings, while cremating stoves in Waugh's factory, happened to come in contact with a shirt in front of him. As quick as a flash the bosom of his shirt commenced to wind and in an instant he was left standing shirtless, except the wrist bands. The shirt was scorched and the man's life saved. Monday Joe Lamore, working in the same mill, had the ends of two fingers cut off by the stave knife.

Stricken by Frost.

OTTAWA, May 30.—The most severe frost ever known here at this season of the year was that of Tuesday night. It damaged the potato crop, tomatoes, beans, cucumbers, garden sass, peas and in fact all tender plants. It is the hardest frost that the barley has turned pale. The wheat has been but slightly damaged. In open places where there was no shelter the ice was 2 inch thick.

Gitmore Knocks Out Paul.

HAMILTON, May 30.—Last night there was a ten-round prize fight held on the outskirts of the city under the auspices of the society of sports who are encouraging the finer art in this vicinity. The executive committee of the society secured Harry Gilmore to fight Paul Pastile, the veteran light weight pugilists of Toronto. There has been bad blood between the two men for some time, and by paying them a lump sum the society was able to secure their services to fight to a finish with their kid gloves for the distribution of about 200 accredited sports. Pastile had never fought before with kid gloves, it is said, but Gilmore is the hero of 100 scraps. The fight was a good one and resulted in Gilmore knocking out Pastile in ten rounds and punishing him badly. The participants in the affair are very reticent about it, but the principals are not so clannish. Pastile returned to Toronto this morning with two beautiful eyes and a face that looked as if it had been used as a target by a couch-pay pitcher who could not "on over the plate. Gilmore escaped in celebrating his victory by getting a nasty scratch on the nose. He was not punished to any extent. In the first round Gilmore knocked Pastile down with almost the first blow, but he came up pawsty, and it was a lively mill up to the end of the ninth round, when Paul's pugilistic ardor began to pall on him, and he tapered off to the tenth and threw up the sponge.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—A movement has been inaugurated here to erect a memorial hospital to Father Damien, on the Island of Molokai, where the heroic priest spent the last years of his life in ameliorating the condition of the lepers banished to the island by the Hawaiian Government, and where he recently fell a victim to the dread scourge. It is intended that leprosy shall be scientifically treated at the proposed hospital and its eradication attempted.

It appears that the deceased, who is a weaver by occupation, has latterly been carrying on the business of a baker in Paris, and that he is in debt to Mr. O'Neall for flour to the extent of $162. Great preparations had been made for his wedding, which was to have taken place the day after his arrest, the honeymoon comprising a trip to Philadelphia. The young man, whose parents are spoken of as well-to-do, is naturally much cut up at the turn affairs have taken, but has since been released and got married.

A True Story in Real Life.

Is Life Worth Having?

This question has been asked so often, that it has been worn threadbare. Still its application is as pertinent, as when it was first uttered.

At one time in my life I determined to pursue the study of medicine. Circumstances compelled me to abandon it as a profession, still I had more or less practice among personal friends, sufficient to keep up my interest in it.

One day I received a visit from an old friend, the Captain of a coasting steamer. He seemed much worried, and for a time made his visit anything but pleasant. At last I said to him, "Captain, you seem troubled about something, can I aid you in any way?"

"No!" he replied shortly, "at least I don't think you can, and I have pretty good reason for thinking so."

I felt hurt for a moment, and rather angrily replied, "well, I don't have to."

"Of course you don't," he responded, "but oh, in an informal chance, and it makes me mad all through, when I think of the way that I have been bled by a lot of frauds, that call themselves doctors."

Then he continued rapidly, "You know that boy of mine?" I nodded.

"Well, he has been a serious tax upon me for years, not that I begrudge him anything that he has cost me, but I do curse every time I think of the hundreds of dollars, carved in the hardest manner, disappearing into the pockets of men who promised much only to do the worst kind of damage in the end."

"Now, I have the cheerful prospect of having an undertaker's bill to pay, besides losing my boy." But, he added savagely, "I have spent the last dollar that I ever will for medicine, and, as he has to die, the quicker the better."

"You have no right to talk in that way, Captain," said I severely. "As long as your boy lives, it is your duty to do everything in your power to aid him."

"And haven't I?" was his response; "when is the use of your talking, you know just as much about curing him as the rest of them; although," he added, "I believe you have a conscience; the rest that I have had dealings with don't pan out so well in that respect. I tell you," he continued, "that boy is doomed; he will go just like his mother did, and the doctors can write down in their books of failures, 'one more death from consumption, a disease we know nothing about.'"

He relapsed into a moody silence. At last I said, "Is your boy very low, Captain?"

"He can just crawl around," was his response, "and what makes the matter worse for me is the pitiful way in which he asks me to try and do something for him. However he will be here after a while, and I want you, as a friend of mine, to tell me to the best of your knowledge how long you think he is going to last, so that I can make my calculations."

While he was talking, I saw the boy approaching, and just as he stepped into my office, panting and gasping from his exertion in walking, I said to myself, "The grip of death in the firmly fastened on you to be shaken off." After greeting him, at his father's request I examined him, and found him in the condition that I shall describe. He had evidently inherited consumption from his mother; breathed in too much thickened, so much so as to make the operation of breathing extremely difficult and painful. Chest cavity much contracted; consolidation and tuberculous deposit extensive; tuberculous deposits, and cavities, especially in the left lobes of the lungs; body much emaciated and blanched. In fact unless (to my mind) some miraculous intervention occurred to stay the progress of the disease, the patient would not survive but a few weeks. I talked as cheerfully as I could to him, but he was too much depressed to pay much attention to anything but his suffering.

The father sent him to a restaurant near by, and turning to me he asked, "Well, what is the verdict?"

I had been thinking rapidly, and as he spoke I had made up my mind to a ground-work, as regards the boy, that I determined to follow out. In answer to his question, I said, "Captain, you say nothing is done for that boy, you will hear him write a check."

"Well, what can be done?" he said excitedly. "Do you want to lay your hand in experiments? Do you want some of my money too? Are you going to darken him to death with rubbish and liver oil, blister his chin with plasters, drug him and rack him into his coffin?"

"Hold on, Captain," I replied; "I don't want your money, but I am going to try an experiment with your permission. It is a matter of duty, and in his condition, can do no harm, if it does no good."

"How much is it going to cost" he asked. "I don't know," was my reply. "Whatever it is," he rejoined, "will come out of your pocket, not mine." "Don't bother yourself about that," said I coldly. When they returned, he seemed more subdued than when he first entered my office, and as his father handed him a chair, he said to him sternly, "Dal, the doctor here thinks he can do you some good. What do you say; do you want him to try?"

I shall never forget the look on the boy's face, and his words, and the heading of this article came forcibly into my mind: "Is Life Worth Living?" Evidently it was to him an if to be considered, when tortured with pain, with the clammy hand of death embracing him tighter, they struggle to the ruddiness of health and cry out in an agony of terror, "For God's sake, save me." I put him on a course of treatment, supported him during the time, and I am happy to say that to-day he is a well man.

Now, I have the cheerful prospect of having an undertaker's bill to pay, besides losing my boy." But, he added savagely, "I have spent the last dollar that I ever will for medicine, and, as he has to die, the quicker the better."

"You have no right to talk in that way, Captain," said I severely. "As long as your boy lives, it is your duty to do everything in your power to aid him."

"And haven't I?" was his response; "when is the use of your talking, you know just as much about curing him as the rest of them; although," he added, "I believe you have a conscience; the rest that I have had dealings with don't pan out so well in that respect. THE JOHNSTOWNE STAGE.

By ROBERT HOWE FLETCHER.

"Have a drink?" said the passenger, sociably, drawing out a bottle.

"No, thank you," said the lieutenant, "I don't drink on the box."

"Right you are!" said his companion; "well, here's luck! You h'aint ben long on the line, I take it?"

"No," said the lieutenant.

"I was up in this section a couple o' years ago," continued the passenger, "and I kinder thought I didn't recklect your face. It's a fine country up yere, but it ain't as fine a country as some I've seen. Was you ever up around Sin-e-ah-qua-teen?"

No, the lieutenant had never been to Sin-e-ah-qua-teen.

"Well, sir," continued the passenger, enthusiastically, "that's a fine country, and a mighty curious one, too; the curiousest I ever seen. Me an' my pardner was in there one summer and found ingions as big as my two fists, and the next day, when we struck up along the Pend'Oreille, we got into seven foot o' snow. When we got down into Fort Shepherd, along Pack river, they was taking out a heap o' gold. Then we struck St. Mary's river, and, gentlemen! I never did see such a place for fish. All them rivers rise in lakes, and I was told by an old Hudson Bay man, that had been with the company nigh onto forty year, that they never had found no bottom to the lakes. And fish! Whew! I throwed in a fly and I could see hundreds o' them fish, four and five pound big, just race for it. Me and my pardner stayed there a week and had a right pleasant time, only fer a little talk that started and ended up in some right smart shooting. Six fellows got killed and a lot more wounded. They was gamblers mostly, and they made it up to go out six agin' six, at ten paces, with their revolvers. They didn't keer noways. I laid off in the bush and watched them. They started out as quiet as I'd go out to cut rails, and stood up as straight as so many snipe. Them fellows had heaps of sand—I didn't see ne'er a pistol barrel shake. I could tell by their physigs that there was a woman at the bottom of it. There was some women along with the outfit; and I says to one of them afterwards, says I, 'We've got to bury these yere dead men. It seems sort o' rough that so many healthy fellows should go under of a sudden, now, don't it?' And she says, 'Yes; women makes a power o' trouble sometimes.' And I'm durned if she wasn't right. Tho' I'll agree that there are times when women's powerful handy to have around. You don't happen to be married, do you?"

"No," said the lieutenant, beginning to be amused and entertained by his loquacious companion, "I am not married."

The stage had commenced to ascend the grade on the other side of Stony creek. The road wound up through a canyon, or gulch, in the bottom of which was the dry bed of a winter torrent. It was a long, tedious pull to the top of the mesa, and the horses had to take their time to it. Notwithstanding that a thin line of light on the brow of a distant mountain signaled that the moon had risen, it was very dark in the canyon; so dark, that although the lieutenant kept peering ahead of the horses, he could see but little more than a bend of the winding road faintly defined by the denser obscurity on each side of it. The passenger himself, notwithstanding his steady flow of talk, seemed affected by the surrounding gloom, and maintained an alert gaze upon the side of the road.

"You see," he continued, "I had a wife myself once, so I know something about women. I picked her up in 'Frisco, and just about one month after I lost $26,000 in the Frazer river excitement. Then I come up yere, and laid out a ranch on Mud river. But my wife, she got sick, and I spent all the money I had left in taking her down again, and in doctoring. Well, sir, when she died, and I came back yere with the little fellows, I found my ranch gone plumb to the devil. Six inches of snow on the ground and the little fellows barefoot, and not a dollar in my pocket and nothing to eat. I was blue. I tell you, pard, if ever a man were blue, I was that man! I just tuk off my hat and throwed it on the ground, and looked all around. But I didn't throw up no sponge. I tuk to splittin' rails, and inside of a month I sold 'em to the gov'ment at the Sabattin agency, and cleaned up a hundred dollars. I'm doin' reel'able well now, the country round my way's gittin' settled up. 'Pears like Oregon's spittin' all her webfeet into that section. I got my eye on some o' these yere immigrants, and I'll pick up another wife some day; a young un about 16, that I kin learn. I'm purty good on the physog, I don't want no widows, they're larnt all ready to your hand, but they know too damned much."

The lieutenant laughed, and spoke to his horses, which were showing a restive disinclination to proceed. They were almost at the top of the grade now. A clump of scrub oaks at the head of the canyon was in sight. The shadows here were very dense by contrast with the moonlight, which lay in the open beyond. It was at these shadows that the horses were pricking their ears. The lieutenant touched his whip over the unruly animals, but as he did so he looked sharply in the direction of the oaks. Was not something moving there? Or were it the moonlight shadows playing their usual tricks on highly strung nerves? Then he remembered that there was a spring under those oaks, and that cattle were always around it, or, perhaps, a stray deer from the mountains might have come there to drink. His military training and frontier experience made him guard against unreasoning alarm. At the same time, the station keeper's open secret that the paymaster's funds were aboard flashed across his mind. It would never do for him, an army officer, to hand down Wells-Fargo's box to the first road agent who asked for it. Professional pride, if naught else, forbade it. He said nothing to the man at his side, but under cover of his cape he slipped the lines and whip into his left hand, and with his right cocked the revolver in his pocket. The elderly passenger, notwithstanding that his eyes were also fastened on the clump of oaks, seemed quite unsuspicious and and continued to talk.

"I reckon I can git another wife easy enough. I know a fellow that come into that section, only a little while ago, without a dollar, and he married a right purty gal, only 16, and he's other three——"

A shrill whistle suddenly startled the silence of the night. The passenger on the box, almost without a pause, leaned over, and laying one hand on the lines with the other pointed a pistol at the driver's head, and said, but no longer in the slouchy of an uneducated person:

"Hold up your hands, lieutenant!" At the same instant a mask with a masked face and holding a gun appeared in the middle of the road and stopped the horses.

The lieutenant turned pale and stared in astonishment at the man by his side.

"It's no use," said the elderly passenger, sternly. "We've got the drop on [illegible]"

"Well," said the lieutenant, resignedly, "you have got the drop on me, for a fact!" And, drawing a long breath, he slowly raised his arms. But when his left elbow was as high as his shoulder, with his right hand he pressed the trigger of the revolver in his pocket.

There was a muffled report, a shriek, and a curse, followed by another report, then another, and another, confused and intermingled, the sharp crack of the rifle ringing out over the duller notes of the pistols. When the sounds ceased, the man in the road was crawling on his hands and knees toward the shadow of the oaks whence he had emerged. There was no one on the box but the lieutenant, and he was standing erect. The next moment he pitched head first over the dash board on to the off horse's back, and from there rolled on to the road. It needed but this to goad the frightened animals into a stampede, and with the lines under their heels, kicking and shying, they galloped out over the prairie.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. The Appetite

May be increased, the Digestive organs strengthened, and the Bowels regulated, by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills are purely vegetable in their composition. They contain neither calomel nor any other dangerous drug, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, became greatly debilitated, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well.—Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored.—C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and, at the same time directing myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—Philip Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but gave me increased vigor, and restored my health.—John Lazarus, St. John, N. B.

FIREWORKS POSTPONED.

Owing to the protracted rain the Fire Brigade's display of fireworks, announced for to-night, has been postponed till further notice. The boys are bound to have a good night for shooting off their pyrotechnics, if they have to wait till Dominion Day. And the display is well worth keeping and well worth waiting for.

NOT A DANGEROUS SHOT.

This forenoon a boy named October, who drives Powell's meat express, accidentally received a shot in the back of the head from a gun with which another lad named Mead was shooting at birds. The shot did not penetrate the skull but lodged under the skin. Boys should be careful in using firearms. The shot young October received might have found a more vital spot.

THE CLOCK WOMAN'S STORIES.

The charge of larceny preferred against Edward Flaherty by Michael Bolton was ventilated at the police court this morning. The evidence went to show that Flaherty "broke down" near Bolton's house and went in and "borrowed" a whiffletree and [illegible] Flaherty didn't ask any one for the articles and no one objected. The plaintiff claimed that he never returned the chain, while the defendant claimed that he did. The chain Mr. Bolton paid $2 for. The magistrate said he could see no felonious intent on the part of Flaherty, and could not, therefore, convict him of larceny. He told Mr. Bolton he could sue in Division Court for the value of the chain. Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. W. H. Moore for the defence.

AN HONEST RESIDENT.

The New York Electric Age publishes a biographical sketch of a renowned electrician who spent his early days in Peterborough. It says:—"Edward Curry, the oldest of the family of telegraphers, was born near Peterborough, Ont., in 1812, and moved when quite young to Oshawa, a town named in honor of the Queen's Consort. Here when a mere lad, he was employed temporarily in a telegraph office, but, liking the business, he became a lifetimer, and in a few months took charge of the Peterborough office as operator and manager. This was in 1846, and the small boy upon taking charge of the office, discarded the paper boys, burned his mercury register into a remainder and became one of the few early sound operators in the province." Continuing, the biography informs us that he went to Chicago in 1852, whence he went to St. Paul, Minn., from which time his advance was rapid. He was a rapid operator, was well educated and had a good head for business, which all combined to make him the manager and superintendent of the Union Inland Railway and Pacific Express Co.

CORNER STONE LAYING.

To-morrow at 1.30 o'clock, His Lordship Bishop O'Connor will take train for Campbellford en route for Wooler, Northumberland County, where he will lay the corner stone of a new Roman Catholic church, Rev. Father McCloskey, pastor. At Campbellford he will be joined by Rev. Father Casey, and the party will proceed to Wooler, where on Sunday His Lordship will preach in the morning and afterwards lay the corner stone, Rev. Father Casey preaching the sermon incident to the ceremony.

THE ROYAL BOY IN ROCHESTER.

The EXAMINER has received from Mr. R. C. Carter, formerly of this town, a copy of a programme of an entertainment given on Queen's Birthday by the Rochester Lacrosse Club, an organization composed of Canadians, representing different parts of the provinces, including Peterborough. The concert was given at the Canadian Club rooms and the excellent programme presented—musical and literary—was contributed wholly by Canadians. The concert was a great success, and not the least pleasing feature of it is the evidence latent and active loyalty to Canada and British institutions, which the hearted gone for bread and butter under an alien flag, cannot entirely subdue.

THE CIVIC DEPUTATION.

Yesterday a deputation consisting of Messrs. Mayor Stevenson, Councillors Davidson, Cahill, Rutherford, Hall (E. H. D.), Town Treasurer McGill, Town Solicitor Edwards, and J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., went to Toronto to wait upon the Government, asking the latter to refund to the municipality of Peterborough, for this year, the extra percentage of liquor license fees, which the amendment to the license act of last session authorizes. After listening to the representations of the deputation, which had been introduced by Mr. Stratton, the assurance was given that the matter would receive prompt attention. The expected deputation from Brockville upon the same subject did not put in an appearance. The Peterborough deputation also met two large manufacturers, upon whom was urged the great manufacturing facilities of Peterborough—its unlimited water power, its unequalled railway facilities, etc. These gentlemen are expected in town to-day to personally investigate.

PRESENTED TO ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

The members of our local St. Andrew's Society are greatly pleased over an exceedingly appropriate present which they received on Wednesday from the well known firm of Messrs. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, through the hands of Mr. Wm. Walsh, druggist, of this town. The gift is an elaborately framed colored picture about 22x30, entitled "The Clans of Scotland." It shows the chief representative of each of the different clans dressed in their full highland costume, with the handsome colors and patterns of their respective tartans clearly portrayed, while the rest of the attractive dress is appropriately shown. The figures in the picture are all numbered, and a printed key with corresponding figures, gives the names of each of the clansmen, surrounding which is the verses of a stirring patriotic poem entitled, "Darling Scotland." The picture is framed with a heavy deep pressed gilt moulding, giving a rich and effective setting to the groups of Highlanders and the Highland scenery in the background. The picture will, no doubt, be made to adorn a conspicuous place on the walls of the new St. Andrew's Hall, where many a warm hearted Scot will be filled with enthusiasm while admiring it.

HYMENEAL.

A quiet wedding took place last night at the residence of Mr. George A. Cox, 439 Sherbourne street, Toronto, says the Globe, when Miss Minnie, youngest daughter of Mr. Cox, was united to Mr. Alfred Ernest Ames, Manager of the Ontario Bank at Lindsay. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. F. H. Wallace, of Victoria University, assisted by Rev. W. Ames, after which the guests sat down to a wedding dinner. The bridesmaids were Miss Mercer, Peterborough; Miss Donnelly, Belleville, and Miss Morrow, Peterborough; the groom being supported by Mr. Fred Scott of this city. Among those present were Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Potts, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Darling, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Plummer, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Jaffray, Mr. B. E. Walker, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Stafford, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Dewart, Mr. and Mrs. John Bertram and a large number of friends and relatives from Peterborough and Belleville. The presents were very numerous, including a grand piano, a silver service, epergne, etc. The young couple left on the 11.15 train for the west, and on their return will take up their residence in Lindsay. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ames in Peterborough will wish them every happiness in life. Mr. Ames was formerly attached to the Ontario Bank here, while his wife was one of the best and most favorably known young ladies in town.

Ashburnham Brevities.

Miss Spencer, of Port Hope, is the guest of her sister for a few days.

Age tells on everything, and so it has on the old town hall, the door of which having become tired swaying backward and forward has at last collapsed and is now supporting itself against the side of the porch, appealing to passers-by for a helping hand in its old age.

Mr. John Smith is still in about the same condition as he was a week ago. Should the weather clear up it is hoped that he will again gain strength to move round.

This is the time for old umbrellas to be brought into requisition, and happy is the mortal who passes through the ordeal with his own or one a little better. Nothing tests the honesty of the average man more than a good big season of rain. If he has not appropriated an umbrella or two, trust him with all you have and with a feeling of perfect safety.

CONSECRATION AND CURE

The Convention Brought to a Close.

Local Testimonies to Divine Healing—Addressing Services—A Local Address Formed—List of Members and Officers.

THURSDAY, May 30th.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

After the usual devotional exercises,

Mr. J. W. FLETCHER made reference to the number of persons who had submitted to the ordinance of anointing. He proceeded to speak upon the various trials to which the faith of the Christian was subjected. The example of Abraham was cited, and the argument deduced that those who had accepted Christ as their healer must expect to be tested. The speaker said that he had been instantly healed, on being convicted, but he hesitated to declare that he was healed until the doubt then implied brought a return of his old symptoms of disease. He knew that he had trusted the Lord for the healing of his body, and a return of his malady brought the dreadful thought that the word of God might fail. But a brother came and prayed that the devil might be defeated. He felt like saying "Though he slay me yet will I trust in him," and he felt relief. But every yielding to the suggestions of Satan brought a return of [illegible] brought him to the point of entire submission to God, and he filled his soul with his presence, and both soul and body were delivered. Ever since his life had been a different one—he had felt the power of the Holy Spirit in a remarkable manner. After about a month he had another test and overcame, and for two years past he had enjoyed vigorous health.

Mrs. FLETCHER supplemented the testimony of her healing—the removal of a tumor. She had taken Christ as a sanctifier and healer—it was done once and forever. Yesterday she had a great trial of her faith. For twelve years she had not been able to ride on the cars, but she was able to bear the journey from Toronto and had been able to attend three services. The strength of Christ was here. She obtained victory in His name, and it had been given her. She cast all her cares and burdens on the Lord and He bore them for her. She had been healed a year and a half before a perfect cure had been effected—before she could bring herself to obey God's command and be anointed. Since that she had been fully healed, soul and body.

LOCAL TESTIMONIES.

Miss GORDON said there were some in Peterborough who had been healed by faith in Christ—not those healed by the unscriptural methods of Christian science. She did not believe in them but she did not doubt that cures had been effected by them. Some good Christians had been deceived. A true Christian would suffer pain for a century rather than rob God of His glory by submitting to unscriptural healing. She called on local persons who had had experience of divine healing.

Mr. RICHARD WILSON testified that one morning he wanted to go to an early morning meeting in the Methodist church. He woke up with a violent headache and asked God to remove it, and He did. On another occasion he woke with symptoms of diphtheria, and he had been healed by trusting in Christ, and his Christian life gave him abounding joy.

Mrs. SMITH, 426 Bethune street, said she had taken Christ for her healer. She had to work for a living and a year ago she had been attacked with a pain in her thumb, so that she could not work. She put her faith in Christ and He removed her pain so that she could perform her duties. She took the Lord as her physician.

Mrs. HAWKINS, 20 College street, said that she had committed the best physicians for the cure of a tumour she had suffered from for twelve years; but in vain. At length she went to the Lord with her trouble and He healed her; the tumour was decreasing and she felt she was healed, though the physical manifestations had not all subsided.

Mr. J. C. TURNBULL mentioned his visit to the Christian Alliance meetings in Toronto; how he was so deeply impressed with the services that he submitted to the ordinance of anointing, and he had found his Saviour very near ever since, nearer than he had ever felt Him before.

Mrs. SPENCER JONES, of Ottawa, said yesterday she came to the point to accept Jesus as her Sanctifier, her Healer and her coming Lord.

Mrs. D. M. SIM, testified that she had been suffering from heart disease and lung trouble and she had accepted the Lord as her Healer and Sanctifier, at the Toronto Convention of the Christian Alliance.

Miss CAPT. HINDE, of the Salvation Army, testified to having been healed by faith in Christ. About three weeks since she was thrown from a buggy and she was unable to hardly move in bed, let alone rise from it. But she trusted the Lord, and he healed her and she was able to rise, dress and drive nine miles to keep an appointment. But she had doubted the Lord, her trouble returned. Yesterday she suffered anointing and now Christ was her Healer and Sanctifier.

CAPT. BLACK, of the Salvation Army, also testified that he had been cured of convulsions by trust in God, and he was whole. This was five months ago and since that and at the present time he had never felt stronger in body and soul.

Miss GORDON followed with a lengthy address upon the testing of the faith of God's children by affliction.

Mrs. FAIRBAIRN testified to the great help she received at this meeting—in these services.

Mrs. SEWARD said she had, through these meetings, accepted Christ as her Saviour and Healer.

Mr. SEWARD said he had visited New York and had suffered anointing, but he was not well rested and he had not had correct ideas of faith, and the result had not been thorough. At these meetings he had received new light. He now felt a great calm to which he had been a stranger. He was thankful to the Conference for the immense amount of good he had received.

Others testified but those spoke in so low a tone that it was impossible to catch what was said.

EVENING MEETING.

At night there was another large audience. After the opening exercises Miss Gordon answered the following question, which had been handed to her:—

Is it against the rules of the Alliance for a member to consult a physician; is no medicine to be taken at any time?

Miss GORDON said the Alliance had no rules but those set down in the Bible. They never advised any one to consult a physician, and to ask such a question as this indicated that the person was not in a position to be a consecrated member of the Alliance. People may take their choice, but there is less glory to God. This belief was not antagonistic to Christian physicians, but children of God should hesitate before entrusting themselves to the care of a godless doctor. While confessing the usefulness of the Christian physician, they remembered that God was the perfect physician. Taking medicine was contrary to the fundamental principle of the Alliance, which took Christ as its great healer and all-in-all. If one was satisfied with Dr. Jones, they would not call in Dr. Smith. So with Christ; those who accepted Him were satisfied with Him and had no desire for any other. If the question meant the calling in of a physician simply to diagnose the case and not for treatment, she would not say anything against it. She knew many who had the desires who had done this; but each one should let the Lord guide him in the matter. To her it appeared that it was not so much what they were healed from as what they were lifted up to, for which they should be thankful. Miss Gordon then gave a short address upon Num., xxi, 7, urging the doctrine of divine healing upon the audience.

Mrs. WALKER then brought the meeting to a close by appealing to the unconverted to take Christ as their Healer. A number responded to the invitation.

The members of the Alliance came forward in turn and each gave the audience a parting passage of Scripture, which they commended to the after-perusal of their hearers.

Miss GORDON and Mr. FRYFOR thanked the people of Peterborough for the kind reception given them, and the newspapers for their reports, and the meeting was brought to a close.

An advance has been considerable interest aroused over the recent convention, the EXAMINER publishes a list of members of the Peterborough branch of the Alliance:—Mrs. J. R. Fairbairn, Mrs. R. R. Smith, W. J. Underwood, (Uxbridge), Annie McCoy, A. L. Cope, Mrs. M. R. Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. John Sawers, R. A. Gobeau, Mr. and Mrs. J. Braden, W. D. Sharp, A. Gillespie, Miss Ella Owens, W. M. The Christian Alliance.

A Branch Organized in Peterborough—The Officers Elect.

A branch of the Christian Alliance was organized in Peterborough last night with a membership of about fifty. The following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT—J. C. Turnbull.

VICE-PRESIDENTS—Mrs. D. Smart and Mrs. M. R. Hawkins.

SECRETARY-TREASURER—J. Braden.

COMMITTEE—Messrs. G. J. Berry, Jas. Sawers, C. B. Rentley, F. Moore, Mrs. J. R. Fairbairn, Mrs. R. R. Smith, Mrs. John Sawers.

The Alliance will hold its first meeting next Tuesday evening in the Y.M.C.A. hall, and once a week hereafter.

Fully forty, perhaps more, members of the Alliance have been associated for their edification.

As explained in reports of the convention, published elsewhere, the members of the Alliance accept the doctrine of the four-fold Gospel—Christ the Saviour, Sanctifier, Healer and Coming Lord, though the latter plank is left an open question. There are no rules of guidance or any regular mode of conducting meetings.

Most of the delegates to the convention leave this evening for Toronto. Miss Gordon and one or two others will remain over till to-morrow, perhaps over Sunday. Miss Gordon addresses a meeting at Mr. G. M. Roger's to-night.

A Step-mother's Unkindness.

Jeremiah Dawson, laborer, lives at 43 Smith street. He is quite an old man, and lives with his second wife and a family of small children. A sixteen year old girl, a daughter by his first wife, also lives in the house with them. For a long time past there have been complaints from the neighbors that Mrs. Dawson was abusing her step-daughter. Reports came to the Chief of Police frequently since last fall, but on investigating the matter the girl always denied that Mrs. Dawson ill-treated her. The neighbors, however, say that at times a perfect pandemonium reigns in the Dawson homestead. Last week the Chief was told that Mrs Dawson had struck the girl on the head with a bar of iron and nearly killed her. He went to the house but again the girl denied it. This morning another alarming story was brought to his ears, to the effect that the girl had again been badly beaten. He went to the house, took the girl aside from her step-mother, and managed to wring a confession from her. She exhibited bruises on her arms, where Mrs. Dawson had beaten her with a stick, and admitted also that on the previous occasion mentioned she had been struck with a club. The girl begged the Chief not to tell her step-mother, saying that she would kill her if she knew she told. Her step-mother's dire threats had, she said, kept her from telling of her cruelty before. The Chief then told Mrs. Dawson that if he heard of her abusing the girl again he would arrest her, and came away after asking Mr. Dawson to try to find the girl a place in some household. A little while after Mr. Dawson came to the Chief in great anxiety because his wife had declared her intention of leaving him forever. The Chief is just now engaged in an effort to amicably arrange matters. It is probable the girl will be put out to service beyond the reach of her cruel step-mother.

Rescued, Repentant, Reformed.

As an example of the good work being done by the W.C.T.U. the following letter is given. It refers to a girl named Frances L——, whom the W.C.T.U. took in hand on her discharge from the jail here and sent to the Salvation Army Rescue Home, Toronto. Accompanying the letter was an acknowledgement for $4.50 sent the treasurer of the home by the W.C.T.U. Following is the letter which tells its own story:—

"Rescue Home."
SALVATION ARMY,
TORONTO, May 28th, 1889.
W. C. T. U. Peterborough.

DEAR FRIENDS—I am sure you will be glad to know how Frances is doing. She has been in a situation, but she was not very well suited, and is now staying at "The Home" until we procure a place for her. Last Friday night I had the intense joy of leading her to the feet of Jesus. Since then there has been such a marked change in her in every way that we are very hopeful for the future.

May you keep close to the dear Master and may He bless you abundantly.
Yours, to rescue the fallen,
NELLIE COOMBS, M.

"Faith Cure."

This is the age of specialists. We have specialists in religion, medicine, law and business. The idea is that a man can only do one thing well. If he does that he does well. The foremost and most successful business specialists we have are Hawley Bros., the well known tea merchants. They make a specialty of teas. They, therefore, buy in large quantities and at low prices, and thus their customers get the advantage of the best goods at the lowest prices. Every kind of tea grown is to be found at their George street shop, together with fine coffees, spices, allied goods. 3d123

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call. W. J. MORROW,

Like an opening rose, our Dress Goods and Trimmings show new beauty at every sight. The colors blend together so perfectly—moss sage and nile green still hold in favor. Terra Cotta, Blue Greys, Dove and Resida Shades are as much sought after as ever. In our Black Stock department we are showing a new voile of Cloth, fine light and durable—just the dress for an old lady. Much nicer than nuns' veilings.

It needs to be repeated and remembered that in all goods and most emphatically in Cotton Goods we keep a most complete stock. Where will you find the variety of cottonades, shirtings, tickings, &c., you find with us. Not less than 60 different patterns of Shirtings,—all prices, as low as the lowest.

At the Ribbon Counter you are almost always sure to find exactly what you want for dress and millinery use.

Our stock of Neck Frillings is very choice, being different to what is usually shown. We import them from a different market.

When house cleaning you may require a new Carpet. We show a beautiful Tapestry at 50c. Lower and higher qualities according to good value.

The rush is on us in our Tailoring department. Our stock of Tweeds and Worsteds please the eye and pocket of our patrons. Best satisfaction in a fit if always given.

KATIE DUNBAR'S FATE.
A MILDMAY GIRL'S UNTIMELY END IN TORONTO.

The Damage to the Ontario Fruit Crop—A Strange Honeymoon—The Smashup near Oakville—Toronto Topics.

TORONTO, June 1.—On a slab in the Morgue last night lay the remains of 19-year-old Katie Dunbar, a girl with pretty blue eyes, an abundance of light brown hair, and in life of somewhat comely appearance. The rain pattered incessantly against the window panes of the dismal little charnel-house at the Esplanade and Frederick-street and lent additional loneliness to the scene. The police patrol wagon had just driven up to the front door, and a couple of detectives officers carried the lifeless bundle inside and deposited it on the slab, while a little crowd of curious men stood outside in the rain and eagerly asked each other for news concerning the policemen and their burden.

The remains were robed in ordinary habiliments of night, the brown hair was done up in a knot behind, the head rested upon a pillow, the blue eyes were half open, as was also the mouth, a white napkin covered the face, a chased gold ring was on the third finger of the left hand, and a sheet was thrown over the slab. The body had been brought to the Morgue about 9.30 o'clock from a cottage at No. 122 Queen-street east, where the girl had died early yesterday morning from inflammation superinduced, it is said, by the administration of medicine for an unlawful purpose. The poor girl's death is but another chapter in the history of crime which is continually coming to light in a large and growing city. It is also but another illustration of the dangers which enemare young girls coming from country homes to the city, only to go down to death in dishonor. Katie Dunbar's career in Toronto seems to have been very rapidly downward, and there is no doubt that there is much mourning in her circle of friends and acquaintances in Mildmay, up in East Bruce, where she came from a little over a year ago to battle with the fortunes of the town.

About three hours after her remains were left at the Morgue, Ellen Wright, a married woman aged 28, was brought to the Wilton-avenue station by Detective Alf Cuddy and locked up on a charge of furnishing the medicine which is supposed to have caused Katie Dunbar's illness and death. The woman Wright had been arrested by the officers three-quarters of an hour before midnight in a house in Carlaw-avenue, across the Don. The police are now after the despoiler of the victim, but up to last night had not got onto to his track.

On Friday, May 17, Katie Dunbar was visited at 122 King-street east by Mrs. Wright, a nurse and alleged baby farmer who told her that she had heard that she was in trouble and would help her out of it. She produced a bottle of medicine which she offered to let have for $3. Miss Dunbar accepted the medicine and used a certain portion of it. On May 20 (the Monday following) she was taken seriously ill and Dr. Pollard of Shuter-street was sent for. He attended her and by Thursday she was able to get around again. On Thursday night she again took sick and was put to bed, an old woman named Annie Clarke sleeping in the same room with her. At 3 yesterday morning Mrs. Clarke woke up to find the girl dead at her side.

When as the people in the house found that the girl was dead they rushed up to Dr. Pollard to get a certificate of death. That physician, after consulting with other members of the profession, determined to inform Coroner Powell of the circumstances. The result was an order for the removal of the body to the Morgue and for the holding of an inquest some time to-day.

The coroner, after issuing his warrant for an inquest, told the police the story of the death. A warrant was at once issued for the arrest of the woman Wright, who has already passed through the hands of the police in connection with a case of child desertion in Simcoe-street. Detectives McGrath and Alf. Cuddy were detailed to secure her capture, and all afternoon a still hunt for her was kept up. She had changed her place of abode first from Elizabeth-street to 19 Portland-street, and thence to Carlaw-avenue, in a house on which last thoroughfare she was arrested. She took her arrest very coolly.

Katie Dunbar, the victim, was a country bred girl. She came to Toronto from Mildmay fourteen months ago, and secured work almost immediately in Coleman's, in King-street. She remained there for two months, leaving to work in a boarding-house at Wellington and John-streets. Two months later she returned to Coleman's, but after two months was again allowed to go, her conduct not being satisfactory. Her last place of employment was in McCoskery's. Although somewhat flightly she was generally quiet in her demeanor and well liked by her girl friends.

Mrs. Ellen Wright, the prisoner, has quite a reputation in the city as a baby farmer and worse. It is alleged that she is in the habit of peddling medicine around, and when she hears of a girl being in trouble is by no means backward in seeing her through. In the present case, the bottle which contained the medicine she furnished the unfortunate girl bore a label with the name of May & Co., druggists, Queen-street west, on it with the prescription signed by Dr. Hazel. This prescription turns out, according to the books of the druggist, to be an old one and perfectly harmless in its nature. It is, therefore, surmised that Mrs. Wright secured the bottle and used it as a blind for her nefarious business. The contents of the bottle as given the deceased are to be analyzed.

Yesterday afternoon at 3.30 Policeman Sam Mitchell, who was on duty at the Union Station, was called over to the Crosby Hall Hotel, where in the reading room was seated a man in a drunken stupor. The man, whose name is John Connell, belongs to St. John, N.B., and arrived in Toronto by the C.P.R. train yesterday morning with his second wife, to whom he was married in St. John on May 4, and with a 10-year-old son by his first wife.

Connell went into the Crosby Hall Hotel shortly after noon and was very full, so full that Landlord Frank Wismer refused to give him a drink. He displayed a large roll of bills and was advised to keep his money away. Three tough looking characters who were in the bar volunteered to take Connell into the reading room to sleep. They were leading him in when Mr. Wismer, who was coming down stairs, observed the tallest of the three trying to get his hand into the drunken man's pocket. He told them that he would look after the fellow and the trio got away as quickly as they could.

Connell was a few minutes later found on the Esplanade by Constable Mitchell, who arrested him on a charge of drunkenness. He was very obstinate and saucy and refused to say much about himself. But his wife, who was present, went to the station with him in the patrol wagon and when examined there it was found that he had $341 in his pocket. His wife said that when they were married his mother gave her $500. They started west and during the trip he abused her and got hold of the money. When Constable Mitchell and Detective Burrows confronted him with his wife yesterday he said he didn't know her and didn't want to know her. In short he gave her the grand shake.

Mrs. Connell was totally without money but was given enough to provide for herself and the boy over night.

The Canadian Packers' Association held a meeting yesterday, Mr. W. Boulter, President, in the chair. In view of the large sales recently and the probabilities of a light crop, it was decided to advance canned corn, making the minimum price 92½c. per dozen. Reports were made by members on the damage to their crops by the recent frost. After taking into consideration the damage done, it was decided that it would be very inadvisable to offer the new pack of goods for sale until the season is further advanced.

Mr. W. A. Ferguson, Delhi, reports that corn and tomatoes had been scorched and killed and apples seriously injured, all small fruits seriously injured, and he feared that they would be a total failure.

Mr. A. E. Carpenter, Hamilton, said that he had not seen the effects, but had been told that all the tomato plants had been ruined. He had seen beans cut to the ground.

Mr. James, Simcoe, reported that he took from several apple trees quantities of young apples and found [illegible] which were perfect. He is satisfied that the apple crop in Norfolk will be a failure [illegible] cause. He was not so sure about pears, and strawberries, he thinks, will not be one-quarter of a crop. Peas he thinks safe. Grapes all destroyed. All the corn and tomatoes that had sprouted were cut to the ground.

Mr. Tenbuy, Welland, reports cherries 80 per cent. destroyed, grapes frozen and lost and tomatoes all cut to the ground.

Mr. Boulter, Prince Edward County, reported that before the frost grabs destroyed many tomato plants and many trees broken off by high winds. The fresh fruit cut them off in spots. Some few fields were not injured. Strawberries in some sheltered places were not materially injured, and cellar probably laid crops. All corn that was up was completely cut off.

Mr. Fraser, St. Catharines, reported all the fruit on Tuesday night that as much damage as the latter the 24th. Grapes, peaches and other tender fruit destroyed 20 or 40 acres of tomatoes destroyed.

Grapes very seriously damaged, one vineyard of 60 acres and other large vineyards only totally destroyed.

DROWNED BY HUNDREDS.
AWFUL CATASTROPHE IN A PENNSYLVANIA CITY.

A Reservoir Above Johnstown Gives Way—Over 200 Dead Bodies Seen Floating Down the River.

PITTSBURG, May 31.—A sudden freshet in the North Forks River at Johnstown in the Allegheny Mountains has resulted in an awful catastrophe. The reservoir above the town broke about 5 o'clock this evening and the immense volume of water rushed down to the city carrying with it death and destruction. Houses with their occupants were swept away and hundreds of people were drowned. There is no communication with Johnstown, but a telegraph operator in the Pennsylvania Railroad tower at Sag Hollow, 12 miles this side of Johnstown, says at least 75 dead bodies have floated past. The wires are all down and no trains are running east of Blairsville, which is about 25 miles west of Johnstown. There is no way to get to the scene of the disaster and full particulars can hardly be obtained to-night although every effort is being made to do so.

A later despatch says: The latest reliable information received from Johnstown comes through Pennsylvania Railroad officials, who aver that over 200 dead bodies have been counted floating down stream at Johnstown alone.

The Town Submerged.

PITTSBURG, May 31.—A special from Greensburg says a report has reached there that the greater portion of Johnstown has been flooded and hundreds of lives have been lost. Houses are floating around and the people who are free are panic-stricken and are fleeing to the mountains. At a point near New Florence 85 persons have been seen floating down the river on drift wood. A report comes that but two roofs of the houses in Johnstown can be seen. The Covetown and the New Florence bridges have been washed away, and all the buildings along the Conemaugh between New Florence and Johnstown have been carried away. The railroad towers have been abandoned by the operators.

Houses Afloat by the Dozen.

PITTSBURG, May 31.—Another special from Greensburg says the loss of life cannot be estimated. Houses are going down the river by the dozen and people can be seen clinging to the roofs. At Coketown, a village of 700 inhabitants, the houses are almost entirely covered and a great many dwellings at Blairsville are submerged. Scarcely a dwelling in the vicinity of Sag Hollow can be seen.

Incidents of the Calamity.

PITTSBURG, May 31.—A despatch from Latrobe says: The Associated Press train from present appearances will not be run nearer than six to eight miles of that part of Johnstown where the flood was worst.

A despatch from Braddock says: At 7.45 a boy was rescued by men in the signal tower. He said that with his father, mother, brother and two sisters he was swept away in the light frame house which was their home. He was washed away from the building, but said the other members of the family were in it when it was swept over the breast of the new stone railroad bridge at Johnstown, that it capsized a few seconds later and they were all drowned so far as he could see.

The railroad operator officially reports that before dark they were able to count 119 persons clinging to buildings and wreckage or drowned and floating in the current.

The Havoc General.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Despatches from various parts of the state report great havoc wrought by the heavy rains. Washouts and landslides are occurring hourly, trains are suspended on all the roads and death and destruction are busy on every hand. The situation is hourly growing worse.

THE PEASE'S CREW SAFE.

No Truth in the Story of a Great Loss of Life in Saginaw Bay.

SAND BEACH, Mich., May 31.—The steamer E. S. Pease, reported lost with all on board, is aground two miles north of Port Hope but is not thought to be damaged much yet. The crew are safe and are trying to release her without the aid of a tug. She is loaded with iron ore, from Escanaba for Cleveland.

The Pease is the old California, built in 1873 and rebuilt in 1883 at an expense of $18,000. She was bought by her present owner when at the bottom of Lake Michigan, having gone down with 19 people. She is an A 2 vessel valued at $25,000.

Hippolyte Claims a Victory.

LONDON, May 31.—A despatch has been received here from Gen. Hippolyte, the insurgent leader in Hayti, saying he has defeated President Legitime, captured Port au Prince, the capital of that country, and proclaimed himself provisional president.

On Latonia's Muddy Track.

COVINGTON, Ky., May 31.—The racing at the Latonia Jockey Club track to-day was witnessed by only a fair crowd, the weather being bad and the track muddy. Results:

First race—Purse $400; 5 mile. Jakie Toms, 103, won; Holland, 116, 2; Clamor, 112, 3. Time 1.23½.

Second race—Purse $400; 1 mile. Keter Kahr, 103, won; Castaway, 103, 2; Nylegtha, 103, 3. Time 1.38.

Third race—Purse $400, for 3-year-olds; 6½ furlongs. Adele M. 116, won; Ballyhoo, 110, 2; Lady Blackburn, 110, 3. Time 1.31½.

THE SLAYERS OF CRONIN.
AN ACCOMPLICE WHO WANTS TO TURN INFORMER.

Luke Dillon Talks—"Hank" Tells a Story Which May Lead to a Discovery—The Clan-na-Gael Oath.

CHICAGO, May 31.—It is reported that negotiations are pending between the state attorney and a well-known Chicago lawyer in behalf of a man, not yet arrested, but guilty of complicity in the murder of Cronin, in which he proposes to surrender himself to the authorities, tell the whole story, and bring all concerned to justice. The proposition was not rejected, but, as reported, was taken under consideration, and a conference between Judge Longenecker and Chief Hubbard was held in regard to it. Their decision, if they reached any, has not been made known. It is hinted that the man who is willing to turn informer in order to save his own neck resides in an eastern city, and that he has been induced to make the effort from a fear that the work under taken by Luke Dillon, whereby the Clan-na-Gael organization is to reveal the plot will prove successful.

Dillon, who represents the Clan-na-Gael, made an important statement last evening, in reference to the investigation of Cronin's murder. "I think," he said, "that the ban of secrecy is now considered removed so far as it affects members of our organization and the detection of the murderers of Dr. Cronin. The oath of secrecy must never conflict with the duty which we owe as citizens to the republic. In a crime of this magnitude it would be unpardonable for any class of citizens to withhold their assistance from the authorities in enforcing the law. Justice must be done. Any member of the Clan-na-Gael organization who assists the authorities in this case—oaths or pledges of secrecy to the contrary notwithstanding—in doing his duty both as a citizen and as a member of the organization."

It is inferred from this statement that Dillon has the authority of the executive committee for removing the ban of secrecy. Dillon also said in reference to the police:

"I think they are doing their full duty. I feel better to-night about the matter than at any time since I came here. I am satisfied that Judge Longenecker especially is doing good work and that we are on the right track. We have got some of the criminals. We are going to get others. I am fully satisfied from the investigation which I have made that the crime was plotted and planned by persons who now reside or have resided here. Outsiders have had nothing to do with it."

"How about McGeehan?"

"Well, to tell the truth I think that the persons who plotted the affair were too deep to take him into their confidence."

This statement seems to confirm the story that McGeehan has all along been in the confidence of the Philadelphia Clan-na-Gael leaders and that he was a looker-on in the camp of the hostile faction. Mr. Dillon said he did not expect many new developments in the case for some days except what the press should bring forth.

MACK'S STORY.

A Woman Who Said She Would Get Even With the Doctor.

CHICAGO, May 31.—An evening paper says some valuable information in the Cronin case has been gathered from the man "Mack," alias Williams, alias McWilliams, who was arrested in a cheap lodging house. Mack claims to be a carpenter. He told the following story: On May 2 he was working for a Mrs. Wilson in North Ashland-avenue, scarcely a block from the Carlson cottage. Mack was putting in screens in windows. A lady whose name he understood to be Mrs. Dudley came into the room where Mack was and talked with Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. Dudley, who is stout and fleshy, talked very bitterly against a physician who attended her husband. Mack heard the name "Dr. Cronin" mentioned but did not know whether the physician complained of was the Cronin referred to or not. Mrs. Dudley seemed very much excited and frequently remarked, with great spirit, "I will get even with him." Mrs. Dudley said she was working in an orphan

MR. CRAIG AND EAST DURHAM.

As an individual, Mr. Craig representative in the local legislature for East Durham, is entitled to sympathy for the physical reasons that are alleged as the cause of his removal to California, to become a citizen of the American Republic. In this respect all can bid him good bye with best wishes etc. But, as a politician, he is open to criticism. He ceases to be a citizen of Ontario, yet he clings to his seat in Ontario's legislature. His organ in Port Hope says that Mr. Craig goes to California because he cannot stand the severe winter of Ontario. Yet he hangs on to his seat in the House and, if he represents East Durham, he will have to stand the winter during the coming session. His unduly tenacious grip on his seat is a subject for condemnation. How does the staunch Tory riding of East Durham, the persons of that political ilk delight in calling it, relish the idea of being represented by a Yankee citizen, an alien, to all intents and purposes. Not well by any means. Even the Port Hope Times, which vomited forth the most violent of frothy indignation against the EXAMINER for saying something respecting Mr. Craig which his organ considered uncomplimentary, in announcing Mr. Craig's determination to "lay superfluous on the stage," says:—"Mr. Craig has left the country with the intention of making his residence permanently in California. Our opinion is (plainly speaking) he should have resigned before leaving." The Guide is of a similar opinion but speaks with greater reserve; in the following extract from Friday's edition the Guide says:—

"The exodus from Canada to the United States has been swelled by the departure for California of Mr. Craig, M.P. P. The Hon. gentleman has, through the columns of the Times, announced the unpalatable fact that he will not at present resign his position as representative of East Durham in the Local Legislature, and gives his reason for not so doing. He says that he has been requested by his political friends not to resign for the present. The facts are, he dares not, as the Conservative party in East Durham is hopelessly demoralized and split up into two parties, but the wire-pullers hope that ere the electorate are called upon to exercise their franchise, those bickerings will be healed and everything will be in its normal condition. The Times will say to-night, that in its opinion Mr. Craig has been badly advised, and sadly condemns the action of our ex-M.P.P. It turns out that the leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition in Ontario advised Mr. C. to hang on to his position, as did "Wee Davy" of the Empire. If the Tory organ in short will send down a commissioner to East Durham, he will find that out of every ten Conservatives he visits, nine will condemn the action of our distinguished—or rather extinguished—leader of the Loyalists against French invasion. The rank and file who are Conservatives from conviction, universally condemn Mr. Craig. A "devil's dozen" of wire-pullers, who are Conservatives for "revenue only," uphold the action of the doughty warrior who fights and runs away. There is another aspect of the matter. Have the minority no rights that Mr. Craig was bound to respect? Are they to be permanently virtually disfranchised to suit a Tory whim? We think that the Ontario Government would be justified in declaring Mr. Craig's seat vacant, and ordering a new election."

Bellegheem's Great Goods.

There is no shadow of a doubt that Bellegheem, the "Furniture King," has at his extensive warerooms the largest stock of furniture in the Midland District. One or two show windows do not contain it, but every one of three floors is crammed with a stock of furniture of the best quality, and varied in price to meet every demand that possibly can be made upon it. In spite of the large demands that have been made upon it this season there has hardly an appreciable hole been made in it. Everybody who wants furniture goes to Bellegheem's, because he has the biggest stock, the best variety and the lowest prices. Thousands have discovered this fact by most satisfactory experience. In thousands of homes happiness and comfort have been made possible by the use of Bellegheem's furniture. His name is a household word because in his in his furniture business that the people demand both in quality and price. And the quality is good. His factory is perfectly equipped, manned by skilled workmen and every inch of lumber used is thoroughly kiln-dried before being put together. Thus we have stability and lasting workmanship. When you want thoroughly first-class furniture, go to D. Bellegheem's furniture warerooms, 198 and 199 Hunter street, Peterborough.

THE ATLANTIC MAIN SERVICE.

Mr. Anderson of London, Eng., at the Capital on Negotiation Intent.

OTTAWA, May 31.—At a meeting of the Privy Council to-day the directors for the Northwest Central Railway appeared, accompanied by Mr. Daly, M.P., to urge that the land subsidy in aid of that road be located at once in order that the proposed deal with the Northern Pacific Company may be completed. A difficulty has arisen in consequence of the lands along the route of the Northwest Central being covered for some distance by the grants to the Canadian Pacific and Manitoba and Northwestern roads. Judge Clark is here in the interests of the Canadian Pacific Company. A satisfactory settlement is anticipated.

Mr. W. R. Anderson of London, Eng., arrived here at noon to-day to negotiate with the Government for the construction of the Atlantic 20-knot steamship service, the subsidy for which was passed at the recent session. With regard to the statement cabled here that he had found difficulty in raising money to carry on the work owing to the feeling among English capitalists that by the time the 20-knot vessels were finished there would be demand for a still faster service. Mr. Anderson said: "I think my being here is a sufficient denial. If," he said, "people were to go on the principle of not going into an enterprise because something better would be accomplished later on, nothing would be accomplished."

Mr. Anderson said that if his negotiations were satisfactory the vessels would be launched in 16 months. He will see the members of the Government to-morrow.

The "Tickers" to be Settled.

NEW YORK, May 31.—It was officially announced at the New York Exchange at 3 p.m. that no more quotations will be distributed by stock indicators or tickers. Quotations will be gathered on the floor to-morrow, but members will have to furnish them to customers by memorandum as in olden times.

CHICAGO, May 31.—In accordance with previous announcement official quotations of the Board of Trade will be cut off to-morrow from about 500 correspondents, who are now members of the board. Employes of the gold and stock telegraph company were sent out this afternoon to remove all of the tickers from the offices of persons and corporations not members of the board. George M. Hurd to-day secured an injunction from Judge Tuley restraining the Board of Trade and the Western Union Telegraph Company from removing his stock quotation ticker. Hurd has brokers' offices in St. Paul and Minneapolis. He insists that the market reports are public property.

To Sail for Alaska.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Secretary Windom to-day signed the sailing orders of the revenue steamer Bear designated to assist in protecting the Alaskan seal fisheries. The revenue steamer Rush, detailed for the same service, is expected to sail from San Francisco for Behring Sea to-day or to-morrow. The orders to the Bear are identical with those of the Rush issued about a week ago. The Bear will carry material for establishing a refuge station at Point Barrow, Alaska, with supplies sufficient to sustain a hundred men there until it is again visited by a Government vessel a year from now. It is said at the department that the instructions to the officers of the Rush and Bear regarding the seal fisheries are practically the same as those of last year.

Naughty Girls at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, May 31.—This morning Detectives McKenzie and Reid arrested Lottie Wimen and Maggie Ortable, two 15-year-old girls. They skipped out from Brantford and were arrested on information received from the authorities there. The girls are good-looking and are neatly dressed. Detective Hickey arrived this morning to take the girls home.

Rachael Shelley, a 15-year-old girl who is in the habit of patronizing the "tough" dances here, was this morning sent to the Home of the Friendless on suspended sentence.

The Customs receipts at this port for May were $66,576, an increase of $357 over the same month last year.

Seized by the Vigilant.

NORTH SYDNEY, C. B., May 31.—An American schooner, the Mattie Winship, Captain Oliver, owned by Dennis Noyre of Gloucester, was seized yesterday morning while fishing inside the limit at Cape North, by the Dominion cruiser Vigilant, and brought in here this morning. Captain Knowlton is waiting instructions from the department.

The Two Dans.

Last night Howorth's Hibernian Company appeared for the third time in the opera house. The play for the evening was "The Two Dans, or the Twin Jarveys," a humorous comedy suggested by Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors." The Two Dans are twin brothers and are separated from childhood. They are engaged by different members of an American tourist party, as servants, and although they do not meet until the conclusion of the play, yet they are continually taken for each other by their respective masters and sweethearts. The ludicrous mistakes, laughable complications and amusing incidents and episodes with which the play abounds, renders it most interesting. Between the scenes of the play a grand panoramic view of Ireland is exhibited. The storm scene on the coast with the lightning flashing, the thunder rolling and the good ship "Britannia" tossing on the waves, is particularly worthy of mention. The sunset and moonlight scenes on the Lakes of Killarney were really beautiful, and they called forth well deserved bursts of applause. Another scene of great merit was a view of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, by night, with the old time illumination and the priests chanting the Christmas anthem. The company will appear in "Frolics of Tourists in Ireland" to-night.—Press, Burlington, Oct. 16th, 1885. The above company appear in Bradburn's Opera House next Tuesday evening. 1d is often the result of "bad blood" in a family or community, but nowhere is bad blood more destructive of happiness and health than in the human system. Then the life current is foul and sluggish with impurities, and in slowly disinfecting the poisons to every part of the body, the peril to health, and life even, is imminent. Early symptoms are dull and drowsy feelings, severe headaches, tainted breath, poor appetite, indigestion and general weakness. Delay in treatment may entail the most serious consequences. Don't let disease get a strong hold on your constitution, but treat yourself by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and be restored to the blessings of health. The "Discovery" is guaranteed to cure in all cases of diseases for which it is recommended, or money paid for it will be refunded.

Charles Cluthe, Esq., Toronto.

DEAR SIR—I wish to inform you how I am getting on. I am splendid now. I can walk any distance. I work all the time. My mother and I do all the housework for a large family. You know when you came to measure me I had to be held up, but after you put the instruments on I could walk through the house and the third day I could walk out. I feel that I can never thank you or say enough for you, when I think that for 3 long years I was a poor helpless girl, sometimes in bed for four months at the time and getting worse every day. Anyone wishing further particulars refer them to me. Thanking you once more, I remain your true friend.

Rupture.

DEAR SIR—I am only too pleased to inform you that the Scientific Truss you put on me last spring has been all I was recommended and more, as it has healed my Rupture, which I was troubled with for a long time, and not having been able to work on account of it; but on hearing of you, I came and had you adjust this Truss, which gave me great relief at once, so I was able to work at any kind of work. I would not part with it for ten times the price if I could not get another. For further proof send them to me.
I remain, yours truly,

THE JESUITS' ESTATES.

A Compromise Arising Out of Quebec's Recent Legislation.

MONTREAL, May 30.—A sub-committee of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction waited upon Premier Mercier to-day in regard to the Jesuits' estates. The estates have heretofore been administered as a trust, the revenues of which were devoted altogether to educational purposes within the Province of Quebec. The last legislation in regard to the Jesuits' estates is regarded as breaking the trust and the deputation desired that it should be continued. The Premier promised to lay the matter before his colleagues.

SUICIDE AT MONTREAL.

A Young Woman Shoots Herself Without Any Apparent Cause.

MONTREAL, May 30.—A tragic end as yet unexplained took place in the city to-day. Adele Lafrance, 23 years old, had been engaged for some time past as general servant at a saloon kept by P. A. Elliott at the corner of Aylmer and Mayor-streets and her character had been above reproach. She was a Roman Catholic and this morning attended the Ascension Day service at St. Patrick's Church. Immediately after the service she locked herself in her bedroom. In a few moments the loud report of a firearm was heard and on the inmates bursting the door open they found that the girl had shot herself just under the left breast. She was still alive but groaning in agony though too unable to speak. In her hand she grasped a six-chambered revolver of heavy calibre, from which one bullet had been discharged. She died an hour later without being able to offer any explanation of her act.

Shot Himself.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Captain G. H. Waltham to-day committed suicide at his house here by shooting. The captain was very wealthy and 55 years old.

MANITOBA RAILWAYS.

Proposed Extension of the Northern Pacific —Charges of Civic Bonding.

WINNIPEG, May 30.—President Oakes and Henry Villard of the Northern Pacific will visit here Sunday to complete arrangements for the purchase of the North-west Central and make traffic arrangements with the Manitoba and Northwestern. It is said the Northern Pacific system will be extended beyond Saskatchewan and to the Pacific coast on the old Hudson's Bay line.

An injunction has been issued restraining the city from signing the conveyancing contract with Reid & Co. on the ground that the by-laws of the city have not been complied with. Charges of bonding are made.

The Hayden Commission.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 31.—The Hayden Commission continues to be the chief topic here. A reporter found Gen. Beverly Tucker at breakfast with his brother, Judge Randolph Tucker, at Chamberlain's. "I have not seen Mr. Blaine," he said. "He was down the river yesterday, you know, and I have not been to the State Department to-day, so I know nothing about the situation. I do not know the reason for the withdrawal of the appointments of the commission nor what is contemplated in the matter. It will be only surprising to attempt to discuss it, and I cannot, of course, do that. As to the sensational stories, my being associated with conspiracy, etc., the whole thing is without an iota of truth. All that was answered in my address to the people during Johnson's administration. The only positions I ever held under the Confederate Government were a perfectly legitimate mission abroad to purchase quarter-master's stores and a mission to Canada to exchange cotton for meal. I had nothing whatever to do with any of the military operations of the confederacy, their guns or their soldiers or their military plans in any way, and I was in absolute ignorance of them. I was in Canada to trade cotton for meal. President Lincoln and Secretary Ward were aware of my mission, knew its character, and all about it." "The fact appears," broke in Judge Randolph Tucker, "that some enemies of Mr. Blaine are trying to hit at him over my brother's shoulder. It is a feeble attempt to hurt Mr. Blaine."

Attempted Burglary.

CALUMET, Mich., May 31.—Last midnight two men entered the express office by the window, having first attempted to pry open the door. The agent was awakened by the noise, stepped outside and got help. The burglars jumped outside the window and when ordered to halt by Henry Pledge fired two shots at him and escaped. One of the burglars cut his hand terribly in breaking the windows of the office. The fellows had powder and tools with which to crack the safe. There is no clew to the robbers.

Runaway Match Thwarted.

KINGSTON, May 30.—On Wednesday a couple of young lovers reached Farmersville from Smith's Falls. They seemed anxious to be married, and were equally anxious to avoid their parents, who had been chatter them for days. A delay of a day sufficed to prevent the performance of the marriage ceremony. After a meal at the Gamble House, the couple were on the point of driving off when the fathers arrived and took possession of the lovers. Despite all her father could do the girl jumped out of his buggy and contrived to give a parting embrace to the sidewalk with her baffled admirer. The youth is a son of a prominent citizen of Smith's Falls, and the would-be bride is a daughter of a former resident of Farmersville.

His Presidency's Second Disappearance.

OTTAWA, May 30.—Reports have circulated Prof. H. Fraser's monthly meeting at Queen's College, with the murder of Dr. Cowan. The sole ground for these reports so far as can be ascertained at present is the fact that Mr. Frawley disappeared from Chicago so suddenly and mysteriously as he did from Ottawa, and that he was a Fenian and somewhat head and hot in his Fenian utterances. Frawley was over 6 feet in height and a very powerful man, weighing 220 pounds.

Belleville Retails.

BELLEVILLE, May 31.—At the citizens market yesterday 25 fatherless hoarded 519 beans colored and 617 white. All the white sold at 8½, 12 beans colored sold at 8½ and 497 beans at 8½.

A party of girls from England have arrived at the Marchmont Home. A second party will follow shortly, and a party of boys are now en route and will arrive on Monday.

Charles Kyle, an alleged bandit, was yesterday committed for trial on a charge of burglary in Stirling.

The Victim of an Old Grudge.

RICHMOND, N. Y., May 30.—Garrett Wheeler, eight tenths of the village of Orchard, was shot and fatally wounded by Cornelius Brackett, an employe of Clark's stone quarry, at that village to-night. One ball passed through his breast and another through his thigh. Wheeler returned Brackett's fire without effect. Cause of the shooting was an old grudge. Brackett is in custody.

$200,000 Blaze in Lewville, N.Y.

UTICA, N. Y., May 30.—Fire broke out in Lewville, Lewis County, at 11 o'clock to-night destroying an opera house belonging to ex-Congressman John O'Donnell, residences belonging to William Moore, Nicholas Burhart and George Wise, the store of Curtis & Bacon, engine house and several barns. The loss will be about $200,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Settlement of the Jesuit's Case.

QUEBEC, May 30.—A meeting will be held immediately to discuss the Jesuit Estates Bill and to appoint delegates to attend the Ottawa meeting.

Iron Mines in Oklahoma.

ST. LOUIS, May 30.—Despatches from Oklahoma report the finding of rich iron mines near Guthrie. A shaft will be sunk at once.

Ask Dry for Fisher's Castoria.

A Mind Diseased.

NEW YORK, May 30.—In the Bishop inquest to-day Dr. Briggs testified that a portion of the mind reader's brain was diseased and that Bishop had Bright's disease.

The doctor believes hemorrhage of the brain was the cause of death. Dr. J. A. Irwin said he had felt Bishop's pulse and advised him not to go on with his performances at the Lamb's Club. He did not believe in the catalepsis theory. The symptoms were hystero-epilepsy. Of the death there was no doubt. It was a case where an autopsy should be made as soon after death as possible.

EVERY drop of blood in the system passes through both the kidneys and lungs many thousand times in each twenty-four hours. This explains why 50 per cent of the patients of Brompton Hospital for consumptives, London, England, have unsuspected kidney disorder. If the kidneys were in a healthy condition they would expel the waste matter or poisonous acid and prevent the irritation of the lungs. But if diseased they are unable to perform their functions. This explains why Warner's Safe Cure has proved so valuable in cases of lung trouble. It removes the cause.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. The Appetite

May be increased, the Digestive organs strengthened, and the Bowels regulated, by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills are purely vegetable in their composition. They contain neither calomel nor any other dangerous drug, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, became greatly debilitated, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well.—Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored.—C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and, at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—Philip Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but gave me increased vigor, and restored my health.—John Lazarus, St. John, N. B.

It is a remarkable record for a town of 10,000 inhabitants.

In a Modified Form.

The attention of the Examiner has been called to the language used by the Bridgenorth correspondent, in reference to Sabbath desecration at that village, and the assurance received that it was much stronger than the circumstances warranted. Correspondents sometimes use language whose strength is disproportionate to the magnitude of the evil they denounce.

A Challenge.

Mr. M. Bird, the local champion long distance runner, has sent a challenge to be published in the Empire, inviting a man named Knox, who formerly lived in Hastings but is now a resident of Toronto, to a test of pedestrianism. Knox wanted to race Bird on the 24th, but the latter not being in condition declined. Now he challenges Knox to three races on July 1st, at any suitable place, the distance to be 220 yards, half-mile and mile, the three races to be run in an hour. The winner of two of the events to win the wager. Mr. Bird means business, and Knox will have to put up or shut up.

The Shooting Accident

The lad Detcher who received several pellets of shot in his head, by the discharge of a gun as mentioned in yesterday's issue is doing nicely. One of the shot grains was removed by Dr. Fife, but two or three other shots remain in the scalp. Persons using firearms in places where persons may by any possibility come within range of the discharge should exercise the utmost care, or keep the discharge inside the gun.

Miss Gordon's Engagement.

Miss Mattie Gordon, the talented young lady who took such a prominent part at the recent Christian Alliance convention, has made many warm friends in Peterborough and her services are in great demand. Friday night she conducted a large meeting at Mr. G. M. Roger's house; she takes charge of the mens' meetings in the Y.M.C.A. hall Saturday and Sunday evenings, Rev. Mr. Torrance's Bible class Sunday afternoon at 3 and also addresses the congregation of the George street church Sunday morning. The Y.M.C.A. are endeavoring to arrange for a series of meetings next week, to be conducted by her. Miss Gordon is said to possess a rare scriptural knowledge which she is always pleased to disburse for the benefit of enquirers. Her next engagement after leaving Peterborough is at a convention in Detriot.

The Norwood Meeting.

Friday night a public meeting was held in the town hall, Norwood, for the discussion of the Jesuit question. The hall was filled. Mr. W.W. Brethen presided, and there were on the platform Rev. M. L. Pearson, of Peterborough, and Rev. Messrs. Poer, Carmichael and Clarke, of Norwood. A resolution of the usual strong condemnatory character was presented by Rev. Mr. Carmichael and seconded by Rev. Mr. Clarke. Both these gentlemen made stirring addresses, and were followed by Rev. Mr. Pearson, who spoke at considerable length upon the subject of Jesuit aggression. He vividly pictured the danger to Canada from hierarchal invasion of our rights, and appealed to his hearers to arouse themselves to the needs of the hour and resist with a strong hand the encroachments of the Jesuits. His address awakened considerable enthusiasm in the audience. Rev. Messrs. Clarke and Carmichael, and Mr. W. E. Roxburgh were appointed delegates to the Citizens Convention in Toronto, June 11 and 12. Mr. Roxburgh was also appointed Secretary of the Committee. The meeting was dispersed with the National Anthem.

Dr. Clark's Lecture—An Explanation.

In response to many enquiries as to the subject of Prof. Clark's lecture on June 10th, we may say it is to be Charles Kingsley's book, "Water Babies." This book, which the gifted author styles, 'A Fairy Story for a Land Baby,' was written by Kingsley for his youngest son. Under the guise of a prettily told story of wondrous adventure, it was evident that deeper things lay hidden, though no one seemed able to discover what these deeper things were. Attracted, however, by this puzzle and by the extreme beauty of the book Dr. Clark made it a subject of careful study. His labor was amply repaid, for under its Fairy disguise the book was revealed to be a true parable of human life, ascending from its lower to its higher stages. After this discovery Dr. Clark was invited from time to time to explain the book at various drawing-room assemblages in London, whence sprang his delightful lecture which he has since been called on repeatedly to give both in England and in Canada. Among the many congratulatory letters which she received from Canon Kingsley acknowledging that Dr. Clark had found the key to a literary secret which he had never disclosed himself.

Ashburnham Brevities.

The court of revision sat on Thursday night to consider the appeals against the assessment of the present year. There were a number of appeals. A few were granted slight reductions, and, on the whole, the assessors, Messrs. Stephenson and Dover, feel relieved after the ordeal.

The rain last night filled to the brim the well for the new tank on the corner of Mark and Elizabeth streets, and Inspector Craig had three pumps at work this forenoon emptying it.

A man who was not conducting himself very decorously last night was within an ace of spending the night in the block hole. Had he done so the villagers could have witnessed the pleasing ceremony of seeing him knighted, this being the honor to be conferred on the first inmate. As it is, however, the title is still undisputed and can be secured on short notice, the only requisite being an infraction of the public peace.

The council meets on Monday night. It is expected a by-law will be passed for submission to the ratepayers to be voted upon to get their feeling upon the advisability of building a new town hall. It is thought the by-law will meet with little opposition. The watering of the streets is also likely to occupy the attention of the council.

Personal.

Rev. Dr. Castle, the retiring principal of the Toronto Baptist College, reserved a most flattering eulogium upon his abilities, and a striking testimony to the brilliancy of his abilities and the value of his services from his colleagues of the faculty of the college. He was both personally popular with his associates, but was endowed with a more than ordinary amount of administrative ability, and warmly sympathized with the various purposes of the institution.

Among the Greenhouses.

Well Equipped Establishments—Greatly Increased Interest in the Culture of Flowers.

Yesterday the Examiner made its annual visit to the local greenhouses, and the tour gave some idea of the wonderful development of the esthetic taste of the public in the direction of the love and cultivation of flowers. Less than ten years ago very modest, incomplete and comparatively insignificant greenhouses were then sufficed to meet the public demand. Now so great has become the demand, so marked and universal the culture of plants and flowers, that two large and well conducted establishments have their producing capacity taxed to the very uttermost to meet the call of the cultured for plants. Two greenhouses of an extent requiring some ten or twelve thousand feet of glass to cover them are found insufficient, and large additions are to be made the present season.

"Helendale" Greenhouses.

The first in order of visit was the greenhouses of Mr. Frank Mason, "Helendale." These were found in their usual state of bloom, and they presented not only a scene of beauty but a scene of great animation. The employes were kept "on the jump" to fill the orders in hand. Of course this time of year is not the best to visit greenhouses. The accumulated bloom and growth of winter is continually being broken upon by the public, and of course gaps are left to be filled from the propagating houses. Mr. Mason reports that he has enjoyed a brisk demand for his products. The demand from outside the town would almost suffice to absorb his stock, and so urgent is the demand that he will this summer enlarge his capacity by erecting another greenhouse 20x100 feet in area. His seed business has developed rapidly and is assuming large proportions. He is steadily improving "Helendale" Park, the grounds attached to his greenhouses and residence. This delightful little ravine through which flows a brawling brook has been much improved this season and will in time, when its natural beauties are developed make a charming resort. One portion of the grounds is devoted to testing beds to test the qualities of new varities of vegetable and flower plants before putting them on the market. Mr. Mason's business is flourishing. He has a fine stock among which an scores of magnificent hanging baskets. The lawn vases, filled and growing for the Court House park are also beautiful, and altogether Helendale Greenhouses are well worth a visit. Mr. Mason's courtesy and obliging disposition are not the least valuable of his stock-in-trade. His down town office is 142 Hunter street.

"Cordage" Greenhouses.

This well known establishment, Mr. G. M. Roger, proprietor—is still in the van and handsomely maintaining the position it has held for so many years. Every year finds it increasing in capacity and patronage, and every year the demand is found to be increasing rapidly, even beyond the large capacity of between five and six thousand feet of glass. This large area will be largely increased this season as soon as the rush of spring and summer demand is over. And this year there has been a genuine rush, and the capacity of the greenhouses has been constantly put to the test. Never before in its history has the demand been so urgent and the facilities for meeting this demand so complete. If the latter had not been so complete, more than once the establishment would have been "cleaned out." This season several new varieties of foliage plants are placed for sale, as well as new begonias and the latest plants as discovered are secured for the customers of "Cordach." Mr. Arthur Blade, the manager, has had extensive experience and has acquired a high proficiency in his business, which the large and constantly increasing patronage of this establishment bears testimony to in no unmistakeable terms.

A Private Establishment.

While on his way home the Examiner representative had to pass the grounds of Mr. A. L. Davis, the late residence of Mr. Geo. A. Cox, and through the courtesy of the head gardener, Mr. Thomas Warren, was privileged to inspect the greenhouses very elaborate premises for the purpose. The beautiful grounds with sufficient age to present naturally of beauty, were all ready for the magnificent array of bedding plants contained in the greenhouses. These comprises between three and four thousand geraniums foliage and other bedding plants and the extent of the grounds and the excellent use made of them may be inferred from their furnishing space for so large a number of plants. The great thriftiness and beauty of the plants ready for bedding show that Mr. Warren thoroughly understands this business and diligently attends to it. He is exceedingly successful, and in addition to his flower and foliage plants he grows several luxuries such as early vegetables, mushrooms, etc. He takes great pride, and reasonably so, in a sturdy little orange tree which has upon its boughs, though it is only about six or eight inches in height and stands in an ordinary flower pot, four sound oranges in various stages of development—one nearly ripe and others less fully grown. A visit to Mr. Warren's well governed domain is a decided treat.

Deliberate Murder.

The Facts Show that Mr. John Scott, a Former Peterborough Boy, was Murdered—His Assailant to Receive His Deserts.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fraser returned home last night, after having performed the sad duty of burying Mr. James B. Scott, a brother of Mrs. Fraser. The Examiner the other day contained an account of the murder of Mr. Scott at Glenorcos, near Orangeville, and readers of the newspapers are already well acquainted with the particulars of the tragedy. The telegraphic despatches do not, it is said, convey the full horribleness of the murder it is claimed to be—for murder it was Atkinson, who threw the 14 pound stone which caused Mr. Scott's death, had it is said threatened to kill him before, and he deliberately carried out his threats seems clear. As Mr. Scott turned away from him after the dispute, and was walking off in another direction, Atkinson picked up the boulder and buried it with both hands at Scott, who was knocked over into the creek. The stone struck him in the side of his head and crushed his skull. His father-in-law at the same moment came out of the mill, saw the whole affair, and took Mr. Scott home. This was on Monday, the 20th, and the victim of Atkinson's foul assault lived till the following Monday. Up to the last he had hopes of recovery, and did not want his friends to be sent for; when it became known that he must die, and that very soon, it was too late. By some oversight Mrs. Fraser was not notified till Wednesday noon, and she and Mr. Fraser went up on the evening train. The funeral was yesterday, deceased being buried by the Knights of Pythias. He was a member of the Detroit lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser say the subsequent management of the case has been very loose. The coroner's jury, after hearing the statement of Atkinson and his friend Carnes, brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death at the hands of Atkinson, but that the latter killed him in self-defence. Since Mr. and Mrs. Fraser have been in Glenorcos they have left no stone unturned to bring Atkinson to justice. The County Crown Attorney has the case in hand and will push it. Atkinson's friends offered to settle with Mr. Scott's anguished wife for $1,000 and pay all the costs, but of course it cannot be done. A preliminary trial will be held before the Police Magistrate at Orangeville on Monday.

Mrs. Fraser feels the affliction keenly. A brother of whom she was very fond, a young man in the prime of life and full of health, to be cut down in his palmest days—it is certainly a sad blow to his relatives as well as his wife.

Deceased lived in Peterborough about six years ago. He learned his trade as moulder in the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's works, and was well liked by all his acquaintances. After leaving here he went to Detroit, was married and lived there till a few months ago, when he went to Glenorcos on a visit to his father-in-law, Mr. Daniel Markle, who gave him the right to collect a 25 cent fee from all parties using the speckled-trout fishing preserves. Atkinson refused to pay, and this led up to the murder.

Mrs. Scott, the deceased's mother, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Fraser to town and will remain with them for a while. The family will have the sympathy of their many friends in their sore trouble.

Stuck in a Mud Drift.

A Freight Train Stopped Near Keene—The Rain Washes a Foot of Mud on the Track.

It rained very hard last night continuously for several hours. About three o'clock the water fell in sheets. The streets were running streams, and the sewers could not carry off the flood of water. The creek was swelled to spring dimensions, and a watch had to be kept at Paterson's tannery for fear of the freshet. It was about the worst rainstorm that has visited Peterborough for years.

On the Grand Junction railway the storm had a more serious effect. About two miles this side of Keene there is a deep cut with soft sides, and the rain washed a layer of mud across the track 4 or 5 inches deep. A special freight left town this morning eastward bound, but stuck fast in the mud-drift, and could not be released till nearly noon. One car was derailed by a large stone, but no damage was done. Conductor Stanton's train from Belleville was held at Keene, and conductor Morris' train did not leave Peterborough till noon. The railway officials had a staff of about a hundred men at work digging out the freight, and traffic was resumed this afternoon. It is not often such an accident happens.

Apsley.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The 24th was celebrated by a football match in the forenoon. C. Webster was captain of the Blues, and J. J. Walsh captain of the Reds. The Blues won two straight games and were declared victorious. In the afternoon there was foot and boat racing. The rain coming on about 4 o'clock prevented the full programme being carried out. The day's amusement was completed by a dance in the town hall, and what with ball-kicking and dancing some of the boys looked rather woebegone next morning and complained of a severe stiffness in their legs.

The photograph gallery Mr. Gellon has been fitting up for Mr. A. J. May, over N. J. Webster's flour and feed store, was occupied the past week, and has been very successful. Mr. May will be in Apsley every third week during the summer. Give him a call. The outfit being complete with all modern improvements, and everything done by the latest known system, good work can be guaranteed. Out door photographing a speciality.

Mr. Thomas Eastland has had a number of men working at his new store in Apsley during the last week. It will be one of the finest country stores in the county. It is eighty-five feet by twenty-four feet, ceiling twelve feet high.

About two weeks ago some person started a fire on Con. Maher's land and burned four or five hundred dollars worth of logs and ties belonging to the Rathbun Company, but the rain came on Monday night and stopped the fire.

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call. W. J. Morrow, 340 George street.

IS YOUR BAKING POWDER PURE?

Do its Manufacturers Publish all the Ingredients Used?

IS IT FREE FROM AMMONIA?

As is well known, ammonia is unhealthful in food, and dries up the bread material.

Protection to consumers of food compounds lies in their ability to choose those made from healthful substances. Unless manufacturers publish just what their baking powder is made of, do not use their goods, but buy instead

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER.

This powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, and strictly pure bicarbonate of soda, with a little wheat flour to preserve it. This is attested by the official analyses of Government and State chemists, and physicians, and chemists of Boards of Health throughout the country. Cleveland Bros., Albany, N.Y.

BUYING THE BABY CARRIAGE.

THE MOTHERS' FIRST EXPERIENCE.

"I like to wait on the mother-for-the-first time who comes to elect a triumphal chariot for her darling. Coy, diffident and cautious at first about making her ideas and wants known, she gradually unfolds like a flower of the morning in her work of love. It is charming to watch her eagerness in the matter, or the tenderness with which she feels the downy cushions. Some young mothers, still unable to control the blush of commingled pleasure and shyness that indicates unfamiliarity with their new experience, bring their babies with them. It simply surpasses the powers of an Amelia Rives to gush over the pretty way she fits the baby in the buggy, and softly wheels it to and fro the whole end of the store to see how it goes."

"A Spring Message"

FROM THE NEW FIRM OF
H. LeBRUN & Co.

Sign of the Golden Horse-shoe

The people of Peterborough and vicinity are all aware of the business change which took place in the CITY CLOTHING STORE on the first day of February last. The new firm beg leave to make their first bow to the public through the columns of the EXAMINER, and to request a careful perusal of the following Spring and Summer circular:—

a past years, by long experience in business, by buying always for spot cash, by importing direct from the principal houses of the old country and the leading manufacturers of this country, and by strict economy in conducting the business, has always been able to force prices down to an exceedingly fine point. The members of which the new firm is composed will form a still stronger "combine," by which the CITY CLOTHING STORE will be even better prepared to procure for its customers a continuation of those superior inducements in the future for which it has been noted in the past.

MEN'S CLOTHING.

The magnitude of our stock and lowness of prices gives us a great advantage over all other competitors in the trade. We carry in stock all the fast selling lines, styles and patterns, and can fit the tall, the short, the fat and the lean.

300 LIVES LOST.

THAT IS THE LATEST REPORT OF THE GREAT CATASTROPHE.

Thirty-Five Thousand People in a Battle With the Rushing Waters—Fire Adds Its Horrors to the Calamity of the Flood.

SAND HOLLOW, Pa., June 2.—The first accounts of the Johnstown disaster are far below the estimates now placed upon the extent of the calamity, and instead of 2000 or 3000 it is probable the death list will reach 8000, many say 10,000. The property loss may reach $11,000,000. It is now known that two passenger trains, two sections of the day express on Pennsylvania Railroad, have been thrown into the maddened torrent and the passengers drowned. These trains were held at Johnstown from Friday at 11 a.m., and were lying on a siding between the Johnstown and Conemaugh stations.

The awful torrent came down the narrow gorge between the mountains, a distance of nine miles, and with a fall of 300 feet in that distance, sweeping away the villages of South Fork, Mineral Point, Woodvale and Conemaugh, leaving but one building standing and a wooden mill, where ten an hour before had stood hundreds, and dashing on with the roar of a cataract and with the speed of the wind upon the fair city at the foothills.

The plain in which but yesterday was Johnstown sits in the mountains like a jewel in the Queen's diadem. The great Gautier Steel Works sat in this plain and the city below it, the railroad tracks bounding it at the base of the mountains on the north. Here is where the trains where standing when the tide of water like a catapult came down upon them with such resistless force that the heavy trains, locomotives, Pullmans and all, were overturned and swept down the torrent and were lodged against the great stone viaduct, along with forty-one locomotives from the Johnstown round-house, the heavy machinery and ponderous framework of the Gautier mill, the accumulated debris of more than a thousand houses, furniture, bridges, lumber, drift and human beings. The low arches of the stone viaduct choked up immediately and the water backed back over the entire level of the valley upon which the city stood to a depth of what, from the water marks, indicates about thirty-eight feet. In the great sea thus formed hundreds, perhaps thousands of people, were struggling for life.

The scene to-day is one of the most harrowing possible for the imagination of man to conceive. The accumulated drift gorged up at the viaduct to a height of forty feet and then took fire from the upsetting of stoves or lamps. Then were strong men made sick at the sight. As the flames crackled and reared among the dry timber of the floating houses, human bodies were seen pinioned between the house roofs, locomotives, iron beams, freight, passenger, Pullman and baggage cars, heavy iron beams, the greedy flames licking with hate their diet of human flesh. The scene was horrible beyond description. From infancy, a few days old, to the wasted figures of age, were burned before the eyes of the beholders, and no rescue from such a fate was possible. Strong men turned away with agonized expressions and women shrieked at the horror of the scene.

The dead are computed at not less than 3000, and the number may even exceed this estimate. This seems incredible, but until the waters abate and the work of removing the dead from this tremendous mass is completed it will be impossible to tell how many lives have been lost.

The Associated Press correspondent was the first man to cross the Johnstown proper by means of a basket suspended from a cable, as passengers are removed from wrecked ships. Here the scenes were magnified in their horror.

Here were the residences of the little city's most wealthy and intelligent people. Here were found the body of John Dibert, the banker, and his entire family, consisting of a daughter and two grandchildren; W. Overdeck, J. Dorsey of Depew & Co., tobacconists, Philadelphia, and one of the most popular traveling men on the road; Dr. J. C. Cooper and wife; J. O. Beneshoff, bookseller; Mr. Wm. Gilmore, wife and family; Jas. Howard, Neil McAuley and wife; Mrs. Dreiling and family of three; Mrs. Cyrus Elder, wife of the general superintendent of the Cambria Iron Company.

Many other women and children cannot be identified. Police officers and others were rendering all possible aid, but the number of the dead seems greater than the number of the living.

Under, Market, Main, Locust and Washington streets have been swept clean and bare of all buildings of whatever character and their inhabitants seem to have fled into the streets at the first warning of danger, and others rushed to their deaths, for those who remained in their houses had an opportunity to flee to the upper stories. When the houses were frame they were floated from their foundations and many were saved. The Hotel Halbert, a brick structure, had sixty-five guests, and sixty-three of these were killed by the falling in of the floors and walls. The Morell library, the school house, Alma Hall, general stores and offices of the iron company and one other brick building are all of probably 2000 buildings that have not been floated from their foundations or caved in.

The stone viaduct is forty feet high from the river bed as low water, and over this the water rushed in a resistless flood. On this, or the west side, are the Baltimore and rail mills of the Cambria Iron Company. Although warned to flee to the hillsides, many of the men resting in a fancied security loitered about the mills and were engulfed in an instant. To-day their bodies are strewn along the Conemaugh, Kiskiminetas and Allegheny Rivers and are being caught as far down the Ohio River as Rochester.

Below the mills is Cambria, a sub-borough, in which district reside probably 2000 people. The scenes here are but a repetition of the other parts of the flood-wasted city. In St. Columbia's Church, a new structure, which had been flooded to a depth of six feet in the auditorium, the water had receded and the floor was covered with a slimy ooze to the depth of seven or eight inches. On boards stretched along the top of the pews were thirteen bodies which had been snatched from the stream by Fr. Thomas Darlin and some of his parishioners whom he had impressed into service.

While in the awful presence of the dead and amid the solemn surroundings of a desolated fane, the representative saw Joseph Smith, a man of extraordinary size and strength enter. He said not a word, but quietly went from corpse to corpse, lifting the stained and mud covered coverings of the dead. At last he came to the corpse of a child about nine years old, his daughter. He looked at the swollen and blood-stained features a moment, and then with a voice of the most unutterable agony cried, "My Maggie, my little Maggie," at the same time pressing the inanimate form to his bosom and giving expression to alternate caressings and ejaculations of grief. The man took his child and ran with it to what had been his home. He placed it beside those of his wife and two other children, all of whom had been drowned.

It is impossible to narrate the many pathetic incidents that occurred on all sides.

At Morell forty-three bodies were laid out waiting to be identified. Eight of them were children, one that of a child which a physician said had been born while the mother was fighting for her life in the raging flood.

At Nineveh, nine miles down the stream, 106 bodies, mostly women and children, were laid out in a sawmill, and additions were being made by wagon loads at a time, which were being packed up on the mandrels over which the great tide had surged with the fury of a demon. Many were found with their hands yet clinging tenaciously to the branches of trees and shrubs. In one case a young couple were found locked in each other's arms. In another case a mother was found with a child clasped in each arm and held closely to her bosom.

There is no possibility of telling just who has been lost, as thousands are missing. The survivors, many of whom tell of the most thrilling escapes from collections of debris, house roofs, car doors and planks, sank the banks and gaze with stupor, born of paralyzation of their mental faculties, from the fright and horror they have been subjected to.

The number of people who are visible from the banks are so few in contrast with the population of the various brisk boroughs which constitute the city that the question "Where are the people?" is asked on all sides. The impression is gaining that the disclosures yet to come where the gorge collected, and which is now burning over an area of several acres, is yet more ghastly. The confluence of

THE ROBILLARD SWINDLE.

Mr. Barron Arraigns the Premier,

A Disgraceful Transaction Exposed—How Sir John Macdonald Reconciles a "Rinker" and Reveals a Supporter—The Charges Proved by Official Correspondence—20 Square Miles of Valuable Timber Limits Given Away for a Song—Result for $316 and Sold for $80,000.

(From the official Parliamentary report.)

In the House of Commons on the 23rd of April Mr. Barron said:—To the motion that you do now leave the chair I beg, sir, to move an amendment. The amendment I propose is one which deals with a transaction the like of which, I think, has seldom ever graced, or I should more properly say, disgraced the executive of any legislative body. The transaction I refer to is that of the government selling, or I should perhaps more properly say giving away 79 square miles of valuable timber limits to a gentleman now a member of this house, for the nominal sum of $316. There would have been wrong in this transaction had the property been of the ordinary property belonging to the crown, but it is infamous in a degree when the fact is recalled that the property disposed of was part of the public domain of this country and belonged to a small band of Indians, in regard to whom the premier of this house, who is directly responsible for this transaction, stood in the position of trustee, and over whom he stood as guardian, they standing towards him in the position of wards. Now, in order that this house may thoroughly understand this transaction and in order to explain the case upon which I arraign the government opposite, I would ask honorable gentlemen to accompany me in their memories back to 1850, and in their imaginations travel with me as far as Sault St. Marie. At that place and that year the late Peter Robinson was employed to make treaties with several different bands of Indians inhabiting the shores of Georgian bay, Lake Huron and Lake Superior. He made successful treaties with all the different bands inhabiting those localities. A part or portion of the treaty was that each band should have a specific portion of the land. There were very many different bands of Indians, each of which got a particular portion of land allotted to them by this particular treaty, but there was a band known as Shawanakeshiok's band, which, though allotted a reserve, did not until a few years ago have their reserve laid out for them upon the ground. It may not be important that the House should know these particulars, yet, perhaps, I may be permitted to explain that this band of Indians has not until within the past three or four years had their land or reserve laid out for them, while all the different bands had within two or three years after 1850 their lands laid out for them. I have no knowledge the reason for not laying out Shawanakeshicks' reserve to be that the particular land reserved for this particular band, the timber belonging to which was nominally given away or nominally sold to the hon. the junior member for Ottawa, was because the reserve was so far inland from the shores of Georgian bay that the surveyor employed at that period did not find time to go and lay out that reserve. On the other hand, it is supposed that the reason was the uncertainty in the description of the reserve. Speaking from memory and therefore subject to correction, the description of that reserve was some such description as this: Shawanakeshicks' band, a tract of land three miles square, between the waters of the Whitefish river and Wanabitaseba, seven miles inland. Inasmuch as the distance between Whitefish river and Wanabitaseba is something like seventy or eighty miles, it can easily be understood how difficult it was to exactly locate the piece of land under this treaty three miles square. And then again the particular village inhabited by this particular band was very much further inland from the shores of the Georgian Bay than seven miles something like twenty miles, and then an uncertainty arose as to where this particular land or reserve was to be located. But within the last three or four years this particular reserve was laid out for this band, and here I may say that it was fairly and accurately laid out. It was laid out by Mr. Alway, employed by hon. gentlemen opposite. I do not mean to refer to the question of the accuracy of that survey although the courts have held lately that it was not located accurately; still there is no point in that in my case against the government. But hon. members will kindly bear in mind that, although the treaty was made so far back as 1850, it was not until the last three or four years that this particular reserve was laid out for this particular band of Indians. At an earlier period the government of the province of Ontario surveyed all the lands on the north shore of the Georgian bay, including the lands covered since by this particular reserve into what were known as timber berths, with a view of selling the timber on those particular berths, and in the year 1872 the Ontario government sold the timbers on the berths on the north shore of Georgian bay, including the timber upon the area subsequently known as this reserve. It may be said that, inasmuch as that tract was then known, the Ontario government did wrong in selling the timber as they did in 1872; but I want to show, and I can show conclusively, that when the Ontario government did that which they did in 1872, sell the timber on the berths, which have since been covered by the Indian reserve on which the timber was sold to the junior member of Ottawa for the small sum of $316, they had no knowledge whatever of this particular reserve. To prove that fact I shall read two letters. I do this because it might appear that there was some conflict between the two governments, the Dominion government and the government of Ontario. It might be said that the government of Ontario was doing wrong when it sold the timber in 1872, having laid out the timber berths previous to that year; but if I can show that the Ontario government at that time knew nothing whatever of this reserve, then I think my contention against that government should be withdrawn, and I think I can show that successfully. Not only at that time did the authorities at Toronto know nothing about the reserve, but the authorities in the department of Indian affairs here knew nothing whatever of the location of that reserve. To prove that I shall read the two letters to which I referred a moment ago. The first is dated the 24th July, 1879, and is addressed to T. H. Johnson, assistant commissioner, crown lands department, Toronto. It reads:

"Sir,—I have the honor to request that you will be good enough to furnish this office with a copy on tracing linen, of the plan of the reserve occupied by Shawanakeshick and his band, between Whitefish river and Wanabitaseba, and numbered 6, on the schedule of reservations made under the Robinson treaty of 1850.

"(Signed,) L. VANKOUGHNET,

"Deputy of the Superintendent General of Indian affairs."

It will be seen by that letter that the Dominion government at that time, in 1879, had no map and, as a matter of fact, there was no map in existence showing the locality of this particular reserve. This government knew nothing about it, and they applied to the government of Ontario for information in regard to the question. The reply they got was this:

"Department of Crown Lands,
"Deputy Surveyor General's Office, 1st Aug., '79.

"Sir,—In reply to a letter of the 24th ult., requesting copy of plan of Indian reserve No. 6, between Whitefish river and Wanabitaseba, I have to inform you that no plan of such reservation appears on record in this office. I enclose plan of north shore of Lake Huron, showing all Indian reserves covered by the treaty of 1850, plans of which are of record in this office.

"T. B. JOHNSON,

"Assistant land commissioner."

This letter is addressed to Mr. L. Vankoughnet, deputy superintendent general of Indian affairs. From these letters it will be seen that the government of Ontario when prior to 1872 they laid out the lands on the north shore of Georgian bay into what were known as timber berths, and then sold the pine timber thereon, did not know anything whatever of the existence at that time of the reserve. But although that was the case it cannot be said that when the Dominion government surveyed the Indian reserve they knew nothing at all of the timber berths laid out by the government of the province of Ontario, and to prove that the Dominion government—and I do this in order to trace up step by step the knowledge possessed by this government of what took place by the authority of the province of Ontario—had such knowledge, I bring in this point although it is not a very important one, but I do it for the purpose of showing step by step that the government opposite knew all that went on so far as the government of the province of Ontario was concerned regarding these particular berths. Now, the letter signed by Mr. James Phipps, who is the Indian agent at Manitowaning, addressed to the superintendant general of Indian affairs, is dated the 29th March, 1882, and is as follows:

"Sir,—I have the honor to state with reference to previous correspondence on the subject of the reserve claimed by the Whitefish lake Indians that I have taken every opportunity of meeting with the chief and the most intelligent Indians of the band to ascertain from them the boundaries of the reserve, claimed as having been in their occupation at the date of the Robinson treaty, and now enclose a sketch showing the reserve claimed, which will comprise part of the following townships as laid down in a map issued by the crown land department of Ontario, dated August, 1880, Nos. 69, 70, 75, 76, 77, 83, 84, and will contain about 50 square miles.

"There were the berths laid out on the map issued by the Ontario government in pursuance of the survey they made, so that this government knew at the time they laid out this Indian reserve within the last three years that the government of the province of Ontario had previously surveyed it out into timber berths. This government having laid out that reserve we next find that the hon. the junior member for Ottawa appears on the scene.

Some hon. members.—Name.

Mr. BARRON.—I am asked to name the hon. gentleman but perhaps it would be out of order if I should do so. I do not think it is very difficult to understand who is the hon. the junior member for Ottawa. It is not Mr. Perley. The next thing we find is an application from this gentleman for the timber on this particular reserve, covering an area, as was stated in this House by the hon. the Minister of the Interior, in answer to my question, of 79 square miles of timber limits, and that application is dated on the 13th October, 1885, and is addressed to the Minister of Indian Affairs. Let me say here that I am proving all that I say by correspondence brought down in a return of this House in pursuance of a motion made by me, either last session or the session before. This is the application that I refer to:

"OTTAWA, 13th October, 1885.

"The Minister of Indian Affairs, Ottawa:

"Sir,—We, the undersigned, hereby make application to obtain privilege of cutting timber on an Indian reserve situated on the north shore of Lake Huron and known as the Whitefish Indian reserve.

"The accompanying sketch, colored red, will show the territory applied for.

"Yours respectfully,

"JOSEPH RUPPELLE & Co."

MUNCASTER'S

THE JOHNSTOWNE STAGE.

By ROBERT HOWE FLETCHER.

It is not easy for two horses to run away with a Concord coach, especially after coming up Stony creek grade. And so, after the stage had lumbered and lurched at their heels for a half mile or so, the horses came down to a trot, and then to a walk, and finally stood still, and gazed around, trembling, and ready for a second flight. The moment that the vehicle stopped the veiled face of the lady passenger appeared at the door, and her terror stricken voice cried, but almost inaudibly, "My God! what has happened?"

Aroused from a troubled sleep by the report of a pistol, followed by a man's shriek, more shots, curses and groans, she had opened her eyes just in time to see a heavy body fall over the wheel and on to the ground. Then the stage had started forward, the wheel going over the thing on the ground with a sickening jolt. As the stage bounded on, she had been thrown violently to and fro, clinging convulsively to her baby, unable to realise what this grisly horror of the night might be. With shaking hands she now unfastened the door, and stepping out, found herself alone in the awful silence and solitude of the night.

Hark! what was that? She tore her veil from her head, and with it came her hat. Great masses of black hair fell down her shoulders, and a white, young face shone out in the moonlight, lovely even in its terror. The noise was but the piping of an insect, but it sounded like a distant shriek. Then the wind stirred the dry buffalo grass, and it seemed to the panic stricken woman as though it was the voices of men pursuing. Her hair arose, and all the blood in her body rallied in her heart. She would have fainted had it not been for the wailing of the dependent baby in her arms. What should she do? Her first impulse was to run from what might be behind her. But her feeble limbs failed at the sight of the wide plains and obstructing sage brush. If she could but get upon the stage and drive. She went to the horses and spoke to them. One of them whinnied in reply, and that encouraged her. She crept between them, talking to them all the time in trembling, beseeching tones, and got the lines out from beneath their hoofs. Then holding the reins and the baby in one arm, she scrambled on to the wheel, and from there to the driver's seat. Everything was so big, the lines, the seat, the brake, her little feet did not reach the dash board, but rested on some sacks of barley that filled the forward boot. In this barley she made a nest for the baby. When she was ready to start, it was evident that she was not ignorant of driving. She held the lines and whip like the amateur drivers of the New York Coaching clubs. The horses had been restive during these prolonged preparations, and they started off freely at her timorous word.

And now the distraction of driving and the sense of motion diminished her first ghastly horror and replaced it with nervous excitement. She had no difficulty in finding the road, the horses took her back to it. When she reached it, however, she stopped to look around and determine which way led to Pack City. It would be frightful to make a mistake and drive back into that awful tragedy. She thought with a shudder of what might be there, dead or living, in the moonlit road or in the blackness of the bushes. She wondered what had become of the driver. Was it his body that she had seen fall from the stage? He must be either dead or wounded; perhaps he was only wounded. She would send back help instantly from Pack City. But when she decided on the direction she still hesitated. The recollection of that tall, broad shouldered young driver, who had been so kind and courteous to her, persisted in obtruding itself on her mind. Perhaps if he was only wounded he might be dying now for want of a little help. He had helped her in her need, he had helped her baby. In common humanity ought she not to go back to his assistance? Was it not cowardly to take the stage and desert him? Longing to go the other way and weeping hysterically, she finally turned the reluctant horses toward the canyon.

The moon had lit up the vicinity of the scrub oaks by the time the stage moved slowly back on the scene. All was silent and deserted. Suddenly the horses snorted and shied at a mass of blue cloth lying in the road. The woman turned the team to one side and drove it past some trees. Then taking her baby in her arms she crept down from her perch, and, starting at every sound, made her way to the prostrate form. It was the driver's face which she uncovered, as ghastly white as her own, and smirched with blood and dust. Then she slipped her hand under his coat and laid it over his heart. It was still beating. Hurriedly she searched his pockets for the flask that he had used in her service but a few hours before; it was her turn now. She lifted his head and poured the raw whisky generously down his throat. He responded with a groan and a gasp that frightened her anew, and then struggled to a sitting posture. "Water!" he cried, "for God's sake, water!" Then, as she hesitated, he continued faintly, "my hat. There's a spring over there," and lay down with another groan.

Her fear was dispelled by the sound of his voice. She found the spring, and, filling his hat, let him drink, and bathed his face and head. He revived at this treatment, and, again sitting up, took out his knife, and asked her to cut his sleeve off. "I am losing blood terribly from my arm," he explained. She bravely but tremblingly did as she was told. When she had cast away the soaked cloth and bared the massive arm, he helped her to improvise a tourniquet with his handkerchief and a piece of stick, and the bleeding was stopped. After a second dose of whisky and water he commenced to improve rapidly. She bound another cloth around his head. "The fellow with the rifle did that," he said. "That is what knocked me off the box. It's only a graze, but it was a mighty close call." Then he struggled to his feet and looking around saw the stage. "They didn't get the box, did they?" he cried eagerly.

"I don't know," she said, taking up her baby and hushing its cries. "I don't think so. The horses ran away."

"The horses ran away!" he said, staring wonderingly for the first time at the pretty, white face that was raised to his. "Well, but—why—how did the stage get back here?"

"I brought it back," she replied, lowering her head under his persistent gaze.

"You brought it back!" he exclaimed; "you!"

For a few minutes the wounded lieutenant looked down at the slight form of the woman who stood before him in the moonlight, veiled in her own long black hair. Then, as he realized what she had done, he took off his hat and dropped it in the road, having but one available arm, and offered her his hand. She placed hers frankly within it, and he raised the little gauntlet respectfully to his lips. "You are very brave," he said with considerable feeling; "I am glad to think that perhaps I owe you my life."

The Johnstown stage was later than ever that night when it drew up in front of Abe Goldstein's store, in Pack City. Simultaneously with its arrival the drinking and gambling saloons and other places of public resort suddenly became deserted. It was said that a woman had driven the stage in, and that a man with his head bandaged and his arm in a sling was sitting alongside of her, holding a baby. While Wells-Fargo's box and the mail sacks were being taken out, for Goldstein's store was also the express and postoffice, the story was briefly given to the crowd. Then a cheering, pistol firing procession accompanied the stage down the street to the hotel. Here a dozen strong arms fairly lifted the woman from the box, while the baby was only rescued from its mob of volunteer bearded nurses by the energetic intervention of the muscular landlady.

Rheumatic Pains

require no description, since with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their twinges. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged, only the most powerfully penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is now frequently resorted to by medical men, is the application of that new famous remedy for pain—Polson's Nerviline. It is safe to say that nothing yet discovered has afforded equal satisfaction to the suffering. A trial can be made at a small cost, as sample bottles of Nerviline can be had at the drug store for 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents. 6d w23

The Appetite

May be increased, the Digestive organs strengthened, and the Bowels regulated, by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills are purely vegetable in their composition. They contain neither calomel nor any other dangerous drug, and may be taken with perfect safety by persons of all ages.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, became greatly debilitated, and was constantly afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, without affording more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well.—Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored. —C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and, at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured. My digestive organs are now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—Philip Lockwood, Topeka, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but gave me increased vigor, and restored my health.—John Lazarus, St. John, N. B.

Brigade Camp at Gananoque.

As in previous years, by permission of Lt.-Col. Strumbenzie, D.A.G., the Young Men's Christian Association will erect a tent on the camp grounds at Gananoque on June 10th to 22nd. A reading room, toilet room, games, writing facilities, ice-water, etc., will be supplied. A lively meeting will be held each night, to be conducted by Mr. Davidson, of Toronto, formerly in the "Guards." The W.C.T.U. will have a refreshment tent in the camp. This work for the benefit of the volunteers has the hearty support of the officers.

Arrested for Indecent Assault.

This forenoon a stalwart river-driver named Jas. Grady, who lives on Harvey street, was arrested on a charge of indecently assaulting Mrs. W. H. Jackson, a neighbor's wife, on the evening of May 29th, Wednesday last. The complaint was laid by Mr. Jackson, also a lumberman, who alleges that on the evening in question about six o'clock, Grady, before going home, entered Jackson's place and attempted the assault. He did not, however, succeed in his nefarious designs. The case will probably come before the court to-morrow.

JUNE FOURTH.

A Heavy Fine.

In the police court this morning Mr. Chas. Legros was arraigned on a charge of breaking the early closing by-law. It was alleged that on Friday evening last he shaved a customer who came in after hours. Mr. A. P. Ponsonby conducted the defence, and held that, according to the statute, the by-law was intended to operate only for one year from the date on which it was passed, and that, therefore, the by-law relating to the closing of barber shops was invalid. The magistrate overruled the objection and maintained that the by-law held good until such time as it was repealed. Evidence was then taken and a conviction made, the defendant being fined $20 and costs. The magistrate said he would inflict a heavy fine in order to show the public that the by-law was not to be trifled with. It is probable the case will be carried to a higher court. An appeal is talked of.

ADMISSION—25 CENTS.

A Round-About Way.

There were more grunting, squealing pigs at the station yesterday than were, perhaps, ever seen in Peterborough at once before. The cause of it was the washout near Cobourg, by which a bridge was swept away Friday night. Saturday afternoon and all day yesterday the through trains from Toronto to Montreal passed through Peterborough, via Port Hope and Belleville. Sunday in consequence of the washout at Cobourg, by the release of pressure from other traffic permits the running through of live stock. There were several train loads (about 120 cars) of pigs at the station yesterday, en route to the east. The bridge was repaired last night and today traffic was resumed on the main line as usual.

The Railway Case.

The following case was tried in the High Court of Justice, Toronto, Friday:—

FITZGERALD V. MIDLAND RY. CO. AND GRAND TRUNK RY. CO.—W. Cassels, Q.C., for the defendants, appealed from the judgment of Robertson, J., who tried the action at the last Peterborough Chancery Sittings. The action was for a mandamus to compel the defendants to arbitrate with the plaintiff as to compensation for damages to land alleged to have been injured by the raising of the highway in front for the purposes of the railway. The learned Judge delivered judgment after the trial in favor of the plaintiff. The defendants contended that the Peterborough & Chemong Railway Co. are liable, if any one is, and not the defendants. S. B. Edwards (Peterborough) for the plaintiff, contra. Reserved.

Cut in Two.

A shocking accident happened at Perth Saturday night by which a young man well known in railroad circles in Peterborough met a dreadful death. Joe. Kay was a C.P.R. fireman. He was engaged on this division, and not long ago fired on the gravel train. Latterly he has been employed on the Credit Valley division, and last week went down to visit his sister in Perth. Saturday night he attempted to board the cab of an engine while in motion, but his foot slipped and he fell beneath the wheels. His body was cut completely in two by the seventeen cars which passed over him. Kay had one cork foot, and it was this which caused him to slip off the step while he was trying to board the cab and have a talk with the driver, a friend of his.

The Township Delegates.

A meeting of the residents of North Monaghan, Smith and Otonabee was held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms Saturday afternoon for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Citizens' Convention at Toronto June 11th and 12th. The following delegates were appointed:—

NORTH MONAGHAN.—Jos. Forster, Matthew Johnston, Jno. Whitfield, Jno. McIntosh, Wm. Fowler.

SMITH.—J. A. Davidson, Hugh Davidson, T. E. Bell, Jno. Preston, Wm. Graham, J. Garbett, A. J. Hall, Ed. Balmer and Solomon Northey.

OTONABEE—Geo. Stewart, D. Kennedy, Joshua Smithson, Robt. Doyell, Samuel Armstrong, A. Nelson, D. P. Macfarlane, A. Macfarlane, Thos. Johnston, Wm. Stewart, Wm. Anderson.

Baseball.

The Athletics and Ashburnhams played a three innings game on Riverside Park Saturday evening, the former winning by a score of 8 to 7. Batteries—Athletics, Taber and Graham; Ashburnhams, Mein, McCabe and O'Brien.

A match game was played on Riverside Park Saturday afternoon between the Collegiate Institute and Business College teams, the latter winning handily. As the score indicates, there was plenty of hard "slugging" and myriads of errors. The Business College team made a triple play in the last innings and retired three opponents at a stroke. Following is the score:—

Business College.....	2	4	2	14	2	2	5	12	—45
Collegiate Institute..	4	2	2	4	0	0	2	4	2—20

Batteries—McCabe and Hawthorne; B. Boucher and Armstrong. Umpire, E. Canning.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Miss M. Gordon addressed a Young Men's Saturday night meeting our hall being crowded, Miss Gordon based her remarks on Judges 6 chapter, "Gideon's Call" to service. It was a pointed and telling address which will do much good in awakening us to realize we are our brother's keeper.

On Sabbath morning the Beginner's Bible class was commenced with a good attendance, which augurs well for its success in the future.

Our gospel and song service, was a season of refreshing from the presence of the Master. Miss Gordon gave a Bible reading from Luke 5, 1-11. We only regret it was impossible for all our young men to get into the hall to hear the grand lesson drawn from this portion of God's word. Many had to go away unable to gain admittance showing plainly the need a home for our young men large enough for all to attend these meetings. We are sure their are Christians who are able to build such a living monument which will ever send forth such an influence and be a power to save our young men. Who is willing to be used of God for such honor as this will bring? Miss Gordon has kindly consented to remain this week and hold meetings every afternoon at 3.30 for all, and evening at 8 p.m. for men only Wednesday evening excepted—Services will be held in our hall. Come in the spirit of prayer and bring some unsaved one with you. [COM.]

St. Andrew's Excursion.

The St. Andrew's Society have completed satisfactory arrangements with the C.P.R. Company to run an excursion from Peterborough to Toronto and return, on Thursday, June 20th, at the lowest schedule of rates obtainable. All the stations along the line from Norwood to Toronto will be included as privileged to avail themselves of this excursion, full particulars of which will be made known at once. The Society have been in negotiation with the C.P.R. Company for a week past and were fortunate in having their excursion slated for a day which will not conflict with any other local excursion, so far as was known. A well attended meeting of the members of the Excursion Committee and other members interested was held in St. Andrew's hall on Saturday evening to perfect arrangements. The business of the evening was characterized by much spirit and assurance of a successful excursion. The following important sub-committees were appointed:—

TICKET COMMITTEE—Messrs. Jas. Hendry, Geo. Noble, Roderick McLennan, John Patterson, Geo. Munro, William Ratcliffe, W. E. Roxburg, Thos. Telford, Alex. Morrison, John Logan, Alex. Stewart, Charles Learie, John Gall, John Duff, A. W. Strachan William Mercier and Arch. Moffatt.

RAILWAY AND PRINTING COMMITTEE.—Messrs. R. M. Denniston, Chas. Cameron, W. Cummings, A. W. Strachan and W. Menzies.

—Clancy's "Royal Jim" was shipped to London last night. He will enter the room there this week.

—The fire brigade has its monthly meeting to-morrow night.

—The town and Ashburnham councils meet to-night; also the Board of Trade.

—The Union Sunday School, Otonabee, holds a tea meeting this evening.

—Mr. John Carnegie and Rev. Alex. Ball address an anti-Jesuit meeting in Millbrook Tuesday night.

—There will be a meeting of the members of the Mascots excursion committee this evening in the Mascots hall at eight o'clock.

—There is a great demand for cars at the C.P.R. station. If the local traffic continues to increase as it has recently a yard engine will have to be employed.

—The people were in day invoked with a sight which has become most unusual of late. The sun was actually seen to be shining and in a few acres of sky clear of clouds.

Mr. John O'Meara left to-day for Detroit, where he goes to look after several important suits on behalf of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, with whose legal business he has been intrusted.

—Early potato-bug prognostications are like "Betsy and I"—out. This immortal bug still exists and appears to have undertaken along the fences of private fields waiting for the tubers to send up a visible and tangible expression of growth in the shape of vines and leaves. Then the potato bug phalanx will move into the field in force. It seems here, however, soon to be fewer than in other years.

Among the Churches.

Events of Special Interest on Sunday—A Praise Service in the George street Church on Sunday—Church Chimes.

Sunday evening a musical praise service was held in the George street Methodist church. The immense edifice was filled, a large number of draw-seats being brought into requisition. Printed cards containing the order of service were distributed about the church for the convenience of the congregation. First there was an organ voluntary, "Plenel's Hymn," by Mr. W. H. Dingle, which was rendered with a spirit and precision that displayed Mr. Dingle's undoubted talent and superiority as an organist. A hymn and prayer followed, after which the choir sang "The Heavens are Telling." This chorus gave evidence of careful rehearsal on the part of the singers, and the general effect was splendid. The choir has been greatly improved of late, until now it comprises about twenty five well trained voices with all the parts well balanced. After a responsive reading by the pastor and people, Mrs. Daly sang "Callest Thou thus, O Master," in her usual sweet voice. Her solo was without doubt the most pleasing feature of the musical part of the service. Another well rendered chorus followed from the choir, "I am Alpha and Omega," Miss Batcher taking the solo part. Miss Batcher has a voice that is full and deep in the lower tones particularly. A second responsive reading was followed by a tenor solo, "I with all your hearts," by Mr. C. E. Dingle, of Oshawa, brother of the organist. He has a nice tenor voice, clear but not too strong, and reaches the high notes with ease. The pastor did not preach, Miss Gordon instead making an impressive gospel address. She prefaced her address with a solo, sung with great feeling. A collection was afterwards taken up in behalf of the choir fund. A trio, "Saviour breathe an evening blessing," was sung by Misses Batcher, Glass and Turner. Their voices blended well, and on the whole the number was nicely rendered. The services were concluded by the singing of the doxology and the pronunciation of the benediction. Mr. Dingle, the organist, deserves credit for his praiseworthy and successful efforts in the way of providing special music at Sunday night's service. Under his able management the choir has become more efficient than ever.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The quarterly board of the Charlotte street Methodist church meets Wednesday evening.

Sunday was the last day of the Methodist ecclesiastical year. Conference begins at Belleville on Wednesday.

A large class of children will be confirmed in St. Peter's Cathedral at the eight o'clock mass next Sunday morning.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor on Sunday laid the corner stone of a new Roman Catholic church at Wooler, Northumberland county.

Rev. B. Canfield Jones, B.A., of Princeton Theological Seminary, New Jersey, preached in St. Paul's church Sunday morning and evening. He is a very youthful preacher, aged only twenty years, but delivers his addresses with as much confidence and evident deep learning as any pulpit veteran. Mr. Jones is at present in charge of the Lindsay Presbyterian church.

Miss Mattie Gordon worked hard on Sunday. Saturday evening she conducted a meeting in the Y.M.C.A. rooms, preached in the George street church for over an hour Sunday morning, addressed a large class in St. Paul's church Sunday afternoon, preached again in the George street church Sunday evening, and afterwards addressed a meeting in the Y.M.C.A. hall. Miss Gordon is an indefatigable laborer in the cause of the Master, doing more work perhaps than most of the ministers of the gospel do or would care to undertake. She addresses meetings in the Y.M.C.A. rooms to-night and to-morrow.

Cobourg's Calamity.

Immense Damage done by the Flood of Friday Night.

The EXAMINER Port Hope daily exchanges give further particulars of the flood at Cobourg, than are given in the dispatches. The flood began its career of ruin by breaking the dam of the grist mill at Baltimore, about 9 miles from Cobourg, and this caused the sweeping away of every dam and bridge between that point and Cobourg, and when this immense volume of water that filled the valley reached Cobourg, the rush of the angry waters was tremendous. The dam at the woollen mills was carried away in a moment, the railroad bridge and a mile or so of track also fell a victim to the untiring flood, while any miscellaneous barns, fences, woodpiles, and even stock in the pastures were carried down the turbulent creek. The outlet to the lake was marked by a wide stretch of murky water, extending a mile out into the lake, while all kinds of debris floated indiscriminately along the shore.

It was rumored about the streets of Cobourg that a number of live stock had been drowned, but this proved untrue, as only two horses were overtaken by the flood, and they got out of danger by swimming.

The principal damage, however, was suffered by the merchants along the main street. The several streams which run under the front street swelled to such proportions that they flooded the cellars and forced the water out of the stores on to the street. The north side suffered more than did the south side, the principal losers being Mr. T. Bastoll, Grocer, loss $4,000; Field & Bro., $4,000, Mr. L. Woodcock, Grocer, $2,000, while Mr. Frank Gowans, who is well known in this town, is a loser to the extent of $3,000.

River Road Rippins.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

All crops are looking remarkably fine. Fall wheat looks well, and owing to the large quantity sown last fall, we may expect a large threshing. Farmers around here are making considerable improvements both in building and clearing their fields of stumps and stones.

Mr. Wm Cumming is erecting a fine house, two stories, brick. Mr. Wm Orr is putting up a frame barn. Mr. Pickens will have in a few days to the neighborhood of 200 cords of hard wood on the bank of the river, which Mr. B. intends taking by steamboat to Peterborough to help heat up that place. He has about one thousand cords bet wean Trent Bridge and here.

Four or five of the boys who went west this spring are home complaining of scarcity of work—(home sweet home.)

NEW YORK SUFFERS.

Destructive Floods in the Western Part of the Empire State.

BUFFALO, June 2.—Despatches from many towns in the western part of this state give particulars of great destruction of property and the loss of a number of lives by the floods caused by the heavy rains of Friday and Saturday.

The greatest confusion prevails in Belmont. The Genesee River is fully 15 feet above low water mark, and all the streams tributary are overflowing their banks. A number of bridges have been swept away, and two men have lost their lives, yesterday in the merry waters. The heavy rain of Friday and Saturday swelled the Genesee and its numerous tributaries to great volume.

In Friendship and vicinity great damage was done to bridges, fences, plowed lands and young crops.

In Andover a dozen bridges have been swept away, nearly every street in the village is overflowed, the railway track is covered with 15 feet of earth and trains cannot run for several days.

At Hornellsville the destruction of property is very great. The railroads will suffer, particularly the Erie, whose property in the vicinity of the shops and coal trestle is completely submerged, work being totally abandoned. Many washouts are reported on the different divisions of the Erie, traffic being practically suspended. Not a train arrived or departed from Hornellsville yesterday.

Dansville reports the worst flood since 1857. The loss will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Elmira is half under water, having the greatest flood known in its history. Many families are without food and can find no relief. Boats have been called into service and exorbitant prices are being charged to ferry the people through the streets. A hasty estimate puts the entire damage to houses, furniture, stores, merchandise, streets and public and private grounds at not less than $150,000. Luminous damage has also been done in Big Flats, Corning and other places in the Chemung Valley. Houses and barns have been swept away by the score, bridges demolished, thousands of acres of growing crops annihilated, while business has been suspended. The only other flood that approaches this in magnitude was that of March 17, 1865, when ice gorges on the Chemung and Newtown Creek blocked the waters until dams were carried away and a serious flood resulted.

All the railroad lines running into Buffalo are greatly embarrassed by the floods, the Erie being the greatest sufferer. With the telegraph companies the situation was not so much better than with the railroads. The Western Union last night had no communication whatever with Western Pennsylvania. Six wires were being worked for New York business with business four hours behind. The Postal, on its representative stated, was "very much in the soup." Communication with New York was had only by way of Montreal and some with Western Pennsylvania. Messages for the East filed yesterday morning could not be put on the wire until last night.

THE FLOOD IN THE SOUTH.

The Potomac and Shenandoah Rivers Rising a Foot an Hour.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The latest report from Harper's Ferry says the Potomac and Shenandoah Rivers are rising one foot per hour. There is no communication with the South, either by rail or telegraph. The damage in this vicinity will amount to millions of dollars.

LYNCHBURG, Va., June 1.—The flood in the James River is the highest since 1871. The water is 23 feet above the high water level, but it is now slowly falling. The extent of the damage is not fully known yet.

RICHMOND, Va., June 1.—The low-lying districts of this city are under water. Hundreds of families have moved their household goods to places of safety. The gasworks are flooded. Many bridges have been destroyed in the State by the floods and there has been some loss of life.

FREDERICK, Md., June 1.—The damage by floods in this region is about half a million dollars. Mrs. Charles McFadden and Miss Carrie Moore, in attempting to cross a stream at Tarrytown, were swept from their vehicle and drowned.

BALTIMORE, June 2.—At Trovanion George Darrick was driving over the bridge at Sam's Creek Charles McFadden's $10,000 Hambletonian stallion Rolla. The bridge was swept away and man and horse were drowned.

The Pope's Illness.

BERLIN, June 2.—Advices have simultaneously reached the Italian embassy here and the leaders of the Centre party that the Pope's health is seriously affected. It is said that during the recent consistory he fainted, falling back in his chair, to the consternation of all present. Dr. Ceccarelli, the Pope's chief physician, is reported as saying he may die at any moment

HAMILTON, June 2.—The house and grounds of the late John Harvey, Airlie House, King street west, have been purchased for a residence for Bishop Dowling, who finds Undermount too large.

The character of materials used, the purity, and the nicety of their combination, render Cleveland's superior baking powder the most healthful and most economical in use, and it always affords wholesome, nutritious, and delicious food.

It is recommended for purity, healthfulness and efficiency by Government and State chemists, Boards of Health, and professors in institutions of learning throughout the country.

BUYING THE BABY CARRIAGE.
THE MOTHERS' FIRST EXPERIENCE.

"I like to wait on the mother-for-the-first time who comes to elect a triumphal chariot for her darling. Coy, diffident and cautious at first about making her ideas and wants known, she gradually unfolds like a flower of the morning in her work of love. It is charming to watch her eagerness in the matter, or the tenderness with which she feels the downy cushions. Some young mothers, still unable to control the blush of commingled pleasure and shyness that indicates unfamiliarity with their new experience, bring their babies with them. It simply surpasses the powers of an Amelia Rives to gush over the pretty way she fits the baby in the buggy, and softly wheels it to and fro the whole end of the store to see how it goes."

FROM THE NEW FIRM OF

H. LeBRUN & Co.

Sign of the Golden Horse-shoe

The people of Peterborough and vicinity are all aware of the business change which took place in the CITY CLOTHING STORE on the first day of February last. The new firm beg leave to make their first bow to the public through the columns of the EXAMINER, and to request a careful perusal of the following Spring and Summer circular:—

a past years, by long experience in business, by buying always for spot cash, by importing direct from the principal houses of the old country and the leading manufacturers of this country, and by strict economy in conducting its business, has always been able to force prices down to an exceedingly fine point. The members of which the new firm is composed will form a still stronger "combine," by which the CITY CLOTHING STORE will be even better prepared to procure for its customers a continuation of those superior inducements in the future for which it has been noted in the past.

CURE

IN THE VALLEY OF DEATH.

TWENTY-TWO HUNDRED DEAD BODIES ALREADY RECOVERED.

Estimates of the Loss of Life Still Very Wide—It Is Probably Not Less Than 8000—Little Mercy Shown to Thieves.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—The developments of every hour make it more and more apparent that the exact number of lives lost by the flood will never be known. The population of Johnstown, the surrounding towns and the portion of the valley affected by the flood was nearly 35,000. Leading citizens of Johnstown agree that fully 30 per cent. of the residents of Johnstown and Cambria were victims of the disaster. If this be true the total loss of life in the entire valley cannot be less than 7000 or 8000 and possibly much greater. Of the thousands devoured by the flames no definite information can ever be obtained. As little will be learned of hundreds that sank beneath the current and were borne down the Conemaugh to be deposited hundreds of miles below on the banks and in the driftwood of the raging Ohio. Probably ½ of the dead will never be recovered, and it will take a list of the missing weeks hence to enable even a close estimate of the number of lives lost. The estimate can never be accurate, for in many instances whole families and their relatives were drowned. At present there are said to be 2300 recovered bodies.

Kernville is in a deplorable condition. The living are unable to take care of the dead. As quickly as the dead are brought there they are placed in boxes and buried. One thousand people is a low estimate of the lives lost there. So fear of the bodies have been recovered. Only about 25 able bodied men have survived and are able to render assistance. Men and women can be seen with black eyes, bruised faces and cut heads. The appearance of some of the ladies is heartrending. They were injured in the flood and since that have not slept. Many have succumbed to nervous prostration. For two days but little assistance could be rendered them. The wounded remained uncared for in houses cut off by the water and died from their injuries alone.

Services in the chapel from which the bodies were buried consisted merely of a prayer by some survivor. No minister was present. Each coffin had a descriptive card on it and on the graves a similar card was placed.

A Gigantic Funeral Pyre.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—The massive accumulation of debris, extending from 800 to 1000 feet along the south shore of the Conemaugh, and immediately above the bridge, is now in complete possession of the flames, and will be until further relief from the Pittsburg Fire Department is received, so that another pang is added to those who had hoped to rescue the remains of their friends and relatives from the debris. The magnitude of the horror increases with the hours. It is believed that no less than 2000 of the drowned found lodgment beneath the mass of debris in the triangle of ground that the Conemaugh cut out of the bank between the river proper and the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge. There was the greatest funeral pyre in history. The victims were not upon it but were parts of its horrible consolation. Whole houses were crushed into the apex of the triangle. Hencoops, pigsty, stables, the refuse of the gutter, the contents of sewers, whole lumber yards, boom upon boom of logs composed the mass. The upsetting of a cook stove ignited the mass and the work of cremation began. The smoke arose in a huge funnel-shaped cloud, and at times it changed to the form of a horse gleam. At night the flames would light up this misty remnant of mortality.

The effect upon the living, ignorant and intelligent, was the same. That volume of smoke, with its dual form, produced a feeling of awe in many that was superior in most cases to that in the awful moment of the storm's wrath Friday afternoon. Hundreds stood for hours regarding the smoke and wondering if it forebode another visitation direr than its predecessor. It was with a feeling of absolute loathing that all the people hereabout this morning awoke to find there nothing but a mass of ashes, calcined human bones, stoves, old iron and other approximately indestructible matter, from which only a light blue vapor was arising. General Hastings took precautions to prevent the extension of the fire to another huge pile, a short distance away, and this will be marched on to-morrow for bodies of flood victims. Bodies are being buried as rapidly as they are identified. The work of the undertakers in embalming the dead has rendered it possible to keep some two or three days longer, but this is only desirable in cases where identification is dubious and no claimants appear at all. To-day the cars sent out from Pittsburg with provisions for the living were hastily cleared, in order to contain the bodies of the dead intended for interment in suburban cemeteries and in graveyards handy to the city.

Vice-President and Director James McMillan, of the Cambria Iron Company, says their loss has been well nigh incalculable, and while it has centered into their revenues, they are not daunted nor discouraged, but will to-morrow begin the work of clearing up the ruins of their mills preparatory to rebuilding and repairing their works. They will also immediately rebuild the Gautier Iron Works, which were obliterated by the flood. This is the disposition of all the others. A dozen of the business men said to-day, "True pluck survives. Our pockets are light, but if nothing more happens all of us will be in business again."

The central portion of Johnstown is so completely obliterated as if it had never had foundations. The river has made its bed upon the site of the dwellings and a vast era of sand, mud, gravel and furrowed ground marks the old channel. It is doubtful if it is possible ever to reclaim what was once the business portion of the city. The river will have to be returned to its old bed in order to do this, and that is an engineering feat hardly possible.

An Alleged Miracle.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—The alleged miracle at the Church of the Immaculate Conception has caused a sensation. Devotions were in progress Friday night when the water descended on Cambria City. The congregation fled. The water rose 15 feet in the church, badly damaging the interior. The decorated statue of the Virgin, only 2 feet high, however, it is asserted was not sullied by the liquid, the flowers, the wreaths, the lace veil were undisturbed and uncoiled. There are about 20 Catholic priests and nuns here. The sisters are devoting themselves to the care of the sick and injured in the hospitals, while the priests are doing anything and everything and making themselves generally useful. Bishop Phelan has organized the Catholic forces in the neighborhood.

The remains of John Ryan, ex-Sheriff of Cambria County, were found yesterday. There was much comment over the finding of the body of a man cut in two. The supposition is she was traveling at the time of the accident on the express.

Where Woodvale once stood there is now a sea of mud broken but rarely by a pile of wreckage. The place is swept bare of all other buildings but the ruins of the Gautier wire mill. No effort is being made to clear off the streets.

The mire has formed a grave for many a victim. Arms and legs are protruding from the mud and it makes the most sickening of pictures. At East Conemaugh thirty houses were carried away by the flood. The loss of life is large at that point. Order is slowly arising out of chaos. The great cry is for men who will work. An order was posted yesterday by the Citizens' Committee directing men who are able to work but will not do so to leave town for the present. Officers are stationed at every avenue and railroad that enters town and all suspicious looking characters are stopped.

Rain fell here all yesterday and added to the miseries of the perturbed people. The great plain where the best part of Johnstown used to stand is half covered with water. The few sidewalks in the part that escaped the flood were inches thick with sticky mud over which tramped a steady procession of poor women left destitute. The town seems like a great tomb. The people go about in a sort of a daze. Every hour one hears neighbors greeting each other and enquiring without show of feeling how many each had lost in his family.

There were hundreds and thousands of curious visitors from the country yesterday. The effect of the dreadful things they saw and heard was to drive most of them to drink. By noon the streets were beginning to be full of boisterous and noisy countrymen trying to counteract the strain on their nerves of unusual excitement. The police themselves were all out of town. After that for forty-five consecutive hours the streets were filled with drunken strugglers.

Christ Myers has been rendered hopelessly insane by the fact that his father, mother, two sisters and a brother are missing.

Large Fatalities Elected Cpt.

PITTSBURG, June 3.—Frank Schaeffer of Meyran-avenue, this city, received a telegram to-day from his son Frank in Johnstown, reporting the death of Frank's brother and twenty other relatives of the family—three brothers-in-law and their families, Mr. Dewey Rowman, Collector Samuel Hawthorn of Allegheny received information this evening that four brothers, five sisters, and seventeen nephews and nieces had perished in the floods at Johnstown. It has just been ascertained that the whole corps of Western Union telegraph operators was lost at Johnstown. Among them were Mrs. Ogle, the manager, who for twenty-five years had acted as operator at Associated Press reports, and her daughter Minnie, also well known, and the Misses Germon and Watkins and three messenger boys, who were unable to escape from the building.

Distressing Scenes at Kernville.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—Three hundred bodies were lying on the sand at Kernville at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The sights was one of the most distressing ever witnessed. A record of 800 were gathered around endeavoring to find the bodies of friends or relatives. There were no coffins there, and the bodies had to be laid on the ground. 300 coffins are now on the way there and the undertakers have sent for 500 additional. Kernville from now on will be the place where most of the bodies will be found. The water has fallen so much that it is possible to get at the bodies, but all of them have to be dug out of the sand. It is thought most of the bodies that will be found at Kernville are under a large mass of debris an acre in area.

A cold wave has struck the town and the people are badly in need of clothing. It is almost impossible to get anything to eat. There is nothing to smoke and only water to drink. The citizens' committee are making desperate efforts to preserve the peace, and the Hungarians at Cambria City are being kept in their houses by men with clubs, who will not permit them to go out. There is considerable race prejudice at Cambria City and trouble may follow, as both the Bazians and Hungarians are getting worked up to a considerable extent.

1200 Bodies Recovered.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—Up to 8 o'clock to-night 1200 dead bodies have been recovered and others are being taken out of the ruins every minutes.

A Hungarian woman fished out a trunk in Cambria City yesterday and found $7500 in it.

Over 1000 Bodies at Kernville.

PITTSBURG, June 3.—Over 1000 bodies have been taken from near Kernville to-day. This is official.

Lock Haven is Silent.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—No direct intelligence of any sort has been received from Lock Haven since 9 o'clock Friday night. The dispatch then received stated that the lumber boom had burst and the town was flooded. The wildest kind of rumors are received in regard to the situation at that place but they lack confirmation. It is believed, however, that the loss of property there will be enormous.

[Lock Haven, a city of about 15,000 people, is the capital of Clinton County on the south bank of the west branch of the Susquehanna River at the mouth of Bald Eagle Creek, 70 miles south-northwest of Harrisburg. It is a centre of the lumber trade.]

Relief Funds.

BUFFALO, June 3.—From all parts of the country despatches announce large funds being subscribed for the Johnstown sufferers. The Philadelphia fund already amounts to $150,000, New York's $70,000 and the Legislature of Connecticut has appropriated $25,000.

BERLIN, June 3.—A fund for the relief of the Johnstown flood sufferers has been organized here.

The St. Sauveur Sufferers.

QUEBEC, June 4.—Many of the sufferers of the late fire in St. Sauveur were hard at work all day Sunday on the construction of new dwellings, having obtained permission from the clerical authorities. Those too poor to pay for labor had many willing volunteers of the adjoining district, who worked like Trojans to assist their less fortunate neighbors. The Dean of Quebec acknowledges a check for $5000 from the City of Montreal for the relief of the sufferers.

Counsor Cut a Wide Swath.

ALLEGAN, Mich., June 4.—Milton Willis Connor, a tree agent in the employ of a Batavia, N.Y., house, was arrested last night at the Sherman House with the wife of a man named Hogmeyer of Bloomingdale. She left home three weeks ago and has been with Connor in several places, coming here from Saugatuck. Hogmeyer is here with blood in both eyes. Connor has cut a wide swath hereabouts for two years in the tree business.

Her Second Attempt Successful.

HALIFAX, May 4.—An inquest was held yesterday on the body of Mrs. George Harvey, the artist's wife, who committed suicide Sunday night by drowning herself in the Quarry Pond, Point Pleasant Park. The lady left her home at 9 o'clock Sunday night and a couple of hours later her husband becoming alarmed began to search for her. He and Detective Power hunted all night scouring the harbor shore at the south end and looking in all directions. At 4 o'clock in the morning they entered the park and discovered the missing woman's umbrella on the bank of the pond, while her hat was seen floating a short distance off. The men saw something else in another part of the pond which they thought might be the body and Harvey discarded his clothing and started to swim out for what he supposed was his wife's corpse. It proved to be only a rock but while swimming towards the shore Harvey's leg came in contact with something on the bottom, which proved to be a woman's dress, he managed to pull it to the surface and with Power's assistance dragged ashore the lifeless body of his wife. It is supposed the lady was suffering from temporary insanity. She attempted to commit suicide once before. The jury returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane.

KINGSTON, June 4.—Mrs. Lemmon, who has been during the past three weeks employed temporarily in the residence of Mr. A. Guan as cook, went to bed on Saturday night as usual, but as she did not put in an appearance on Sunday morning her bedroom was opened and her dead body, partly dressed, found lying on the floor near the bed. The room was full of gas and investigation showed that when she turned off the gas she turned the cock round too far.

The steamer Islander returned yesterday afternoon from the search for the bodies of the last crew of the Bavaria. She was unsuccessful, and Captain Miller thinks it is unlikely that they will turn up for several days.

NEWS OF THE HORITON.

A FESTIVE POKER PARTY IN THE QUEEN CITY.

A Murderer's Sentence Reduced Him to Six Months—Summer Hat Rifles Opened This Morning Criminal—A Shooting Affair.

TORONTO, June 4.—There is considerable talk around the city about a high toned party that took place last night at a house on the east side of Yonge street, a little north of Queen and Shuter, which ended in the police dead up on a corps of the blue and brass. A Hebrew who has been in the city but a few months and who is an adept at the game of poker, ran across a trio of Gentiles of the same youth and told them that in his room there was a man with $4000 on him and they could easily get it at poker, the Hebrew undertaking to do some quiet work by which the game would turn to the advantage of the young men. The lads took the bait and went to the room where they played of poker for a few hours with the stranger who, strange to say, was not fleeced by the Hebrew go-between. One of the three lost the few dollars that he had and the other two played on till between them they had lost over $2000 to the stranger.

His face is badly burnt, the eyes brows and whiskers completely burnt off. On the gun nothing but a piece of the stock could be found.

He was a man of 74 who passed for very wealthy and was supposed to always keep a round sum of money in his house. On May 16 last during the night three masked men entered his house and brutally assaulted him and his servant with mad hogs. Another person who slept in the house gave the alarm and the burglars fled. Normand died from the effects of the blows he received.

THE ART STUDENTS.

Opening of the Second Annual Provincial Exhibition at Toronto.

TORONTO, June 4.—The second annual provincial exhibition of pupils' and students' works of art and specimens of drawing was opened last night at the Education Department buildings. A salient incident in the oratorical proceedings was the recantation by Sir Alexander Campbell of his remarks made in depreciation of Canadian art and artists at the opening of the exhibition of the Ontario artists a few days ago. The Lieut.-Governor calls it an explanation. Whether recantation or explanation it is frank, generous and welcome. Here are its terms:

Could I have been present I intended to have availed myself of the opportunity to express my regret that the remarks which I made at the opening of the exhibition of the Ontario Society of Artists the other day should have given offence to members of that society or to their friends. I had certainly no intention of being disparagement or of disparaging Canadian art or artists. I only intended to express what there were doubts whether the country was as yet far enough advanced in wealth and population and love of art to afford a sufficiently liberal and generous support to the higher forms of PROSPECTUS BISHOP RIDLEY COLLEGE.—We have received the Prospectus of the Bishop Ridley College, a Canadian church school for boys, St. Catharines. This school is the expression of a recognized need. The rapid growth of the province in numbers and wealth has created a demand for a school, where the sons of professional and business men may obtain a more complete training, mental, moral and physical, than is now afforded by even the best High Schools and Collegiate Institutes. The sum of $30,000 has been subscribed to establish Bishop Ridley College and carry on its work. With the exception of a few public spirited gentlemen, locally interested, the shareholders are all members of the church of England in Canada. The provincial bishops will be the official visitors and Rev. J. O. Miller, B.A., the Principal is a graduate of Toronto University and of Wycliffe College, a church college in affiliation with that University. St. Catharines, the site of the college, is a noted health resort, and sheltered by the lake, has a much milder climate in winter than other parts of the province, and the summer weather is delightful. St. Catharines is noted for its mineral springs, and celebrated as the province of Bishop Bethune College.

DOMINION ILLUSTRATED.—With the number for June 1st, this splendid illustrated weekly enters upon the 19th month of its first year and is fully maintaining the standard of its early numbers. It is thoroughly Canadian in tone, of a high grade of literary merit and its illustrations deserve to rank as choice specimens of the wood engraver's art. It is the development of a national sentiment, a national literature and the cultivation of a national taste that is doing so much to create a place literature in the homes of the people. A department of historical facts is also devoted to civics, and as a national art gallery of the magnificent natural scenic beauties of Canada, and of the prominent public characters and prominent public men of the country, its value is difficult of appreciation. Montreal: Geo. Desbarats & Son. Weekly, 10c. per number or $4.00 per year. To be had at the Peterborough Bookstore.

THE GODERICH ILLUSTRATED "SIGNAL STAR."—We have received a copy of this elegant edition, a 24 page journal with handsome cover, and contents devoted to thoroughly description and profuse illustration of the beauties, resources and advantages of the thriving town of Goderich. If the town is worthy of the splendid setting which the Signal Star gives it in its special number, it takes high rank among the towns of Ontario. Too much cannot be said in commending of what any newspaper should be proud.

The Story of a Will.

(From the Toronto Mail.)

To the Editor of the Mail:—Having seen a letter in your paper from Mr. John Cooper, of this town, reminded me of an incident which occurred about three years ago. A friend of mine, Mr. A. Seymour, was staying at Vermilion Bay, on the C. P. R., west of here. A legacy was left to him by an uncle in London, England. Mr. Seymour was in great bad health at the time that he thought he would not be alive when the legacy would reach him. He, therefore, wrote to me asking me to have his will prepared and copy to him for signature, etc., advertising me of the legacy in question. The will was prepared by John M. Firman, Esq., barrister, of this town, and was sent to Mr. Seymour. It was returned to me duly executed and is still in my possession.

In the same letter was a request to send half-a-dozen bottles of Warner's Safe Cure, and some pills. I sent them. I received a letter some time after stating me to send some more, as he was feeling much better. I did so, and the next I knew Mr. Seymour himself came to town and told me—(and looked it)—that he was a well man. He got his money through the Ontario Bank here, and is now in British Columbia, and now in good health, unless I have heard from him.

I may say that I know both Mr. and Mrs. Cooper well, and the facts in Mrs. Cooper's complaint as stated in Mr. Cooper's letter.

You can publish this or not, as you think fit, as it is nothing to me either way.

Yours, etc., W. G. Dodds, J.P.

Port Arthur, Ont., May 28.

The vocal organs are strengthened by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Clergymen, lawyers, singers, actors, and public speakers find this preparation the most effective remedy for hoarseness and weakness of the throat and lungs, and for all affections of the vocal organs.

During the dull months of May and June the output of the old established G. M. Weber piano factory, Kingston, will be sold at wholesale prices for cash, from elegantly finished pianos to the cheapest styles, all guaranteed. It will pay richly to write for prices. 5ew Added a Thrill Unless a Shriek.

So it is in Hall Rock. We know that the draughts have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their labors, can talk without getting them removed to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we have the assurance. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the preceding houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will make a push to clear off all our grocery house by offering for sale our entire stock, of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call.

There are many blood medicines advertised but only one that is backed up by its manufacturers with a confidence of guarantee, and that is one in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which in many cases has effected cures in all diseases for which it is recommended, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded. It cures all skin, scaly or scrofulous affections, sores and swellings, salt-rheum, tetter and blotched blemishes.

BUYING THE BABY CARRIAGE.

THE MOTHERS' FIRST EXPERIENCE.

"I like to wait on the mother-for-the-first-time who comes to select a triumphal chariot for her darling. Coy, diffident and courteous at first about making her ideas and wants known, the gradually unfolds like a flower of the morning in fine work of love. It is charming to watch her expression in the matter, or the tenderness with which she feels the downy cushions. Some young mothers, still unable to control the kinds of commingled pleasure and shyness that dedicates unboundedly with their new experience, bring their babies with them. It simply surpasses the powers of an Achilles Rives to describe the poetry of the fits the baby is in the hungry and restful wh. as it is and for the which will of the chair in case how it goes."

Three Long Years in Bed with Spinal Disease.

Charles Cluthe, Esq., Toronto,

DEAR SIR—I wish to inform you how I am getting on. I am splendid now. I can walk any distance. I work all the time. My mother and I do all the housework for a large family. You know when you came to measure me I had to be held up, but after you put the instrument on I could walk through the house and the third day I could walk out. I feel that I can never thank you or say enough for you, when I think that for 3 long years I was a poor helpless girl, sometimes in bed for four months at the time and getting worse every day. Anyone wishing further particulars refer them to me. Thanking you once more, I remain yours true friend.

Rupture.

DEAR SIR—I am only to inform you that the Belcombe Truss you put on me last spring has been all I was recommended and more, as it has healed my Rupture, which I was troubled with for a long time, and not having been able to work on account of it; but on hearing of you, I came and had you adjust this Truss, which gave me great relief at once, so I was able to work at any kind of work. I would not part with it for ten times the price if I could not get another. For further proof send them to me.

I remain, yours truly,

FIRES OF A DAY.

Grist Mills and Grain Warehouse Burn Stanstead Burned.

SIMCOE, May 31.—The Lynn Valley grist mills and grain storehouse two miles from here, owned by A. McCall and run by Dalrymple & Shrubsole, were burned this morning. The origin of the fire is unknown. A large quantity of flour and feed was destroyed, but the loss is fully covered by insurance. The mill had lately been rebuilt and was worth $8000, insured in the Royal Canadian and Canadian Millers' Mutual for $5800.

Secondary Fire at Port Hope.

PORT HOPE, May 31.—About two o'clock this morning Warmington & Elliott's livery stables were burned, with all the horses. It is impossible to estimate the loss at present, as there were ten horses burned, besides a number of cutters, double sleighs, hacks, hand waggons and robes. Insurance on building, $800, and $1000 on the contents, which will not nearly cover the loss. One of the horses burned was a fine running horse belonging to Mr. James Foy. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

IN THE LAND OF THE FREE.

Boodler McGarigle Surrenders. Pays a $5000 Fine and Is Released.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Wm. J. McGarigle, ex-warden of the Cook County Hospital, who leaked through a bath tub and escaped from Sheriff Matson on the night of July 24, 1887, while under sentence to three years in Joliet for defrauding the county, who subsequently arrived at Point Edward on board the schooner Edward Blake and has spent the last two years at Toronto, Banff and other places on the Canadian side of the line, appeared in the Criminal Court here to-day and pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy. A fine of $1000 was imposed. At the same time the States Attorney dismissed the case against Ed. MacDonald, engineer of the asylum, convicted of over-enthusiasm with McGarigle. MacDonald has been in jail for 14 years and the State was willing to drop further proceedings. The orders were made, the fine and costs paid and McGarigle and MacDonald were free.

Whalebone Wire Whispers.

WINNIPEG, May 31.—It was stated by representatives of the Hudson Bay Company before the committee of the City Council, when the Northern Pacific and Manitoba Railway asked for the closing of a lane, in order that a hotel and stables could be erected at once, that the railway company had no claim on the property.

Customs returns for May show a decrease in exports compared with May, 1888, of $74,644; imports show an increase of duty collected—$93,870 against $60,000 last May. Inland Revenue receipts, $13,000.

The injunction to restrain the city from signing the scavenging contract was withdrawn to-day.

Sir Leonard Tilley is at Banff.

The World's Fairways.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Business failures reported to Bradstreet's number 126 in the United States this week against 160 last week and 122 this week last year. Canada had 19 this week against 19 last week. The total of failures in the United States Jan. 1 to date is 5044 against 4611 in 1888.

Another Split of the Senator's Terms Up.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Dr. Gradin's clothes have been found near the mouth of the filthy sluice-shaft sewer. They were buried a foot under ground. The vest found did not belong to the doctor. It is suspected that one of the murderers has it. The residence of the Cartmans was searched to-day but nothing suspicious was found.

The U.S. Treasury Surplus.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—It is estimated at the Treasury Department that there has been a decrease of $5,000,000 in the public debt in May notwithstanding the disbursement of nearly $12,000,000 during the month on account of pensions. The treasury surplus is now stated at $84,000,000.

Burial of the Horse Victim.

CHARLOTTETOWN, May 31.—The remains of the late James R. Smith, who died from the injury received by a blow on the head from a stone thrown by Henry Atchison, were interred in the town cemetery to-day. The funeral was largely attended. It is said that County Crown Attorney McMillan will spare no effort to have Atchison punished.

A Suffolk Herd Discovered.

The crew were saved. The place where the wreck occurred is a rough and rugged coast. The steamer had no cargo. Only meagre particulars of the disaster have reached.

THE SPRINGFIELD MYSTERY.

Startling Developments Yesterday—Human Remains Found in a Well.

ALBANY, June 3.—Startling developments came to light to-day in connection with the much-talked-of Springfield mystery. The last three days have been taken up in excavating the third well on the Lambert Hotel premises. Provincial Detectives Clayton and Conner McLay have been on the scene of operations all day, and about 4 o'clock this afternoon the well-digger came upon a large box containing several heavy stones. After this had been taken up, about fifteen inches below where the box had rested, were found the bones of what two medical men have pronounced those of a human being.

"My daughter was greatly troubled with Scrofula, and at one time, it was feared she would lose her sight. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has completely restored her health, and her eyes are as well as ever, and not a trace of Scrofula in her system."—G. King, Killingly, Conn.

Rheumatic Pains require no description, since with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their twinges. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged, only the most powerfully penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is now frequently resorted to by medical men, in the application of that new famous remedy for pain—Pastime Nervilline. It is safe to say that nothing yet discovered has afforded equal satisfaction to the suffering. A trial can be made at a small cost, as sample bottles of Nervilline can be had at the drug stores for 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents. 6d w22

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. SWAYNE & Son, Philadelphia. I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a remedy for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength and vigor to the body, and produces a more permanent, lasting, result than any medicine I ever used.—E. Haines, No. Lincoln, O.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease.—W. F. Fowler, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried all sorts of remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured.—Mary C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, and getting no relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured.—Susan L. Cook, 909 Albany st., Boston Highlands, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I have ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach.—Miss Jane Peirce, South Bradford, Mass.

Every seat and every available inch of standing room in the Casino Theatre was occupied last evening and fully one thousand people were turned away. Howarth's Hibernian Company and Specialty Company was the attraction, and the combination was greeted with great favor. The comedy of the two "Dans, or the Comedy of Errors," was cleverly presented, and provoked much laughter and applause. NOTICE SERVED.

The Mayor said he was on Saturday served with a notice from Mr. A. P. Pousette, counsel for the hotelkeepers, giving notice that they intended moving to quash the high license by-law.

Mr. STEVENSON also reported that the deputation had met with a favorable reception on their recent trip to Toronto regarding the liquor license act.

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE BY-LAW.

The committee from the school board, Messrs. Dumble, English and Hamilton, were next given a hearing.

Mr. DUMBLE said the Board was of opinion that the Collegiate Institute by-law had been defeated simply because the people did not understand the matter. The present building was common school property, and the High School board rented it for $750 per year. The building was not up to the standard of requirements and to-day they were teaching a sufferance. They were pledged to make certain alterations in the building if they wished to retain the Institute's standing. If this was done there would be an increased rent to pay, and the presence of 500 Common school pupils, and the inadequate accommodation led the school board to the belief that it would be better and cheaper in the end to have a new building. He said the school board was not committed to the purchase of the Meacien homestead, but that some of the Board thought by purchasing it for $16,000 and expending another $10,000 in the building of a wing, they could have a better building for the money than any other way. The Board thought if a public meeting was called and matters explained the people would vote differently than they did before. They asked the council to re-submit the by-law.

Mr. HAMILTON said he thought it would be a great improvement to separate the Collegiate Institute from the Public school. The town should be ready to advance in this respect as it had in all others.

Mr. ENGLISH said there was a common opinion among the people that the building was High school property. Some people thought the Board was not asking enough.

Mr. DUMBLE said if a new building was erected it would cost at least $30,000; if the council thought it better to erect a new building they were at liberty to make the amount larger than the Board asked.

It was moved by Mr. Davidson, seconded by Mr. Cahill, that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee.—Carried.

FINANCE.

Mr. DAVIDSON presented the report of the Finance Committee, recommending payment of the following accounts:—Peterborough Water Co., $7-75; Kingan & Co, $14.54; N. Leah, $15.96; Geo. Hilliard (when certified) $372.86; J. E. [illegible], $7 50; Forrye & Phelan, $6.36; Peterborough Gas Co., $3.60, $3.50, $35.70, $21.60; Geo. Carton, $2.00; Nicholls Hospital (four months) $417.72; D. Bellegham $5 00; Guttaperchs Rubber Co., $93.50; J. W. Flavelle, $12.43; T. H. G. Dance $4 50; W. J. Mason, $61.50; Metropolitan Grocery Co., $30.50; Jas. Edgecombe, $12.00; Jas. Galvin, $1.50; Wm. Bacon, $6.08; P. Connel & Co., $104.60; Rush Bros, $27.90; Estate C D. Macdonald, $108.00.

Mr. DAVIDSON said the town was also liable for the sheep killed, and for which Mr. H. C. Winch had put in an account. A motion was passed ordering the town's share to be paid.

The report was adopted.

WM. LANGFORD, Chairman.

DISCUSSION AND AMENDMENTS.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said he thought the council should be given an estimate of the probable cost of all these improvements, as was done a few years ago. He also believed it would be desirable to let more of the work by contract. As an instance of the expense of town work, he said he understood the excavation for the market building was costing 50c. a foot, making a total expenses of nearly $1,000. He believed it could have been done nearly half as cheap by contract.

Mr. DAWSON complained also that the cedar supplied to the town was not up to the mark.

Mr. LANGFORD said he had given instructions to have all the cedar culled and piled before being paid for. If it hadn't been done, Inspector Pope could probably tell why.

Mr. DAVIDSON said he heard that the sidewalks could be laid for less money by contract than they were by the present system, and he thought it might be well to consider the matter by letting tenders.

Mr. CAHILL moved, seconded by Mr. DAVIDSON,—That the report be amended by providing for the building of about 150 feet of cribwork in front of Mr. Will's house on Park street; also that a 4-foot sidewalk be built on King street west, about 350 feet long.

Mr. LANGFORD said if this cribbing was done there would be others claim it, too. He thought it would be enough to give them the timber and let them do the work themselves.

Mr. KELLY moved, seconded by Mr. E. H. D. HALL,—That a sidewalk be built on the north side of Charlotte street, west from Park street, as far as the last house.

Mr. BAPTIE moved, seconded by Mr. RUTHERFORD,—That the amendments be referred back to the committee.

Mr. Kelly withdrew his motion, Mr. Langford agreeing to add it to the report.

Mr. Baptie's motion was carried, and the report was then adopted.

THE POLICE.

Mr. KENDRY, chairman of the Police Supervision Committee, presented a report recommending that the council supply the police force with one suit of clothes each; that the salary of Jos. Stewart and Chas. McGinty be $300 each.

There being some objection to the increase of salary, the report was left over as a notice of motion.

NEW HOSE PURCHASES.

Mr. A. HALL presented the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, which recommended the purchase of 200 feet of 2½ inch Baker hose from the Gutta Percha Rubber Co; 2 2½ out off hose valves; 11 2-inch valves for stand pipes; 19 rubber coats for the firemen. The report also recommended that a stand pipe be put on the corner of Water and Argyle streets for street watering purposes; that a hydrant be placed on the corner of Argyle and Sanaynede street; that the alarm bell on the corner of Murray and Park streets be moved to the corner of London and Park streets.

Mr. Kendry moved, seconded by Mr. Hartley, that the report be amended by placing a hydrant on the corner of Cemetery and Water streets.—Lost.

Mr. DAWSON objected also to the moving of the fire bell; it was of no earthly use, and should be taken down and sold for old iron. His motion was lost.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall moved another amendment, that 200 feet of Eureka hose be bought instead of the Baker hose. He read extracts from letters from different parties showing the superiority of the Eureka hose.

Mr. T. RUTHERFORD, Chief of the Fire Brigade, said the Eureka hose they had used here had given good satisfaction. The chief of the Hamilton fire brigade also told him the Baker hose in use there was splendid.

Mr. HALL said the Eureka hose in the Peterborough fire department might be made as good as new by re-lining at 38c. a foot.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said the Baker hose was cheaper and lighter than the Eureka, and was just as good, according to the recommendations.

Mr. LANGFORD said the chief of the Hamilton brigade was very careful not to favor either hose; he said both were good, but would not recommend one more than the other.

Mr. Davidson and Mr. Kendry supported the purchase of Baker hose, and Mr. A. HALL said the Committee were unanimous in recommending the purchase of this hose.

Finally the report was adopted.

DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION.

Mr. A. HALL moved, seconded by Mr. KELLY,—That the sum of $100 be granted to the fire brigade to assist them in celebrating Dominion Day. The motion was carried.

That portion of the request of the brigade for boots was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

THOSE RUBBER BOOTS.

Speaking of rubber boots, Mr. RUTHERFORD said they were dangerous things to handle. At the time he was chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee there had been insinuations thrown out against him, and he was informed that the present chairman of the committee had asked in a nasty, insinuating way, "Where Rutherford got his boots?" He wished to say, and he advanced to the middle floor to emphasize his remarks, that he got his rubber boots in Toronto and "paid for them." He could show the receipt if necessary. He wished these insinuations stopped right there.

Mr. A. HALL admitted that he might have said such a thing before he was a councillor, but never since. He called on Mr. Rutherford to withdraw his remarks.

After some stormy passages concerning what was said and what was not said, the matter was finally dropped.

NEW BY-LAWS.

Mr. Kendry introduced a by-law appointing Dr Yelland town physician. It was passed.

Mr. Baptie presented an early closing by-law to govern watchmakers' and jewellers' shops. It was passed with a few amendments.

On motion of Mr. Hartley, seconded by Mr. Kendry, Mrs. Dotsher's taxes were remitted.

ANOTHER LICENSE.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that, whereas the population of the town of Peterborough has very largely increased since the last Dominion census was taken, and whereas the number of tavern licenses is based on said Dominion census and the town is desirous of additional hotel accommodation which is necessary for the accommodation of the general public; be it therefore resolved that the License Commissioners be requested to issue another hotel license for the town, the licensee to provide the regular hotel accommodation as required by law.

The motion was carried, the yeas and nays being taken as follows:—Yeas, Messrs. Cahill, Davidson, Kelly, E. H. D. Hall, A. Hall and Langford; nays, Messrs. Dawson, Baptie, Rutherford, Kendry and Hartley.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. A. Hall, that the town solicitor be instructed to oppose the motion to quash the high license by-law.—Carried.

The council then adjourned.

Police Court.

TUESDAY, June 4.

The criminal assault case was conducted with closed doors, Mr. R. E. Wood acting for the crown and Mr. John Green for W. H. Jackson, husband of the woman whom it was alleged had been assaulted, Mr. W. H. Moore defended the prisoner, Jos. Grady. The evidence was not conclusive as to an assault on the date mentioned in the information, but it was stated that about a month ago Grady did attempt an assault. Jackson says he did not lodge a complaint because, being a stranger, he did not know the man until the occasion of the last alleged attempt. The case was dismissed, but another information may be laid for the first offence.

Old Dennis Slattery was sent up to gaol again for six months, at his own request.

Ashburnham Council.

Fire Protection—New Town Hall—The People to Decide on July 2nd.

The regular meeting of the Ashburnham village council was held on Monday night. All the councillors were present.

After the passing of a number of accounts, the council considered the matter of building a new brick tank, for fire protection purposes, corner of Elizabeth and Mark streets. The contract was let to Mr. Joseph Phillips for the sum of $100.

The application for the watering of Elizabeth street was considered and laid over. The council did not feel inclined to assume the whole cost, thinking that the parties specially interested should bear a part of the expense.

A by-law to raise the sum of $4,500 for the purpose of building a new town hall was agreed upon. The by-law will be submitted to the popular vote on Tuesday, July 2nd. It is probable the plans used will be those adopted at a previous meeting of the council.

A Practical Testimony

To the Excellence of Mr. Peter Hamilton's Binders—A Large Consignment To-day.

This afternoon a long procession of binders left town for the country. They were from the Peter Hamilton Agricultural Works, and had been purchased by farmers for this season's work. Mr. Hamilton has sold an unusually large number of his celebrated binders this year, and the supply will be exhausted early in the season, though the Works are running over time. Already over 100 binders have been shipped away by train, in addition to the large number that are daily sold in the country. Within the past few weeks sales have been very large, and it was expected to-day that there would be a procession including 35 or 40 binders, but on account of important roadwork and for other causes the greater number of the farmers were unable to come to town to-day to get their machines. However, some fifteen arrived and these loaded the machines on their wagons this forenoon and took their departure for home this afternoon. Had all those expected been on hand the occasion would have been celebrated in a more elaborate manner.

Mr. Hamilton entertained his patrons at dinner at the Balmoral hotel. About three o'clock the long procession left the market and moved up George street, after which the farmers went their several ways homeward.

To-day's procession, together with the previously stated facts concerning the increasing sales and popularity of Mr. Peter Hamilton's binders, are good evidence that his machines are first-class and give every satisfaction among the farming community

Following is the list of those in the procession:—

R. H. Payne, Dummer; Geo. Allan, Smith; Coleman Blewett, Smith; Joseph Taylor, Otonabee; Geo. Grant, Dummer; John Conway, Eanismore; Timothy Coughlin, Otonabee; David Drain, Dummer; Robt. Mahood, Otonabee; Wm. Pierson, Smith; Robt. Lynn, Eanismore; Wm. Charlton, Dummer; Wm. Irwin, Harvey; Wm. Myles, Dummer; Samuel Nugent, Smith.

Before leaving, the wagons were all ranged in a semi-circle on the market square and photographed by Sproule.

A Pleasant Evening.

There was a fair attendance at the meeting of the Charlotte street Church Endeavor Society last night, and a pleasant social evening was spent. Miss Neal, President, occupied the chair during the rendition of the programme, which comprised a reading by Mr. Rowse, a duet by Misses Brundrette and Fawcett, and selections from the "Casket," by Mr. Rowse. The subject of discussion at the next meeting will be "Encouragements in Christian Life."

The Jesuit Agitation.

An anti-Jesuit meeting was held in the Presbyterian church, Warsaw, last night, at which Mr. John Carnegie was the principal speaker. The church was filled with an enthusiastic and representative audience. Mr. Wm. Darling presided. Rev. Messrs. Hyde and Power also delivered addresses. Mr. Carnegie dealt at length with the provincial aspect of the Jesuit bill. The usual resolutions were presented, and at the close of the meeting Messrs. A. R. Kidd, A. Watts and Samuel Edwards were appointed delegates to the Citizens' Convention in Toronto, June 11th and 12th.—COM.

To-morrow's Game.

Following is the team that will play Norwood to-morrow:—C. J. Phelan, goal; J Joyl, point; F. Pakenham, cover point; Meagher, M. Halpin and Brennan, defence field; W. Headren, centre; McCabe, Daly and Bagley, home field; F. Goyette, outside home; T. Duncan, inside home; spare men, Stinson and Cronin; Jas. Coughlin, field captain; referee, R. H. Fortye. The Rivervides go into the field rather weak this time. Rose is too sick to play, and T. Meagher, another of the best men, is laid up with a sprained foot. His place will likely be taken by his brother. Daly also received a severe blow over the eye while practising last night, but may be able to play. However, the Rivervides are determined to defeat their opponents, the Norwoods, if possible, and the game promises to be a close and exciting one. Play begins about two o'clock.

Jack the Ripper Again.

His Reappearance Has Disheartening Consequences in London—His Latest Victims.

(Special by Cable to the Examiner.)

LONDON, ENG., June 4.—The mutilated remains of a woman were found in the Thames at Hornsey Down this morning. The Whitechapel excitement is revived. It is believed Jack the Ripper has resumed his atrocities. Only the upper half of the body was found, and it was cut into two pieces. The lower part of the body was missing. The ghastly objects were tied in a parcel with a piece of cord. Shortly after the discovery of the remains, a parcel of female clothing was found at Battersea, which evidently belonged to the woman, whose name is supposed to be Fisher.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

At 3.30 o'clock yesterday the hall was crowded, many having to go away unable to obtain admittance, to hear Miss Gordon give a Bible reading from I Chronicles, xx chap., on "Praising God." She made a deep impression on all. In the evening a meeting, for men only, was held, when Miss Gordon gave a Bible reading from John 4th chapter. It was a strong appeal for more consecration, for service; cannot fail to bring forth fruits for the Master. The Association exceedingly regrets they are so cramped for room, but their friends in the George Street Methodist Church have very kindly put at their disposal their school room for the meetings, which will be held there for the rest of the week at 3.30 and 8 p. m. They hope now to be able to reach all who may desire to attend these delightful and helpful services. They ask everyone to come in the spirit of prayer and bring another with them. Friends will kindly be prompt in their attendance.

CALAMITY ON CALAMITY.

PNEUMONIA ATTACKS THE JOHNTOWN SUFFERERS.

Scenes and Incidents in the Devastated Valley of the Conemaugh — Funds for the Survivors.

JOHNSTOWN, June 5.—An utterly wretched woman named Mrs. Fuss stood by a muddy pool of water, trying to find some trace of a once happy home. She was half crazed with grief, and her eyes were red and swollen. As I stepped to her side she raised her pale and haggard face, crying:

"They are all gone! O God, be merciful to them! My husband and my seven dear little children have been swept down with the flood and I am left alone. We were driven by the flood into the garrett, but the waters followed us there. Inch by inch it kept rising until our heads were crushing against the roof. It was death to remain. So I raised a window and one by one placed my darlings on some driftwood, trusting to the great Creator. As I liberated the last one, my sweet little boy, he looked at me and said:

"'Mamma, you always told me that the Lord would care for me; will he look after me now?'

"I saw him drift away with his loving face turned toward me, and with a prayer on my lips for his deliverance he passed away forever. The next moment the roof crushed in and I floated outside, to be rescued fifteen hours later from the roof of a house in Kernville. If I could only find one of my darlings, I could bow to the will of God, but they are all gone. I have lost everything on earth now but my life, and I will return to my old Virginia home and lay me down for my last great sleep."

A handsome woman, with hair as black as a raven's wing, walked through the depot, where a dozen or more bodies were awaiting burial. Passing from one to another she finally lifted the paper covering from the face of a woman, young and with traces of beauty showing through the stains of muddy water. With a cry of anguish she reeled backward to be caught by a ragged man who chanced to be passing. In a moment or so she had calmed herself sufficiently to take one more look at the features of her dead. She stood gazing at the unfortunate as if dumb. Finally turning away with another wild burst of grief she said:

"And her beautiful hair all matted and her sweet face so bruised and stained with mud and water." The dead woman was the sister of the mourner. The body was placed in a coffin a few minutes later and sent away to its narrow house.

These incidents are but fair samples of the scenes familiar to every turn in this stricken city.

Dr. Matthews is a hero. Several of his ribs were crushed by a falling timber and his pains were most severe, yet through all he attended the sick. When two women in a house across the street shouted for help, he with two other brave young men climbed across the drift and ministered to their wants. No one died during the night, but women and children surrendered their lives on the succeeding day as a result of terror and fatigue.

The sad scenes will never be all written. One lady told me of seeing her mother crushed to pieces just before her eyes, and the mangled body carried off down the stream. William Varner lost six children and saved a babe about 18 months old. His wife died just three weeks ago. An aged German, Daly, his wife and five daughters floated down on their house to a point below Ninevah, where the house was wrecked. The five daughters were drowned, but the old man and his wife stuck in a tree and hung there for twenty-four hours before they could be taken off.

One of the most pitiful sights of this terrible disaster came to my notice when the body of a young lady was taken out of the Conemaugh River. The woman was apparently quite young, though her features were terribly disfigured. Nearly all the clothing except the shoes was torn off the body. The corpse was that of a mother, for although cold in death the woman clasped a young male babe apparently not more than a year old tightly in her arms. The little one was huddled close up to its mother's face, who, when she realized their terrible fate, had evidently raised the babe to her lips to imprint upon its little lips the last motherly kiss it was to receive in this world. The sight was a pathetic one and turned many a stout heart to tears.

Among the miraculous escapes to be recorded in connection with the great disaster is that of George J. Lees and his family. He resided on Iron street. When the rush of water came there were eight people on the roof. The little house swung around off its moorings and floated about for nearly half an hour before it came up against the bank of drift above the stone bridge. A 3-year-old girl with sunny golden hair and dimpled cheeks prayed all the while that God would save them, and it seemed that God really answered the prayer of this innocent little girl and directed the house against the drift, enabling every one of the eight to get off. Mrs. Lees carried the little girl in her arms, and how she got off she doesn't know. Every house around them, she said, was crushed, and the people either killed or drowned.

Eighty Dead in This Steamer.

NEW YORK, June 4.—A special to The Tribune from Lewisburg, Pa., says the flood on the east branch of the Susquehanna River has never been equalled before. The water is two feet higher than the high water mark of the great flood of 1865. Every bridge on the Susquehanna River from Sunbury in Northumberland County, to Clearfield in Clearfield County, has been swept away. Williamsport was the scene yesterday of a frightful disaster. From fifty to eighty persons were drowning on the bridge at Market-street which spans the Susquehanna River, when with a sudden and mighty surge the angry waters, choked with logs, the ruins of houses and all sorts of driftwood swept the bridge away on its bosom. The structure were thrown into the rushing river. Their attempts to save themselves were desperate and pitiful, and few, if any, were successful. At Milton the water was five feet high in the streets. At this place five spans of the railroad bridge were swept away. The gas works, waterworks and the mills were flooded out. The loss will reach $75,000. Every town along the west branch of the Susquehanna is isolated from every other town and communication is difficult and in places impossible. The railroad stations and postoffices are open.

The Lynchburg Stories Denied.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—The stories of lynching sent from this place yesterday were untrue. Sheriff Shoemaker of Cambria County, who has been on duty since Friday last, says that the rumored hanging of negroes and Hungarians Sunday night was wholly without foundation.

Pneumonia Among the Refugees.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—Three hundred more bodies have just been found opposite Ninevah. This makes 760 bodies found at that point.

The burned wreck against the bridge is being blown up with dynamite to allow the water to pass into the main channel. Many skeletons and fragments of bodies have been found. The opening of this channel will take the overflow from the lower part of Johnstown.

Pneumonia has broken out among the refugees on Prospect Hill.

Newport's Loss.

NEWPORT, Pa., June 4.—Telegraphic communication was opened with the outside world this afternoon. Two-thirds of the town is overflowed. Seven families are destitute, their houses having been swept away. The water is seven feet deep in the streets in the central part of the town. The loss is $500,000.

Lost Nine Relatives.

BALTIMORE, June 4.—General Passenger Agent C. O. Scull of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad lost nine relatives in the Johnstown flood.

Williamsport in Need.

HARRISBURG, June 4.—The Mayor of Williamsport telegraphs to Governor Beaver asking for aid to thousands of homeless people in that city. He states that the loss there on lumber alone is over $5,000,000. The Governor has promised to send money, provisions, etc.

Massachusetts' Sympathy.

BOSTON, June 4.—The Legislature to-day amended the Johnstown relief bill and made the amount for the sufferers $80,000.

Philadelphia Gives $200,000.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—The subscriptions up to this evening to the various funds in the city for the relief of the sufferers by the floods aggregate over $500,000.

Saratogians Raise $2000.

SARATOGA, June 4.—Saratogians raised $2000 here in 10 minutes to-night for the Johnstown sufferers.

Poughkeepsie's Contribution.

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 4.—One thousand six hundred and thirty-eight dollars has been sent to the Johnstown sufferers and as much more has been subscribed.

Probable Victims of the Flood.

ST. CATHARINES, June 5.—The friends of Mr. Edwin Whitelock, formerly of Thorold, have been making anxious enquiries as to whether he is numbered amongst the victims of the Johnstown horror. Mr. Whitelock, or "Eddie," as he was familiarly called, left Thorold about eight years ago and settled in Johnstown with his wife, formerly Miss Yaughton of Merritton. Nothing has been heard from them since the calamity occurred and his friends fear the worst has befallen them. Mr. Whitelock's brother telephoned from Hamilton yesterday making enquiries about him. He will probably leave for Johnstown to-day accompanied by Miss Yaughton of Merritton to ascertain their fate.

The Belmont Disaster.

BELMONT, N.Y., June 4.—The bodies of Wm. S. Allen and C. S. Shearns, two of the men who were drowned in the bridge disaster at this place Saturday last, have been recovered. The body of Frank Thorpe of Belvidere, another of the victims, is still missing. The first train since last Friday at 11 p.m. passed this section this morning about 11 o'clock.

Hong Kong Parallels Johnstown.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—A private cablegram received here this afternoon by a Chinese firm reports that a hurricane at Hong-Kong has caused a loss of 10,000 lives and great damage to property.

A MODEL DIOCESE.

In an Area of a Million Square Miles There is Not a Policeman or a Saloon.

MONTREAL, June 5.—The Bishop of Moosonee arrived at the Windsor last night on his way from England to York Factory and Churchill, which are situated on Hudson Bay in the extreme north of his diocese. His route will be through Lake Winnipeg, down the Hayes River, and thence 200 miles along the Hudson's Bay to Churchill. He expects to be at his destination about the middle of August. His Lordship, in conversation with a reporter last evening, gave some interesting facts in connection with his diocese, which is the largest and probably the least known in the whole world. It comprises an area of over 1,000,000 square miles and has a population of about 10,000, of whom about 20 only are European. The remainder are Crees, Ojibbeways, Chipwyans and Eskimos. These five languages are spoken in the diocese, and in each of these the Church of England service is held wholly or in part every Sunday, and books are published in all of them. Of the Crees all are baptised into the Christian faith, and so are the Chipwyans and the greater part of the Ojibbeways, and many of the Eskimos, but the larger portion of them are yet untouched, as it has been hitherto impossible to penetrate the wilds in which they live. Young Eskimos are now being trained, who will bye and bye visit those yet untouched. At Moose Factory, the bishop's headquarters, there is a congregation of 400 Crees and another of 200, mostly half-caste, who speak the English language quite fluently, and are well educated. The fifty Europeans referred to are in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company, and are scattered over the various posts in the vast country. They are mostly Highlanders and men from the Orkney Islands whence the company used to draw most of the employes, but nowadays the half-breeds are so well educated that they are being employed instead of sending to Scotland for men. Nearly all the missionary work in connection with the Church of England, and the Bishop feels highly satisfied with the progress of Christianity during the thirty-eight years he has been laboring there. He has been bishop of the diocese for sixteen years, and is the first bishop of Moosonee, and relates with pride that in all that vast region there is not a policeman, a soldier, a prison, nor a grog shop. In such an immense diocese it is difficult to visit the outlying stations, and this is only the second visit His Lordship has made to Churchill, the first being eight years ago. He will go partly by steamer and partly by boat, and may probably get to Moose Factory from York Factory by schooner, or failing that way, come to England by the company's annual ship as being the easiest means of reaching his headquarters, though it is only 1000 miles from Churchill. The English language is making rapid progress in the diocese but not a word of French is spoken. There is to be some French half-breeds but they have all disappeared now.

THE SUDBURY MINES.

Operations of the Canadian Copper Company—Proposed Railway Extension.

SUDBURY, June 4.—The smelting works of the Canadian Copper Company, which have been working without interruption since last December, are treating about 120 tons of ore daily. A second blast furnace of the Herreshoff patent is now being set up and will be in running order about Aug. 1. The company has just effected an arrangement with the Dominion Government whereby such mining and smelting machinery as is not manufactured in Canada may be admitted free of duty and three carloads of machinery have arrived here to-day under this arrangement. Other orders which will be filled in a short time will enable the company to erect eight furnaces with a smelting capacity of 1000 tons of ore daily. The duty on coke has hitherto checked smelting enterprise here, but it is understood that the Government has agreed to place all coke required for smelting purposes on the free list by order-in-council.

WAS IT JACK THE RIPPER?

OR AN ABORTIONIST'S ATTEMPT TO CONCEAL HIS CRIME?

Another Murder Mystery in Whitechapel—The Horribly Mutilated Body of a Woman Found in the Thames.

LONDON, June 4.—The mutilated trunk of a woman was found in the Thames at Hornsey-down this morning. The Whitechapel excitement is revived. It is believed Jack the Ripper has committed his seventh victim. Only the upper half of the body was found, and it was cut into two pieces. The lower part of the body was missing. The ghastly objects were tied in a parcel with a sheet and thickly smeared with a parcel of fresh clotted blood. The intestines. The fragments of the body and the clothing were wrapped in pieces of oilcloth, which together had completed a pair of woman's drawers. On the waistband of the drawers was the name Fisher, in indelible letter. It is evident that the murderer intends to mislead the murdered woman. The portions of the trunk showed the woman to have been large and well developed.

Another Accident.

LONDON, June 4.—A parcel containing the lower portion of the trunk of a woman's body, cut in halves, was found in the Thames at Hornseydown this morning. Another parcel in which were a woman's thighs was picked up at Battersea. Both were wrapped in pieces of a woman's dress, on which the name Fisher was marked. The trunk and thighs evidently belong to the same body, which was that of a well-developed person. The remains had probably been in the water for ten days. It is feared that Jack the Ripper has again been at work.

To Hide Another Crime.

LONDON, June 4.—The condition of the remains found at Hornsey-down leads to the belief that the woman had recently given birth to a child. It is believed that she was the victim of an abortion and that the parties connected with the operation cut the body up to conceal discovery. The doctors think the remains could not have been in the water over 24 hours. They think the woman was about 25 years old.

The Police Were on Hand.

ST. CATHARINES, June 5.—For some time past there has been a good deal of bad blood between a couple of East End families, and on Monday evening arrangements had been perfected for a settlement of the feud by a regular pitched battle between the men of the respective families. A crowd of about three hundred, residents of St. James' and St. Patrick's Wards, accompanied them to a vacant lot across the canal in Grantham, where a ring was formed in regulation style. The combatants had stripped and were ready for the deadly fray when the burly forms of three policemen were seen bearing down on the gathering. Hostilities were at once suspended for the time being, and some of the more timorous commenced for home. It is said the father of one of the young men gave the police the pointer, fearing that his son would get whipped. The end is not yet.

Belleville Briefs.

BELLEVILLE, June 5.—Thomas McDonald has been fined $10 and costs for catching pickerel out of season.

Mr. Stephenson, general superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway, went to Eldorado yesterday to arrange for the running of trains to the Junction with the Central Ontario at that point.

Was a Coward.

CHATHAM, June 1.—One of the parties arrested charged with complicity in the murder of Dr. Cronin in Chicago is Frank J. Black, alias Woodruff, who says he was born in Woodstock and who will be remembered in Chatham as the stepson of Harry Black, formerly a broker there, and at one time a trafficer in London, but now residing in San Francisco. In an interview with a reporter, Mr. Black said that Frank had always been a wild and wayward boy. Frank J. Black is not his true name. Continuing Mr. Black said: "I have been sending Frank money to help him pay his personal expenses. After he was arrested a few days since, I received a letter from him in which he stated he was in trouble. I am positive Frank had nothing to do with the murder. He was too much of a coward."

Kicked on the Track.

PARRY SOUND, Ont., June 5.—Michael Hudson, a young man well known in Paris and neighborhood, where he has for several years past worked as a farm-help, met with a terrible death the other night. The unfortunate man was left Paris for Mr. P. Skelly's farm, where he was employed, early in the evening. That was the last seen of him alive. Next morning his mangled remains were found on the railway track near the Blue Lake Woods, the having killed him. No inquest was deemed necessary.

Sentenced for Life.

MONTREAL, June 4.—Francois Laurent, the jealous bruse who fired three revolver shots at his wife five weeks ago in Maple-street, one of the bullets taking effect in her thigh, was sentenced to a life term in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary by Judge Doucs to-day. In 1887 Laurent assaulted his wife with a baseball club and left her for dead, and was tried for attempted murder, but as his wife, who recovered, went on her knees before the judge asking for mercy for her husband he was let off with one month in jail.

PARIS, June 5.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday M. Faure attacked the policy of the Government in relation to Hayti. He charged that the French representative in Hayti had exceeded the bounds of neutrality and caught to be recalled. M. Spuller, Minister of Foreign Affairs, replied that the observance of neutrality between the rival claimants to the Haytian presidency had been strictly observed. The Government had made no attempts to conclude a treaty with either party.

Sheaf Corn Crop Ruined.

WINDSOR, June 5.—From reports received from a large number of towns in Essex and the surrounding counties it is thought that the corn crop is ruined by the recent rains and all the farmers will be compelled to plant it over again. Rheumatism and Neuralgia

These twin demons cause untold suffering. Sufferers should know they are certain to overcome the trouble permanently. Paine's Celery Compound has permanently cured the worst cases of Rheumatism and Neuralgia—as any those who have tried it.

"Suffering from rheumatism which rendered me for three years, I was almost unable to get around, and was very often confined to my bed. I tried a number of remedies at a time, but could only see little or Paine's Celery Compound, and was finally induced to use it. I can now truly say I am entirely cured, and feel as lively as a boy." FRANK CASEY, Hamilton, Ont.

After suffering with chronic rheumatism for several years, I was induced to try Paine's Celery Compound, and after using two bottles found myself greatly improved. To-day, after using three bottles, I have not felt any rheumatism. I can most confidently recommend it. Yours very truly, Hon. D. COWAN, Chemainus, P.Q.

Mr. Smith, Principal of the public school, reported receipts of $7.60 for May.—Received.

Miss Clara Martin, a teacher in the south ward school, applied for permission to get a substitute while she was attending the Normal school.—Received.

FOURTH WARD SCHOOL CONTRACT AWARDED.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Dr. Burnham, that Mr. A. Rutherford be awarded the contract for the erection of the North Ward School, bound in two securities, of $2,000 to properly do the work.—Carried.

Mr. McWILLIAMS said if the architect who drew the plans (Mr. Belcher) was to superintend the work he would object to Mr. Rutherford getting the contract; he didn't want any collusion at the public expense. It was currently reported that these two parties worked into each others' hands. He thought Mr. Douglass would be a better man to superintend it, his work do the different churches showed him to be a thoroughly reliable man.

Dr. BEECHER said it was provided in the plans that the architect oversee the work. Mr. Rutherford ought to be thought the Building Committee of the School Board might be trusted to watch the architect.

Mr. McWilliams moved, seconded by Mr. Wrighton, that Mr. A. Douglass be appointed to superintend the erection of both schools, provided a satisfactory arrangement can be made with him by the Building Committee, payment not to exceed $3 per day.

Mr. Rutherford moved in amendment, that Mr. Wm. Gamble superintend the works.

This amendment was afterwards withdrawn and Mr. McWilliams motion was carried.

THE SOUTH WARD SCHOOL.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said that modifications could be made in the plans, in the excavation and under-building, whereby a big saving could be effected.

There was some talk as to whether the contract should be awarded and the contract saved by the alterations deducted from the tender accepted, or new tenders asked for according to the altered plan.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Dr. BURNHAM.—That the contract for building the addition to the South Ward School be referred back to the Building Committee to have the plans altered with a view to lessening the cost of construction, and that new tenders be called for.—Carried.

Mr. Blackwell came in and presented the plans of the South Ward School, and after some discussion Mr. McWILLIAMS moved, seconded by Mr. HUGHES.—That the tenders for the South Ward School be reconsidered, in order that the suggested changes be made at once and the contract finally let.—Carried.

Mr. BLACKWELL proposed to do away with the tank pointing and put in hammered flagstone instead of maple. This would reduce the expense perhaps $200.

After some discussion Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. McWILLIAMS,—That James Rogers be awarded the contract for the South Ward School, provided he agree to accept such changes as the architect may make in the plans and specifications, and make such reductions in respect thereof as the architect may fix as fair; a bond in $1,000, with two sureties, to be approved of by the chairman of this board for the due performance of the contract, to be given.

Mr. HUGHES said he did not believe in giving the contract to a Roman Catholic, who did not support the schools.

Mr. DUMBLE—Who has the contract for the St. Joseph's hospital?

Mr. McWILLIAMS said that was just why he opposed the proposal to ask for new tenders, as it would not be fair to Mr. Rogers, and where he tendered so much below the others there could be no justification in giving it to another. He believed in giving it to the lowest tenderer, independent of class or creed.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said the Roman Catholics followed out this principle, and if it hadn't been that Mr. A. Rutherford was so much below the others on the hospital contract he would not have got it. The other contractors would, he said, have been given a preference of $500, if they had combined against him.

Mr. HUGHES moved, amendment by Mr. RUTHERFORD,—That Mr. Rogers, not being a common school supporter, be not awarded the contract, but that it be awarded to the next lowest tenderer.

Dr. BEECHER moved that the whole matter be referred back again to the committee. He had no contract and the motion dropped out.

Mr. Hughes' motion was then put and lost, and Mr. Dumble's motion was carried.

A NEW COMMISSIONAIR.

Mr. HUGHES asked that some one be appointed on the Building Committee to take place for the next few weeks during his absence from town. Mr. HAMILTON was appointed.

Mr. DUMBLE moved seconded by Mr. HILL,—That the account of Mrs. Fowler for a few days' teaching be paid.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

A DISGRACEFUL AFFAIR.

A Peterboro Hamilton Woman Shockingly Used by Three Sailors.

PARRY, Ont., June 5.—There was committed to the County Hospital yesterday a woman named Mary Foley, suffering from injuries sustained under most inhuman and revolting circumstances. The woman, who is 60 years of age, is addicted to wandering about from one town to another in this district. She is good natured and industrious and manages to make a living, notwithstanding her instability and a weakness she occasionally gives way to for drink. Taking advantage of this failing, three men induced the unfortunate creature to accompany them to a house on a vacant farm, about a mile out of town, where they subjected her to the grossest outrage, the upshot of which was that their victim's leg was broken. In this condition the fiends left her to her fate and made their way back to town, where it is said they boast of all their exploits. Mrs. Foley succeeded in dragging herself to the house of Mr. M. Cowan, a farmer half a mile distant, a providing which must have entailed intense suffering and exhaustion. She was in a most pitiable condition from pain and weakness when discovered. The family kindly cared for the luckless woman, whose fractured limb was set by Dr. Dunton. Soon afterwards, an order of the Reeve, Messrs. A. Hanna, M. Cowan and P. Garson procured a conveyance and drove her to the hospital. An effort will be made by the police to discover her assailants and have them answer for the outrage. Mrs. Foley lived around Hamilton about five years ago and was known for her wandering propensities.

A Mother by Adoption.

HAMILTON, May 8.—A charge of assault brought by Elizabeth Lefever against Mrs. Sarah Middleton occupied an hour and a half of the Police Magistrate's time yesterday morning. Mrs. Middleton is an elderly woman, who up to a month ago kept a store in James-street near Cannon under the name of Mrs. Hartley—the name of her first husband. The complainant, who is generally known as Lizzie Hartley, was adopted by the present Mrs. Middleton when she was about two years old, which is between 14 and 17 years ago. A short time ago Constable Hawkins got wind of alleged cruelty to the girl, who afterwards told her story to the Chief of Police. An interest was taken in the girl, who, besides having no mother, knows nothing of her father, he having died years about the time her mother died. Constable Hawkins got her a situation and she left the house of her adopted mother and afterwards laid a charge of assault against her. Mrs. Middleton admitted that while angry she had thrown a plug of tobacco at the girl and blackened her eye, and of having cut part of her hair off to humiliate her. The girl said that Mrs. Middleton had struck her across the face with a piece of firewood and had loosened some of her teeth, but the evidence was not corroborated. Taking all things into consideration, including the fact that Mrs. Middleton said she would not trouble with the girl any more or try to get her away from the place the police had got for her, the Magistrate dismissed the case without costs.

Three Long Years in Bed with Spinal Disease.

Charles Cluthe, Esq., Toronto.

DEAR SIR—I wish to inform you how I am getting on. I am splendid now. I can walk any distance. I work all the time. My mother had to do all the housework for a large family. You know when you came to measure me I had to be held up, but after you put the instrument on I could walk through the house and the third day I could walk out. I feel that I can never thank you or say enough for you. When I think that for 3 long years I was a poor helpless girl, sometimes in bed for four months at the time and getting worse every day, you know my wishing further particulars refer them to me. Thanking you once more, I remain your true friend. MATTIE GRAHAM, Peterborough.

Rupture.

DEAR SIR—I am only to inform you that the Solomitho Truss you put on me last spring has been all it was recommended to be, more, as it has healed my Rupture, which I was troubled with for a long time, and not having been able to work on account of it; but on hearing of you, I came and had you adjust this Truss, which gave me great relief at once, as I was able to work at any kind of work. I would not part with it for less than $5 if I could not get another. For further proof send them to me. I remain, yours truly, ALEXANDER RYCKMAN, Jordan Station, Ontario.

MUNCASTER'S

THE JOHNSTOWNE STAGE.

By ROBERT HOWE FLETCHER.

The Lieutenant himself, after being ch-thusiastically asked to drink in the aggregate liquor enough to have stocked a wholesale whisky store, was put to bed and a messenger dispatched for the surgeon at the fort.

Meantime a little party of horsemen swiftly and silently rode east of the town in the direction whence the stage had come. The next day the Lieutenant was informed that Whistling Dick had been found dead in the road at the head of Stony creek grade. A false gray beard had been picked up near the body, and was thoughtfully offered to the lieutenant as a memento. "We struck the other fellow's trail," said his informant, "in that clump of scrub oak. He was wounded, and there wasn't any trouble in following it. We finally corralled him down in Stony creek. But he was game, and played that gun of his for all it was worth before we took him in. You never would have guessed, now, that it was Jim Gatesby himself, the company's new driver. But that's who it was, for a fact. I've heard since that the express folks kind of suspicioned him of standing in on that last robbery."

* * * * * * *

One year has passed. Again the silent City of Rocks has lost its sharp outlines in the shimmering heat of a July afternoon. On the bench outside of the stage house door Nate, the station keeper, is sitting, reading a month-old newspaper. On the edge of the water trough opposite him Frank, the helper, is mending a horse collar. Presently Nate threw down the paper and said: "Well, I'll be damned!" Frank looked up inquiringly. Nate, rolling a cigarette from a piece of brown wrapping paper, continued: "Ye rec'lect the old gen'l'man from the states wot went up the line about two months after Lieut. Calverly laid out Whistling Dick and that smarty of a Jim Gatesby?"

Frank nodded his head. He was a man of few words.

"Ye rec'lect how many questions he asked about that little rumpus? Specially 'bout the lady with the kid, who showed such a heap o' sand? That old gen'l'man was her father."

"I knowed that," said Frank, in a tone that resented having his interest excited to no purpose.

"Of course ye knowed it," replied Nate, calmly. "Didn't he perk up his head like a grass fed cayuse and tell ye so when he brought her down the line agin about two weeks afterward? Of course ye knowed it. Didn't he tell every mother's son all along the line that it was his daughter? Why, when he went out to the Sabastin agency and got her to give up teachin' the Injuns' kids and go back home with him, they tell me that he set up the drinks for the whole durned town. But ye didn't year how it was that the lady ever come out into this country to teach sivvages, did ye? No! Well, then, the way of it was this. She hooked agin the old man in gittin' married. She 'lowed [illegible] laid over his, but it didn't [illegible] worth a durn. Her husband was no good, and when he found her father wasn't going to chip in to help 'em along, he went back on her. But she didn't go nosing 'round the old man to be tuk back. That warn't her style. She just got an appintment as schoo[illegible] teacher out yere, which was 'bout as f[illegible] away as she could git. But she hadn[illegible] gone when her husband passed in his checks in a railroad smash up. Well, the old man didn't know where she were, till one day he came across a newspaper tellin' 'bout the stage being ju[illegible] yere. Then he got on to her trail, and followed her up and tuk her home. Praps ye rec'lect that about two months afterward the lieutenant went back to the states. Nat'rally. Well, I'm a sluice robber of him and she ain't got married! Yes, sir, yere it is in the paper. They say the old man's richer than Blue Gulch, and give 'em a couple of hundred thousand to start on. And wot's more, among the weddin' presents they got was a solid silver tea set with a 'scription on it, as how it was presented to Lieut. and Mrs. George W. Calverly by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, 'in grateful remembrance of their gallant defense of the Johnstown stage.'"

THE END.

Queer Toilet Recipes.

Hair dyes and toilet beautifiers do not belong exclusively to our day and generation. Indeed, at the present time, there is a strong sentiment against the use of cosmetics, and preparations for "improving" the hair. The Woman's World publishes the following toilet recipes that were given out in the days of ancient Egypt's glory:

Curious hair recipes occur on some of the papyri, some of which are very absurd. One to prevent the hair from turning gray directs that a salve should be made from the blood of a black calf cooked in oil; in another that of a black bull is preferred for the same object; evidently the color of the animal was to paint through the salve into the hair.

In another place we read of the tooth of a donkey, dipped in honey, being used for really strengthening the hair, and the ingredients for an ingenious compound are given for injuring the hair of a rival, and the counter remedy to be used by those who think their hair oil has been tampered with by a suspicious friend.

Cakes of some composition which absorbed oil were always placed on the heads of the guests at a feast, and from them the oil gradually trickled down through the hair. A most disagreeable practice this may seem to us, but to them it appears to have given great pleasure, and with the Egyptians, as well as with the Hebrews, oil was symbolical of joy and gladness.

Rouge and other coloring substances were used by Egyptian women to enhance, as they thought, their beauty. The eyes had often a green line underneath them; the lashes and eyebrows were pencilled in black, and, as in modern Egypt, the nails were always stained red with a preparation from the henna plant.

Etiquette in the Stable.

The empress of Austria sits alternately on either side of her horse, and has saddles made in both ways. This plan is adopted by several of the noble ladies of England who hunt regularly.

The advantages of riding on one hand or the other of the escort are equally balanced. When riding on the right side the lady is protected from passing vehicles; on the left, her escort is enabled more quickly and safely to take her horse by the head.

The seat should be in the middle of the saddle, not on either side. The wrists should bend inward so as to permit of a little play of the wrist joint at each tap of the whip on the reins.

In riding to the trot, bear outwardly with the left hand, which will keep the knee down against the saddle and prevent the leg from swinging about. At the same time be careful not to rise forward, the left.

It looks well to see a lady cantering with a gentleman who is trotting, but [illegible] persons cannot ride agreeably together.

Shiloh Cures Whooping Cough.

Sold by Foster's Corner.

In this country top boots for the groom are by no means de rigueur, and under many circumstances would never more of pretence than of real gentility.

The groom should never canter, but should trot in a business like way, rising in his stirrups, or, if necessary, should gallop, sitting straight, with hands low and feet thrust home in the stirrups.

The English rule for country riding and the park alike requires a gentleman to pull up and pass a lady, if alone, at a walk, whether she be on foot or on horseback.—Horsemanship for Women.

London Truth says that the art of the working goldsmith is disappearing, owing to the cheapness of diamonds. Every one who buys an ornament insists now upon precious stones, and estimates it rather by the value of the stones than by the beauty of the workmanship.

Jenny Lind's monument, to be erected in London by her husband, has been completed in Glasgow. It is in the form of a beautiful cross, about ten feet high.

"My daughter was greatly troubled with Scrofula, and at one time, it was feared she would lose her sight. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has completely restored her health, and her eyes are as well as ever, and not a trace of Scrofula is her system."—G. King, Killingly, Conn.

Rheumatic Pains

require no description, since with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their twinges. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged, only the most powerfully penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is now frequently resorted to by medical men, is the application of that now famous remedy for pain—Polson's Nerviline. It is safe to [illegible] equal satisfaction to the suffering. A trial can be made at a small cost, as sample bottles of Nerviline can be had at the drug store for 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents. 6d w23

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Many Thanks.

"My age is 56, and for twenty years I have suffered from kidney complaint, rheumatism and lame back, and would have been a dead woman if it had not been for Burdock Blood Bitters, of which two bottles restored me to health and strength." Miss Maggie Rossby, Half Island Cove, N.S. 2w23d

SCROFULA

Humors,

Erysipelas,

Canker, and

Catarrh,

Can be cured by purifying the blood with

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a remedy for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength and vigor to the body, and produces a more permanent, lasting, result than any medicine I ever used.—E. Haines, No. Lladale, O.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease.—W. F. Fowler, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried all sorts of remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured.—Mary C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, and getting no relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured.—Susan L. Cook, 209 Albany st., Boston Highlands, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I have ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach.—Millie Jane Peirce, South Bradford, Mass.

The Late Mrs. J. Hall.

The public will learn with deep regret that the illness of Mrs. J. J. Hall, wife of the Inspector of Inland Revenue, terminated in her death this morning. The late Mrs. Hall was a native of New York, the daughter of Mr. Abram Parsons, who lived on the banks of the Hudson near that city. She has for many years been one of the foremost residents of Peterborough, and the wide circle of her acquaintances, by which she was held in high respect, will receive with pain the intelligence of her death. The funeral takes place from the family residence, 276 Charlotte street, on Thursday afternoon, June 6th, at 3 o'clock and proceed to St. John's Church, thence to Little Lake Cemetery.

The "Glorious Twelfth."

Peterborough District Lodge of Orangemen met at the fourth line, Smith, last night. There was a good attendance, Mr. J. G. Weir, D.M., presiding. Routine business was gone through with, and a strongly worded resolution, condemnatory of the Jesuits' Estates Act was passed. It was also decided to celebrate the 12th of July at Lindsay this year. Three invitations were considered, from Cobourg, Campbellford and Lindsay. The Orangemen of this district will take part in the celebration at the latter place on the "Glorious Twelfth." On the Sunday prior to the 12th July the Orangemen will attend some church in Peterborough, to be selected by a committee appointed for the purpose. The True Blues and Prentice Boys of the town are to be invited to attend both the church parade and the Lindsay celebration.

A Providential Escape.

Passengers on the Grand Junction express trains yesterday afternoon were most providentially preserved from the deadly results of a collision. The afternoon trains from Peterborough and Belleville were within 50 yards of each other when stopped. It happened through a mistake of the operator at North Hastings Junction. Mr. Stanton's train was to be detained for Mr. Morris' (No. 15) at the Junction, but the operator, mistaking the number of the train, gave Mr. Stanton his orders to proceed on the arrival of No. 14, a freight. Fortunately Mr. Stanton stopped at Halloway's to let off a passenger (an unusual thing, by the way, and just as the train was moving on again, Conductor Morris' train came rushing towards them from the direction of Belleville. Both engineer's saw the danger and by promptly reversing the engines the trains were stopped in time to prevent a collision. Had Conductor Stanton's train been running along at the usual rate a dreadful accident could not have but happened. The operator who made the mistake was promptly discharged.

Board of Trade.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Board of Trade last night. A number of important matters, the procuring of better railway facilities and more manufactories for Peterborough, were talked over, some new members added and an adjournment made till Tuesday evening next.

An Advantage for Belleville.

A number of Grand Trunk railway officials went over the branch line from North Hastings to the central Ontario R. R. at Eldorado Tuesday, and it was decided to open up this line, which has hitherto been almost unused, for regular traffic. It is believed the opening up of this connecting line will be a great advantage to Belleville.

Willow and Wicket.

The match on the grounds Tuesday afternoon was not strictly between the Colts and Veterans, neither side being complete and each having to borrow fielders from the other. It was not concluded when stumps were pulled at 6.30. The score was 56 to 70 in favor of the Veterans. By the time the match finished there were only about half a dozen men on the field, a number of the players after going in to bat leaving for home without returning the assistance [illegible] was scarcely fair, and the Captain's hope is will not occur again.

Howarth's Hibernian.

Howarth's Hibernian troupe played at the opera house last night to a bumper audience. Before the performance began the company's band played in front of the opera house. The performance was of the variety type and eminently satisfactory to the crowded house. There was an almost continual roar of laughter from beginning to end. The comedy of the two Dans and the amusing mistakes brought about by their marvellous likeness to each other, afforded endless amusement. The songs and dances were interesting and the jokes original. At intervals large views of Irish scenery were displayed. The storm, sunset and moonrise effects were very fine, the latter in particular. Altogether the performance was highly entertaining and pleased the audience well. The company goes from here to Trenton.

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call. W. J. MORROW,

Band in the Park.

The band season in the park opened auspiciously last night. The night was fine and the beautiful breathing spot was thronged with people, whose senses were delighted by the excellent music of the band. They promenaded up and down the walks, carried on their flirtations, laughed and chatted gaily, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves as in their wont. These weekly concerts are deservedly popular and attract thousands of people. The band rendered some new music learned through the winter, and their selections were more pleasing than ever, if that were possible. The musicians are, however, greatly annoyed by the troops of boys who play around the bandstand and disturb the harmony and distract attention by their shouting. A policeman should be stationed in the park during the concert to preserve order. This will probably be done in future.

British American 'Prentice Boys.

The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of 'Prentice Boys for British America will be held in the Orange Hall, Peterborough, Tuesday and Wednesday next, June 11 and 12. About 35 delegates are expected. So far the Order of 'Prentice Boys is confined to Ontario, being but a few years in existence. The local lodge, Jubilee 'Prentice Boys, are making arrangements to entertain the visiting delegates. Monday night it is proposed to organize a torch-light procession to meet the delegates coming in on the midnight train. The Grand Lodge will open Tuesday morning. Tuesday night there will be a church parade to St. Andrew's Church, where the pastor, Rev. A. Hall, will preach a sermon. The Fire Brigade band and True Blues' fife and drum band will be in the procession, which will include the local Orangemen, 'Prentice Boys and True Blues and visiting delegates. Wednesday night the proceedings of the Grand Lodge will terminate with a banquet at Roddy's hotel.

The Rochester Excursion.

Posters have been issued announcing a grand excursion to Rochester on Saturday, 15th June. This is a splendid opportunity for visiting the Flower City and of spending three or four days among the numerous attractions. The round fare is only $3 (by rail and steamer Norseman), and the arrangements are such as to permit business men spending Sunday in Rochester and returning for business on Monday morning. This will be a delightful trip. The excursion train will leave Peterborough on Saturday night, connecting at Port Hope with steamer Norseman, and passengers will arrive in Rochester early on Sunday morning. Those who wish to return after the day is over, can do so, arriving in Peterborough early on Monday morning; those wishing to stay longer may remain till Tuesday night. Every arrangement has been made for the comfort of passengers. Staterooms may be secured by writing to Capt. Dunlop, steamer Norseman, Port Hope. It is seldom that an opportunity for so pleasant a trip offers at so low a figure and with such favorable conditions. Remember the tickets are only $3 for the round trip. They may be procured at the Peterborough bookstore and at Salisbury's bookstore. 1dw

The "C" Supper.

The "C" supper at the Charlotte street Methodist church on Tuesday night was in some respects a splendid success. The uncertain weather and numerous counter attractions accounted for a smaller attendance than would otherwise have been present. But the genuine "C" part of the supper the culinary department was a brilliant success. Three long tables were laid in the school room, and they were magnificently decked with cut flowers silver and glass and the edibles furnished were of the most tempting, varied and toothsome variety. The bill of fare were printed on cardboard cut in the form of the letter "C" and every article on the menu began with that letter, and paper napkins of various colours were provided. Words cannot do justice to the excellence of the repast—but the appetites of the guests did it full justice and the words of commendation of the culinary capacity of the ladies were warm and earnest. The first table was in charge of Mrs. J. R. Stratton and Mrs. W. J. Green, the second in charge of Mrs. Thos. Brooks and Mrs. J. J. McBain and the third in charge of Mrs. Wm. Morrow and Miss Nell. They were assisted by numerous young ladies, who were expert and willing to attend to the creaking wants of the guests which the excellent bill of fair provoked. The "C" supper is a new "institution" in Peterborough. To Mrs. Thos Brooks belongs the credit of having introduced it from Morden Connecticut. It is a Yankee notion and like a good many other emanations of the same kind has the merit of novelty and chic. The ladies deserve the warmest commendation for the success of their efforts. After the refreshments were disposed of the audience adjourned to the body of the church where the intellectual programme was presented. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., occupied the chair, and after a brief address introduced the first number, a song by Miss Pearson, who was compelled to respond to a hearty encore. This was followed by a [illegible] Miss Fairweather and Master Bertie Brock. Miss Gorman gave a recitation which provoked an earnest encore to which she responded. Mr. A. F. Wood, M.P.P. East Hastings, gave an address, suitable to the occasion, followed by an instrumental duet by Miss Fairweather and Master Brooks, pianoforte and "h. ms" respectively. "God Save the Queen" brought one of the most unique and interesting entertainments ever promoted in the Charlotte street church to a close.

Police Court.

WEDNESDAY, June 5.

A girl named Jane Williams brought suit to recover $10 back wages from Mrs. Chas. Brown, with whom she had been employed. Mrs. Brown claimed that she had paid her at different times, but the girl and her mother maintained that they had only got goods to the amount of $1.69 on account, and Mrs. Brown was ordered to pay the girl the balance of the sum claimed, $8.31.

A LIQUOR CASE.

The charge against Mr. T. Cavanagh of having sold liquor on Sunday, May 26th, contrary to the Liquor License Act, adjourned from last week, was up again. Mr. E. B. Edwards conducted the prosecution and Mr. A. P. Francoeur the defence. Two witnesses swore to having obtained liquor in Mr. Cavanagh's hotel on the date mentioned. Mr. T. Dolan, Chairman of the License Commissioners, testified to Mr. Cavanagh having applied for a license and his application was granted. The formal certificate had not, however, been given till Monday last, when he paid his money. This was because the Commissioners had to send away to Toronto for certificates after having decided to grant a certain number of licenses.

Mr. FRANCOEUR maintained that Mr. Cavanagh's hotel was not actually licensed until he paid for and received his certificate.

Mr. EDWARDS argued that Mr. Cavanagh had been guilty of an infraction of the law whether he had a license or not. But in any case he held that Mr. Cavanagh's hotel was actually licensed, as his application had been favorably received. The delay in getting the certificate did not affect it.

Mr. DUNDAS said he would be straining the law if he did not hold that Mr. Cavanagh's hotel was licensed. He held that the Commissioners actually granted the license when they recommended his application. He said he thought it a pity that these gentlemen (referring to the hotelkeepers) should ring down the condemnation of the whole community upon them. They cried out for a license law, and now they go to work and break it first thing.

He fined the defendant $40 and costs.

AGAIN DISMISSED.

As was expected, a new complaint of criminal assault was laid against Jas. Grady, who was yesterday dismissed on a charge of assaulting Mrs. W. H. Jackson, Smith street. The offence for which he was tried to-day was alleged to have been committed on April 9th. Mr. John Green appeared for the prosecution and Mr. W. H. Moore for the defence.

Mrs. Jackson's evidence went to show that Grady had been guilty of serious impropriation on the night in question, while her husband was away from home; but it also appeared that she was not as quick to resist his improper advances as she should have been. The magistrate held that no actual assault had been attempted and dismissed the case.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

It is with deep regret that we chronicle the death of the late Duncan Cameron, who passed away very quietly on Wednesday night, May 29th, at about 10 o'clock, in the 73rd year of his age. The deceased had been confined to bed for six months previous to his death. Mr. Cameron was a native of Scotland and came to this country early in life and settled down in Asphodel, where he remained the greater portion of his life. He gained many warm friends by his kind and obliging manner, who will miss him very much. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss. The bereaved family have the sincere sympathy of all the people.

Benefort.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Considerable damage was done to crops by the frost of Tuesday night, 28th ult. Barley, potatoes, beans and other tender growth were cut off. The fruit, however, has escaped pretty well, being too far advanced for serious injury. Plums, cherries and apples, according to indications, will be, at least, an average crop.

It is expected that if the weather be favorable, there will be a large turn out at Jubilee Point on Wednesday, 12th inst., as agriculture is the topic for discussion. The boats are expected to call at all points.

Mr. F. Winch is the purchaser of the block known as the Wright farm at Squirrel-bridge. He intends using it chiefly for grazing. He must have had a few good swimmers, as his cattle during the week of rain made the Otonabee shore of the river which forms the eastern boundary of the farm.

The storm of Saturday morning passed without doing serious damage, except slight injury to crops. It is said not to have been so heavy a pour here as in many other places, but the creeks were all swollen much higher than they were known to be early in spring. Also, the river was deepened and quite muddy, which is quite unusual from the effect of summer rains.

Hymeneal.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. John's church at three o'clock to-day. Mr. Alexander Choate of Ingersoll, was married to Miss Anna, daughter of Capt. Thompson, Downey street. The bridesmaid was her own sister, and Mr. Wetherall of Ingersoll acted as "best man." The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Allen, of Millbrook, assisted by Rev. J. C. Davidson, curate-in-charge of St. John's. The bride looked handsome in a cream-colored dress, and the bridesmaid was attired in the same fashion. After the wedding the party repaired to the residence of the bride's father. The young couple leave this evening for their home in Ingersoll.

The Sneaking Warder.

(From the Globe.)

The Lindsay Warder has at last published Rev. Dr. Caven's letter, which the readers of the Globe saw in these columns a week ago. It begins with:

To the Editor of the Warder:

SIR,—In the Warder of the 10th inst., in an editorial entitled "The Presbyterians," the following sentence occurs:—"Rev. Dr. Caven and many other life-long Reformers have struck out from the shoulder, and are bent on cleaning out not only the Quebec stable, but also Ontario." The reference is to the anti-Jesuit movement.

It concludes with:

The inference that my connection with the Citizens' Committee implies opposition to Mr. Mowat is entirely gratuitous. I claim the liberty to speak freely of the whole subject of Ultramontane aggressiveness wherever it reveals itself, but I have never stated, nor has anything done by me afforded just grounds for the conclusion, that I wished to see Mr. Mowat superseded. To hold Mr. Mowat responsible for the Jesuit Estates Act, as your article of the 10th does, seems to me quite singular.

In the anti-Jesuit movement I have no object in view which is not explicitly avowed, and I regret that my name should be used in a way fitted to prevent any who are in sympathy with the movement from lending it their hearty support.

Your obedient servant,
WM. CAVEN.

To which the Warder responds by praising Dr. Caven most unctuously and then trying to sneak out in this fashion:—"It is not our wish to connect Dr. Caven with anything so degraded as Ontario politics. We have not done so. The sentence quoted by Mr. Caven does not mention Mr. Mowat."

It also claims that its principles "are nearly the same as Dr. Caven's," and that "in the article in question we were applying them to Ontario." We think the Rev. Principal has good ground for a libel suit against the Warder. The principle it was "applying to Ontario" is the "principle" that lying is justifiable. The "principle" of its reply to Dr. Caven is that sneaking is allowable. Now, the imputation that these are Dr. Caven's principles is a most abominable libel.

Young's Point.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. C. Young has begun operating the saw and shingle mills for the season, which are now running full blast. Mr. Young expects that this season's cut will be the largest of any year since he has been at the Point. The grist mill has been busy all winter and is now doing a good business.

It is expected that the Ontario Government will complete the approach to the locks this summer.

About 400,000 logs have passed through the locks the past few weeks.

The boats on the upper lakes are preparing for a good season's run.

The Ontario Government has made a grant to improve the road leading to Burleigh falls. It is expected that the county and township councils will give an equivalent sum, and that the work will be begun immediately after the June session, at any rate before harvest. Mr. Stratton is looking after the interests of his constituents. The people will no doubt appreciate the efforts of the government to improve their condition.

Harvey.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The Harvey council met at the town hall May 27th, 1889. After routine a court of revision was held. The assessors' valuation of Oak Orchard was confirmed. The amount assessed to J. P. Davis for the burnt mill was erased from the roll. The Bobcaygeon gravel pit was also exempted. The assessment of Robert Tedford was reduced $100. The southeast part of lot 9 in 9th concession, was reduced $25. The roll as revised was passed and the members resumed in council on general business. Accounts read and orders drawn on the Treasurer for payment of the following:

Estate of A. Orr, clothing for the Curtis family	$ 4 60
Wm. Middleton, for boarding one of the Curtis boys	2 35
Wm. McCamus, M.D., medical health officer	10 00
Thomas McCamus, drugs and medicine for the Campbells during illness with diphtheria	10 00
J. T. Robinson, (by order of the Board of Health) groceries and provisions for the Campbells	15 05
Nelson Harris, for all claims in connection with forced r[illegible] same on south half 23, concession 15	15 00
Mrs. F. Adams, making up clothing for Curtis family	2 00
Arch. Johnston, stage fare for Curtis children to Peterborough	1 25
James Richmond, salary and postage as Assessor 1889	40 00

Mr. Stratton addressed the council in favor of granting $100 to duplicate an equal amount from the Ontario Government towards a new road in South Harvey. A memorial was drawn up by Mr. Hall, and signed and sealed by the Reeve and Clerk, and forwarded to the Commissioner of Crown Lands at Toronto. The Reeve was instructed to procure a road scraper for M. Pisard's road beat. The council adjourned, to meet on Monday, June 3rd, 1889, at the Clerk's office.

Ennismore.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The thermometer at sunrise on the morning of May 29th registered five degrees below freezing. Potatoes, beans, tomatoes and cucumbers are badly destroyed. The grape vines are also badly cut down, barley to some extent, but other grain appears to be safe.

The vocal organs are strengthened by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Clergymen, lawyers, singers, actors, and public speakers find this preparation the most effective remedy for irritation and weakness of the throat and lungs, and for all affections of the vocal organs.

Consumption can be Cured

by proper, healthful exercise, and the judicious use of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, which contains the healing and strength-giving virtues of these two valuable specifics in their fullest form. Dr. D. D. McDonald, Petitcodiac, N. B., says: "I have been prescribing Scott's Emulsion with good results. It is especially useful in persons of consumptive tendencies." BYAM'S Improved "Common Sense"
SASH BALANCE.
LOCKS AND LIFTS.

THE only practical substitute for weights invented. The most durable, the cheapest and best device for all ordinary windows. Balances when in position are entirely out of sight. No rivets, bolts or screws are used in putting it together so that nothing can get out of order or need repairing. No cutting, boring or marring of the sash, as the Balances are let into the jamb. Especially valuable for repairing old buildings as they can be put in at a trifling expense, as easily put in old buildings as new ones. Sash can be removed from frame in a moment for cleaning or repairing broken glass. Can be used where it is impossible to use weights or other fixtures. No unsightly cord wearing paint off side of frame. No rattling of sash as pressure against sash prevents it. No rattling of weights or pulleys when Sash is raised or lowered. No sticking of weights in frame. No cords to rust off, wear out and break. No rubber rollers to become flattened by standing in one position for some time. No flimsy coil spring or delicate mechanism to break, wear out or get out of order. Its simplicity of construction and operation is the wonder of all.
Byam's Automatic Sash Locks (self fastening) and Sash Lifts for upper and lower sash are the best and cheapest in the market.

25 REASONS
FOR DRINKING
ROYAL DANDELION COFFEE
Some drink because they are hungry,
And some because they're dry,
Some drink to keep them in good health,
And some that they may thrive.
Some drink because they are too hot,
And some because they're too cold,
Some drink to strengthen them when young,
And some when they are old.
Some drink to keep them wide awake,
And some that they may sleep,
Some drink because they merry are,
And some because they weep.
Some drink when they do messy gain,
And some because of loss;
Some drink when they are pleased,
And some when they are cross.
Some drink when they are hard at work,
And some when they do play;
Some think it right to drink at night,
While others drink by day.
Some drink for sake of company,
While others drink on the sly;
And many drink but never think,
About the reason why.
Some say they drink for pleasure,
And some they drink for pain,
Some say 'tis good, some very bad,
But never once refrain.
Yet all mentown the proverb true:
"When iron's hot to strike it"—
I've just found out the reason why—
All drink because they like it!

BUYING THE BABY CARRIAGE.
THE MOTHERS' FIRST EXPERIENCE.
"I like to wait on the mother-for-the-first time who comes to elect a triumphal chariot for her darling. Coy, diffident and cautious at first about making her ideas and wants known, she gradually unfolds like a flower of the morning in her work of love. It is charming to watch her eagerness in the matter, or the tenderness with which she feels the downy cushions. Some young mothers, still unable to control the blush of commingled pleasure and shyness that indicates unfamiliarity with their new experience, bring their babies with them. It simply surpasses the powers of an Amelia Rives to gush over the pretty way she fits the baby in the buggy, and softly wheels it to and fro the whole end of the store to see how it goes."

AT TURNBULL'S

The heavy spring trade is on us. Every day from this out we shall be kept busy in supplying the needs of our old and new customers.

Scarcely a day passes but we receive packages of New Goods especially in Millinery and Millinery Trimmings. New Shades taking the place of those bought earlier and at lower prices. To keep posted in what is being shown, you need to visit our establishment weekly.

Like an opening rose, our Dress Goods and Trimmings show new beauty at every sight. The colors blend together so perfectly—moss sage and nile green still hold in favor. Terra Cotta, Blue Greys, Dove and Resida Shades are as much sought after as ever. In our Black Stock department we are showing a new voile of Cloth, fine light and durable—just the dress for an old lady. Much nicer than nuns' veilings.

It needs to be repeated and remembered that in all goods and most emphatically in Cotton Goods we keep a most complete stock. Where will you find the variety of cottonades, shirtings, tickings, &c., you find with us. Not less than 60 different patterns of Shirtings,—all prices, as low as the lowest.

At the Ribbon Counter you are almost always sure to find exactly what you want for dress and millinery use.

Our stock of Neck Frillings is very choice, being different to what is usually shown. We import them from a different market.

When house cleaning you may require a new Carpet. We show a beautiful Tapestry at 50c. Lower and higher qualities according to good value.

The rush is on us in our Tailoring department. Our stock of Tweeds and Worsteds please the eye and pocket of our patrons. Best satisfaction in a fit if always given.

WORSE REMAINS BEHIND!

BETWEEN 12,000 AND 15,000 DEAD IN THE CONEMAUGH VALLEY.

The Victorious Foe Unconquered, Wins the Unfortunate Reservoir Built Monster Mr. Clark's Murderous Task.

JOHNSTOWN, June 5.—Conservative men are of the opinion that the number of people lost will reach from 12,000 to 15,000. This view is based on many fragments of evidence obtained from over 100 of the best citizens. They were asked to estimate the percentage of the loss to the total population, to tell how many people of their acquaintance have disappeared, how the gatherings of residents on the streets and in public places compare with the same in former times. These statements of facts and estimates were proved as far as could be and the percentage of combinations seems to be between 12,000 and 15,000. A very large proportion of them is made up of children. How strikingly frequent is the reference in the death-list to "Mrs. Jones and six children" and "Mrs. Smith and five children"! In the morgue the knots seen lie in dozens where adults are in half-dozens, but there is said has been a much greater difficulty in recovering the bodies of the children. Being lighter and smaller they have often been swept into out-of-the-way recesses that are almost inaccessible. The drift of opinion among physicians, engineers and railroad men is that from 1000 to 1500 of the bodies will never be found. At 11 o'clock this morning Adjutant-General Hastings sent the following telegram to Governor Beaver: "Fully 2000 men are at work clearing off debris. Bodies are now being received in large numbers. The Citizens' Committee organized and the working systematized. A detachment of twenty men of the Fourteenth Regiment was detailed last night to guard the supply trains. Provisions are pouring in and it is difficult to take care of them. There is no suffering from want of food or shelter. Contributions of money are more desirable than anything else."

The body of a boy named Willie Davis was the first one taken from the debris near the bridge this morning. Mrs. Davis, who lost her husband and six children by the disaster, was in the morgue when the body was brought in. She was almost crazed with grief and excitement. The boy's body was the first one of the family that has been recovered.

The bodies of a little girl named Brocken and Theresa and Katie Downs of Clinton-street were taken out near where the remains of Willie Davis were found. At the Presbyterian Church, which is being used as a morgue, seventeen bodies were taken from the debris and river, have been brought in. Only six have been identified. The relief corps from Altoona found a body near Stoney Bridge this morning. On it was a gold watch and chain and $260 in money, which were turned over to the proper authorities. A. J. Hawes, whose wife's body was taken out of the river last night, had the body taken up into the mountains, where he dug her grave and said: "I buried all that is dear to me. As for myself I don't care how soon death overtakes me." Five bodies were taken out of the wreckage near Debert's Bank in Main-street this morning.

Miss Clara Barton of the Red Cross Society arrived this morning and has assumed charge of all female relief corps. The 900 army tents brought by Adjutant-General Axtine of Ohio have been divided, and two white walled villages now afford shelter to nearly 6000 homeless people. These villages are policed and under charge of General Axtine.

J. B. Scott of Pittsburg, who was elected dictator yesterday, has taken hold of the stupendous task imposed upon him with energy and already has mapped out his work and assigned the direction of various portions of it to men equally zealous. Already he has 3000 men at work and has called for 2500 more, to whom he promises work for 60 days at $2 per day and board. In an interview to-day he said he proposed to clear the town of all wreckage and debris of all descriptions and turn the town site over to the citizens. The work of reconstructing the roadbed and relaying the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad is being pushed forward vigorously and already trains are running down to the passenger station, while construction trains are able to go a considerable way further. By to-morrow the high embankment at the big bend of the river which dedicated the river from its course on the fatal Friday and which was finally washed away itself will be re-constructed.

Although the loss of the Cambria Iron Company will foot up into the millions the destruction of their plant is not as bad as was feared, and officers of the company say they expect to resume operations within 30 days. While the greater part of the valuable buildings had their still more valuable contents, in the way of improved machinery, damaged beyond repair, there is a complete set of machinery in the Bessemer mill uninjured, and the manufacture of steel rails may be resumed within two weeks. Hundreds of Cambria employes are at work to-day clearing away the wreckage.

The atmosphere here to-day was damp, the air keen and penetrative. This was favorable to the workers but most unpleasant for the homeless sufferers and thinly clad women and children. Long relief trains are rolling into Johnstown almost every hour. From east and west, north and south, come whole train loads of clothing and provisions, accompanied by special passenger baviar funds and large corps of volunteer physicians. Several hundred destitute people are being well cared for at Camp Hastings on the Ebensburg road. Visits to several registration offices to-day and inquiries among survivors who came in to register disclose that the proportion of saved and lost is about equal. The falling off in the registration to-day leads the authorities to apprehend that their worst fears may yet be realized and the death roll will mount well up into the five figures.

Where Johnstown's principal stores stood last Friday are now pitched 1000 tents and before to-morrow night this number will probably be doubled; under these shelter are accommodated the members of the militia and thousands of workmen who are trying to clear the streets. Over 5000 men are now thus employed in Johnstown proper. Contractor Flynn, who has charge of the army of laborers, said to-day: "It will take 10,000 men 30 days to clear the ground so that the streets are passable and the work of rebuilding can be commenced." The volunteers are doing noble work. Nearly every town in Western Pennsylvania is represented by from 10 to 100 men and many towns in Ohio and New York have also furnished their quota.

There were a thousand funerals here to-day. In most cases there were no religious rites. The graves of the unknown already number several hundred.

Almost every stroke of the pick in some portion of the city to-day resulted in the discovery of some victim. Although the funerals of the morning relieved the morgues of their crush before night they were as full of dead as ever. Wherever one turns the melancholy view of a coffin is met. Every train into Johnstown was laden with them, the better ones being generally accompanied by friends of the dead. Men could be seen staggering over the ruins with shining mahogany caskets on their shoulders. Several times I saw and fell into the abandoned mine pits, while the coffins were bounding over the stones.

Over 100 men were all day engaged in an effort to clear a narrow passage from the death bridge upward through the debris. Dynamite was used and gradually a few of the heaviest timbers were demolished and the fragments floated downward through the centre arch. At nightfall, however, the clear space above the bridge did not exceed 60 feet in length by 40 feet in width. Fully twenty-five acres are to be cleared and the task a hard one is interminable. The suggestion that the debris be burned invariably meets a wild furore of objections. Before two more days have elapsed, however, there is little doubt the commissions of putrid bodies will have become so frightful as to drive the hardiest workman from the scene and then fire will have to be resorted to.

Went to Sleep on the Track.

GUELPH, June 5.—Edward Hawksmith, who has been a resident of this city off and on for several years, was run over and killed by a freight train on the W., G. & B. line shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. He had retired [illegible] night and after giving his wife part of the money and paying a bill he loaded up with liquor and probably lay down on the track to sleep. About 4 years ago Sergt. Dooley found him lying on the G.T.R. track in the city and removed him as his life would probably have been ended at that time, and this was not his first experience of the kind, either. He leaves a wife and four children and relatives in the States.

Murdered for Money.

Silver City, Mont., June 5.—Burrill, the telegraph operator at Silver City, 16 miles from Helena, was killed and F. C. Johns, the Montana Central Railroad agent, probably fatally wounded by robbers here last night. A large amount of bullion was stored yesterday for the robbers evidently knowing it was left at the station. It is said Sheriff Hedges has secured over $200. The robbers fled on the Virginian of Marysville and officers and a large body of armed men are in pursuit.

The posse overtook the Silver City depot robbers. They refused to surrender, firing on the posse; the fire was returned. Both robbers were killed. They are unknown, and left No Baggage.

DOCTORS IN COUNCIL.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ONTARIO MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

A Big Mass Meeting of Ontario Millers to Be Held in Toronto Next Month—The Boss Murder Man to Be Tried.

TORONTO, June 6.—A meeting of the millers' and grain dealers' section of the Board of Trade was held yesterday afternoon, to decide on future action in regard to removing the present obstructions to successful flour manufacture in Ontario. Mr. R. J. Stark occupied the chair. Letters were read from D. Plewes, Brantford; J. C. Hay, Listowel, and O'Hvie & Co., Montreal. After discussing the situation a resolution was passed calling on the President of the Dominion Millers' Association, Mr. Geo. Whitelaw, Paris, to select a committee whose duty will be the completing of arrangements for holding a great mass meeting of Ontario millers in Toronto some time next month, and the preparing of subjects to be discussed at the meeting. The committee will meet in the council chamber of the Board of Trade on June 19, to prepare the program and make the necessary arrangements.

The case of Policeman Henry T. Walker, charged with assaulting Sergeant Johnston whilst on duty, was considered by the Police Commissioners yesterday. The result of the inquiry was that Walker is asked to resign, which is tantamount to being dismissed.

Roland Gideon Israel Barnett's case was before the full Court of Queen's Bench yesterday in the matter of the argument of the Crown case reserved from the late assizes. Mr. Irving, Q.C., and Mr. Osler, Q.C., appeared for the Crown and Mr. Blackstock for the prisoner. After a full discussion of the points reserved for the consideration of the court judgment was reserved.

The City Clerk has invited all the prominent manufacturers of the city to a conference with the sub-committees of the Markets and Health Committee and the Local Board of Health to take steps towards the abatement of the smoke nuisance. The conference takes place this afternoon.

The physicians of Ontario are a fine class of men, as was evinced yesterday when nearly 170 of them gathered in the theatre of the Normal School Building in attendance at the ninth annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association, and they had amongst them several prominent members of the medical profession from Montreal and United States cities. The chair was occupied by the President, Dr. W. Henderson of Montreal, who opened the proceedings at 9.30, while Dr. D. J. Gibb Wishart of Toronto did the duties of secretary. After some routine business and the presentation of reports a number of papers were read and discussed. At the afternoon session Dr. Henderson delivered the president's annual address, which was most carefully listened to and applauded. He warmly welcomed the visiting doctors from outside the province, and spoke of the deaths in the profession since a year ago, particularly that of Dean Howard of McGill University, Montreal. The rest of his discourse related to the present condition and needs of scientific medical education in this province, and he was glad to say that the profession was never in a better condition. He touched upon the "quack" question and regretted that the Government did not allow the Council of the Medical College to cancel the certificates of the quacks, who are disgracing the profession and defrauding the public. In concluding he advocated the establishment in Toronto of a provincial medical library and museum. The remainder of the afternoon and the evening session were occupied with the reading of papers.

The Government has announced that it will not throw the grounds of the Lieut.-Governor open to the public.

The insurance companies interested in the fire which occurred in the store of Mr. F.X. Cousineau have decided to issue a writ for the recovery of the $17,000 paid over. It is probable that the writ will be issued to-day.

GLADSTONE AT SOUTHAMPTON.

He Hopes to Gain 100 Seats for Home Rule at the Next Election.

LONDON, June 5.—Mr. Gladstone received an enthusiastic welcome at Southampton to-day. Replying to addresses presented to him, he said the Liberals had good cause to congratulate themselves upon recent events. He declared that if the next general elections gave results proportionate to those given at the bye elections the Home Rule party will gain 100 seats.

Balfour and Gladstone.

LONDON, June 5.—Mr. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in a speech at Portsmouth this evening said further dealing with the Irish land question ought to precede the introduction of an Irish local government measure.

At a Nationalist meeting at Belfast to-day a letter was read from Mr. Gladstone reminding Protestants of the patriotism of their ancestors at Londonderry.

The Maidstone Butcheries.

LONDON, June 5.—Missionary letters to the Anti-Slavery Society say that the Maidists have made Western Abyssinia a desert. Whole flocks and herds have been destroyed. Thousands of Christians have been thrown into slavery, thousands of others have been butchered and hundreds of the noblest inhabitants have been taken to Mecca as slaves in violation of treaties.

Ellis on the jewelry found by the detectives and placed in the hands of Chief Hughes and dismissed the intervention of Andy Maloney, who claimed possession of the same. Counsel for Ellis & Co. to-day stated that neither he nor his clients were interested in the least in the criminal proceedings against Maloney and Phillips, as the latter had given back to his clients the entire jewelry lost by Wm Reinalis.

MONTREAL, June 5.—L. H. Mayson of Louisville is missing. His disappearance has caused great excitement as he was a very prominent man, being mayor of the county and ex-Mayor of the Parish. It is stated that he has forged the names of [illegible]

SOME NECKS IN DANGER.

SULLIVAN, THE ICEMAN, IN A PERILOUS POSITION.

Evidence at the Coroner's Inquest Which Points an Accusing Finger at the Giant Sullivan.

CHICAGO, June 6.—At the Chenik inquest John Carlson, the old female who owns the cottage where the murder was committed, said that P. O. Sullivan, the iceman, told him he knew one of the men who passed the cottage and that they were all right. Mrs. T. T. Conklin testified that Dr. Cronin feared attempts upon his life and that Alexander Sullivan was the person he suspected, as the doctor had information about Sullivan that would probably ruin him. Frank T. Scanlan swore that Dr. Cronin had told him of his fears of Alexander Sullivan.

Police Captain Schaack gave some sensational evidence. He testified that Woodruff confessed to him at the jail on the day the Grand Jury met that he hauled the trunk from the Ashland-avenue cottage and took it away and was present when the body arrived. It contained was thrown into the canal from the two other men who were with him. One of the men who hired him to do the job was Detective Dan Coughlin.

Woodruff further told Captain Schaack that one day he was with King and Fairburn in a saloon in Dirmon-street, and that a man came there and gave King and Fairburn a lot of money from a big roll. When the man who gave the money went away Woodruff asked King who that was and King replied, "That is the great lawyer, Alexander Sullivan."

There are mysterious hints that Cronin's papers will bear damaging evidence against Sullivan. They show that Cronin was blown against him, that he kept every item of proof relative to his enemies in the society, put them in shape that they could readily be used and to the best purpose. Cronin was "spilling" too Sullivan while he lived and the investigating committee claims the frame will be brought down even though the hanger is dead.

Sullivan still maintains his composure. One of the sensational features of the Cronin investigation will probably be the placing of Patrick Egan on the stand for the purpose of explaining many Clan-na-Gael accounts, some large expenditures and possibly some wild speculations whereby some thousands of dollars of Clan-na-Gael money disappeared.

It is openly charged, and it is said the books of Lester & Co., the Board of Trade firm, will show that Alexander Sullivan lost over $1200, 000 in stock speculation between June 1, 1888, and Nov. 1, 1888. This was after he obtained possession of the Clan-na-Gael fund. Previous to that time he had no money to do any speculating with. In 1884 or 1885 Sullivan, so it is asserted, renewed these speculations and also lost heavily. A co-worker in the Clan-na-Gael with him also speculated at the same time and [illegible] heavy loser.

Patrick McGarry, a friend of Dr. Cronin, testified as to what Cronin told him regarding the investigation by a committee of the Clan-na-Gael at Buffalo, of charges that Alexander Sullivan appropriated funds of the Clan to his own use while a member of the executive board or "triangle." McGarry said Cronin informed him that the charges were not only of misappropriation of funds but that the "triangle" had sent men to their death and to British prisons. The witness could not remember the exact amount of money mentioned by Cronin, but it approximated $500,000.

The witness then told of his visit to Toronto after Cronin's death and the result of interviews with Reporter Long. The latter at first denied having sent the misleading dispatches, but subsequently said he had sent a statement of the facts to Frank Scanlan of this city.

To cross-examine to the witness after the Sullivan investigation that if he were murdered it would be at Alexander Sullivan's instigation. Cronin also said that the life of Dr. McCahey of Philadelphia, who joined Cronin in reporting against Sullivan at the Buffalo investigation, was also in danger and that an attempt had been made to decoy him away.

Captain Schaack has been suspended for alleged duplicity in the case.

DONOVAN'S DERBY.

The Favorite Gallops Home an Easy Winner —Twelve Other Starters.

LONDON, June 5.—Another Derby Day. Those persons who "mark time" with the recurrence of what was once the greatest horse race in the world, and is yet, despite all rivalry, the most prodigious of holidays connected with the National worship of the noble animal, are careful to span — and bookmaker — have reason to compare the present with the past to the advantage of the latter. The falling time of the Derby is not now. It is a matter of social religion, if the term be permissible, to go to Epsom on the great day of the great week. Since the rail entered into competition with the road "doing" the latter in the way that was the vogue when the favorite was vanned from home to the course, and fast coaching was express travelling, has lost much of its popularity. Thus much for one of the changes which has taken place in the aggregation of the crowd. The nomadic tipster who advertises his prescience (which never fails) is a comparatively novel institution and his name is legion; but otherwise, the humors of Epsom are conservative enough. The pea of rough palmistry which always was found under the wrong thimble has totally disappeared, along with the garter, whose convolutions were so puzzling to speculative pricksers. But "three card monte," as the Americans call it, prevails, and judging from their appearance the professors of that game so fatal to fly flats make a fat and happy living by its pursuit. Epsom on Derby Day is still devoted to the contemplation of lobster salads of fearful and wonderful composition, and the imbibition of champagne of remarkable pedigree. It goes without saying that the great reason why Epsom is not the monopolising meeting it was then is the success of gate money meetings, where stakes of unheard-of value form part of the programme.

The way the [illegible] going by means of steam and car, waggonette and omnibus, carriage and cab was not up to the old form. However, the perfect weather which marked dawn of Derby Day and continued throughout attracted tremendous crowds of gaily dressed men and women to the Downs and betters have not small reason to partake of the inspiring influences of the bright sunshine and balmy breezes. The Prince and Princess of Wales and many other persons of distinction were present. Thirteen horses faced the starter for the big race and the opposition that this is an unusual number is certainly confirmed in the minds of the backers of the dozen that did not win. The Duke of Portland's bay colt, Donovan, was an overwhelming favorite and was with comparative ease from Migneal, who beat El Dorado for the place. Condition:—

The race—The customary heart's interlude gave full opportunity for a reddish interjection of the thirteen competitors, whose toilets were adjusted in the presence of a crowd of admirers, and meanwhile Mr. Manning got through his task of weighing out so expeditiously that by a quarter to three precautions had been settled. The [illegible] of clearing the course through effectively performed, took some little time, and eyes had been turned towards the Paddock Gates in eager anticipation for some minutes before the signal was given for the competitors to make their entrance. At length the favorite white jacket and black sleeves, the Duke of Portland's colors, glanced against the green background as Donovan came on the course followed by The Turcophone, Lucullus, Morgiana, Palanga, Migneal, El Dorado, Gay Hampton, Bendigo, Enthusiast, Royal Star, Clover and Gulliver. They were soon at the post and as the second chance the involuntary shout of "They're off" told that the race had begun. Morgiana was the first to show, with Palanga and Enthusiast in close attendance and well clear of Gay Hampton and El Dorado, who led Downey and Clover by a length with Lucullus under the others. Turning into the straight Donovan and Migneal were in front of the Duke of Portland's pair nearly equal and turned into the straight with The Turcophone a length in front of his stable companion Donovan. When well established, Donovan, however, left Migneal [illegible] and El Dorado and Migneal changed the leading [illegible] Donovan by two lengths, which he increased to three at the finish.

(From the official Parliamentary report.)

Mr. BARRON—Before I go any further I wish to say that although a sketch accompanied this letter to the department of Indian affairs, when the return was brought down there was no such sketch included. It may be said that "Joseph Riopelle & Co." does not mean the hon. the junior member for Ottawa, but there we have a letter of his of 11th November, 1885, referring to this application in these words:

"OTTAWA, 11th November, 1885.

"To the Minister of Indian Affairs, Ottawa.

"HON. SIR,—I take the liberty to remind you of my application for license to cut timber on an Indian reserve.

"Will you please let me know the result of your conclusion in this matter, and much oblige,

"Your obedient servant,

"H. ROBILLARD."

Now, the hon. the junior member for Ottawa having put in his application, then Mr. Vankoughnet, the deputy superintendent-general of Indian affairs, writes to Mr. Philipps, the Indian agent in charge of this band of Indians owning the timber on the reserve, and urged him to see what can be done in getting from the Indians a surrender of their claims to the timber. This is the letter that Mr. Vankoughnet writes:

"OTTAWA, 22rd October, 1885.

"JAS. C. PHILIPS, Esq.,

"Indian Superintendent, Manitowaning, Ont.:

"SIR,—I enclose, herewith, for early report, copy of an application, dated the 13th inst., from Messrs. Joseph Riopelle & Co., of Ottawa, to obtain the privilege of cutting, fallen, dead and green timber on the Indian reserve at Whitefish lake.

"I have to request that you will report your views to the department on this matter; but, as to whether there is any timber to be sold on the Indians will require further consideration. If they are to be induced to sign a surrender by being told that they would get between them about 10 per cent. of a bonus when all they would get would be $31, while the hon. member for Ottawa pockets from $45,000 to $60,000 out of the transaction. Let me show you what the value of these limits really is. In the year 1872 the Ontario government, as I have stated, laid out all this tract of land into timber berths with the view of selling the timber thereon. This Indian reservation has been laid out on a portion of berth No. 69. Messrs. Francis Bros. purchased the reservation and operated upon that berth last year—one eleventh part of the whole of this Indian reservation. Now, I have a statement here, given to me by wood rangers, who went there with the view of inspecting the quantities of timber cut and the quantity remaining on this eleventh part of the whole reserve, and what do they report? They report that there was taken off that position last year by Francis Bros., 220,000 feet of square timber, which, at $60 a thousand, would amount to $1,362.40. Then, there was 1,821,200 feet, board measure, cut off, which, at $3 a thousand, would give $5,462.60. Then there was 453,325 feet, board measure, in the rough, which, at $3.50, would make $962.72. So, there was left yet $6,000 worth of timber out of the one eleventh part of the reserve which was sold to the hon. gentleman for $316. But there was more left upon it. There wood rangers report that there are 7,000,000 feet left upon this one-eleventh part, which at $2 a thousand, would be $14,000 worth still standing. Altogether, on this one-eleventh part, or seven square miles, owned by Francis Bros. and partly worked by them, was timber worth at least $20,000, and the hon. junior member for Ottawa got the whole 70 square miles for $316. But I will give some further information. Now, I know, because the gentlemen who own that berth 69 are clients of mine, that they refused $20,000 for it; the proportion covered by this Indian reserve would be worth $2,500. Then, berth 70 was examined by a Mr. McDonald, a wood ranger, and he made out there were on it 40,000,000 feet, which at $1 a thousand would be worth $40,000; the proportion covered by this reserve would be worth $13,333. Berth 64 was worth $80,000, and the proportion covered by the reserve would be worth $10,000. Then berths 70 and 63 were sold to Messrs. Sadler & Dunsire, of the town of Lindsay, for $62,000; and the other day Mr. Travaille, of that firm, told me that he was offered $60,000 for these two berths. The proportion of these two berths covered by the reserve would be $10,000 for the proportion covered by the reserve. Now, leaving out altogether a large proportion of the reserve, regarding the value of which I cannot speak with any authority, and having cut two out of the seven berths, we find that that property was worth $40,333, for which the hon. junior member for Ottawa gave $316. But I have another point.

The School Gloucester Schoonors—The Steamers for the Newfield Opened.

OTTAWA, June 5.—Tenders for the purchase of the Government steamer Newfield were opened in the Marine Department to-day. The highest offer did not exceed $2000, and the Government is taking steps to sell the vessel for the Newfield.

In reply to a despatch from United States Consul-General Phelan at Halifax, asking upon what conditions the Marine Department would grant clearance papers to the schooner Sir John Thompson replied that a reason would be granted on the owner giving security equal to the full value of the schooner. Mr. Wallace Graham, Q.C., the agent of the Department of Justice, is now at Sydney preparing up the papers and has been notified of the correspondence. It is unnecessary to call for security to cover penalties and costs, but in this case Mr. Graham's instructions are to let no one as possible go regards security.

An application for leave to bring mining machinery for boring for oil or natural gas into Canada, free of duty has been made to the Customs Department. The application is made on behalf of Mr. Isaac Anderson of Toronto, who has contracted to drill a test well in the vicinity of Essex and states that the machinery will be returned to the United States within six months. The rule in localities where a certain class of mining machinery cannot be obtained has been to allow a rebate of 99 per cent. if the machinery is returned within a month.

Wedding Bells at Guelph.

GUELPH, June 5.—Seven weddings in the city and vicinity were set down for to-day, but the one perhaps in which most public interest centered was that celebrated this morning at 11.30 in St. George's church. The contracting parties were Mr. Wm. F. Torrance, Toronto, a partner in the legal firm of Kingsmill & Cashmore, and Miss Herbert, youngest daughter of Mr. Thos. Holliday. The groom had the support of his brother Arthur, while Miss Agnes Holliday acted as bridesmaid. Ven. Archdeacon Dunn performed the ceremony.

Three Long Years in Bed with Spinal Disease.

Charles Cluthe, Esq., Toronto.

DEAR SIR—I wish to inform you how I am getting on. I am splendid now. I can walk any distance. I work all the time. My mother and I do all the housework on a large family. You know when you came to measure me I had to be held up, but after you put the instrument on I could walk through the house and the third day I could walk out. I feel that I can never thank you or say enough for you, when I think that for 3 long years I was a poor helpless girl, sometimes in bed for four months at the time, and getting worse every day. Anyone wishing further particulars refer them to me. Thanking you once more, I remain your true friend. MATTIE GRAHAM,
Peterborough.

Rupture.

DEAR SIR—I am only to inform you that the Spinal Brace you put on me last spring has been all I was recommended and more, as it has healed my Rupture, which I was troubled with for a long time, and not having been able to work on account of it; but on healing of you, I came and had you adjust this Brace, which gave me great relief at once, and I was able to work at any kind of work. I would not part with it for ten times the price if I could not get another. For further proof send them to me.

I remain, yours truly,

NEWS OF THE DOMINION.

A TORONTO SPORTING MAN IN SERIOUS TROUBLE.

Rev. "Here-on" Wilson Receives His Conge in the Historic Disorderly Case—A Woman Brutally Treated by Paris Roughs.

TORONTO, June 5.—The Toronto Presbytery has decided to form a new congregation in the east end of the city. It will be called the South Side Presbyterian Church.

Samuel Blake, a young man well-known in sporting circles residing at 1 2 Matilda-street, is under arrest charged with the abduction of Minnie Lee, of 49 Queen-street west. The information is laid under the Charlton Act. The Police Magistrate yesterday morning remanded Blake till to-day.

Police Constable Walker ("51") has been suspended from duty pending an investigation into charge of assaulting Patrol-Sergeant Johnston.

The Toronto Presbytery has confirmed the transfer of Rev. Thomas Wilson from Hamilton to Toronto.

The City Treasurer has paid Rev. W. F. Wilson the costs incurred in connection with the historic "here-on" case.

The President of the City Council has been threatened with an injunction if he signs the contracts for the construction of the new civic buildings before a commission is appointed.

The position of affairs between the master bakers and the striking journeymen remains unchanged. Both parties are confident of winning.

Enthusiastic anti-Jesuit meetings were held in three wards of the city last night.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association is being held in the public hall of the Normal School building to-day and to-morrow, with sessions at 9.30, 2 and 8 each day. There are fully 500 members in the association and it is expected that at least 300 will be present, besides several eminent doctors from cities in the United States, some of whom are already in Toronto. A number of valuable papers will be read and discussed. The sessions will be opened to the public.

Death of Mr. F. Broughton.

EASTWOOD, June 4.—Mr. F. Broughton, late general manager of the Great Western Railway, died here early this morning.

[Mr. Broughton had been failing in health for some months past. He was a "Lancashireloid," who started railway life at the foot of the ladder and by force of talent and industry rose to position after position. This resulted in his being in Ireland and South Wales before being selected to succeed Mr. W. K. Muir in the management of the Great Western Railway of Canada. Coming to Canada imbued with all the strict ideas of responsibility, discipline and correct time that mark railway management in the Old Country, he was shocked at the lax system prevalent on Canadian roads on the Right. Left and centre he initiated reforms which brought him the ill-will of many employes. But the new manager carried the day and showed himself the man with the best ideas in this line. Under his management the efficiency of the road made rapid strides and just as the policy was bearing fruit, and in spite of his unpopularity, the shareholders appealed to Preston with the Grand Trunk. The services of Mr. Broughton were declined with and his services in Ontario thereby he had charge of the Chicago and Atlantic road. Later he became the representative of English bondholders in a road at Cincinnati; but most of his time of late has been spent on his farm at Sherwood, immediately opposite the residence of Mr. J. C. Patterson. Rather rough in colloquy, Mr. Broughton had a kind and tender heart, and his old associates in the management of the Great Western Railway will feel a pang to think that he has been taken away. Of his daughters all but one are married, and he leaves two sons, both in railway employ. His widow has the sympathy of all who remember her former position of affluence in the days of plenty and prosperity.]

Kingston News.

KINGSTON, June 5.—In the Police Court yesterday morning there was a brigade of tramps arrayed before the magistrate, and extremely tough looking gentlemen some of them were. They had been holding high revel out at the lower depot, where they had scarcely taken possession of the station and were evidently waiting to board a freight train bound east or west. They were most drunk and under the influence of the rosy god were making the evening hideous and the place intolerable to passengers and residents. The Grand Trunk authorities telephoned to the police station here and a party of constables were sent out. Eleven of the tramps were captured and the magistrate sent them to jail for a month.

Aug. 7 has been selected for civic holiday.

The doctors and merchants will shortly try their hands at baseball.

Suicide at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, June 5.—At 5 o'clock yesterday morning Miss McAlinden, a daughter of a respectable farmer, committed suicide here by cutting her throat with a razor while in a state of temporary insanity. She went to her brother's room and seized a razor which was lying on a stand, and, before he could get to her, she committed the fatal act, dying within ten minutes. Great sympathy is felt for the family.

Montreal to the Sea.

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 5.—Thousands of people gathered at the International railway depot Monday afternoon as the Canadian Pacific train rolled in from Montreal, and there was a great deal of enthusiasm manifested. The train made was 16 hours 40 minutes, or 50 minutes more than schedule time, the delay being due to the nearness of the Canadian Pacific railway cars, which caused the horse to heat and necessitated a wait at Fredericton, Matteawamkeag and McAdam of about an hour and a half in all. Representatives of the four St. John dailies came over the line, and they are all enthusiastic in regard to its condition and prospects. There were quite a number of through passengers and travel promises to be large. The first train for Montreal left here at 2.30 yesterday.

THE WORK OF FIREBUGS.

A $50,000 Incendiary Fire at Morden—A Mississippi Town Burnt.

WINNIPEG, June 5.—Fire at Morden destroyed $50,000 worth of property this morning on which there was a light insurance. A Croatian man named Schiel was arrested for incendiarism.

Burned by an Incendiary.

REGINA, Man., June 5.—The business part of this town was burned by an incendiary this morning. Loss $100,000.

The citizens held an indignation meeting and appointed a vigilance committee to detect the incendiary and punish the plunderers who were at work during the fire.

INFANTICIDE AT HULL.

A Strangled Baby Found With a Rope About Its Neck.

OTTAWA, June 5.—A ghastly discovery was made in Hull yesterday morning. Sergeant Officer Gervais while clearing out a drain in the back of a house on the corner of Cumberland Bridge-street came across the body of an infant child with a rope around its neck. It was found on a medical examination that the child must have been born alive, and consequently must have been murdered after it had been strangled. The execution of the police upended in suspicion being fastened on an 18-year-old girl named Lavoie, who had been confined in the house at the back of which the body was found and the girl was arrested. An inquest was held on Tuesday and a verdict was returned that the child had been strangled to death and afterwards thrown into the creek.

A Victim of Carelessness.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 5.—James Hoover was instantly killed yesterday afternoon in the freight elevator in the Morton building while attempting to jump aboard the ascending carriage. He was 22 years old and unmarried.

Sold by all Druggists. Fisher's Castoria.

Talk on Both Sides at Orkney—The Meeting Votes for Disaffirmance.

ORKNEY, June 5.—A large meeting was held here last night for the purpose of discussing the Jesuits' Estates Act. Myers McCoy occupied the chair. The speakers were John A. Smith, Mr. J. J. McKinnon, Q.C., Wm. Smith, M.P. for South Ontario, J. S. Larke, Reeve of Orkney, and others. Mr. Small of Toronto gave a long history of the Jesuit organization and was followed by Mr. Smith, who defended the action of the 188 members who voted against Colonel O'Brien's resolution. Messrs. Larke and Madison made telling speeches. Delegates were then appointed to attend the Toronto meeting and a resolution passed in favor of disallowance.

"My daughter was greatly troubled with Scrofula, and at one time, it was feared she would lose her sight. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has completely restored her health, and her eyes are as well as ever, and not a trace of Scrofula in her system."—G. King, Killingly, Conn.

Rheumatic Pains require no description, since with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their twinges. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged, only the most powerfully penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is now frequently resorted to by medical men, is the application of that now famous remedy for pain—Polson's Nerviline. It is safe to say that nothing yet discovered has afforded equal satisfaction to the suffering. A trial can be made at a small cost, as sample bottles of Nerviline can be had at the drug store for 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents. 6dw23

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

Nerve Torture.

"I suffered with neuralgia and obtained no relief until I used Hagyard's Yellow Oil. Since then I have also found it an invaluable remedy for all painful burns and cuts, rheumatism and sore throat." Mrs. F. Cameron, 137 Richmond Street West, Toronto, Ont. 2w23d

Piston Penetrations.

Mr. Hazen F. Murray, of Pictou, N. S., writes:—"I was affected with dyspepsia and nervous debility, and tried many remedies without avail, but one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters much improved me, and two more made me a well man." 2w23d

Many Thanks.

"My age is 56, and for twenty years I have suffered from kidney complaint, rheumatism and lame back, and would have been a dead woman if it had not been for Burdock Blood Bitters, of which two bottles restored me to health and strength." Miss Maggie Hanaby, Half Island Cove, N.S. 2w22d

SCROFULA

-tumors,

Catarrh,

Can be cured by purifying the blood with

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a remedy for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength and vigor to the body, and produces a more permanent, lasting, result than any medicine I ever used.—E. Haines, No. Lindale, O.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease.—W. F. Fowler, M. D., Greenville, Texas.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried all sorts of remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured.—Mary C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, and getting no relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured.—Susan L. Cook, 269 Albany st., Boston Highlands, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I have ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach.—Millie Jane Petree, South Bradford, Mass.

DRUNKENNESS

or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has never been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For circular and full particulars, address GOLDEN SPECIFIC Co., 185 Race street, Cincinnati Ohio. eodw

HAIR MAGIC.

The equal of this great preparation is yet to be found. It is an unfailing Restorer for gray hair—it stops all falling out of the hair—it removes all dandruff and keeps the scalp clean. On bald heads (if there are but the faintest traces of roots) the Magic will produce a fine growth. Will you try it? Or will you let your hair go, and become prematurely old? What do you say? All druggists everywhere have it for sale. Ask for it. Do n't let the druggist tell you he has something just as good—he may have dead stock of other hair tonic on hand and try to shove them off in this way. See that each bottle bears seal and signature

A Large Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mrs. J. J. Hall took place this afternoon from the family residence to St. John's Church, and thence to the cemetery. The remains were accompanied to their last resting place by an unusually large procession of carriages, which was indicative of the high esteem and respect with which the deceased lady was regarded by her many friends and relatives.

A Resignation.

Mr. C. J. Phelan has resigned his position as secretary of the Riverside lacrosse club. This will cause general regret amongst the members of the club, for "Joe" has always been an energetic and capable officer, as well as one of the best players on the team. It is probable, however, he will still play with the club. At the next meeting the question of appointing a new secretary will come up.

Too Much Rain.

The people are beginning to think that we are getting too much of a good thing in the shape of rain. But rain hasn't affected the tea crop, and so much water went hart Hawley Bros teas, they are too strong—too good quality. The best brands in the world now fresh and good and above all cheap. The best tea for the money in the Midland district. Also the finest stock of spices and allied goods. Their motto. The choicest goods, the cheapest prices. d

Cutting Hackney Rates.

The public have sometimes reason to complain that railways charge exorbitant rates, but the C.P.R., through the influence of a local body, has made a tremendous cut in passenger rates. For instance, on the St. Andrew's Society Excursion to Toronto on June 20th, for two dollars, you can ride 77 miles going and 77 miles returning, or in other words your can travel at the rate of 7/10 of a cent per mile. You can leave Peterborough as early as 4.30 and remain in Toronto till 8.45, spending the longest possible time in the city. Tickets good to return on any regular train on June 21st, may be obtained at the railway stations and ticket offices or from members of the Society.

The Friends in the "Seneca."

The terrible disasters which visited Pennsylvania did not reach the Genesee Valley in New York State, as was one time expected, and therefore Rochester remains in all its beauty, and its beauty of tree and flower and lawn, etc., will be in its fullest flush of loveliness on the date of the grand cheap excursion per G.T.R. and steamer Norseman, Saturday, June 15th. Return tickets, good for four days, only $2. The best time of the year to visit the "Flower City." Busy men can run across on Saturday night, spend Sunday in Rochester and get home in time for business Monday morning. Tickets for sale after June 10th at the Peterborough Bookstore and at Salisbury's bookstore.

A New Bank Book.

Mr. J. Cruso, of the Bank of Ontario, has made up a new bank book, which for completeness and convenience has not yet been equalled. It is commended by all who have seen it as being the best thing of the kind ever brought out. It is a combined bank book and discount register. On one page is shown the daily balance and on the opposite the details of each day's banking transactions. It comprises also a bills' payable and bills' receivable book. The book is being used by Mr. W. J. Stone, where it can be inspected by anyone desirous of doing so. Mr. Cruso proposes to have his invention patented.

Spurs on the Diamond.

There will be a fierce competition in Ashburnham Saturday afternoon. The RAMBLERS and Stars stalls will play a game of baseball on the P.A.A.A. grounds, beginning at five o'clock. In the meantime they are practising hard for the struggle. The modest fee of 10 cents will be charged spectators in order to cover the cost of the balls which will be disabled or knocked into irretrievable space. The umpire will also be given a life insurance policy. One of the rules of this game is that neither side will be allowed to use fielding pants for bats. An intelligent request is wanted at the EXAMINER office. The public are invited to this great encounter, and are at the same time requested to leave a clear at the gate instead of jumping the fence.

Silken City for Fashion's Caterers.

A New Industry.

A couple of Toronto gentlemen arrived in town on the noon C.P.R. train for the purpose of considering the question of establishing a large manufactory here. This afternoon they are in conference with the Manufacturing Committee of the town council. It is probable they will come to terms and that soon Peterborough will be blessed with another large industry.

Dominion Day Celebration at Port Hope.

This year's programme for the celebration of Dominion Day in Port Hope is the best ever presented by that town. It comprises an immense gathering of firemen, a firemen's parade, special games for firemen, athletic sports, grand horse races, &c., during the day. In the evening, the "Pigs in Clover" will be practically illustrated by the real live article, the whole concluding with a grand display of fireworks. We would strongly advise our readers to make their arrangements to spend Dominion Day in Port Hope. The programme there is always fully carried out. Any information desired can be obtained by writing W. E. BEARNS, secretary of committee. ded

"Barnardo Children."

Mr. John T. Middlemore, the founder of the Orphan Children's Emigration Charity, London, Ont., left Liverpool on the 31st ulto in the S.S. Lake Winnipeg with a party of 20 girls and 50 boys between the ages of 5 and 15 years, who are brought out to this country for adoption or hire, chiefly among farmers. They are expected to arrive at the Guthrie Home near the city, on or about the 15th. This will be Mr. Middlemore's 16th annual visit to these shores with juvenile emigrants from Birmingham, England, since 1871. Already many applications accompanied with good references have been made for the children expected to arrive, but more are required. Further particulars may be obtained by addressing MR. H. GIBBENS, manager of the Guthrie Home, London, Ont.

A Mother Deserts Her Child.

This morning an infant was found at the eastern transept door of the Roman Catholic church. During seven o'clock mass at the cathedral, Mrs. Louis Archambault had her attention attracted by the crying of a child. At first she thought of an early christening, but the cries continuing, she investigated; going outside the church she found at the door a swaddled infant in an ordinary market basket. She at once reported the fact to the priest, and the latter referred it to the chief of police, Mrs. Archambault meanwhile taking the unfortunate foundling to her home. The Chief of Police and Policeman Adams visited the home where the little waif had found temporary shelter, but up to the hour of going to press it is not learned what disposition has been made of our latest edition of the "town baby."

After a Calm Comes a Storm.

So it is in this case. We know that the farmers have been busy for the past few weeks, so we have left them at their laborious task without getting them roused to such a state of excitement that they would have to quit their work and rush to receive the bargains we have been offering. So now we issue our manifesto. Don't compare other houses with us; we carry larger stocks than all the pretending houses. We buy in larger quantities and buy for cash, and for the next few weeks will cause a panic among all other grocery houses by offering for sale our entire stock of fine teas to make room for our importations of new teas, which will arrive in a few weeks. Those who desire bargains call.

Recanting Convert.

About a year ago it will be remembered an ex-Trappist priest, Phillips de Sailliers, visited Peterborough under the auspices of the Salvation Army, through whom he had been converted to Protestantism. De Sailliers went to Toronto and assisted in establishing a French mission, and has since labored there. A week ago the Toronto papers published a letter from De Sailliers to Father Rooney, expressing regret that he had left the Church of Rome and sorrow that he had ever said anything against it, and declaring his intention of re-entering the priesthood and spending the remainder of his days in doing penance. To-day's papers contain a letter from De Sailliers' comrades in the French mission work. They hold that he was a victim of frequent fits of mental aberration, and that while passing through Montreal on his way to Holyoke, Mass., for the purpose of studying the English language, his recantation action was caused by influence brought to bear upon him by his old friends to which in his mental incapacity he yielded. They write that they have no doubt that when he comes to his senses he will make a sudden exit and return.

Personal.

Messrs. Jas. Dolan, M. Connors and B. Lefort are in Port Perry attending the races.

Dr. Fife of Peterborough, is attending the ninth annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association at Toronto.

Mr. C. A. Abram, editor of the Belleville Ontario, having purchased an interest with Mr. W. O'Beirne in the Woodstock Daily Standard, will shortly remove to his new field of labor.

Mr. C. F. Nicholson, late reporter on the Belleville Intelligencer, takes the position of editor of the Ontario, vacated by Mr. C. A. Abram, who goes to Woodstock, where he has purchased an interest in the Standard.

Mr. L. Geary to-day received the sad intelligence that his elder brother had died at Belleville. Mr. Geary went down this afternoon to attend the funeral, which will take place at Madoc, his home.

Mr. Geo. Walker's many friends will regret to learn that his illness is of a most serious character, which it is feared will have a fatal termination. Though not confined to his house till Monday his disease has been making insidious advances, until his physicians can hold out no hope for his recovery. His condition to-day is alarming to his family and his many friends. As we go to press Mr. Walker lies in an unconscious condition from which it is improbable he will ever recover.

Christ's Second Coming.

Miss Gordon Sounds a Warning to the Unconverted—Who Shall be the Brides of Christ?—A Large Meeting.

The opera house was packed last night, Mr. Fred Winch presided, and on the platform beside him were Miss Gordon and Mr. Colville, Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. Behind him sat the choir. Mr. J. S. Parker presided at the piano.

The meeting was held in the interests of the French evangelization. Miss Gordon announced that the collection would be devoted to educating French Roman Catholics in Quebec. The collection amounted to over $31.

After a couple of hymns had been sung, Mr. Winch read the 14th chapter of John and briefly commented on it as he passed along. He pointed out the location of the mansions above, referred to in the reading, and urged his hearers to fit themselves to occupy it. Unless they prepared themselves they could never live in one of the mansions Christ has prepared for them. There were many people in the church to-day like Philip, he said, who, though church members, knew not Christ and have not true religion in their hearts. They fold their cloak of religion about them, and that's the height of their Christianity. Mr. Winch referred to his past life, and thanked God that he had been saved. At one time he lived for the world, but now he was living only in Jesus. God was merciful, he said, and willing to save even the worst of sinners. He urged all the unsaved to come to Him and have their sins pardoned, that they might know the peace and joy of heart which He gives.

Miss Gordon sang, "Shall I be Saved To-night?" Mr. Parker accompanying her on the piano. Miss Gordon sings with expression and feeling, and her fine voice and earnest manner visibly impressed the audience.

CHRIST'S SECOND COMING.

Next she read a portion of Matt. xxv, containing the parable of the foolish virgins, and Rev. vi, from the 9th verse. Everyone believed, she said, the story of Jesus' life and crucifixion, and that our sins were washed away in the blood that flowed from his side. And she asked her hearers did they not believe the parable of the [illegible] were they not appalled at the fate of the five foolish ones? No one but would see that this parable did not refer alone to the soul's salvation. What meant the passage, "the Bridegroom cometh;" and the message of the angels after Jesus' ascension, "that very same Jesus will come again?" His first coming 1800 years ago was to shed his blood for our redemption, and he lived a life on this earth which showed it was not impossible for a man to overcome all his temptations by continually appealing to the Father, and proving to us that we too might be victorious over sin and live a sinless life by appealing for the same strength from God. The Bible says "ye are heirs of God and joint-heirs with Christ;" but in order that we may be equal heirs, that there may be a perfect connection, there must be oneness on all points. Christ says, "ye that suffer with me shall reign with me"—and nothing was so calculated to bring about fellowship and perfect union as mutual suffering. Christ is to return for his bride, after he has prepared a mansion above, and there are a great many watching eagerly for his coming. But everyone could not be a bride of Christ. We must be fitted for the honor. But, as when the master invited all his friends to the wedding feast, the unconverted are to-day for not coming to the feast and preparing for the Bridegroom's coming. In business and social life they seek to find excuses. They should beware, and remember when the invited guests declined to come, the Master shut the door against them and sent out into the highways and brought in others. It may be the same in their case to-day if they trifle too long with God's invitation. And when Christ comes He will claim His bride. When the cry comes, "the Bridegroom cometh," who will be ready to meet Him with their lamps filled? Those who could not were in a terrible position. There were those who did not offer up any prayer to God, but the time would come when they would cry unto the mountains to fall on them and hide them from His wrath. The accidents which are happening every day, noticeably the late disaster in Pennsylvania, the speaker said were signs of the times, which should be read as a warning to prepare for the Bridegroom's coming. Would they all be numbered among His saints, His bride, or would the cry come to their ears "too late, ye cannot enter here?" In conclusion Miss Gordon emphasized the text, "Ye know not the day nor the hour when the Bridegroom cometh; therefore, watch—watch—watch."

MAKING FRIVOLOUS EXCUSES

After prayer Mr. Colville pronounced the benediction and the meeting dispersed.

A Win for Norwood.

The Riversides Lose Their First Game of Lacrosse this Season.

The Riversides and Norwoods played their first match in the championship series Wednesday afternoon. It was a close and exciting game, though considerably spoiled by the frequent showers of rain that fell during the early part of the match. There were a couple of hundred spectators in attendance.

At three o'clock the teams lined up as follows:

Norwood.		Riversides.
B Hendre	goal	C J Phelan
R J Stewart	point	J Joyal
F C Beesbamem	cover point	F Pakenham
H Bi [illegible]	defence field	T Meagher
A J Eaton	" "	M Halpin
J Jer [illegible]	" "	F Farmon
R Hill	centre	W Headrea
T A Fraser	home field	McCabe
T H Pierce	" "	Cronin
R B Patterson	" "	Bagley
J F Pierce	outside home	F Goyette
J R McKelvie	inside home	T Duncan
J McConkey	field captain	J Coughlin
E Frist	umpire	H Laberon

The teams were about evenly matched in play, though the Norwood men were on the average much heavier than the Riversides. The visitor's uniforms of red jerseys and gray knickerbockers contrasted well with the dark blue of the home team. The Norwoods' uniforms were presented to them by the president and treasurer of the club. Neither side displayed much brilliant lacrosse, neither was there an excess of "stugging," which too often mars the game. There were only two or three trifling disputes during the entire match. The Riversides say the Norwoods play rather a slashing game.

The ball was faced at two minutes after three. At first the visitors had the best of the game and scored two goals in quick succession, the first being taken by McKelvie and the second by a "fluke." The ball accidentally bounded off Cronin's stick and shot through, thus giving Norwood a game. The next goal was taken in quick order by the Riversides, Duncan putting the rubber between the sticks. Then followed a long tussle, in which the Riversides showed their superiority. From this out they played pretty well round the visitors, who certainly should not have been allowed to take the last game, which they subsequently did. The ball continually hovered about the Norwood goal, and finally Bagley shot it through. The last game went to Norwood. As in the previous game, the rubber was kept well away from the Riverside goal, but at the last by a concentrated rush the visitors scraped it through in a scrimmage. The Riversides had the better of the game, but though shot after shot was raised at the Norwood goal none scored. The visitors took advantage of almost their only opportunity and scored by a judicious "spurt." Play was resumed, but no goals had been taken when time (two hours and a half) was called.

For the Riversides, Bagley, Pakenham and McCabe distinguished themselves. Hendren also did well, and Fraser and Joyal played a very good game. Meagher was suffering from a sprained leg, and in the third game exchanged places with Phelan in goal. For Norwood, Stephenson displayed the finest lacrosse, and McKelvie's playing also was worthy of notice. Mr. James Coughlin, the Riverside's field captain, kept the boys "down to their knitting" in good style.

The Norwood men were very jubilant over their victory. They have now won two games in the championship series—from Exeter and Peterborough.

Mr. R. H. Fertyo was referee of the game and gave entire satisfaction.

Following is a record of the games:—

1st game, won by Norwood	:	3 min. 40 sec
2nd	"	Norwood	:	3 min. 5 sec
3rd	"	Riverside	:	3 min. 45 sec
4th	"	Riverside	:	6 min. 15 sec
5th	"	Norwood	:	63 min. 30 sec

Divine Healing.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly insert these few lines in your paper, as I am sure they will be of interest to many just now.

Truly yours,
J. J. W.

DEAR CHRISTIAN FRIENDS IN PETERBOROUGH,—Regarding this matter of Divine Healing which at present is brought before us so plainly, allow me to say I find many persons puzzled and mistaken. They say "We cannot understand how a person can say 'I am healed' and go forth praising God for it, while yet the disease remains there the same as ever, and he is not perceptably better," and it is said such an one would be telling an untruth. We continually hear persons cry out, "my common sense will not allow me to believe you." No, it will not, dear friends; but has not Miss Gordon and all those dear people told you repeatedly to throw away your common sense and take God's word before the night of your eyes, were it necessary.

Mr. Henry Stephens and Miss Lizzie Hart Married—A Handsome Testimonial.

Last evening at the residence of the bride's father, Chamberlain street west, Mr. J. H. Stephens, jr., was married to Miss Lizzie Hart. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. J. Shorey in the presence of a large number of guests. Miss Maggie Stephens was bridesmaid and Mr. Wm. Hamilton groomsman. After the wedding a pleasant evening was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Stephens will take up residence in their new home on Rubidge street.

Both young people were well and favorably known in connection with the Charlotte Street Church, as the appended address will show. The bride received many valuable presents, among them a very beautiful epergne, presented by the choir and Sunday school of the church to the young people. The epergne was of silver, nicely inscribed, and was procured from Mr. W. A. Sanderson. The gift was accompanied by the following expressive address:—

PETERBOROUGH, June 5, 1889.

MR. H. Stephen and Miss E. Hart:—

We, the teachers, officers and scholars of Charlotte street Methodist Sunday School, embrace this, the occasion of your marriage, to convey to you the high appreciation of the services you have rendered in connection with the Sunday School and Church. As teachers in the Sunday School, you have been very zealous and seldom absent from your positions in the class and your services in our councils have been very valuable. As leaders in Sacred Song, you have added much to the enjoyment of the public services and done much to promote the interests of the church. If there be any satisfaction in knowing that one's efforts in the cause of the Master have been highly valued by those you have been associated with, that satisfaction belongs to you. "The work is great and the labourers are few," and there is always something to do for hands that are ready to take it up.

"And only work there is for God alone,
Hath an unceasing exercise of delight,
A question unsolicited by the sigh
Of great success, nor by its loss o'erthrown.
All else is vanity beneath the sun.
Therefore, be joy when doing, but it fails when done."

As an expression of our good will and esteem for you, we ask you to accept this silver epergne, and as you look upon the inscription engraved on it, may it call back pleasant memories of the joyous hours spent in doing work for the Master.

We hope often to meet as teachers and friends, and when the work of life is over may we clasp hands on the other shore.

"The Lord bless thee and keep thee; the Lord make His face to shine upon thee; the Lord lift up His countenance upon thee and give thee peace."

Signed on behalf of Charlotte street Methodist Sunday school:—O. C. Rogers, Superintendent; A. Todd, assistant superintendent; A. Brandrette, P. Barrie, committee; Rev. S. J. Shorey, pastor.

"I like to wait on a man who has a family of eight or nine children. He has bought bugsies before, and, as they eventually become kindling wood, he merely asks for an extra good quality of inflammable wood in the buggy, pays for it and departs in a few minutes."

DONALD MORRISON WHO WAS RECENTLY CAPTURED IN QUEBEC.

The History of a Dispute Which Culminated in Bloodshed and Which has Engaged the Attention of the Montreal Police for Months.

Donald Morrison, the megantic outlaw who was recently captured near Springhill, Que., through the instrumentality of Detective McMahon of the Montreal police force, is described as a blonde, so fair that at a little distance his hair and mustache seem gray. The history of his case is interesting reading. The events which culminated in the shooting of Louina N. Warren by Morrison, originated years ago in a dispute about the Morrison farm which culminated in 1883, at which time Morrison was in the North-west. At the request of his father he came home and found quite a considerable debt against the farm. This he succeeded in paying off, and after remaining nearly two years he wished to go away again. He offered to resign all claim on the farm if his father would pay him $400, but the old man, unable to raise the amount, said he would give him $100. Certain parties having tried to influence the father so that he might not make any arrangements to pay Donald for the money and labor he had invested, the latter took action against his father for $900, and as he did not appear in court the case went by default. Donald's lawyer wrote the old man, demanding payment of the $900, and the letter being shown to Major McAuley he offered to take a mortgage on the property for $1100. There was at the time a mortgage on the farm held by Murdoch Morrison, Donald's brother. It was originally for some five hundred odd dollars, but Donald had reduced it to three hundred. When the other mortgage was taken by McAuley he paid off this one at $300, gave $800 in cash and a promissory

CONGREGATIONAL COUNCIL.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Union in Session at Brantford.

BRANTFORD, June 6.—The morning sitting of the Congregational Union of Ontario and Quebec was taken up with reports from the Home Mission Committee. The report showed an expenditure for the year of $12,497, making a deficit of $2819.

The report of the secretary, Rev. J. Wood, showed that churches have been established in British Columbia, Portage la Prairie and Brandon, with good prospects before them. Fifty-six missionaries have been engaged during the year. Most of the churches are supplied with pastors and six churches have been self-sustaining.

The afternoon was taken up with reports from the Foreign Mission Society, which show that the work is progressing favorably and that there is a balance of cash on hand.

Lost a Foot.

SARNIA, June 6.—Miles Dunn, formerly of Berlin, Ont., was stealing a ride on the Pacific express that reached here at 9.30 to-night, and fearing arrest jumped off in the yards. He was thrown under the wheels and lost a foot and part of a leg.

Rheumatic Pains

require no description, since with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their tortures. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged, only the most powerful penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is now frequently resorted to by medical men, is the application of that now famous remedy for pain—Polson's Nerviline. It is safe to say that nothing yet discovered has afforded equal satisfaction to the sufferer. A trial can be made at a small cost, as sample bottles of Nerviline can be had at the drug store for 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents. 6dw23

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SCOTT'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. THE LIVING AND THE DEAD

TAKING A CENSUS OF THE WATER-WHELMED VALLEY.

Many of the Bodies yet Unidentified—To be Placed in Numerous Graves To-day—How One Family Died.

JOHNSTOWN, June 6.—Up to noon to-day 728 bodies had been embalmed at St. Columbus Catholic Church, Cambria City. The only one secured to-day was that of a small child. A number of bodies were taken from the debris at Kernville this morning. A number of people arrived from Pittsburg to-day, causing considerable trouble, as there are no provisions here and they only eat up what is here for the survivors. Even the undertakers were unable to remain at work in the Fourth Ward morgue this morning owing to the stench. The bodies were in the small schoolroom. All the unknown dead were taken from the room and placed in the front yard. They will be kept for a day or two longer, but in the hot sun decomposition will set in very soon. Four bodies were found near the stone bridge this morning. They are at the Pennsylvania Railroad station. One was identified as that of John McKee. The others were those of a young woman and two small children. The First Presbyterian Church contains 9 unknowns. Burials will have to be made to-morrow.

This morning workmen found three members of Benjamin Hoffman's family, who occupied a large residence in the rear of Franklin street. Benjamin Hoffman, the head of the family, was found seated on the edge of the bedstead. He was evidently preparing to retire when the flood struck the building. He had his socks in his pockets. His 20-year-old daughter was found close by attired in a night dress. The youngest member of the family, a 2-year-old infant, was also found beside the bed. The body of a woman, supposed to be Mrs. Reese, was also brought in this morning. The only identification at the Presbyterian Church was that of Mrs. William Rich.

The real work of ascertaining who the living and dead of Johnstown are was started this morning. A corps of clerks under the direction of the Relief Committee started out and will go to every house in this vicinity and secure the names of the living. Another corps of men will endeavor to find out who the missing are and in this manner it can be nearly definitely known just how many lives were lost. A revision of the registration list shows that only 13,000 people had registered up to 1 o'clock this afternoon at the different registration stations. By this list it is plainly apparent that a large number of the survivors will not take the trouble to register.

It seems almost incredible that so many bodies remain unidentified. Thousands of people from the different sections of the state have seen them, yet they remain unidentified. At Nineveh they are burying all the unidentified dead but in the morgues in this vicinity no bodies have been buried unless identified.

A Village Almost Swept Away.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., June 6.—The village of Crescent on the Northern Central Railway has been nearly all washed away. Many houses and a part of the works are gone. The water was up to the roofs of most of the houses. A part of the people took refuge in a church on the hill. Sixty people are destitute. Aid is asked for.

Food for the Hungry.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., June 6.—All approximations as to further suffering from hunger have been dissipated. The seven cars of supplies brought up yesterday evening by the Secretary of the Commonwealth are ready to be unloaded. Advices coming in show that the loss of property has been very heavy in all places near here. Morris, Tioga County, is a total wreck. As the water gets lower new evidences of the disastrous work of the flood appears. Some large mills are still filled with homeless people and freight cars and improvised theatres are used by others.

Lifting the Railway Blockade.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—A train of five cars, carrying 182 east bound passengers, started from Altoona at 2 o'clock this afternoon over the Pennsylvania Railroad for Philadelphia. They go to the Montgomery Bridge via Lookhaven, and if that structure is not sufficiently completed to allow of the train passing it will run to Sunbury. At Sunbury the passengers will be ferried across the river and will then be placed in another train and brought to Philadelphia, probably reaching here to-night. This is the first train to leave Altoona eastward since last Friday. It is expected more trains will follow.

German Sympathy.

BERLIN, June 6.—The North German Gazette speaking of the Johnstown calamity says: "The Americans are always chariteable. The condition of the sufferers by the Johnstown floods demands German assistance."

New Hampshire's Gift.

CONCORD, N.H., June 6.—The Legislature to-day appropriated $16,000 for the Commonwealth sufferers.

Can't Give the State's Money.

BOSTON, June 6.—The State Attorney-General has decided that the bill appropriating $30,000 for the Johnstown flood sufferers is unconstitutional. The appropriation will therefore fall through.

Lost All But Their Lives.

HAMILTON, June 6.—Mr. Frank Whitelock of No. 98 West-avenue north, this city, left yesterday afternoon for Johnstown to look after the family of his brother, which consists of Edward Whitelock, his wife and two children. This morning a telegram was received stating that all the members of the family had escaped and were well, but they lost everything, their house being washed away with the others.

Lost All His Family.

TORONTO, June 7.—Last year Professor Seymour, a phrenologist and temperance lecturer, spent several months in Toronto, enlightening the public on his special subjects at Shaftesbury Hall, in Queen's Park on Sunday afternoons and in several of the places of worship. He made many friends in this city, prominent amongst whom was Rev. Dr. Wild. All whom had any acquaintance with the Professor will be sorry to hear that his wife and five children are stated to have been drowned in the Pennsylvania flood. The family lived at Johnstown. At the time of the flood Prof. Seymour was traveling in Western Ontario, and when he heard the news at once started for home. Mrs. Scott of 126 Shuter-street received a card from her husband, Professor Seymour's advance agent, written from London on Monday, saying that the Professor had gone home. On Wednesday Mr. Scott wrote again, saying that Seymour had wired him that his whole family were missing, and were undoubtedly drowned. No trace of their bodies has been found.

Arrested for Robbery.

GUELPH, June 6.—Acting on information furnished by Mr. David Race, from near Rockwood, who was so brutally assaulted by four young men in the York-road some days ago the police last night located and arrested Albert Glazier and John Hunt as the parties who were guilty of the assault and attempt to rob, as the charge will be. This morning both the young men were placed out of a group of prisoners by Mr. Race and the boy who was with him, and they will be sent down to Rockwood to be tried before Squire Strange, as the assault was committed outside Magistrate Carnahan' usual jurisdiction.

Burnt Accident at Newtown, Ont.

NEWTOWN, June 6.—While Mr. Elias Wagmore of this town was out on his farm about eight miles from here to-day slaughtering his hogs, the scaffold gave way and he with three other men fell to the ground. Mr. Wagmore only lived about an hour. The others were more or less injured but not seriously.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The amount of gold ordered here thus far this week for shipment to Europe is $2,000,000.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

SEATTLE IN FLAMES.

A LOSS OF $6,000,000 ALREADY SUSTAINED.

The Remainder of the City in Danger—Extensive Helplessness—A Blaze at Simcoe Which Grew out of a Fire Engine Fight.

CHICAGO, June 6.—A despatch received here this evening says Seattle, W.T., is burning. A loss of $6,000,000 is reported and the remainder of the city is in danger.

Later.

SEATTLE, W. T., June 6.—Fire broke out at 2 p.m. to-day in the Pontius building on Front-street and by 4.30 was raging over a district of five or six blocks with tremendous fury. The wind was from the north and the direction of the fire was along the water in Front-street and from the water front to the big brick block between Columbia and San Francisco-streets. The indications were that the whole business portion of the city would be swept away, involving a loss of millions. The magnificent San Francisco store and the other stores in the row were on fire and the whole big block seemed doomed. The local firemen were helpless and telegraphed in all directions for aid. At 6.30 p.m. a conflagration was rushing through the heart of the city. To add to the peril a smart breeze began blowing off the bay, fanning the flames, and at the same time a thousand feet of hose was caught in the advancing blaze and destroyed. The opera house block, the block opposite, all the warehouses at the foot of Cobourg-street and also the great group of buildings in the rear of The Post-Intelligence newspaper office were burning. The people in the Yester block, occupied by The Western Union Telegraph Company and the Post-Intelligence, were hurriedly moving out. At this writing the Western Union had but one wire undisturbed, over which this despatch was being sent.

FIREBUGS AT SIMCOE.

Incendiarism Alleged to Be the Outgrowth of a Fire Engine Fight.

SIMCOE, June 6.—The large two-story frame building in the North Ward for many years used as a fanning mill factory was gutted by fire at 2 o'clock this morning, and the residence of Mr. J. T. Carson adjoining was also damaged by the flames. The mill was worth about $1600 and the stock another $1000, both partially insured. Mr. Carson's loss is about $600, fully insured.

The circumstances surrounding the origin of the fire are such as to create considerable excitement in town. For some weeks past Simcoe has been the scene of a bitter steam fire engine fight between the Ronald engine of Brussels and the Waterous Company of Brantford. A considerable majority of the people favored the purchase of the larger Ronald engine, but a majority of the council were in favor of buying two Waterous engines and this was finally done. During the fight three members of the council were the recipients of anonymous letters, threatening them with the destruction of their property by fire if they persisted in buying the Waterous machines. At the time these letters were laughed at as the work of practical jokers, but now that one of the council, Mr. Carson, has been made the victim of an incendiary opinion has changed.

At a special meeting of the council to-night the Mayor was authorized to offer a reward of $200 for the apprehension and conviction of the firebugs.

A Hotel Burned.

STEVENS POINT, Wis., June 6.—The St. James' Hotel, with all its contents, was burned last night. The clerk, Charles Oathall, and two of the girls, Maggie Reilly and one known as Nettie, are missing. All who escaped saved nothing but what they had on. Loss on the hotel, $15,000.

A Fatal Blaze.

BERLIN, June 6.—A cotton mill at Offenburg was burned to-day. Several workmen were killed. The loss is 800,000 marks.

CAMPBELLFORD'S CASH.

The Citizens Vote $35,000 for Waterworks and $10,000 For Electric Light.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 6.—Voting on two bylaws took place here to-day, one to raise $15,000 for waterworks and the other to raise $10,000 for electric light. Both were carried, the latter by 54 majority, the former by 53 majority.

CABLE NOTES.

Mrs. Maybrick Charged With Wilful Murder By the Coroner's Jury.

LIVERPOOL, June 6.—The inquest in the Maybrick case was concluded this afternoon and a verdict of wilful murder of her husband was returned against Mrs. Maybrick.

The Mesa Murder.

BRUSSELS, June 7.—The Marchioness de Chasteler, who was found murdered at Mesa, was shot through the heart. The bullet was fired through the bedroom window. The assassin is supposed to be some farmer tenant who became enraged because his request for a reduction of rent was refused.

The "Glorious Fourth" in Paris.

PARIS, June 6.—The Cabinet has considered favorably the request of the American residents for permission to hold a public celebration in Paris on July 4. President Carnot has consented to unveil the statue of liberty on that day.

Swallowed Their Bisquet.

PARIS, June 6.—In the debate on the educational budget in the Chamber of Deputies to-day the ruling of ex-Premier Ferry to address the House caused a great uproar. A member of the Right shouted "The blood of the Tonquin dead shakes you," and many similar cries were heard. M. de Cassagnac advised the House to submit and listen. "We swallow our disgust," exclaimed M. Bourgeois, a deputy for the Department of Vendee. Finally on the demand of the President order was restored and M. Ferry proceeded with his remarks.

Floods in Bavaria.

BERLIN, June 6.—Disastrous floods are reported in Bavaria.

The Scott Laborers' Strike.

LONDON, June 6.—The dock laborers at Glasgow, Greenock, Belfast and Londonderry have joined the strike.

The Strikers Yielded.

LONDON, June 6.—The tram-car strikers yielded this afternoon and returned to work.

A Fight With Horsethieves.

PURCELL, I. T., June 6.—For a week several deputy marshals of Purcell have been on the trail of Cornelius Walker, the notorious negro horsethief of the Indian Territory. Yesterday the marshals decoyed Walker in a negro hut thirty miles west of Pearl's Valley, in the Chickasaw Nation. Upon going to the door Deputy Marshal Williams was held up by Robert and Cleo Franklin, while Walker shot and instantly killed him. Walker was instantly shot by the other marshals, and the Franklin brothers were arrested and brought to Pearl's Valley station, where they were chained until taken to Paris, Texas, for trial.

The Gatti Syndicate.

WABASH, N.Y., June 6.—Thomas Ward, head of the English gait syndicate, and James Smith, M.P., and a gait manufacturer, remained here this evening and will begin at once to organize the gait works in this field. They return to England on May 20.

The Superintendent's Dividend.

CHICAGO, June 6.—The Chicago & North-Western Railroad Company to-day declared a quarterly dividend of 1 3-4 per cent. on preferred stock and 1 1-2 per cent. on common. The directors were re-elected excepting D. O. Mills, who resigned and was replaced by F. L. Ames.

Suddenly Apprehended.

CHICAGO, June 6.—In the Canada Import to-day J. W. Moore, cashier of John T. Lester & Co., brokers, testified that between June 1, 1892, and April 12, 1893, Alexander Shibbres paid to the firm on commissions with the firm the sum of $132,000, that Shibbres had in his possession $[illegible] of the firm's money. Shibbres is now in jail awaiting trial.

TOPICS FROM THE CAPITAL

PROBABILITY OF A LIVELY TIME IN BEHRING SEA.

The Pacific Coast Defences—A Mission Commissioner Remonstrated by a Half Cabinet Who Was Cut Off.

OTTAWA, June 6.—There will likely be a lively time in Behring Sea this season. Despite the denial of the report that British men-of-war will not recapture Canadian vessels seized by the American cutters, a gentleman in Victoria to an Ottawa friend says he puts no faith in the British denial. The Canadian makers, he says, will go north as usual in a few days and if asked to leave he will resist seizure. If overpowered they will be retaken by British cruisers. The Canadian vessel owners entered Behring Sea last summer and were not molested, though frequently sighted by American cutters. They feel confident the American cutter will again keep out of their way this season.

Correspondence is still in progress between the British and Canadian Governments relative to the erection of the proposed defences on the Pacific Coast in British Columbia. The force to be stationed at Esquimalt and Vancouver will be maintained by the Canadian Government, though the armament, ammunition and submarine stores are to be supplied by the Imperial authorities. Esquimalt has also agreed to provide seventy-five Royal marine artillery, including fifteen submarine divers. Part of the armament has already reached the Pacific Coast.

Yesterday at noon on Recorder Champagne, one of the License Commissioners of Hull, was walking down Victoria-street to his dinner Mr. Thompson, a grocer of the city who had been refused a license to sell liquor this year, ran after him and horsewhipped him. A warrant for the arrest of Thompson has been issued. He cannot be found.

It is rumored in militia circles that Lieut.-Col. Miller of the 8th Royal Rifles of Quebec has resigned the command of that battalion. Major Barnjall is likely to succeed him.

Messrs. G. B. Pugsley, Senator McInnes and E. B. Osler, the chief promoters of the Regina and Long Lake Railway, were in the city yesterday. They say that the road will be proceeded with this season.

General Sir Fred Middleton will inspect the military camp at Niagara on June 15. He will afterwards inspect the Royal Military College at Kingston and "A" Battery of Artillery.

Messrs. Fred. Cook, president of the Canadian Shorthand Writers' Association, and Secretary J. L. Payne waited on the Minister of Customs to-day and urged the granting of the application of the Canadian Shorthand Society of Toronto for the free admission of a bust of Isaac Pitt man, the inventor of phonography. It is proposed to place the bust in the theatre of the Education Department at Toronto. Mr. Bowell said he would have pleasure in recommending his colleagues to grant the request.

ROBBED BY FOOTPADS.

Two Hamiltonians Victimized at Hicksville —The Stony Creek Celebration.

HAMILTON, June 6.—George Myers, a laborer, and John Bradley were arrested early this morning by Constables Cruickshank and Cameron on a charge of assault and robbery. The complainant, Robert Stonehouse, informed the police that at about midnight, as he was walking in Merrick-street, two men jumped out of an alleyway near James-street and overpowered him, one of them holding him while the other robbed him of $1.30 and a necktie and scarf pin. When Myers and Bradley were arrested Stonehouse said they were the men who had robbed him. The defendants were brought up before the Police Magistrate this morning and remanded until to-morrow.

Wm. Mapham, No. 109 Caroline-street, was in the vicinity of where the robbery took place. When the arrests were made a crowd collected and some one in the crowd snatched Mapham's silver watch, a Geneva open face, and ran off with it. Mapham reported the affair to the police and this afternoon Harry Headland, caretaker of the police station, found the watch in his garden adjoining the police station. It was evidently thrown there by the thief, who must have followed the officers who arrested Myers and Bradley to the station.

At the celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of Stony Creek by the Wentworth Pioneer and Historical Society yesterday this resolution moved by Judge Jones, seconded by Sheriff McKellar, was unanimously adopted: "That this meeting urge the importance of forming Pioneer and Historical Societies throughout the Dominion, as a valuable and influential agency for the collection and preservation of the necessary materials for reliable histories of our country, and as an indication of the loyalty of the Canadian people to their country and their attachment to British laws and institutions."

Ald. Richard Williamson has sold his vessel, the schooner St. Louis, to Mr. J. A. Corby of Windsor. The price was $7000.

The Virden Conservatives strongly endorsed ex-Premier Norquay at their annual picnic to-day.

Lieut.-Gov. Royal met with a cordial reception at Edmonton and was presented with an address.

J. W. H. Wilson of Winnipeg has been appointed District Registrar of Portage under the Torrens system.

PORT PERRY'S GALA DAY.

The Band Tournament a Great Success—Results for Yesterday's Contests.

PORT PERRY, June 6.—The second day of the band tournament has proved a great success. Always 6000 people were on the grounds. There were eight bands competing in the second class, the result being: Taylor's Bike Works Band, Toronto, 1st; Shed Band, 2nd; Uxbridge, 3rd; Brampton, 4th. There is a protest against Taylor's band, it being alleged they had several players who are not bona fide members of their band.

The races have been a complete success. In the 3-minute trot there were seven entries. The result was as follows:

Brown Charlie	2	1	1	1
Jack D	1	2	2	2
Billy Owens	3	3	3	3
Minnie	4	4	4	4
Ritchman, jr	5	5	5	5

Best time—2.51.

E. O. P	1	1	1	1
Maggie	2	2	2	2
Dan O'Connell	3	3	3	3
Beechwood	4	4	4	dr

Best time—2.32.

The 2.40 and the free-for-all were not finished. In the first they are seven entries and four in the latter. When C have two heats in the 2.40 and Cyclone one in the free-for-all.

In the baseball contest Whitby beat Port Perry badly and won the cup, whilst Port Perry and Cobourg 2 goals to 0 in the football match and won the cup.

Shutbourne Defeats the Fergus Thistles.

SHELBURNE, June 6.—The first game for the Northwestern championship was played here to-day between the Thistles of Fergus and the Shelburne of this place. A Disgraceful Transaction Exposed—How Sir John Macdonald Misrepresented a Minister and Betrayed a Supporter.

The Charges Proved by Official Correspondence—20 Square Miles of Valuable Timber Limbo Given Away for a Song—Bought for $616 and Sold for $16,000.

(From the official Parliamentary report.)

Mr. BARRON (continuing).—I have told the house that in 1872 this property was sold by the Ontario government, when, as events have proved, in this house known, these berths were very much depressed in value, and when was realized at that time from these timber berths at public auction? Did the hon. gentlemen opposite put them up at public auction? Nothing of the kind. Did he call for tenders? Nothing of the kind. He merely had the application of the junior member for Ottawa for these timber berths; he proceeded, as I have shown, to get a surrender from the Indians, and he practically gave it to the junior member for Ottawa for $316 without any competition whatever. Now, what was got by the Ontario government for all these berths in 1872, except one, which was not sold? The sum realized was $16,986. But it is not fair for me to quote these figures alone, because the reserve does not cover all that was sold in 1872; but I will give the amounts that were realized for the proportions of the berths covered by the reserve. In 1872 the very property sold in 1889 to the hon. member for Ottawa for $316, was sold for the large sum of $8,675, leaving out altogether the whole of one berth which was not at that time sold, but which has since been sold, in 1885, for $100 a square mile. Now, I think I have shown enough to satisfy this house that a gross outrage has been perpetrated, not only on the people of this country, but on this particular band of Indians. It may be said by hon. gentlemen opposite: Oh, they knew nothing about the value of these timber limits; their feelings are so extensive all over the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific that they have not time to worry themselves about such a small matter as 70 miles of timber limits, notwithstanding that the premier of this country was sworn to do his duty to these Indians, over whom he presided at that time as superintendent-general of Indian affairs. I have shown that this property was worth from $250,000 to $75,000. Now, I will bring the fact right home to the government, to prove beyond any doubt that the government had information that this very timber limit was very valuable, and that they were told to send a man to inspect it, by no less a person than the Indian agent himself at Manitowaning, Mr. Phipps. In 1885, a short time before the hon. member got the limit, Mr. Phipps wrote this letter:—

"SIR,—I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of official letter dated 23rd inst., instructing me to report on the application of Messrs. Joseph Reynolds & Co.——"

And the house must not forget that Reynolds & Co. have been identified as the junior member for Ottawa:

"to obtain the privilege of cutting fallen, dead and green timber on the Indian reserve at Whitefish Lake. I beg respectfully to state that, although I am not well acquainted with the reserve in question, yet I am satisfied from what I have seen that it contains a large quantity of pine timber, much more than the Indians will be likely to require for their own purposes."

That letter was in the possession of the government and yet knowing this opinion of the value of the timber limits in that reserve they sold the limit to the junior member for Ottawa for the paltry sum of $316. The letter goes on:

"I have every reason to believe that the Indians would be willing to agree to the timber being sold by the department for their benefit. The chief stated to me his intention of coming to Manitowaning this fall, and I shall be able then to ascertain his views upon this point. The value of the dead and fallen pine, should be, in my opinion, realized as early as possible, as that description of timber deteriorates rapidly. As for the timber, any opinion of value without a more perfect knowledge of the quantity would be almost guess work. I would suggest if the Indians are willing to surrender that an examination be made by an experienced lumberman."

Was that done prior to selling this limit to the junior member for Ottawa? If it was the report should have been brought down at once, but it was not.

"Although a large portion of the reserve has been burned over there still remains a large quantity of pine, which if realized to the best advantage would be of great benefit to the Indians. The reserve being now easily reached by Canadian Pacific Railway via Sudbury, the expense of sending a competent man to make an examination of the timber should not be very great.

"JAMES G. PHIPPS."

There it is suggested that the expense of sending a man to inspect this property and report upon it would not be very great by reason of its proximity to Sudbury, or to some other station on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. I have mentioned the fact that there was a sale in 1872 by the Ontario government, and, if our government here had desired to do what was right and proper, they would have said to the Ontario government: You sold these limits in 1872; give us the money that you realized with interest; give us the ground rent that you realized, with interest, and we will assume the sales to your licensee. Had that been done, nobody would have been hurt, the Ontario government would have had to give up the money to which it was never entitled; the Ontario licensee, many of whom were supporters of the right hon. gentleman, would have been protected in what was supposed to be their rights, because they were innocent purchasers without any notice of re-nerve, and the Ontario government were innocent vendors. If that had been done, the Ryckman of the Ontario government would have been protected and the Indians would have had not less than $16,989.50. That course would have been fair and just, because this government could have said to the Ontario government: You have sold property which does not belong to you, and the Indians would have had the sum of $16,989 50 made up in this way: The amount of leases that the Ontario government got in 1872 was $8,675; calculated on that at 6 per cent. would give $7,320; the ground rents since then, paid for this particular reserve, were $1,952, and the stumpage on that would be $2,000, making altogether the sum of $16,989.50. That would have been a proper and just course for this government to pursue, but they had to meet the suggestion of some gentlemen, the junior member for Ottawa, who would have been left out in the cold, had they adopted the course I have mentioned, and who would not give up the nice little sum of $50,000 for the Indian timber land, for which he gave the government $316. It may be said that the government of hon. gentlemen opposite did not know of the Ontario sale before selling to the hon. member for Ottawa, but the story did is shown by a letter written by Mr. Vankoughnet to Mr. James Johnston, Commissioner of Crown Lands at Toronto, dated the 16th July, 1880:

Cabinet City for Fraser's Outfits.

"I have recently learned incidentally that your department has sold the merchantable timber upon the whole or the greater portion of the Indian reserve at Whitefish Lake.

So that this government knew that the Ontario government had previously sold the timber on the same dollar reserve in 1872, and if they had acted honestly and applied to the Ontario government, instead of having only $316 to divide among the Indians, they would have had no less a sum than $16,000. My hon. friend behind me asks if the Ontario government proposed anything of the kind. I will read, to establish that, the letter written by Mr. Johnston, which is dated 1st August, 1882, addressed to Mr. Vankoughnet, and in these words:

"I am directed to call your attention to the following: It appears that Provincial Land Surveyor Abrey is about to make a survey of the Indian reserve at Whitefish Lake, Lake Huron, for your department. This department, not being aware of any Indian reserve there, has this season run, divided townships 70 and 77, as numbered on the topographical map of north shore of Lake Huron.

"On this plan the Indian reserve is coloured red, and the department was under the impression that all Indian reserves were laid down thereon.

"Under these circumstances I am to suggest it is would not be advisable to instruct Mr. Abrey not to make the survey at present, as when the plan and field notes of these townships are in the office an arrangement may be made with your department satisfactory alike to the Indians and the Indian department, whereas if Mr. Abrey makes a survey with the present indefinite information as given in the treaty complications might arise, owing to the influx of settlers along the Canadian Pacific Railway."

That is signed by Mr. Johnston, assistant-commissioner of crown lands, Toronto.

Mr. DEWDNEY.—What date is that?

Mr. BARRON.—That is dated 11th August, 1882. Now, I would like to know from the junior member for Ottawa (Mr. Robillard) how much money he did get for this.

Mr. ROBILLARD.—I got nothing at all. I had no interest in it more than the hon. gentleman himself.

Mr. BARRON.—Who had? The government got $316 from the junior member for Ottawa and the property was sold to him, or it was sold to Reynolds & Co., and the hon. gentleman was one of that company, and he certainly realized some of this booty out of the sale to Francis Bros. If I am not altogether misinformed he realized something between $45,000 and $50,000. The hon. gentleman shakes his head.

Mr. ROBILLARD.—I say it is false.

Mr. BARRON.—Well, I suppose I am bound to take his statement inside the House, but if I were outside this House I do not think I would take his statement.

Some hon. members.—Order.

Mr. BARRON.—Strike hers suggested—

Some hon. members.—Withdraw what?

Mr. BARRON.—Withdraw what?

Mr. KIRKPATRICK.—It is a very offensive statement.

Mr. BARRON.—I say I am bound to accept the hon. gentleman's statement.

Mr. KIRKPATRICK.—The hon. member says he would not take this statement outside of this House. That is unparliamentary.

ROYAL DANDELION COFFEE

Some drink because they are hungry.
And some because they're dry,
Some drink to keep them in good health,

And some because they're too cold,
Some drink to strengthen them when young,
And some when they are old.

Some drink to keep them wide awake,
And some that they may sleep,
Some drink because they merry are,
And some because they weep.

Some drink when they do money gain,
And some because of loss;
Some drink when they are pleased,
And some when they are cross.

Some drink when they get hard at work,
And some when they do play;
Some think it right to drink at night,
While others drink by day.

Some drink for sake of company,
While others drink on the sly;
And many drink but never think,
About the reason why.

Some say they drink for pleasure,
And some their drink for pain,
Some say 'tis good, some very bad,
But never cease to refrain.

Yet all must own the proverb true:

I've just found out the reason why—
All drink because they like it!

DEAR SIR—I wish to inform you how I am getting on. I am splendid now. I can walk any distance. I work all the time. My mother and I do all the housework for a large family. You know when you came to measure me I had to be held up, but after you put the instrument on I could walk through the house and the third day I could walk out. I feel that I can never thank you or say enough for you. When I think that for 3 long years I was a poor helpless girl, sometimes in bed for four months at the time and suffer worse every day. THE MEGANTIC OUTLAW.

DONALD MORRISON WHO WAS RECENTLY CAPTURED IN QUEBEC.

The History of a Dispute Which Culminated in Bloodshed and Which has Engaged the Attention of the Montreal Police for Months.

Donald Morrison, the megantic outlaw who was recently captured near Springhill, Que., through the instrumentality of Detective McMahon of the Montreal police force, is described as a blonde, so fair that at a little distance his hair and mustache seem gray. The history of his case is interesting reading. The events which culminated in the shooting of Lucius N. Warren by Morrison, originated years ago in a dispute about the Morrison farm which culminated in 1883, at which time Morrison was in the Northwest. At the request of his father he came home and found quite a considerable debt against the farm. This he succeeded by paying off, and after remaining nearly two years he wished to go away again. He offered to resign all claim on the farm if his father would pay him $400, but the old man, unable to raise the amount, said he would give him $100. Certain parties having tried to influence the father so that he might not make any arrangements to pay Donald for the money and labor he had invested, the latter took action against his father for $900, and as he did not appear in court the case went by default. Donald's lawyer wrote the old man, demanding payment of the $900, and the letter being shown to Major McAuley he offered to take a mortgage on the property for $1100. There was at the time a mortgage on the farm held by Murdock Morrison, Donald's brother. It was originally for some five hundred odd dollars, but Donald had reduced it to three hundred. When the other mortgage was taken by McAuley he paid off this one of $300, gave $400 in cash and a promissory note for the balance of $400. In the margin of the note it was stated that the amount when due was to be used to pay off in part the new mortgage of $1100. It turned out that the note did not bear interest as agreed upon, and Morrison, when he learned this, applied to the court, asking that the mortgage be set aside as fraudulent, as he was afraid he would not receive the $900 he claimed. The case was put into the hands of a Sherbrooke lawyer, but before it was decided Morrison put up the farm at auction and it was sold in September, 1886. McAuley was the purchaser, but he offered to let the Morrisons have the property back, if they paid the amount he had given and the costs incurred. This they refused to do, and as the farm was of little use to McAuley, he sold it to a French Canadian named Duquette.

Disputes of one kind and another arose, Morrison advising Duquette to leave the place or there would be trouble, while McAuley told him to stay and not to bother about Morrison. When the major said he could not put in seed for his wheat. Shortly after this episode some one fired into the house Duquette was living in, and later on the homestead and buildings were set on fire. Morrison being suspected as the incendiary, a warrant was issued for his arrest and was given to a man named Lucius N. Warren. Morrison indignantly denied the charge of arson, and, it is said, threatened to shoot any one who attempted his arrest. Warren, on the other hand, declared he would serve the warrant and capture Morrison dead or alive. The encounter came off at Warren's house, some time afterwards in the village of Lake Magantic, each of them recognized that he had to deal with a desperate character. Accounts differ greatly as to what occurred at the meeting, but the following is as far as can be learned, the most accurate: Warren accosted Morrison on the street and said he had some business to transact with him. Morrison refused to listen to him and told him to keep out of the way. This was continued for some time, until Warren, exasperated at the other's conduct, drew his revolver from his pocket. In the opinion of some he intended to shoot, while others think it was merely to compel Morrison to go with him that he produced his weapon. Morrison apparently hastened to the former opinion, for no sooner did he see Warren's movement than he whipped out his own revolver and "dropped" the unfortunate man. How true he is a prisoner the question as to whether he or Warren was in the wrong will be decided before the courts of justice.

Development of Coal in Canada.

It is well known to geologists that in many parts of western Canada there are extensive coal deposits, the successful working of which must be of great importance in the development of the imperial traffic through the Dominion and on the Pacific. A large block of land, in which are thick and extensive seams of anthracite coal, has lately been worked by a Canadian company (the Canadian Anthracite Coal Company, Limited), in the Canada district of the Bow River Pass, and with excellent results. This land covers the croppings of the veins, which dip from 25° to 60° in the side of the mountains, which rise from 800 feet or 900 feet, to 2,000 feet above the croppings. A tunnel 500 feet long has been driven, and this is 45 feet above the water level and runs through 20 seams of coal. Three of these seamsare being worked. The overlying seam measures about 9 feet, of which 7 feet are coal; the middle seam has from 3 feet to 3 feet 6 inches of clean hard coal; and the underlying seam is about 5 feet 6 inches, with 10 inches of slate near the centre of the seam. These are the only seams as yet practically tested, but from them about 15,000 tons of coal have been taken and shipped to the Pacific coast. The coal has been taken to San Francisco, where it has been graded as No. 1 free-burning white-ash anthracite. As yet the work which the local Canadian company have been able to do has been more of a prospecting character than mining for the market, and as an endeavor is being made to open up the whole of this extensively coal-field by the employment of British capital.—London Times.

A Case in Point.

Uncle Tom—"Got anything to do to-morrow, Jack?"

Jack—"Yes; I've got to go down town to try a case."

Uncle Tom—"That you've got a client at last?"

Jack—"Oh! this one isn't in court; he's a wine merchant's."—Life.

CONGREGATIONAL COUNCIL.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Union in Session at Brantford.

BRANTFORD, June 6.—The morning sitting of the Congregational Union of Ontario and Quebec was taken up with reports from the Home Mission Committee. The report of Rev. E. H. Jackson, the treasurer, showed an expenditure for the year of $12,407, making a deficit of $2819.

The report of the secretary, Rev. J. Wood, showed that churches have been established in British Columbia, Portage la Prairie and Brandon, with good prospects before them. Fifty-six missionaries have been engaged during the year. Most of the churches are supplied with pastors and six churches have been self-sustaining.

The afternoon was taken up with reports from the Foreign Mission Society, which show that the work is progressing favorably and that there is a balance of cash on hand.

Kept a Pace.

SARNIA, June 6.—Mike Dunn, formerly of Bertie, Ont., was stealing a ride on the Pacific express that reached here at 5.30 to-night, and leaving arrest jumped off in the yards. He was thrown under the wheels and lost a foot and part of a leg.

Rheumatic Pains

require no description, since with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their twinges. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged, only the most powerfully penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is now frequently resorted to by medical men, is the application of that now famous remedy for pain—Polson's Nerviline. It is safe to say that nothing yet discovered has afforded equal satisfaction to the suffering. A trial can be made at a small cost, as sample bottles of Nerviline can be had at the drug store for 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents. 6dw22

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulcerations, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

Nerve Torture.

"I suffered with neuralgia and obtained no relief until I used Hagyard's Yellow Oil. Since then I have also found it an invaluable remedy for all painful burns and cuts, rheumatism and sore throat." Mrs. F. Cameron, 137 Richmond Street West, Toronto, Ont. 2w23d

Pictou Pencillings.

Mr. Hazen F. Murray, of Pictou, N. S., writes:—"I was affected with dyspepsia and nervous debility, and tried many remedies without avail, but one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters much improved me, and two more made me a well man." 2w23d

In 10 Days Time.

"Was troubled with headache, bad blood and loss of appetite, and tried all sorts of medicines without success. I then tried one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and found relief in 10 days." A. J. Meindle, Matawa, Ont. 2w23d

SCROFULA

Tumors,

Canker, and

Catarrh,

Can be cured by purifying the blood with

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a remedy for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength and vigor to the body, and produces a more permanent, lasting, result than any medicine I ever used.—E. Haines, No. Lindale, O.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease.—W. F. Fowler, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried all sorts of remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured.—Mary C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, and getting no relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured.—Susan L. Cook, 809 Albany st., Boston Highlands, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I have ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach.—Millie Jane Peirce, South Bradford, Mass.
